

The Mans Decree Chapter 2483

Chapter 2483 The Plan

Meanwhile, the six purple-robed emissaries had secretly gathered in Evil Heart Sect's secret realm.

"Everyone, I've already met with Kai Chance, and he has agreed to rescue our families. What we need to do now is come up with a foolproof plan," Quindon announced.

"Mr. Yuchamore, Evil Heart Sect's dungeon is heavily guarded from top to bottom. I've made some inquiries and learned that our families are locked on the most secure underground third floor. It looks like Lord Tanner is also worried about us rescuing them, so he had taken these precautions against us from the beginning," Angus said with a heavy sigh. "Even if Kai has agreed to lend us a helping hand, saving our families will still be a long shot..."

Upon hearing that, the other purple-robed emissaries lowered their heads in dismay.

"No matter how difficult it is, we have to try. We can't continue to let our families suffer, nor can we let our disciples be treated as disposable resources. We have to fight back!" Quindon said with a look of fierce determination.

Windmist's eyes instantly lit up. "That's right! We have to fight back! Otherwise, Lord Tanner will come after us once the Spiritual Energy Restoration Formation is activated and the spiritual energy in the mundane world is restored. Who knows? He might even use us as cultivation resources!"

"I didn't say to give up on the rescue mission..." Angus retorted. "However, given the tight security of the dungeon, we have to proceed cautiously. One wrong move is all it takes to jeopardize the entire mission, and when that happens, the dungeon will become our graveyard."

"Well, I do have a plan..." Windmist piped up.

"What is it?" the other purple-robed emissaries asked in unison.

“If we want to save our families, we’ll have to do so when Evil Heart Sect’s security is the most relaxed. That would be when the Spiritual Energy Restoration Formation is activated,” Windmist reasoned. “Lord Tanner will definitely lead his subordinates to Divine Quest Sect to get the preparations underway, so that’s the moment Evil Heart Sect will have the least security. We can use that chance to rescue our families.”

For a moment, nobody said a word until Sigwin broke the silence.

“Mr. Windmist, your plan sounds good, and I agree that’s the day when Evil Heart Sect will be least secure. However, if we were to wait until then, Skylar would have absorbed almost all of our disciples. Besides, as Evil Heart Sect’s purple-robed emissaries, wouldn’t Lord Tanner want us by his side? How would we find the time for the rescue mission? Let’s also not forget that Kai plays a critical role in activating the Spiritual Energy Restoration Formation. Lord Tanner would get him to Divine Quest Sect by any means, so who else is there to save our families?”

The other emissaries quickly agreed with Sigwin. While they couldn’t deny that Windmist had a viable plan, no one would have the time to carry it out on the day itself!

“I’ve done the calculations. On the day of the activation, Lord Tanner will threaten Kai to get him to Divine Quest Sect, and that time difference will provide us with a window of opportunity. Kai can use that interval to slip into Evil Heart Sect for the rescue mission. Since we’ll be in Divine Quest Sect, we can buy Kai some time and keep an eye on Lord Tanner. Once our families are safe and sound, we’ll unleash our attack. As for the disciples, we’ll have to sacrifice them... This is the best plan I can think of, and as heartbreaking as it sounds, we have to choose between our families and disciples. We can’t save them all,” Windmist said rather grimly.

I don’t wish for this, either! I don’t want to sacrifice our disciples, but what other choice do we have?

The rest of the group instantly fell silent again as they pondered Windmist’s words.

“Let’s do as Mr. Windmist suggested. The harsh reality of life is that we can’t have it all. It’d be good enough to get our families out of that hellhole. In any case, I shall return to Kai and discuss the plan with him. You guys have to continue acting normal. We can't let anyone catch on to what we're planning," Quindon instructed before waving everyone off.

If they stayed together for a minute longer, it'd only give Tanner a reason to suspect them.