

The Mans Decree Chapter 1966 -

A Man Like None Other Chapter 1966

A Man Like None Other Novel

After three smacks, Kai bit his middle finger until it bled before wiping the blood on the eyes of the unicorn. The second Kai's blood seeped into the unicorn's eyes, a flash of white light appeared. As if it had been brought to life, the eyes of the unicorn on the boulder flicked from side to side.

Then, with a cry, the unicorn leaped off the boulder. At that, everyone fearfully scurried backward. They had never seen a strange creature like that, let alone a live one.

However, the unicorn did not attack anyone. After walking around, it flashed white and disappeared. At the same time, the unicorn carving on the boulder was gone.

Instantly, everybody turned to Kai. They had never encountered something like this before. Since unicorns were mythical creatures, there had been no actual sightings of one. Does the appearance of the mythical beast signify the imminence of the spiritual energy restoration?

"M-Mr. Chance, where did that... Where did that unicorn go to?" Verner blurted out. He wanted to take another look at that unicorn, and it would be even better if he could get to ride it.

Just as Kai was about to explain to him with a smile, Flaxseed said, "That's no unicorn. It was just an illusion. This boulder had a Unicorn Load Arcane Array. That's why no one could destroy the boulder earlier. No one would be able to pick up anything that had this arcane array cast on it, not even if it was a needle. It's just a simple restraining arcane array, but some people are ignorant and can't recognize it."

Flaxseed's words were clearly meant for Jose and the others. Although Jose was angry, he could not lose his temper. After all, Flaxseed was speaking the truth-he did not notice the arcane array.

At the moment, bolts of heavenly thunder were still striking. Many had already died, so the people did not dwell on the matter for long. Once the arcane array had been gotten rid of, Jose smashed the boulder.

The second the entrance was open, the people surged toward the outside. Everyone was sprinting as quickly as they could, fearing that the bolts of heavenly thunder would strike them if they were a second too slow.

As Jose and the others approached the doorway, gusts of wind suddenly swept toward them. Although Jose managed to dodge them, the people following him were not as fortunate; upon being hit by the wind, they perished.

Jose fearfully looked out, only to find that Skylar and the four Black Gold Robe warriors were blocking the entrance. If any of them ran out, they would certainly be killed.

The exit was heavily guarded by four Martial Arts Saints, making it impossible for even a bug to escape unnoticed. Jose quickly retreated, hesitant to venture out further. Yet, at the same time, the people behind him were anxiously trying to move forward.

The people at the front were pushed out. Immediately, the Black Gold Robe warriors outside killed them. The crowd instantly stopped moving, and those who were still in the ancient ruins had to start dodging the attack of the heavenly thunder.

“Hahaha! Give up! You’ll never be able to come back out alive after going in.” Skylar was laughing boisterously outside. Many among the crowd began hurling insults at Skylar, but Skylar was unbothered by them.

“What do we do now, Kai? We can’t leave either. Skylar and the four Black Gold Robe warriors are blocking the exit,” Godrick worriedly said to Kai.

Kai furrowed his brows, staring at the empty ancient ruins. He was at a loss for ideas too. Kai would stand no chance against the Black Gold Robe warriors even if he were to force his way out. They were Martial Arts Saints, after all.

Furthermore, Jose and the others had retreated back in. The passageway was filled with bodies, and those bodies were stopping others from moving out.

The Mans Decree Chapter 1967 -

A Man Like None Other Chapter 1967

A Man Like None Other Novel

“Argh!” One after another, the people were getting struck by the bolts of heavenly thunder, and they screamed in agony. After approaching Kai, Jose asked, “Kai, aren’t you proficient in arcane arrays? Can you find a way to deactivate the Sky Thunder Array? If not, more people will lose their lives.”

“Who do you think you are to ask Kai to deactivate the arcane array? Weren’t you so full of yourself earlier? Do it yourself then!” Godrick snapped.

He could not believe that Jose was shameless enough to seek Kai’s help even though they were no longer on the same side. Jose’s face turned ashen from fury, but he did not have the courage to utter a word in retaliation.

He figured that Kai might be the only one among them who could help them escape from the area because Kai was the only one who knew the intricacies of arcane arrays. As long as he found the core of the arcane array, he would be able to deactivate the array. “Mr. Chance, please save us!”

“Please save us!”

Just then, a group of people ran over to kneel before Kai. The sight of each lightning bolt flashing in the sky and threatening to strike was a terrifying reminder that death could come at any moment, leaving no one eager to face it.

In no time, more and more people were kneeling before Kai. Even the members of the families who had allied themselves with Jose no longer cared about the alliance and were kneeling on the ground.

Four Martial Arts Saints were guarding outside the area, and bolts of heavenly thunder were striking inside. If no one could save them, this would be their final resting place.

Kai raked his gaze across the kneeling crowd and drew his brows together. Soon, his gaze landed on Marcelo. When Marcelo saw Kai looking at him, he shuddered and promptly lowered his head, not daring to look at Kai.

“If he kneels before me and begs for my help, I’ll think of a way to deactivate the Heavenly Thunder Array, Kai said, pointing at Marcelo. Instantly, everyone turned to look at Marcelo.

“Keep dreaming, Kai! I’d rather die than kneel before you!” Marcelo roared. As the son of the Garcia family, he refused to kneel before anyone. Moreover, he held a grudge against Kai. “Marcelo, just get on your knees. Are you going to let us die?”

“He’s right. You should humble yourself and kneel. Your temper doesn’t match your abilities. Maybe if you didn’t anger Mr. Chance, he would have saved us by now.” “Hurry up and kneel!”

Everyone was yelling at Marcelo, wanting him to go down on his knees. Marcelo was trembling and seething with anger. He hissed, “Shut the f*ck up! I’d prefer to perish than to submit to him!”

Marcelo was determined not to kneel, even if it meant alienating everyone in the vicinity. Right then, Jose enunciated, “Kneel before him.” Marcelo froze before squeezing out, “Jose, you…”

“I’m telling you to get on your knees. Did you not hear me?”

There was an icy look on Jose’s face as murderous intent flashed past his eyes. Marcelo, who swore he would never kneel, could not help but bend his legs at the sight of the furious Jose. He was finally kneeling before Kai.

“Kai, Marcelo has kneeled. Will you deactivate the Heavenly Thunder Array now?” Jose asked. “Sure. Move away from that altar,” Kai then said.

At that, everyone ran to the sides before craning their necks to see how Kai was going to deactivate the Heavenly Thunder Array. "Mr. Flaxseed, please lend me a helping hand," Kai uttered.

"Kai, how are you going to deactivate this? Heavenly Thunder Array isn't like any other arcane arrays. It won't be easy to deactivate it," Flaxseed reminded.

"I know," Kai said with a small smile. "I wasn't planning to deactivate it from the start."

The Mans Decree Chapter 1968 -

A Man Like None Other Chapter 1968

A Man Like None Other Novel

"You're not breaking the array?" Flaxseed was shocked. "If you don't plan on doing that, why did you promise those people? Aren't you giving them a reason to target you?"

If those people joined forces to attack Kai, even he would have a tough time dealing with the mess. "I don't plan to break the formation, but we can devise a way to divert the heavenly thunder to one place. This way, as long as people avoid that spot, no one will be struck by the heavenly thunder again," Kai explained.

Hearing that, Flaxseed instantly understood and nodded. "That's a good idea, but where do you plan to divert the heavenly thunder?" "See that altar? Let's guide the heavenly thunder there since that's the highest point in the entire ancient ruins," Kai said while pointing at the altar. "Okay, so how do you plan to achieve that?"

Flaxseed asked. "Follow me." Kai led Flaxseed to the top of the altar. Kai stood in the middle of the altar and said to Flaxseed, "Mr. Flaxseed, utilize your charm to attract the heavenly thunder here by using me as a medium."

"Kai, are you insane? Do you intend to let the heavenly thunder strike you?" Flaxseed asked in astonishment..

"Without a medium, diverting the heavenly thunder to one place is impossible. When the heavenly thunder gathers here and bombards me, I'll find an opportunity to leave, and the thunder will keep hitting the same spot. I've already checked; although the heavenly thunder of Heavenly Thunder Array is powerful, it's far weaker than the lightning tribulation I faced during my breakthrough. It won't cause me any harm," Kai explained confidently.

"Kai, think this through. This is certainly not a plaything," Flaxseed reminded him again. "Don't worry. Let's get started." With that, Kai brandished Dragonslayer Sword and raised it high above his head to better attract the heavenly thunder.

Seeing that, Flaxseed had no choice but to take out several pieces of charm. He muttered incantations under his breath and abruptly threw them into the air.

Several charms began to rotate in mid-air, and the surrounding flickering blue lightning began to gather above Kai's head as if they'd been lured over by something.

Everyone watched that scene in stupefaction, with their mouths hanging wide open. "What is Kai trying to do? Is he going to endure the blasts of heavenly thunder?"

"Is he crazy?" "This is amazing. I can't believe we actually have a charm master among us." The crowd buzzed with discussions while Jose regarded Kai with a grimace.

"Mr. Lassen, this guy is trying to prompt the strike of heavenly thunder. Is he out of his mind?" a subordinate beside Claus asked in an undertone.

Claus narrowed his eyes and spoke slowly. "I don't think he's mad. This guy's physical body is quite formidable. I guess he has the confidence to withstand the heavenly thunder."

Claus had been hiding his true strength, standing among the crowd, not wanting to reveal himself until the last moment. "Dad, Kai has gone insane. What is he trying to do? Doing this is no different from courting death?"

When Astrid saw Kai was about to make himself the target of the heavenly thunder, she immediately disagreed and wanted to rush forward to pull him down.

She couldn't let anything happen to Kai. She wouldn't know how to live if something happened to him. "Don't move. Mr. Chance must have a plan. He'll be fine," Fernando stepped forward and halted Astrid.

"Astrid, rest assured. Mr. Chance will definitely be fine." Verner also expressed his confidence in Kai at that moment. Boom! The heavenly thunder was now converged atop Kai's head. Countless blue lightning bolts could be observed weaving around.

Crack! All of a sudden, a bolt of heavenly thunder struck down, directly hitting Kai and causing his body to emit a blue glow. He clenched his teeth, resisting the force of the heavenly thunder.

The Mans Decree Chapter 1969 -

A Man Like None Other Chapter 1969

A Man Like None Other Novel

After being struck by the first strike of heavenly thunder, Kai remained motionless, still holding Dragon Slayer Sword in his hand. Many people were shocked by that sight. After all, the power of the heavenly thunder was terrifying, and most people would be severely injured, if not killed, when hit by it. Yet, Kai sustained a direct hit and remained completely unharmed. His body is so incredibly tough!

Rumble! Just after a short ten seconds, another bolt of heavenly thunder came crashing down. This time, the power of the heavenly thunder was even greater, causing Kai to feel as if his internal organs were churning.

“ Kai, that’s enough. Hurry up and get out of the way!” Flaxseed shouted at Kai. Kai had already endured the blast of heavenly thunder twice, and if he continued to stay, he might truly get injured.

It was known that the power of heavenly thunder grew stronger each time. However, Kai didn’t move. He planned to hold out against the force of heavenly thunder one more time before finding an opportunity to leave.

Boom! The third heavenly thunder smote him. The power of that heavenly thunder was even more potent than the previous two combined. Kai felt his legs buckle, and he almost collapsed.

Just as he felt he couldn’t persevere in the face of the pressure, he suddenly sensed an unusual aura emanating from the altar beneath his feet. That strange aura traveled up his legs and slowly entered his body, instantly making him feel relaxed.

Kai was astounded, but looking down at the altar underneath him, he saw nothing more: than some stones stacked into a pile. There were no traces of arcane arrays or anything similar on the rocks. So, where did this peculiar aura come from?

While a dazed expression spread across Kai’s face while he was baffled by what had happened, Flaxseed suddenly leaped up and pushed Kai off the altar..

Right after Flaxseed did that, another bolt of heavenly thunder struck down. However, it hit the altar this time, sending stones flying everywhere.

“ Kai, are you stupid? Why didn’t you move? If you had gotten hit once more, you would definitely have been injured,” Flaxseed scolded Kai. Astrid hurried over and tightly embraced Kai while wearing a worried expression on her face. “ Kai, are you okay? Are you alright?”

At that moment, Kai was still contemplating the source of the strange aura he had felt earlier, staying still as a statue and not even blinking.

Noticing Kai’s condition, Astrid anxiously asked Flaxseed, “Mr. Flaxseed, what’s wrong with Kai? Did he become a fool after repeatedly getting struck by heavenly thunder?”

Flaxseed waved his hand in front of Kai, but the latter remained motionless and unresponsive. “I-I don’t know either. Don’t tell me he has really turned into a halfwit.”

Flaxseed was at a loss as well since that was his first time seeing Kai like that. Astrid cried while wrapping her arms around Kai. At that moment, Jose and the others gathered around. With blue lightning still flickering above his head, Marcelo bellowed, “Kai, you liar! You didn’t break Sky Thunder Array even after you made me kneel!”

Kai didn’t seem as if he had heard Marcelo’s shrieks. Flaxseed glared at him and said, “Shut your d*mn mouth! Kai has already diverted the heavenly thunder to one spot so it won’t strike the other places. He risked his life to achieve that, yet you’re still complaining?” Flaxseed chided, rendering Marcelo speechless.

Everyone saw that the heavenly thunder was indeed focused on the altar now, making the other areas safe. “Sky Thunder Array is no longer a threat, but how are we supposed to leave this place?” Jose started pondering how to escape after ascertaining that Sky Thunder Array could no longer harm them.

With Skylar and the other four Martial Arts Saints guarding the outside, they had no chance of breaking out. “I got it. I got it...” Suddenly, Kai murmured, “There must be a secret beneath the altar. There must be...”

With that, he rushed toward the altar as he spoke.

The Mans Decree Chapter 1970 -

A Man Like None Other Chapter 1970

A Man Like None Other Novel

Just as Kai rushed toward the altar, a loud boom ensued, and a bolt of heavenly thunder struck down! A massive force instantly flung Kai out.

The bolt of heavenly thunder seemed to be more powerful than ever before. Many others also could not withstand the scattered energy and staggered backward.

After Kai regained his balance, he was surprised to see the altar in front of him. Starting to crumble bit by bit. The stones cracked, revealing a shrunken version of the altar that was entirely black. Everyone looked on in bewilderment, as they were unable to determine what material the altar was made of. Buzz...

Suddenly, the altar started to emit a buzzing sound. The people felt a dizzying sensation and quickly covered their ears. Amidst the sound, Heavenly Thunder Array instantly collapsed and disappeared.

After the sound subsided, a beam of light shot out of the altar and pierced through the entire hill. Outside, Skylar and others guarding the area suddenly saw a beam of light shooting into the sky from within the ancient ruins.

In mid-air, the light suddenly expanded, and the entire Encanta Island was enveloped in it. “What’s going on?” Skylar was bewildered. “Could there be treasures in this ruin?” a Black Gold Robe asked.

As the light shrouded the entire Encanta Island, a mist began to form, obscuring the island. "The spiritual energy has revived. These are spiritual energies..."

Malphas who was inside Skylar sensed a large amount of spiritual energy spreading around him. "The spiritual energy has revived. There must be treasures in these ancient ruins that we don't know about. Let's rush in!" Malphas yelled.

Skylar also sensed the changes around him and immediately took four Black Gold Robes into the ancient ruins. At the same time, Kai and his group in the ancient ruins also sensed the sudden changes around them.

"Mr. Lassen, the spiritual energy has revived. It looks like this altar is the key to the spiritual energy's revival," a person next to Claus said excitedly.

"If we can get our hands on this thing, can't the Lassen family create a spiritual energy revival site?" another subordinate exclaimed. Hearing that, Claus himself trembled with excitement.

The spiritual energy had revived, which meant that they could break free from the constraints of the secret realm and the suppression of the laws of nature and freely travel between the secret realm and the mundane world. "Get ready to attack," Claus whispered.

Several of his men nodded and immediately prepared for battle. After looking at the altar, Kai realized that the spiritual energy on Encanta Island had revived because of this altar. As long as they destroyed the altar, they could control the revival of spiritual energy.

"Mr. Flaxseed, Verner, get ready to attack," Kai said to Flaxseed and the others in a low voice. At the same time, Jose looked at the altar, which was entirely black but not large in size, with a gleam in his eyes.

"Jose!" Marcelo shouted excitedly at him. "Tell everyone to get ready to attack," Jose commanded. He was also brimming with excitement. Just as various forces in the secret realm were about to clash, Skylar and his four Black Gold Robes had already rushed in.

These people were like wolves among sheep, and no one could stop them. It took them no time to cut a bloody path through to the front. Skylar looked at the glowing, black altar with excitement in his eyes.

Jose's face turned ugly when he saw Skylar and his men rushing in, and Kai frowned as well. Kai was still confident dealing with Jose and his group. However, now that Skylar had rushed with four Black Gold Robes, it was almost impossible for him to destroy the altar.

