

The Mans Decree Chapter 2431

Lamar had felt an overwhelming sense of danger the moment Divine Bow appeared. Powerless to defend against the arrow, he could only watch it approach him rapidly.

Following the noise of a loud explosion, the arrow radiated an even more foreboding aura. It seemed to encapsulate the force of heavenly thunder, which caused Lamar to be engulfed in turbulence. His body was met with tremendous force, and he flew backward.

Boom! Lamar crashed heavily to the ground and created a giant crater beneath him. Kai landed slowly and looked at Lamar without uttering a word.

Earlier, he could have shot Lamar dead with that arrow. The only reason he did not kill him was that he wanted to use the latter as a resource for cultivation. He wanted to absorb Lamar's power to increase his own cultivation level. White as a sheet, Lamar slowly rose to his feet and looked at Kai in disbelief.

Even Chester and Wayne were looking at Kai in shock. Neither of them could have beaten Lamar. If they had the capability to do so, Lamar would not have been able to chase them out of the Gate of Fire. After witnessing Kai trouncing Lamar, Chester and Wayne knew for a fact that Kai was far stronger than either of them.

The Divine Bow in Kai's hand, especially, filled them with awe. The moment Kai took it out, the intimidating aura it emitted had even Chester and Wayne trembling.

They were lucky to be on the same side as Kai. If they were enemies with him, he would have been able to send them to meet their maker by using Divine Bow alone. "What is that bow, Mr. Chance? How can it be so strong?" Wayne asked Kai curiously.

"This is Divine Bow. I guess it's considered a divine weapon. I can only harness a tenth of its power right now. If I could find a way to harness it fully, I might be able to shoot the sun down," Kai replied calmly.

With that, Chester and Wayne were even more astonished. If he could defeat Lamar with only a tenth of Divine Bow's power, then how powerful could it be at full strength?

At the sound of Kai's claim, Lamar's expression changed drastically. Although he did not know whether Kai was speaking the truth or not, he had gotten a taste of Divine Bow's power.

"Kai, I can give up the Gate of Fire as long as you let me and my son go."

Lamar knew he was fighting a losing battle against Kai. After all, he had already been defeated by Kai alone. If Chester and Wayne were to gang up on him together with Kai, he knew he would not be able to endure even a single blow.

Besides, the disciples of Zahrin Sect were close to being annihilated by the demon beasts. It was useless for Lamar to stay in the Gate of Fire. The secret realms would all disappear after the restoration of spiritual energy anyway. That was why Lamar was willing to give up the Gate of Fire to Kai. Even if Kai got his hands on it, he would not be able to have it for long.

"I'm not interested in that secret realm of yours. All I want is your cultivation. If you and your son are willing to give up your cultivation to me, then I'll let you guys live," Kai said flatly.

Lamar exploded with anger at once. "Quit daydreaming! We're all cultivators here. You should be well aware that losing our cultivation is worse than death for us!"

Kai was not surprised by Lamar's response. He knew from the start that the latter would disagree with it. "W-Wait! I'll do it!" Kayden yelled from where he had collapsed. "As long as you don't kill me, I'm willing to give you my cultivation!"

Kayden knew he was as good as dead to Kai. Even if he objected to the latter's request, he would not be able to stop Kai from getting his cultivation and would eventually lose his life.

After weighing things up, Kayden decided to comply with Kai's request, giving up his cultivation so that he could live.
