

The Mans Decree Chapter 1641 -

Chapter 1641 Ignoramus

Another day passed.

With the help of the pills and herbs, Hailey was almost healed.

She went to Kai to thank him.

“Thank you so much for your help. I need to leave now as my parents must be worried about me,” she told Kai.

“Do you need me to send you back home?” Kai asked.

He only said that as he wanted to know where Hailey came from and her identity.

Nevertheless, he was afraid that she would get upset and didn't ask the questions out loud directly.

Hailey shook her head. “No need. I know you're curious about my identity, but I can't reveal it to you. I can let you know my name, though. I'm Hailey Hargreaves. What is your name?”

“I'm Kai Chance,” Kai introduced himself with a smile.

“Okay, I shall keep that in mind. If the chance arises, I'll repay your kindness one day.” With that, Hailey fished out a sparkling gem from her pocket and handed it to Kai.

“I've had this since I was a kid. Here, take this as a token of my gratitude!” she said and gave the gem to Kai.

Kai initially wanted to reject her gift, but the gem didn't look like it was unique or expensive, so he accepted it readily.

He had no idea that this gem would save his life in the near future.

“Come on. I'll walk you out of Jadeborough.”

Kai was pretty sure by now that Hailey wasn't from Jadeborough.

Hailey nodded. She followed Kai out of the Deragon residence and strolled along the streets of Jadeborough.

An indescribable feeling rose in Hailey's heart when she observed the bustling city. She knew she might not have another chance to leave the secret realm after this.

The secret realm was a great place with an abundance of spiritual energy and resources, but she preferred the mundane world to it.

Kai found Hailey's reaction strange. Why does Hailey seem reluctant to leave the city full of tall buildings and bustling crowds? Everything seems new to her. Is she a goddess who descended from heaven?

Right then, several dangerous auras came at Kai. Kai blanched in horror, for he sensed that he was no match for the terrifying auras!

"Crap. We need to go!" He grabbed Hailey to escape.

Alas, it was too late. At least a dozen men had surrounded Kai and Hailey.

Their auras were so strong and dominating that Kai couldn't move an inch as they seemed to restrain him.

Shock flashed across Kai's eyes. After reaching the Greater Martial Arts Marquis rank, he had assumed he could escape from his enemy easily even if he weren't their match. It was then he was struck by the realization that he had no way to defend himself despite achieving that rank.

Suddenly, Hailey frowned and barked angrily, "Stop!"

Following her order, the auras suppressing Kai disappeared into thin air. Kai finally regained freedom.

"Ms. Hargreaves, please follow us back," one man told Hailey politely.

Hailey bobbed her head. She then turned to Kai and said, "Thank you, Kai."

Kai's face was devoid of expression as he was still devastated to realize someone could stop him from moving.

Even after Hailey left with the men, Kai was still rooted to his spot, in a daze. He only snapped back to reality after a long while.

"They are so strong. I can't believe someone this strong exists in this world," Kai muttered as he stared in the direction Hailey left.

Suddenly, he felt like such an ignoramus.

The Mans Decree Chapter 1642 -

Chapter 1642 Source

For the next few days, Kai remained in the Deragon residence, refusing to eat, drink, or leave the house.

No one knew what he was up to.

Thump, thump, thump!

This day, Godrick knocked on Kai's door.

"What is it?" Kai's voice rang out from inside the room.

"Kai, someone who claims to be a good friend of yours is here to visit you," Godrick told him.

"What is his name?" Kai asked with his brows furrowed together. I don't remember having a good friend in Jadeborough.

"His name is Flaxseed," Godrick replied.

Hearing that, Kai hastily pulled the door open, his eyes gleaming brightly.

However, with his overgrown facial hair, he appeared pretty unkempt.

"Where is he? Bring him to me now!" Kai ordered anxiously.

Without hesitation, Godrick led Flaxseed in.

Flaxseed was surprised to see Kai's condition.

"What the f*ck happened to you? Did you decide to get friendly with the homeless? Why do you look like this?" Flaxseed was baffled.

Kai used to be a handsome young fellow but now resembled a middle-aged man with his stubble.

"Mr. Flaxseed, come in. I need to talk to you." Kai pulled Flaxseed into his room and told Godrick to assign someone to stand guard outside.

No one was allowed to enter his room.

"What? Why are you acting all mysterious?" Flaxseed asked.

"Mr. Flaxseed, where did you learn your charm spells?" Kai questioned.

"From my mentor, of course. Why do you even need to ask that?" Flaxseed shot him a perplexed look.

"I know you learned it from your mentor. What I mean is, what is the name of your organization?" Kai was in a hurry and turned a touch incoherent.

“The Guild of Theurgists. Our ancestor is the famous Zalano,” Flaxseed introduced his guild proudly.

“Do you know the Skywrath Sect? They specialize in charm spells, too,” Kai asked.

Stunned, Flaxseed observed Kai carefully. “Why did you ask about the Skywrath Sect suddenly? They are an ancient sect that disappeared years ago. The sects that specialized in charm spells later on mostly originated from the Skywrath Sect. In fact, the Guild of Theurgists’ ancestor, Zalano, used to be an unimportant disciple in the Skywrath Sect.”

Kai’s eyes widened in shock. “The Skywrath Sect is that capable?”

“Of course. Back then, the head of the Skywrath Sect wrote a charm that subdued the demons for hundreds of years. Imagine how powerful that charm was! Martial artists are the mainstream now, so many people assume charm spells are useless. They are wrong, for charms can save lives and kill others! It can also protect an area from getting attacked! A charm master can create a charm that can kill a Martial Arts Saint instantly. Similarly, a senior charm master’s charm can help a Greater Martial Arts Marquis advance to a Martial Arts Saint! Charm spells are ever-changing and endless. According to legends, charms can be used to subdue even gods,” Flaxseed explained happily.

Thanks to his explanation, Kai was now well-informed about charm spells.

“I have something to show you,” Kai said.

He then pulled out the map of Skywrath Sect’s ancient ruins with some notes scribbled on it.

At the sight of the map, Flaxseed’s entire being trembled in excitement.

“Isn’t this... Don’t tell me... Does Skywrath Sect still exist? That’s impossible! I can’t believe it! Where did you get the map? Could it be fake?” Flaxseed demanded.

He refused to believe that such a map existed in the world.

Kai revealed how he drew the map in the Warriors Alliance to Flaxseed without skipping any details.

The Mans Decree Chapter 1643 -

Chapter 1643 Married

“If this is from the Warriors Alliance, then it might be real. Oh, this is great! I can’t believe I’ll get to see the most ancient sect specializing in charm spells in my lifetime! Come, let’s depart now. I can’t wait to be there!” Flaxseed urged.

He took Kai's hand, about to drag the latter out.

"Wait! I need to clean up!" Kai protested.

He looked like a vagrant, so he had to clean up before leaving.

For the past few days, Kai had wallowed in self-pity as he knew it was pretty hard for him to increase his cultivation level at this stage.

He would only gain progress if he got an opportunity, but opportunities were hard to come by. Who knew how long he had to wait for his next opportunity?

If Kai was able to master charm spells and create a charm to scare his enemy and protect society, his ability would increase rapidly.

He could draw protective charms for his loved ones. That way, he wouldn't have to worry that his enemy would capture them.

After washing up, Kai was finally back to his usual handsome self.

"Hey, why are you taking so long to wash up? Are you a woman? Come on, we need to leave now!"

An impatient Flaxseed pulled Kai out to head to the airport.

"Mr. Flaxseed, I thought you dare not return to Jadeborough. Why are you back now?" Kai inquired.

"Zion is dead, so I'm not afraid anymore! Now that he's dead, you're the only one who knows my identity," Flaxseed explained happily.

Looks like he's delighted that Zion's dead.

They boarded the plane to Whitesea.

The ancient ruins of Skywrath Sect were nearby Whitesea, thousands of miles away from Jadeborough.

Kai stared out of the window blankly.

He last went to Whitesea a year ago with Tristan because of Crescent Sect.

I wonder how Tristan and Megan are doing...

Kai's lips curled as that thought occurred to him.

As Kai's enemies grew increasingly powerful, he rarely asked the Bailey family to get involved anymore, as he didn't want to drag them into trouble.

The Bailey family was just an ordinary family in the corporate world who hired a few Martial Arts Grandmasters as their security guards.

In the martial arts world, a few Martial Arts Grandmasters could be easily defeated.

“Mr. Chance? Mr. Chance!”

A familiar voice rang out while Kai was staring out of the window blankly. He turned over his shoulder and was stunned to see who it was. “Tristan? Why are you here?”

Kai could barely hide his surprise. After all, he had just been thinking about Tristan, and now Tristan was right before him.

“Mr. Chance, it’s really you! Megan told me she spotted you, but I didn’t believe her!” Tristan greeted him excitedly.

He then waved at someone in a seat not far away.

Soon, Megan made her way over. Judging from the size of her belly, she was obviously pregnant.

“Mr. Chance, I spotted you earlier and told Tristan to check if I was right. I can’t believe we ran into you here!” Megan said happily.

Kai cast a surprised look at Megan’s belly. “Are you married?”

Tristan bobbed his head. “Yes, we’re married. This is an unplanned pregnancy, though. We’re heading back to Whitesea to hold our wedding there!”

Megan blushed and lowered her head. She was embarrassed to reveal the fact that she got pregnant before marriage.

“Oh, great! You finally ended up together!” Kai burst out in laughter.

Curious, Tristan asked, “Mr. Chance, why are you heading to Whitesea?”

Whitesea wasn’t a major city, and not many people would visit it as it didn’t have many tourist attractions.

The Mans Decree Chapter 1644 -

Chapter 1644 The Solution

“I’m accompanying my friend to handle some matters,” Kai said impassively.

“Kai, is this your friend?” Flaxseed, who was beside Kai, asked.

“Yes!” Kai nodded before turning to Tristan and Megan and said, “This is Mr. Flaxseed.”

“Nice to meet you, Mr. Flaxseed,” greeted Tristan and Megan.

Flaxseed nodded before his gaze fixed on Megan’s belly.

Megan blushed beet red under his scrutiny. However, Tristan furrowed his brows disapprovingly.

He would have hit Flaxseed if Kai wasn’t around.

How dare he ogle at my wife like that?

“Mr. Flaxseed, what are you doing?” Kai asked as he nudged the man.

With a grim expression, Flaxseed replied, “Madam, do you know that you’re pregnant with twins?”

Megan nodded. “Yes. I found out during the checkup.”

“One of your babies has been cursed by evil spirits. I reckon that it will be really difficult to keep it,” Flaxseed commented with furrowed brows.

“What?” Megan exclaimed.

Tristan’s face stiffened as he asked coldly, “What do you mean by that, Mr. Flaxseed?”

Tristan started to panic when Flaxseed said that one of his babies was in danger.

Kai gestured toward Tristan to stop speaking. Then, he turned to Flaxseed and asked, “Mr. Flaxseed, is there a way to break the curse?”

He knew how capable Flaxseed was. Even though the latter was not the most accomplished person in his field, he was likely the best in tomb exploration and drawing tunic talismans to ward off evil spirits.

“I can only draw a charm for the time being. The lady has to wear it daily and consume more nutritious foods. These measures will likely resolve the issue,” Flaxseed replied. Then, he took out a piece of yellow paper and drew a charm on it.

Flaxseed folded the paper and placed it into an exquisite sachet before handing it to Megan.

Megan was stumped and stared blankly at the sachet. Not knowing if she should accept it, she turned to look at Tristan.

“Listen to Mr. Flaxseed. He knows better,” Kai said.

Tristan hurriedly took over the satchet and thanked Flaxseed profusely.

After a few hours of flight, the plane landed safely at Whitesea.

After getting off the plane, Tristan and Megan invited Kai to the Simmons residence, as well as to their wedding.

Kai did not decline. Tracking down the ancient ruins of Skywrath Sect would likely take a long time, and it was not a bad idea to stay with the Simmonses in the meantime.

They waited at the exit for the car from the Simmonses to pick them up. However, no one arrived even half an hour later.

“What’s Uncle Tony doing? I clearly told him the time to be here,” Megan grumbled.

She knitted her brows impatiently as she felt bad for making Kai and the others wait.

“What if we hail a taxi back home?” Tristan suggested as he steadied Megan and stopped a car.

The group piled into the taxi and arrived at the Simmons residence.

The Simmons residence was obviously bigger and more luxuriously furnished than it was a year ago.

Megan had been taking charge of the Simmonses ever since Dante passed away.

As Crescent Sect had also become part of the Simmonses’ business, the social status of the Simmonses had been steadily rising.

The village resorts of Crescent Sect were the major cash cow for the Simmonses.

“Megan, you guys are back. I was just thinking of asking the driver to go fetch you,” uttered a thin middle-aged man. He had an angular jaw and slightly protruding lips.

“Uncle Tony, didn’t I tell you the time to pick us up? Why was there a delay?” Megan questioned with furrowed brows.

It was obvious that she was not pleased.