

The Man's Decree Chapter 319 (The Man like none Other chapter 319)

That was a warning meant for Zeke, for Alfred was here to capture Kai. He didn't want to harm any innocent beings.

"Zeke, go to Josephine and the rest. I'll be there soon," Kai told Zeke.

Zeke nodded. He took two steps before coming to a stop.

"J-Kai, am I a coward for leaving you both here?" Zeke asked, feeling conflicted. Kai gave a lopsided grin. "Zeke, you don't know martial arts. You won't be any help even if you stay, so just leave."

He wasn't about to blame Zeke for leaving, for not everyone got the guts to go against the Whitaker family like him.

After hesitating briefly, Zeke announced, "I might not be skilled in martial arts, but I can't leave you alone. That's not what friends should do. I might as well die together with you!"

Zeke stalked back to Kai's side after saying that.

Kai was pleased to hear that. "Zeke, they are the ones who will die. Nothing will happen to us today."

After attaining Level Nine Energy Cultivation, Kai knew Alfred wasn't his match.

"All right. Since you have a death wish, I shall grant your wish."

Alfred narrowed his eyes and ordered, "Kill them all!"

The four experts immediately whipped their daggers out and lunged toward Kai menacingly.

Zeke paled at the sight and staggered backward.

Kai stood before him in a protective manner without taking action. Meanwhile, Tommy pulled out his belt and charged forward.

Despite battling against four men, Tommy wasn't on the losing side. Instead, he waved his belt around and attacked the enemies ferociously. Tommy's belt was unique as it was made of countless metal rings.

In the dark alley, loud clangs were heard as the belt came into contact with the daggers. Sparks were flying around, too.

Realizing the four men weren't Tommy's match, Alfred barked, "Useless fools! Get out of the way!"

The men promptly stepped back. Alfred's hunched body suddenly spread wide like an eagle as he lurched toward Tommy.

Seeing that, Tommy lashed his belt toward Alfred's body in the air.

Instead of avoiding the attack, Alfred grabbed the belt and pulled on it. He then gave Tommy's gut a few violent kicks with both his legs.
Bam! Bam! Bam!

As a result, Tommy staggered backward, unable to resist his advance. Eventually, Tommy had to release his belt and roll on the ground to avoid Alfred's attacks.
However, blood was oozing out of the corner of his mouth. Tommy's expression had turned as black as thunder.
"Ha! You're too weak to be my match!" Alfred tossed his belt aside and scoffed.

Kai snickered and stepped forward. "You're indeed capable. I shall practice my new skills on you!"
After achieving Level Nine Energy Cultivation, he hadn't tried his skills out. Alfred would be a perfect candidate for him to practice his new skills on.
"Practice?" Alfred sneered. "You'll have to pay a high price for that. How about your life!"
With that, he darted in Kai's direction as though he were a cannon.

Kai halted and gazed at Alfred with disdain. It didn't even seem like he was going to avoid Alfred's incoming attack.
Bam!
Alfred had swung his fist at Kai ruthlessly.
Before he could rejoice, a strong recoil shot up his arm.

"What?" Alfred yelled as he retreated hastily.
Alas, it was too late. The recoil had traveled all around Alfred's body in a swift manner.
His arm hung at his side weakly. Without a doubt, his arm had been broken.
Bang! Bang! Bang!

Strange sounds pierced the air as Alfred's clothes burst into pieces as though something had torn them apart.
"No, this is impossible. No way..."

Fear rose in Alfred's gaze. Before he could finish his sentence, he spat out a mouthful of blood mixed with pieces of his organs.
Thump!

Alfred fell to the ground weakly—the life sucked out of him. He had died with his eyes wide open.

Having no idea how he died, Alfred didn't know that the recoil had smashed his organs into smithereens.

The four experts shivered in fright at the horrible sight. They couldn't even muster their courage to flee the scene.

Alfred's strange death dealt quite a blow to them. They felt actual pressure landing on their shoulders.

Kai strode over to him and got on his knees. He then twisted Alfred's head off in a violent manner.

Tossing Alfred's head to the four experts, he announced icily, "Bring the head back and give it to Kane. I have a message for him. Tell him I'll get to Summerbank one day to twist his head off."

The four men nodded fearfully. They took Alfred's head and fled the scene at once.

Kai turned and glanced at Zeke. "Let's go," he urged.

Zeke was shocked to the core. At a loss for words, he trudged behind Kai blankly. It would take a long time before he could digest the previous scene he saw. After all, Kai's action was beyond his comprehension of the world.

After they arrived at the food street, Zeke was still in a daze. Everyone was enjoying themselves, but he remained abnormally silent. Obviously, the previous scene came as a huge bombshell to him.

After dinner, Kai locked himself in his room. He stayed up the entire night to craft the revitalizing pills. The reason he was working hard was to get to know his background soon. A few questions niggled in his mind. Who is my mother? Why is Dragon Island that petrifying?

The next morning, Kai had a simple breakfast before resuming crafting the revitalizing pills.

Meanwhile, back at the Whitaker residence in Summerbank, the four experts were on their knees, their entire beings shaking in fear. A wave of fury crashed through Kane when he saw Alfred's head before him.

Seized in rage, Kane spat out a mouthful of blood.

"Mr. Whitaker!"

The four men immediately helped Kane to his seat.

"Kane, stop boasting if you're not capable. The matter would've been resolved if it was the Jantz family who had taken action. Look, now Alfred's dead!"

Lucy's furious voice drifted into the room before she arrived.

She had rushed over after hearing about Alfred's death.

When she stepped into the room, the sight of blood trickling down Kane's lips made her stop abruptly. A flash of anguish appeared in her gaze.

Though they often fought with each other, Lucy would still feel bad for Kane if something were to happen to him. After all, they had been married for a long time.

"Mrs. Whitaker," the men greeted her politely.

"I have a question. Was Alfred killed by Kai?" Lucy glanced at Alfred's head.

"Yes!" one man answered.

"Then did Kai spare your lives so you can bring Alfred's head back?" she continued.

"Yes. He asked us to relay a message to Mr. Whitaker. He said he'll come to Summerbank one day and twist Mr. Whitaker's head off, too!"

The man quivered in fear after revealing that.

"How arrogant!" Lucy gave the man a violent punch in the head that killed him on the spot.

The remaining three men instantly got on their knees and shivered profusely. They knew the Whitaker family was cruel enough to take them out. The real head of the family was Lucy instead of Kane!

Lucy commanded, "Take care of Mr. Whitaker and leave the rest to me!"

She shot a pale Kane one last look before turning on her heel to leave.

After exiting the room, Lucy gave her brother, Wilbur, a call. It was clear that she would need the Jantz family's help to resolve the problem, for the Whitaker family wasn't capable enough of taking revenge.

Wilbur made his way to the Whitaker residence at once after receiving her call.

Anger swept over him at the sight of Tyrion lying in bed. "Lucy, who was the man who beat Ty up? Why didn't you tell me about it earlier?"

"Uncle Wilbur, you have to avenge me. It was Kai who crippled me! I'm going to be a cripple for the rest of my life!" Tyrion wailed.

He burst into tears after seeing Wilbur in person.

Wilbur was only a few years older than Tyrion, and the boys had practically grown up together. They were close to each other. Hearing Tyrion's cries, Wilbur felt his heart ache. "Ty, don't worry. I'll avenge you for sure!"

"Uncle Wilbur, it was Josephine's fault that I got beaten up by Kai. You have to capture her so I can vent my anger on her!" Tyrion added quickly.

"No problem. Just leave it to me!" Wilbur patted his shoulder comfortingly.

Lucy didn't share their sentiments. "Willy, don't listen to him. Josephine is the daughter of William Sullivan, the richest man in Horington. If you capture her, he'll kick up a fuss for sure. We just have to capture the b*stard who beat Ty up. Don't cause more trouble," she advised.

"Leave it to me, Lucy. So what if he's the richest man in Horington? He should be honored that Ty is interested in his daughter!"

Wilbur was unfazed. He proceeded to ask Tyrion some questions before he left.

Lucy said nothing. Seeing my son in such a condition, I should just let them be. Alas, that was precisely why the Whitaker family was wiped out of existence.

Back in Yeringham, Kai was still working hard to craft the revitalizing pills. He had no idea the Whitaker family had sent someone to deal with him. Even if he knew about it, he couldn't be bothered.

It took him twenty-four hours to craft one hundred revitalizing pills. Tommy stood guard outside his room when he was busy doing that, while Josephine got bored and went to Frida and Yasmin to pass the time.

"Josephine's not back yet?" Kai asked Tommy as he glanced at the night sky.

"Mr. Chance, Ms. Sullivan called a while earlier to inform us that she'll be back after dinner. She's currently with the Shaw sisters," Tommy responded politely.

"I see." Kai nodded in acknowledgment. It was normal for Josephine to spend some time having fun with them as they hadn't gotten to meet in years.

Right when Kai and Tommy were about to leave for dinner, the phone suddenly rang.

Kai fished his phone out and realized it was a call from Walter. He found it strange for Walter to call him at this hour.

Walter rarely contacts me directly.

After the call was connected, Walter's anxious voice could be heard. "Mr. Chance, we're in trouble. Deep trouble!"

Kai was stunned. "Mr. Grange, what happened? Calm down and explain slowly."

"Lagrange Monastery is in trouble! Please come back now," Walter pleaded. The fear in his trembling voice was unmistakable.

"All right. I'll head back right now!" Kai promised and hung up the phone.

His expression turned frosty.

"Mr. Chance, what happened?" Tommy asked carefully. He had noticed something off about Kai's expression.

"Abbot Erasmus is in trouble. I need to head back now, so stay here with Josephine and protect her," Kai said.

He strode back to his room to pack up.

The Man's Decree Chapter 322 (The Man like none Other chapter 322)

"Should I go with you instead?" asked Tommy.

"No need. Remember, protect Josephine. I'm certain the Whitaker family won't let the matter slip," Kai said.

Right after saying that, he grabbed his jacket and dashed off.

Kai floored the accelerator of the car. Throughout the journey, his entire being turned icy. Renee was a rare being who possessed a frosty constituent. If she could enter the heavenly realm, she'd grow to be a powerful being.

However, Kai wasn't capable enough to bring her into the heavenly realm at the moment. For now, he could only modify her body so she could improve. Instead of modifying her body recklessly, Kai would head to the monastery to absorb her frosty energy every now and then.

Her constituent was rare. As Lagrange Monastery was in danger, Kai could not help but worry about Renee. She might have a frosty constituent, but it was impossible for her to control the frosty energy within her body. Just like normal young girls, she couldn't fight back if she were to land in trouble.

With that thought in mind, Kai sped up without hesitation. The car picked up speed as it headed toward Lagrange Monastery.

When Kai finally arrived at the foot of Lagrange Mountain, it was near midnight. The sky was pitch black. The weather was rather gloomy, as it was going to rain soon.

After parking the car, Kai headed for the mountaintop straightaway. Since he was a Level Nine Energy Cultivation, he had superior hearing and vision.

Rumble...

Before he could reach the mountaintop, a bolt of lightning crackled from the sky. What followed next were droplets of rain that were the size of peas.

Kai's entire being wasn't affected by the rain, as there was a faint fog protecting his body. Before the droplets could land on his body, they'd evaporate instead of drenching him.

Right before he reached the mountaintop, Kai spotted some guards along the way. Obviously, someone had passed away in Lagrange Monastery. However, Kai didn't know who it was.

He sped up and went past the guards. Upon arrival, Kai was shocked at the distinct smell of blood. It was raining heavily, but the smell still lingered around. It was clear that many people had just perished here.

Glancing at the puddles of rainwater underneath his feet, he realized they were stained red. The crimson rainwater then gathered together before flowing down the mountain.

Outside Lagrange Monastery, dozens of investigators clad in raincoats were flitting around like busy bees.

Seeing him, some immediately came forward to block his advance. "Who are you? You can't come in!"

"Get out of our way!" Suddenly, two figures dashed out of Lagrange Monastery. They were none other than Walter and Glen!

After walking toward Kai briskly, they greeted respectfully, "Mr. Chance." The investigators were dumbfounded. Kai was a young man in his twenties, but both the mayor and a retired high-ranking state government official had treated him with great respect.

Kai gave a curt nod in response before heading into Lagrange Monastery with Walter and Glen.

Inside the monastery grounds, there were dozens of corpses lying haphazardly on the ground. They were monks, all Erasmus' disciples.

Kai recognized most of them, for he had encountered them every time he came to Lagrange Monastery to absorb Renee's frosty energy.

He bent down to look at the wounds on the monks' bodies. The culprit had killed them by crushing their throats. There were five wounds on each monk's neck, with blood trickling out continuously.

"Where is Abbot Erasmus?" Kai queried.

"He's inside," Walter answered. He led Kai into the monastery's hall hastily.

After stepping into the hall, Erasmus' figure appeared in sight. He had collapsed on the ground with his eyes opened wide. His body had already turned stiff.
