

The Mans Decree Chapter 3196

Lucian erupted with a furious roar. He lifted a massive stone that weighed ten thousand tons in an attempt to block the light arrow.

Boom! With a deafening explosion, the light arrow struck the ten-thousand-ton boulder, creating a cataclysmic blast.

The boulder was reduced to powder, and a rain of fire fell, setting Lucian's hair ablaze. Under the fiery rain, countless soldiers from Norwal City beneath Lucian's feet perished.

Lucian's body was burning, and he was screaming in agony. He rolled around on the ground before managing to put out the fire on his body.

Lucian might've extinguished the flames on his body, but his subordinates suffered as a result. Many of them were crushed to death beneath Lucian's colossal body when he was rolling around. However, Lucian couldn't care less as he was more concerned about saving his own life.

Kai, being the Golden Dragon's True Form, had already exceeded his expectations. The fact that Kai could draw the Divine Bow was beyond his imagination.

With the flames extinguished on his body, Lucian struggled to get up, preparing to fleet once again.

However, Kai pulled the Divine Bow again, and this time, three light arrows appeared directly on the bow. Endless radiance revolved around the Divine Bow as if it absorbed all the light in the world to form these three light arrows.

Seeing Kai pull the Divine Bow with three arrows this time, Lucian became even more frantic. He sprinted forward with all his might.

Each step he took caused the earth to shake, creating craters wherever he stepped.

The soldiers from Norwal City who came with Lucian suffered, as many of them couldn't evade Lucian's enormous body and were crushed into pulp.

Swish Swish Swish.

Kai loosened his fingers, and the three light arrows shot out instantly. However, not all of them were aimed at Lucian. One was aimed at Lucian, one at Remus, and the remaining one at Xandros.

As long as these three individuals died, the entire army of Norwal City would lose its leader, and chaos would ensue.

“Dad, save me, save me!” Xandros screamed in terror when he noticed one of the light arrows was heading straight for him.

Witnessing this, Remus threw Xandros aside and leaped into the air, attempting to dodge the attack. However, the light arrow seemed to have eyes and couldn't be evaded by Remus, no matter how hard he tried.

A ray of light pierced through Remus' chest, and innumerable golden light emanated from his body.

Boom! Remus' body exploded, turning into a rain of blood. There was nothing left of him. Xandros' legs gave way, and he collapsed to the ground, pleading for Lucian to save him.

However, Lucian was in hot water himself and couldn't save Xandros. Terror flashed across Xandros' gaze as he watched a light arrow pierced through him, followed by countless rays of golden light, turning him into a pulp..

After his son's death, Lucian was consumed by anger but had no means to retaliate. He could only desperately defend against Kai's attacks.

“The Divine Bow truly lives up to its name as a divine weapon. No wonder so many people are willing to risk their lives for it. It's really powerful!” Yuven marveled at the might of the Divine Bow.

At this moment, Lucian had an arrow through his thigh, and he had fallen to the ground. The strange phenomenon behind him had also dissipated, and his colossal body was rapidly shrinking.

In no time, Lucian had returned to a normal- sized man. Holding the Divine Bow, Kai slowly approached Lucian.

Kai, with his indestructible golden body and holding the Divine Bow, looked like an invincible warrior. He towered over Lucian.

Kai looked down at Lucian, who now resembled a defeated rooster, completely devoid of his previous belligerence.

He didn't bother saying anything. The radiance Divine Bow in his hands flickered, and an arrow shot out, headed directly toward Lucian's forehead. The arrow pierced through Lucian's forehead, ending his life on the spot.

The Mans Decree Chapter 3197

After Lucian's death, the army of Norwal City began to flee in all directions. Seeing this, Yuven led the soldiers from Imperial Beast City in pursuit, chasing them all the way to Norwal City.

"Kai, are you okay?" Quinley and the others asked with concern. They crowded around Kai, noticing that he didn't seem well.

"I'm fine," Kai said with a faint smile. However, just as he finished speaking, he suddenly felt dizzy and collapsed to the ground.

Consecutively drawing the Divine Bow had consumed a significant amount of Kai's strength, leaving him feeling somewhat drained. After Kai passed out, the women hurriedly carried him back to Imperial Beast City.

Kai remained unconscious for three days, during which Yuven's forces successfully captured Norwal City. This conquest significantly bolstered Yuven's power.

"Is Mr. Chance still not awake?" Yuven looked at the still-unconscious Kai, appearing somewhat nervous.

He couldn't believe that Kai had passed out for three whole days.

"He's still not awake, but his body is fine. It's just that his energy was depleted, causing him to pass out," Viola assured Yuven.

She had been checking Kai's condition daily and knew that there was no cause for concern regarding his health.

"The Divine Bow is indeed excellent, but it consumes too much energy. I've prepared some resources to help Mr. Chance recover more quickly," Yuven said, showing the resources he had gathered from Norwal City.

He intended for Kai to absorb them for a faster recovery. As soon as Yuven finished speaking, Kai slowly opened his eyes. Thrilled to see him awake, Viola called out, "Kai!"

"Mr. Chance!" Yuven also approached. Kai got up slowly and glanced around. "How long have I been unconscious? What happened to Norwal City?"

"Mr. Chance, you've been unconscious for three days. I've already seized Norwal City. You don't need to worry," Yuven quickly reassured him.

"That's good. Relay my order to everyone. Don't tell anyone that I am in possession of the Divine Bow," Kai emphasized to Yuven.

Kai knew that if this information got out, he would become a target, as many would want to kill him.

"Mr. Chance, rest assured. I've already made it clear, and no one will dare to leak a word," Yuven assured him.

He understood the importance of the Divine Bow. Many people had fought fiercely for it, and if they found out that Kai possessed it, they would be relentless in their pursuit.

"Has Feenix returned yet?" Kai asked.

"Ms. Feenix probably won't return for a few more days. Mr. Chance, just focus on recuperating. I'll handle the rest," Yuven advised Kai to rest and not worry about other matters. While Kai was conversing with Yuven, Sigurd suddenly burst into the room.

"Sigurd, why have you come back? Didn't I ask you to follow Mr. Samoll back to the Emerald Cauldron Sect?" Viola inquired.

She was surprised to see him back here. Viola had told Ghaylen to bring the members from the Emerald Cauldron Sect back to their sect since the situation at Imperial Beast City was resolved. However, Sigurd had returned after only a few days.

"Ms. Warwick, Hosen took over the Emerald Cauldron Sect. While we were aiding Imperial Beast City during the attack from Norwal City, Hosen and his men seized the Emerald Cauldron Sect. Norwal City deliberately allowed us entry to Imperial Beast City. That way, our sect would be left empty, and Hosen could easily succeed in his plan,” Sigurd reported, panting.

Viola frowned at the unexpected turn of events. She hadn’t expected Hosen to remain so determined.

“How audacious of Hosen. Lucian is dead, and Norwal City is now under my command. How dare he cause trouble for us? Don’t worry, Ms. Warwick. You left Emerald Cauldron Sect to help Imperial Beast City, but Hosen took the opportunity to seize your sect. I’ll personally go to the Emerald Cauldron Sect and eliminate Hosen to help you reclaim it,” Yuven said, his face filled with anger.

Defeating Hosen wouldn’t be a challenge to him.

The Mans Decree Chapter 3198

“Yuven, now that you’ve just seized Norwal City, the situation is still a bit unstable. Imperial Beast City also needs you, so you don’t need to go, I’ll visit the Emerald Cauldron Sect myself.” Kai stopped Yuven.

“Mr. Chance, your health...”

“I’m fine. Even if I’m a bit weakened, it won’t take much for me to eliminate Hosen, Kai said with a faint smile. Yuven smiled as well. He knew that Kai’s power had grown significantly, making defeating Hosen a simple task.

“Once Feenix returns, have her go to the Emerald Cauldron Sect and find me,” Kai instructed. Along with Viola and Sigurd, he made his way to Emerald Cauldron Sect.

However, Quinley and Ivasha caught up with them as they wanted to follow Kai to Emerald Cauldron Sect.

Even though he initially wanted them to stay in Imperial Beast City for safety reasons, they insisted on accompanying him to the sect. Kai had no choice but to relent. Ivasha’s expression was complicated as she watched Kai and the others leave.

Seeing her expression, Yuven could only pat her head comfortingly as he knew he couldn’t help in this matter. Still, if Ivasha could become Kai’s partner, Yuven would be delighted. However, that depended on fate.

Hosen had taken over the sect, making it impossible for them to enter. Even their combined strength wasn't enough to reclaim it.

Hosen had a powerful ally from Norwal City, a general dispatched by Lucian who was a Ninth Level Body Fusion Realm cultivator.

He was even capable of defeating Helius. Hosen was in high spirits, blissfully unaware that Norwal City had already fallen.

He believed that Imperial Beast City had been captured, leading to Ghaylen and the other's escape back to the sect.

"Mr. Samoll, I advise you to be sensible. Now, Emerald Cauldron Sect is under my control. I've also entered into a strategic partnership with King Lucian. In the future, all the pills produced by Emerald Cauldron Sect will be supplied to Norwal City. In return, Norwal City will provide us with a continuous supply of herbs and various resources, ensuring the safety of Emerald Cauldron Sect. Now that Imperial Beast City is finished, Norwal City dominates this entire region. Can't you see the bigger picture?" Hosen declared confidently.

"Hosen, don't indulge in illusions. Norwal City has already fallen, and King Lucian met his end at Mr. Chance's hands. You're living in a fantasy. If you choose to relinquish control of Emerald Cauldron Sect to us, there might be a chance for you to survive. Otherwise, when Ms. Warwick comes back, your fate will be gruesome," Ghaylen cautioned.

Hosen laughed loudly after hearing that. "Are you out of your mind? Do you think I don't know the extent of Kai's strength? Even if he had some adventures recently and his strength increased rapidly, he's just a Body Fusion Realm cultivator. The idea of him killing King Lucian is simply ridiculous. I'll give you ten minutes to consider. If you don't submit to me, don't blame me for being ruthless. I'll kill all of you."

Hosen didn't believe Ghaylen's words at all. To him, it was impossible for a mere Body Fusion Realm cultivator was able to kill Lucian, a Fourth Level Tribulator cultivator.

Realizing Hosen's skepticism, Ghaylen chose not to argue anymore. He could only hope that Sigurd would arrive with reinforcements soon.

The Mans Decree Chapter 3199

Once the people from Imperial Beast City arrived, Hosen was as good as dead. Ten minutes passed in the blink of an eye. Recognizing that Ghaylen had no intention of submitting himself, Hosen started emanating a violent aura.

“Ghaylen, don’t blame me for your refusal to yield,” Hosen declared as he leaped into the air and charged toward his opponent.

Though Ghaylen knew he was no match for Hosen, he still gathered his aura, ready to face the impending attack.

Just as he prepared to defend himself, an unexpected aura erupted from behind him. The aura shoved Hosen back as he soared through the air, sending him plummeting to the ground below. The impact was so powerful that it severely injured him, causing him to spew a mouthful of blood.

Hosen stood dumbfounded, utterly bewildered by the identity of the formidable figure who had just sent him crashing to the ground with a mere surge of aura, leaving him severely injured.

“You’re just a Body Fusion Realm cultivator. How dare you...”

Kai gradually appeared, with Viola and the others walking behind him..

Ghaylen was surprised to see Kai.

Meanwhile, Hosen knitted his brows. He realized Kai’s strength had reached the eighth level of Body Fusion Realm within a short period and was now on par with Helius. Unbeknownst to him, Kai considered Helius from the Emerald Cauldron Sect to be a mere trifle.

“You’re still alive? Does that mean you managed to escape Imperial Beast City?” Hosen asked, glaring at Kai.

“Escape?” Kai snorted. “What makes you think I have to escape? Lucian was the one who needed to run away from me. But it’s all over now. I’ve already killed him.”

“What nonsense are you spouting? King Lucian is a Tribulator. How could you possibly have slain him? You’re merely digging your own grave by spreading such rumors about him!” one of the generals standing beside Hosen bellowed.

“So, some of Norwal City’s faithful are still lurking around here, huh? Looks like I almost let you slip under the radar,” Kai remarked as he strode toward the general.

The general, a ninth-level Body Fusion Realm cultivator, stood unfazed by Kai’s presence. With a mighty roar, he charged toward Kai, his weapon glinting menacingly in the air. Kai, however, remained unmoved. With a casual wave of his hand, a terrifying aura erupted from his body.

Boom! In an instant, the general’s body exploded in a gruesome display of violence, transforming into a scattering of flesh and bone.

Hosen was stunned at that sight. Did he just turn a ninth-level Body Fusion Realm cultivator into a pile of flesh with just a wave of his hand?

It also dawned on Hosen that Kai had not exerted his full power during their earlier encounter. Otherwise, Hosen himself would have suffered the same gruesome fate as the general.

Hosen couldn’t fathom how an eighth-level Body Fusion Realm cultivator could possess such devastating power!

However, pondering on that was a luxury he couldn’t afford as he needed to focus on his immediate survival. He immediately fell to his knees and begged for Kai’s forgiveness. “Please have mercy on me!

I’ll not go against you anymore!”

Hosen bowed before Kai repeatedly, but the latter didn’t even bother to glance at him. “Viola, you decide you how want to punish him!”

Kai didn’t kill him earlier because he wanted. to give Viola a chance to decide how she wanted to deal with him.

After all, she was now the lord of Emerald Cauldron Sect. Viola nodded in response before walking toward Hosen with an indifferent expression.

Hosen continued begging for forgiveness as he watched Viola approach. “Have mercy on me, Ms. Warwick. Please!”

Yet, Viola remained impassive, her eyes devoid of any compassion. Had Hosen not provoked Emerald Cauldron Sect, she might have overlooked his transgressions, but since Hosen had once again challenged her, Viola was determined to get rid of him once and for all.

With a beam of light flashing across her palm, Viola severed Hosen's head and sent it flying.

With a single, decisive gesture, Kai had put an end to Emerald Cauldron Sect's crisis, a testament to his immense power.

He recalled how he was bullied when he first arrived at Emerald Cauldron Sect, but now, he could easily crush the sect with just a wave of his hand.

The transformation of a man's power can indeed move mountains!

The Mans Decree Chapter 3200

At the heart of Demon Seal Alliance stood an enormous palace of unmatched grandeur. The palace was home to Talcott Lefterov, the head of the alliance.

Within the palace's grand hall, Talcott sat in serene meditation, his eyes closed as he absorbed the potent spiritual energy that surged from the depths of the earth.

Beneath the palace was a vast underground city that housed hundreds and thousands of Demonic Cultivators. The sudden surge of footsteps disrupted Talcott's meditative state, prompting him to slowly open his eyes.

A middle-aged man named Zayan Cabeza approached Talcott with respect and bowed deeply before speaking. "Mr. Lefterov, out of the Five Slayers, we've only managed to locate Aquadoran and Bhivsen. I'm afraid the others have met an unfortunate end."

"Was our subbranch destroyed and its head killed as well?" Talcott inquired with a frown.

"That's right. Fayzon Leaveden, the subbranch head, was slain, along with several elders, by a man named Kai Chance. The slayers also perished by his hand," Zayan urgently reported.

"Kai Chance?" A chilling glint flickered in Talcott's eyes. "Have you obtained any information regarding him?"

“Yes, Mr. Lefterov. I have gathered some information about this Kai. He appears to have materialized out of thin air within the Ethereal Realm, with no prior records of his existence. This leads my subordinates to believe he may have originated from another world. Despite being an eighth-level Body Fusion Realm cultivator, he has demonstrated the ability to defeat cultivators of a higher rank, including a second-level Tribulator. Furthermore, he possesses mastery over magecraft and a body seemingly immune to toxins. It is likely that he hails from a more advanced world.”

Talcott remained silent, his fingers lightly tapping the runestone as he swiftly absorbed Kai’s information. “He has managed to advance several cultivation levels within a mere few months. That man is indeed remarkable.” He went deep in thought with a frown. “Given his extraordinary abilities, could he be a reincarnator? Has this possibility occurred to you?”

“Reincarnator?” Zayan paused for a moment, his expression thoughtful. “Mr. Lefterov, a reincarnator only emerges when a soul remnant of a Great Elder from families or sects who failed to ascend to the next cultivation level resides within existing family members. Based on my investigation, Kai’s origins do not align with this background. In fact, he appears to have no known family lineage. Therefore, he cannot be a reincarnator, and there’s no possibility of him awakening the body of a reincarnated individual.”

Upon hearing that, Talcott fell into silence. After a short pause, he ordered, “Ask Aquadoran and Bhivsen to come in.”

Zayan then gestured for the two slayers to enter the hall.

Aquadoran and Bhivsen stepped into the room, their faces etched with apprehension and fear. Their defiance of Talcott’s orders had led to their capture, and they believed they would soon face the consequences of their actions.

As soon as Aquadoran and Bhivsen laid eyes on Talcott, they fell to their knees. Talcott regarded them with a detached gaze, his voice devoid of emotion as he inquired, “Why did you not heed my command and return immediately?”

“I’ll answer on your behalf since you seem reluctant to speak. You revealed Demon Seal Alliance’s secret and now fear the repercussions of your actions. This was why you defied my orders, am I correct?” Talcott asked.

“Please forgive us, Mr. Lefterov. Leaking the secret was Phaethon and Woodley’s idea, and they intended to eliminate all those aware of the secret before returning to you,” Aquadoran explained while nodding eagerly.

“Are you aware of the consequences of exposing the secrets of Demon Seal Alliance? For years, we have cultivated an image of righteousness and unwavering opposition to evil. Even if someone were to uncover and publicize the truth, their claims would be met with skepticism and disbelief. Thank goodness that’s the case. Otherwise, such revelations would have spelled the end for the alliance.”

With a swift movement of his hand, Talcott encased Aquadoran and Bhivsen in two swirling vortexes of dark mist.
