

The Mans Decree Chapter 3211

Chapter 3211 In The Palm Of His Hand

“Go on, buddy.” Kai prompted the cultivator to continue speaking.

“Let me tell you a secret. No one else knows this.” Clearing his throat, the cultivator then mysteriously continued, “In truth, the two brothers of the Seizon family are at odds. Their disciples wear different colors to make it easy to differentiate between the two lineages. They claim to have chosen different colors due to their personal preferences, but that’s actually not the case. It’s because Mr. Enrique’s disciples are used to being arrogant and domineering, often kicking up trouble and tarnishing the Seizon family’s reputation. The patriarch of the Seizon family couldn’t control Mr. Enrique’s disciples, so he came up with this solution. With the color of their clothes visible on the streets, people could tell the disciples’ lineage. This is exclusive information, unknown to everyone else.”

The cultivator was all smug, feeling incredibly proud because he knew a lot.

But no sooner had he finished speaking than a faint aura enveloped him.

Before any of the others noticed it, Kai had already sensed it.

The aura emanated from Enrique. Although he was sitting at the very front, every move of those behind him was seemingly in the palm of his hand.

Unaware of the impending danger, the cultivator continued chattering about Yellow Blue City.

Shortly after, the airship entered Yellow Blue City’s airspace. From above, the entire city resembled a gigantic beast lying on a vast stretch of land.

The airship slowly landed a stone’s throw away from Yellow Blue City’s city gates, and the cultivators started disembarking.

Only when everyone had climbed out of the airship did Enrique languidly step off.

When he walked past the chatterbox of a cultivator, however, he abruptly made a move.

He shot out his hand, upon which the cultivator's head exploded like a watermelon.

Everyone had no idea what had happened. Upon seeing him killing someone without warning, they all dodged to the side in terror.

"If anyone else dares to spout nonsense about the Seizon family, this will be his fate."

With that said, Enrique continued forward steadily.

His words were seemingly meant for Kai and the others, a warning for them to stop making inquiries about the Seizon family.

As he approached, the city gates of Yellow Blue City slowly opened, and a few demon beasts ambled out while pulling a cart.

Behind the cart was a group of men in blue robes.

At a single glance, one could tell that they were there to welcome Enrique.

Enrique got onto the cart and entered the city.

Everyone glanced at the cultivator, who had been struck dead with a blow. They all remained silent and headed toward the city as well.

Cloud put his airship away. Then, the three of them also went into the city.

The bustling crowd in the city appeared exceedingly lively, making the customs and atmosphere there visibly different from those in the northern region.

That excited Cloud since he had never left the northern region in all his years.

At his enthusiasm, Feenix commented with a chuckle, "Look at your ignorant self. I've been to all the five regions."

Cloud and Feenix talked and laughed, but Kai did not say a word because he could sense someone following them at the back.

From the time they were at the Teleportation Array, he had perceived a pair of eyes on them.

Coupled with the fact that someone was tailing them right then, he inexorably raised his guard.

“What’s wrong, Master?” Feenix asked, noticing something amiss with the man.

“Don’t ask any questions. Just follow me.”

After saying that, Kai quickened his pace and deliberately walked toward an alley with fewer people.

Despite the bewilderment etched across their features, Feenix and Cloud did not dare ask any questions. They merely followed behind the man.

It was not until they had entered an extremely dark alley that Kai finally stopped.

Feenix and Cloud followed suit.

Kai slowly turned around. Staring at the empty alley, he said in an icy voice, “Since you’ve followed us thus far, show yourself.”

Chapter 3212 Showed Himself

When Feenix and Cloud heard Kai’s words, they hastily snapped their heads back, only to be greeted by an empty alley.

“There’s no one following us, Mr. Chance,” Cloud remarked in puzzlement.

“Yeah. I don’t see anyone either.”

Feenix was similarly lost, befuddled about Kai talking to the air out of the blue.

Ignoring them, Kai continued saying to the empty alley, “If you continue hiding in the shadows, buddy, don’t blame me for showing you no mercy.”

Just as his words rang out, the void before them vibrated. On the heels of that, a figure slowly appeared.

Seeing that, Feenix and Cloud swiftly backed away and dropped into a fighting stance.

They had never expected someone to be able to conceal himself in the void without being discovered.

Worse still, they did not even notice his aura.

Although there were many invisibility techniques, they could only hide the physical body, for a person's innate aura was beyond difficult to mask.

However, the man before them did not only conceal his body. Even his aura did not leak a wisp.

"Oh, I remember now! You also came via the Teleportation Array and were on our airship!"

As Cloud scrutinized the bearded cultivator who appeared, memories of seeing him promptly came to mind.

After all, the latter was rather distinctive, leaving some impression on him.

"Who exactly are you? And why are you following us?" Kai demanded coldly.

"And who are the lot of you?" the bearded cultivator asked in return.

Hearing that, Kai could not help laughing. "You don't know who I am? Then, why are you following us? You already had your sights set on us back at the Teleportation Array, no?"

The bearded cultivator did not deny it. Instead, he glanced at Cloud before questioning, "Why are you all so interested in the Seizon family?"

"Tell us who you are first. Otherwise, don't blame us for showing you no mercy."

Kai was seemingly unwilling to continue yakking with the man anymore. He slowly moved and surrounded the bearded cultivator.

At that, the bearded cultivator inexorably sneered, "Just with the three of you, who are merely Body Fusion Realm cultivators? How presumptuous! Since you want to know who I am, I'll tell you the answer."

After saying that, he waved the sleeve of his robe. In the blink of an eye, the beard on his face disappeared, and he turned into a fair-skinned young man.

Even his aura changed slightly.

“I’m Cade Seizon, the heir of the Seizon family,” Cade Seizon declared, introducing himself.

Kai appeared a touch surprised at the change in the bearded cultivator. But upon hearing that the latter was from the Seizon family, he grew even more confused.

Since he’s also part of the Seizon family, why did he change his appearance and aura instead of being with Enrique?

“Since you’re from the Seizon family, why did you change your appearance? And why weren’t you with Mr. Enrique?” Kai asked in mystification.

“You don’t need to know all that. Who exactly are the three of you? And why have you been making inquiries about the Seizon family? Also, why does this man have a wisp of aura unique to the Seizon family?” Cade demanded, pointing at Cloud.

It would seem that he only paid attention to Kai and the others, going as far as tailing them, because of the unique aura on Cloud.

“Because he’s also part of the Seizon family. As such, it’s only natural that he has an aura unique to the Seizon family,” Kai revealed mildly.

“Nonsense! I know every single person of the Seizon family. Why don’t I know him?”

Cade did not quite believe that.

“Take out the token your father gave you, Cloud,” Kai said to Cloud.

Cloud nodded. Subsequently, he took out a bronze coin.

When Cade saw the bronze coin, his eyes instantly went wide, his face a mask of shock.

Chapter 3213 Could He Be A Scammer

“W-Where did you get this bronze coin?” Cade demanded, stepping forward and clutching Cloud’s hand that held the bronze coin.

“My father gave it to me,” was Cloud’s response.

“What’s your father’s name?” Cade pressed.

“Renault Seizon.”

When Cloud uttered his father’s name, Cade’s entire body shook.

“Renault Seizon... Renault Seizon...” he muttered that name repeatedly. All of a sudden, he grabbed Cloud.

“Y-You’re actually Uncle Renault’s son? I never expected you to be my cousin! How is Uncle Renault?”

Cade was so emotional that tears escaped his eyes.

Scrutinizing him, Kai surmised that it was not an act but the true expression of his feelings.

Cloud could likewise sense Cade’s sincerity, and tears shimmered in his eyes.

“My father is fine. He had me bring the token to the Seizon family this time to see how things are going and to visit Grandpa,” he hurriedly replied.

Hugging Cloud, Cade cried for a long moment before letting go of the man and wiping his own tears.

“Come home with me, Cloud. If my father were to learn that you’re here, he’d definitely be over the moon.”

He then started heading toward the direction of the Seizon residence while dragging Cloud along.

“Cade, that Mr. Enrique earlier must be our uncle, yes? Why weren’t you with him?” Cloud asked in puzzlement.

“You’ve just arrived, so you might not know much about the Seizon family’s situation. Let’s talk as we walk.”

Cade sighed softly before he began introducing the members of the Seizon family.

Following his introduction, Kai learned that the former patriarch of the Seizon family, Claudius Seizon, had three sons—Lawrence Seizon, Enrique Seizon, and Renault Seizon.

The eldest son, Lawrence, had a son and two daughters. Cade was the oldest, followed by Miya Seizon and Livya Seizon.

The second son, Enrique, had a son and daughter—Yorath Seizon and Genya Seizon.

Finally, there was Cloud.

“You’re the youngest in the Seizon family, Cloud, so you rank last!” Cade declared, taking Cloud’s hand happily.

As for why he wasn’t with Enrique, he did not elaborate on it but merely brushed it off with an excuse.

At the side, Kai could tell that the situation in the Seizon family was exceedingly complex, so much so that Cade might find it hard to put it in words.

Thanks to the conversation as they walked, they all got familiar with each other. Kai could tell that Cade was an honest man and sincerely liked Cloud.

Soon, they arrived at a massive mansion.

In the mansion, various trees grew, and a gurgling stream flowed underneath. It was filled with the charm of Nuthana.

Judging from the mansion alone, it was evident that the Seizon family was undoubtedly one of the top families in Yellow Blue City.

No sooner had they stepped into the courtyard than two girls approached. They were almost identical in looks, both wearing white dresses and emanating a fairy-like aura.

“There are guests today, Cade?” the two girls asked Cade upon reaching them.

“Miya, Livya, let me make the introductions. This is Uncle Renault’s son, Cloud Seizon. He’s also our cousin. These two are his friends, Kai Chance and Feenix,” Cade stated.

Then, he pointed to the two girls and said to Cloud, “Cloud, this is your eldest female cousin, Miya Seizon. And this is her sister, Livya Seizon. They’re twins.”

“Hello, Miya, Livya,” Cloud greeted the two girls politely.

“Uncle Renault’s son? For real?” The two girls studied Cloud. Then, Miya queried, “Are you sure about it, Cade? Many years have gone by without any news about Uncle Renault. How did a son of his come out from nowhere? Could he be a scammer?”

“Exactly. Could he be a scammer? There’s been quite a number of people pretending to be a member of the Seizon family in recent years,” Livya seconded.

Their words had embarrassment inundate Cloud.

Chapter 3214 Mooch Off Us

“Don’t spout nonsense.” Cade glared at Miya and Livya. Then, he ordered, “Take them to the living room to rest. I’m going to look for Father.”

After saying that, he left. Meanwhile, Miya and Livya continued scrutinizing Cloud with wariness brimming in their eyes.

“Miya, Livya, I’m really a member of the Seizon family.” Their scrutiny made Cloud a tad discomfited.

“Hold it there. Don’t address us so intimately first. Our brother is an honest man, so he’s often fooled. But it’s impossible to dupe us both. We’ll soon know whether you’re a member of the Seizon family. Come with us!”

While saying that, Miya whirled around and strode ahead. Livya quickly followed behind her.

Cloud could only flash Kai and Feenix an awkward smile before doing the same.

As the two girls led the way ahead, their movements were light and airy. It was as though they were floating on the ground.

When they walked past a stretch of land with an artificial hill and plants, they exchanged a glance. Suddenly, they made a sharp turn at a corner of the artificial hill.

By the time Kai and the others caught up, they were long since gone.

“Huh? Where are they?” Cloud wondered, taken aback.

“Looks like those two cousins of yours aren’t to be trifled with, Cloud. You’ve got to be more careful,” Feenix commented smirkingly.

Embarrassment was written all over Cloud’s face. He never expected such a thing to happen right after he had returned.

“The living room should be right ahead. Let’s go there by ourselves,” he suggested in mortification.

The three of them headed toward the house before their eyes. But after walking for some time, they realized that they would end up beside the artificial hill regardless of the path they took, unable to reach the house.

Cloud wanted to try flying over, only to discover a restriction in the yard, stopping him from doing so.

“What’s going on here?” he exclaimed with bafflement etched across his features.

“This yard of the Seizon residence is so vast that we actually got lost and can’t get out,” Feenix lamented, gazing at the plants around her.

“We didn’t get lost. Instead, we entered an illusion array,” Kai declared with a laugh after checking the surroundings.

Never had he expected someone to set up an illusion array in the yard of their own house.

Anyhow, it was a good thing because it could at least ensure the homeowner's safety. If someone were to break into the house, they would undoubtedly get caught in the illusion array. That would give the homeowner time to make preparations.

"Those twins are really evil that they led us into an illusion array!" Feenix groused in displeasure.

Following that, Cloud grew even more embarrassed. He could only apologize with his face flushed bright red. "I'm really sorry, Ms. Feenix."

"This has nothing to do with you. Your two cousins are downright diabolical!" Feenix huffed.

"They're not exactly diabolical. Perhaps they're just more cautious."

Kai knew there must have been people who pretended to be a member of the Seizon family before they came.

After all, it was no secret that the youngest son of the Seizon family eloped.

"Can you break this illusion array, Master?" Feenix asked.

"Break it?" The corners of Kai's mouth lifted. "If I were to do just that much, it'd make me appear too incompetent."

Seeing that, Feenix immediately understood Kai's plan.

He was planning to transform that illusion array. At that time, even the Seizon family would never be able to get out of it upon entering without his help.

Meanwhile, Miya and Livya were sitting in the living room, eating right then.

"Say, Miya, will Cade punish us when he learns about what we did?" Livya asked worriedly.

"Don't worry. Those people must have also come to mooch off us. Cade is honest and always trusts others too easily. When he has gotten Father here later, we'll let them out. At that time, the truth will come to light. Cade can't punish us then," Miya assured nonchalantly.

The Mans Decree Chapter 3215

Chapter 3215 Better To Be Wronged

Since Miya had said as much, Livya did not say anything further. Nonetheless, an unshakable sense of uneasiness lingered within her.

In no time, Cade came over with their father, Lawrence.

“Dad, I’m sure it must be Uncle Renault’s son this time because I’ve seen the Seizon family’s token. It’s been so many years without any news about Uncle Renault. This time, we’ve finally gotten in touch with him,” Cade said to Lawrence excitedly as they walked.

Similarly, Lawrence wore an expression of delight.

“Yeah. If it’s really your Uncle Renault’s son this time, we must entertain him properly. But that aside, don’t mention the things in the family to him. Now that the Seizon family is in such a situation, I don’t want your Uncle Renault and his family to be dragged into the mess as well.”

“Okay, I got it. I won’t run my mouth.” Cade nodded in acknowledgment.

When he hurried into the living room with Lawrence, all he saw was Miya and Livya eating there.

Stunned, he asked, “Miya, Livya, I told you both to bring Cade over. Where is he?”

Livya did not dare utter a word, merely glancing at Miya.

Miya, on the other hand, declared, “At first glance, I could tell that those few people were scammers, Cade. We led them into the illusion array so they couldn’t roam around in the Seizon residence.”

“What?” Cade’s eyes went wide. He promptly roared, “Who told you both to do that? I’ve already verified the Seizon family’s token. How could he possibly be a scammer? What absurdity!”

While he did so, Miya argued with an aggrieved look, “We didn’t know you verified it. Besides, there’s no danger to them in the illusion array. Why are you shouting at us?”

“You’re not young anymore to do such an absurd thing, Miya. Hurry up and lead them out of the illusion array. If he’s really your Uncle Renault’s son, just wait for your punishment,” Lawrence also reprimanded with a dark expression on his face.

The instant Miya saw that her father was mad, she knew that she had gone too far. Thus, she quickly went to retrieve Kai and the others with Livya.

“The two of them are downright troublesome, always up to some trick or other,” Cade lamented with a sigh, his eyes fixed on his sisters’ backs.

“Cade, did you find anything out after secretly following your Uncle Enrique to the northern region this time?” Lawrence asked.

“You hit the nail on the head, Dad. Uncle Enrique didn’t search for Jubilante. Instead, he went to Behemoth Palace. Alas, it was heavily guarded, and I couldn’t slip in. Therefore, I don’t know what he discussed with the lord of Behemoth Palace,” Cade replied.

“Oh well, your Uncle Enrique is indeed too petty and ruthless. Otherwise, I don’t mind giving him the position of patriarch. I’m afraid your grandpa’s days are numbered now. Instead of finding a way to cure him, your Uncle Enrique is forming alliances everywhere to steal the position of patriarch. It truly saddens me,” Lawrence murmured with a sigh.

“If all else fails, Dad, let’s make the first move. Otherwise, things will be tricky if Uncle Enrique really joins hands with Behemoth Palace against us,” Cade proposed, a vicious glint flashing across his eyes.

However, Lawrence shot him an icy glare and rebuked, “Nonsense! That’s your uncle. Even if he intends to seize the position of patriarch and has joined hands with other forces, the truth remains that he hasn’t taken action. How could we make the first move? We’re the only ones left of the Seizon family. If we were to fight each other at that time, someone else would be reaping the benefits, and we’d be a laughingstock to others. You’re an honest man, Cade. Let me tell you this. It’s better for your Uncle Enrique to wrong us than for us to wrong him. We can’t ever be tarnished by infamy. Do you understand that?”
