

The Mans Decree Chapter 2481

Chapter 2481 Join Forces

Feeling invigorated, Kai opened the door to leave the room, only to jump in fright when he came face-to-face with Flaxseed.

“What are you doing here? Were you eavesdropping the entire night?” he asked, a puzzled look on his face.

“Do you think I’m that free? Besides, it’d only make my blood boil if I listened to you go the whole night without stopping. You sure as hell have got the strength and stamina, huh?” Flaxseed replied as he shot an envious glance at Kai. “Godrick’s looking for you, so he sent me to get you. He didn’t want to disturb your passionate romp.”

With that, Kai promptly followed Flaxseed to the front hall while Beatrice led a few housekeepers into the room.

Alas, when she saw the ladies sprawled limply across the bed, she couldn’t help but gasp in surprise. Oh, my goodness. I never thought Kai would have that much prowess!

The next second, she hastily ordered the housekeepers to look after Cecilia and the others. After all, who knew which one of the women had already conceived Kai’s child?

Meanwhile, Kai had just stepped into the front hall with Flaxseed when he suddenly froze.

Huh? Is that Quindon? Why does it look like he’s waiting for me?

Upon seeing Kai, Godrick hurriedly walked toward him. “Kai, this Quindon guy is looking for you again...”

Quindon, too, stood up and greeted Kai with a slight nod. “It’s been a while, Kai. How’s everything?”

“Ha! If it isn’t Mr. Yuchamore from Gate of Heaven’s secret realm,” Kai scoffed. “Why has a purple-robed emissary from Evil Heart Sect come to visit me in the mundane world? Hmm... From the looks of it, you must be struggling to resist the laws of nature, huh?”

Judging by his ashen face and disordered aura, I have no doubt he's overwhelmed by the crushing force of the laws of nature!

Quindon let out a bitter chuckle before glancing at Godrick and Flaxseed. "Kai, can we talk in private?"

After meeting Quindon's gaze, Kai turned to the other two men. "You guys can leave the room first..."

"Kai, he's from the secret realm and a member of Evil Heart Sect. It's dangerous for you to be alone with him," Flaxseed reminded.

Kai, however, laughed coldly in response. "He's in the mundane world and restrained by the laws of nature. There's no way he can hurt me..."

With my current power, I can easily defeat Quindon in the secret realm, so what's there to fear when he's in the mundane world and being suppressed by the laws of nature? He's of no threat to me!

Seeing how confident Kai was, Quindon sighed in resignation. "He's right. Even if I want to attack him here, my hands are tied..."

Once Flaxseed and Godrick had taken their leave, Kai closed all the doors and windows with just a casual flick of his hand.

"Are you here today because your secret realms have become empty?" he asked.

Quindon widened his eyes in surprise. "Oh, you know about it? Indeed, our members have all gone to Evil Heart Sect's secret realm, and that's the reason I'm here today. I want to join forces with you and take Evil Heart Sect down..."

"Join forces?" Kai exclaimed as he stared at Quindon in disbelief.

Wow! Never in my wildest dreams did I imagine that Quindon would one day want to work with me. For goodness' sake, he's one of Evil Heart Sect's core members and purple-robed emissaries!

"That's right. Including myself, there are only six remaining purple-robed emissaries. We'd all like to work with you."

By then, Kai's interest had been piqued. "Why me, though? Could you tell me more?"

Come to think of it... If I were to join forces with Quindon and the others, dealing with Evil Heart Sect would undoubtedly be much easier. After all, my power may have increased significantly, but that still won't be enough to destroy an entire sect! Tackling all six purple-robed emissaries simultaneously is already no easy feat, so I can only imagine how much worse it'd be if Tanner joined the fray! Yes... It'd be brilliant if I could team up with the emissaries to take on Tanner.
