

The Man Decree Chapter 3535

The Man Decree Chapter 3535-Mr. Oscar, they..." Vilhelm began to say something, but the middle-aged man interrupted him.

"Alright. Enough talk, bring Jennifer out. Since we're friends, we should show some hospitality," the middle-aged man exclaimed.

"Understood. I will personally go and invite Ms. Jennifer, Vilhelm nodded and left.

The middle-aged man then approached Jared with a slight smile. "I'm truly sorry.

These servants don't understand proper etiquette. My name is Oscar Summers, and my brother is Tyler Summers. Since you know my brother, you are our guest. May I know how to address you?" Jared's initial doubts were somewhat dispelled by Oscar's enthusiasm and politeness.

"My name is Jared Chance, and this is my friend Cloud Seizon. And this is Catina," Jared introduced.

Oscar laughed heartily. "No introduction is needed for her. She's the renowned Fox Queen. I've heard of her long ago." While Jared engaged in sporadic conversation with Oscar, Jennifer arrived.

"Mr. Chance, how come you're here?" Jennifer was surprised when she saw Jared.

"I was passing by and thought I'd pay a visit to Mr. Summers," Jared explained.

After hearing Jared mention visiting her father, Jennifer's expression subtly changed, but quickly returned to a smile after glancing at Oscar.

"Jennifer, since they've come to visit Tyler, you should entertain them.

Remember to be a good host," Oscar advised before leaving with his people.

Shortly after Oscar left, Jared turned to Jennifer and asked, “Ms. Summers, has something happened to your family?” Jennifer was momentarily taken aback, then shook her head. “No, nothing, Mr.

Chance.

Please, come with me.” Jennifer led Jared and the others to her chambers.

However, Jared had already noticed the changes in Jennifer’s facial expression.

Upon arriving at her quarters, Jennifer invited Jared and the others to sit down and personally attended to each of them.

As Jared watched Jennifer bustling about, his brows slightly furrowed.

“Mr. Chance, is there no one to attend to Ms. Summers? Does she have to do everything herself?” Cloud asked curiously, recalling his own experience as a young master.

Catina also found it odd. “I find this Jennifer somewhat strange.” However, Jared remained silent, continuously observing Jennifer. After brewing coffee for Jared and the others, Jennifer brought it over.

“Mr. Chance, please have some coffee,” Jennifer spoke politely. Jared nodded, took a sip of his coffee, and then asked, “Ms. Summers, is it true that the head of the Summers family is in seclusion?” Jennifer let out a sigh and nodded. “Yes, he is.” “Since the head of the Summers family is in seclusion, then we...” Jared wanted to excuse himself and leave. After all, Tyler was in seclusion, and Jennifer’s demeanor seemed off. Jared didn’t want to stay any longer!

Before Jared could finish his sentence, Jennifer interjected, “Mr. Chance, are you all planning to leave? Since my father is in seclusion, I won’t keep you any longer.” To Jared’s surprise, Jennifer was actually driving them out.

Regardless, Jared had been a great help to the Summers family during the Celestial Battlefield, and he had even saved Jennifer. No matter what, it was impossible for Jennifer to send Jared away. However, now she had done just that, leading Jared to believe there must be a reason behind it.

“Ms. Summers, I didn’t say I’m leaving. I meant I want to stay here for the night and get some good rest!” Jared changed his mind and decided to stay at the Summers residence.

“Mr. Chance,” she said, “my father is in seclusion. As a young lady, it’s not really appropriate for me to host you overnight. I think it’s best if you leave.” To everyone’s surprise, Jennifer, with an urgent expression, took the initiative to drive Jared away.

The Man Decree Chapter 3536-Jared’s brow furrowed slightly as he asked, “Ms. Summers, is something wrong? If there’s an issue, please let me know. Maybe I can help...” “No, there’s nothing wrong!” Jennifer shook her head, but her eyes kept darting towards the window. Jared glanced out the window, then exchanged a meaningful look with Catina.

Catina, understanding the signal, quickly dashed out of the room. Following that were two faint screams of agony, audible only to Jared and his group.

Shortly after, Catina returned, carrying two lifeless bodies.

Upon seeing the corpses, Jennifer panicked.

“Mr. Chance, how could you have killed someone? You must leave immediately, or it will be too late...” Jennifer anxiously urged Jared.

“Ms. Summers, what exactly happened to your family? If you don’t explain clearly, I won’t leave.” Jared declared firmly.

Seeing the determination on Jared’s face, Jennifer sighed and said, “Ah, I must admit, Mr. Chance. A major crisis has befallen our Summers family! My father and brother have been taken captive, and the eldest elder was killed by them.

Now, Uncle Oscar has taken control of the entire Summers family. When we went to the Celestial Battlefield, Uncle Oscar had already set his sights on becoming the family head. That’s why he stayed behind in the Summers residence, conspiring with several other elders to rebel. As soon as we returned, they took action. Fortunately, my father refused to reveal what we had obtained from the Celestial Battlefield. Uncle Oscar hasn’t made a lethal move yet, as he is curious about the treasures we acquired!” Tears welled up in Jennifer's eyes, but she quickly wiped them away and continued, "I asked Mr. Chance to leave for his own safety. I hope you understand my predicament. You should leave quickly before Uncle Oscar decides to harm you. Otherwise, it might be too late..." Listening to Jennifer's account, Jared shook his head and said, "I can't leave now. If your second uncle let us in, it means he intends to harm us. Leaving is not an option!" "No, this is still a private matter within our Summers family. Uncle Oscar wouldn't easily harm you." Jennifer didn't believe what Jared had said.

"Since you don't believe me, I'll have to show you... After speaking, Jared led Jennifer out of the room.

No sooner had they stepped out than a faint glow began to flicker, enveloping the entire room in its radiance.

"See for yourself. A magical arcane array has been set up here. It's clear they don't want us to leave." Jared informed Jennifer.

"Mr. Chance, your arcane array skills are indeed powerful. Such a minor array can't restrain you. It would be best if you leave!" Jennifer knew that Jared's array skills were far beyond what their Summers family possessed.

With their limited skills, it was almost impossible for them to control Jared.

"I was planning to leave, but not before rescuing Mr. Summers and helping the Summers family resolve this situation!" Jared spoke calmly and indifferently.

"Mr. Chance, I appreciate your kind intentions, but you should leave. If anything were to happen to you here, my father would be consumed with guilt, and I would blame myself too!" Jennifer still didn't want Jared to get involved. After all, this place was filled with members of the Summers family. With only three of them, including Jared, Jennifer felt uneasy.

"Don't blame yourself. Even if I wanted to leave now, I'm afraid I wouldn't be able to..." After Jared finished speaking, he coldly stared straight ahead.

As Jared waved his hand, the glow in the room completely dimmed. However, once the light faded, it became apparent that several individuals were standing nearby.

It was revealed that this mysterious formation not only had the ability to obstruct, but it could also enable one to conceal themselves.

Upon witnessing Vilhelm's presence, Jennifer's eyes revealed a trace of fear.

The Man Decree Chapter 3537-"Brat, it seems you have some understanding of the arcane array. You've even seen through the array I didn't want to reveal. However, what you just said was quite true. Even if you want to leave, you can't..." Vilhelm's mouth curled slightly.

At that moment, four cultivators followed behind him, their auras soaring to the heavens. Each of them possessed the strength of a Fifth Level Tribulator.

Thanks to Catina's presence, he was able to guide the Fifth Level Tribulator cultivators.

"Fox Queen, Mr. Oscar has spoken. This matter has nothing to do with you, so we can let you go," Vilhelm said softly to Catina.

After all, with Catina's strength at the Seventh level of Tribulator, no one wanted to provoke her.

"D*mn it. How could I possibly abandon Jared? He's my precious little one now.

Whoever dares to touch him will be declaring war on me directly," Catina angrily admonished Vilhelm.

After being scolded by Catina, Vilhelm's face turned extremely unsightly.

"Mr. Vilhelm, this is an internal matter of our Summers family, and it has nothing to do with Mr. Chance. If you let him go, I can persuade my father to surrender the treasure he obtained from the Celestial Battlefield," Jennifer took a step forward and addressed Vilhelm.

"Ms. Jennifer, I was merely following orders. All of this was Mr. Oscar's idea. If you could persuade them to surrender, perhaps they might have a chance to spare their lives," Vilhelm displayed an expression of helplessness.

Jennifer looked at Vilhelm's expression, seething with anger, grinding her teeth.

Vilhelm was simply too wicked. Even at this point, he could lie without a hint of embarrassment!

“Do you really think we would surrender just because of a few trashes like you?”

Have you lost your mind?” Jared spoke disdainfully toward Vilhelm.

“Hmph, don’t underestimate us just because our level isn’t high, Don’t forget.

We’re a prestigious magecraft family. Soon, you’ll get a taste of our fierce flames,” Vilhelm finished speaking and casually waved his hand, commanding, “Set up the arcane array and burn them all to death...” Upon seeing the situation, the four cultivators swiftly began to set up their arcane array. Beams of light emerged from all directions, and then, right before Jared and his companions, they transformed into a cage.

Jared and his companions were directly detained within a cage, around which intermittent flashes of lightning could be seen.

Immediately following that, flames began to rise around the cage, growing more and more fierce!

Jennifer’s face turned pale, her expression tense as she said, “Mr. Chance, this is the Fire Prison. They’re trying to burn us alive...” Observing Jennifer’s anxious expression, Jared, however, reassured her with a calm demeanor, “Don’t be afraid. Those who play with fire will get burned. In this game of fire, they are still too naive...” After Jared finished speaking, he gently waved his hands, and a flame began to flicker from the center of his palms!

The cluster of flames, as if possessing a life of its own, leaped directly from Jared’s palm, plunging into the roaring inferno!

As soon as the small spark leaped into the roaring flames, the blazing fire began to flicker and dodge as if it were a mouse encountering a cat. In the end, it was completely extinguished.

This sudden turn of events left Vilhelm and several cultivators completely dumbfounded.

Several cultivators became somewhat alarmed.

After all, this was the Fire Prison, considered the most prestigious arcane array of their Summers family.

Yet now, the flames had been effortlessly extinguished by Jared.

“Don’t be afraid. Even without the flames, they can’t escape this cage,” Vilhelm quickly spoke up to soothe them.

No sooner had Vilhelm’s words fallen than Jared lightly touched with his finger.

The seemingly solid cage directly transformed into specks of light and disappeared without a trace.

“Uh...” Vilhelm was astonished. He had never witnessed someone effortlessly dismantle an arcane array like this before.

Observing the expressions on Vilhelm’s and the others’ faces, Jared offered a faint smile. “I neglected to mention that I possess considerable knowledge regarding arcane arrays. Therefore, if you were considering employing arcane arrays against me, I regret to inform you that it would be futile...”

The Man Decree Chapter 3538-Upon witnessing Jared effortlessly break the arcane array, Jennifer felt a wave of relief wash over her.

“Catina, I’m entrusting these individuals to you. However, make sure to keep this old man alive. He still has his uses!” Jared glanced at Catina and instructed.

“Don’t worry. I assure you the task will be completed...” Catina’s lips curled up in a smile.

Having reached the Seventh level of Tribulator, Catina could easily annihilate these members of the Summers family if she wished. They were all merely at the Fifth level of Tribulator. Even if they joined forces, what could they possibly achieve?

When Vilhelm saw Catina leaping towards him, his eyes narrowed slightly.

“If we were to join forces, what does it matter if we face a Seventh Level Tribulator...” Vilhelm roared.

Catina gazed at the few people before her, scoffing coldly. "In all my life, I've despised people like you the most those who bite the hand that feeds them.

Today, dying under my divine whip could be considered your fate..." Suddenly, Catina lashed out with her whip, causing a flash of radiant light to shimmer into existence instantaneously!

Swoosh!

The whip moved as swiftly as lightning, emitting a crisp sound.

Vilhelm and his companions only saw a blur before their eyes. Before they could react, Catina's whip had already arrived.

With a single lash, all four cultivators let out a horrific scream, their bodies instantly torn and bleeding.

Everyone was covered in blood.

Even though Catina had only whipped them once, these people reacted as if they had been subjected to severe torture, as if they had been whipped countless times.

The intense pain had the four individuals writhing on the ground incessantly. The sight was so dreadful that it sent shivers down Vilhelm's spine.

On the other hand, Catina gave a cold laugh and once again drew out the whip in her hand.

Smack!

Another crisp sound rang out.

The four screaming cultivators abruptly ceased their cries. Their eyes were wide open as they were already dead. Upon witnessing this scene, Jennifer couldn't help but feel pity for them.

"Ms. Summers, there's no need to pity these traitors anymore. They will only lead your Summers family to irreversible ruin!" Jared tried to persuade Jennifer.

Jennifer nodded in agreement. She was well aware that under the current circumstances, the only way forward was to employ a forceful approach to intimidate the other members of the Summers family. By preventing them from causing trouble with Oscar, he alone wouldn't be able to stir up any significant turmoil.

"Do you want to give it a try?" Catina glanced at Vilhelm and asked.

Vilhelm was dumbfounded. This wasn't what he had anticipated. Initially, he had planned to trick these four individuals into stalling Catina while he made his escape to call for reinforcements.

However, unexpectedly, when Catina made her move, the four individuals didn't even have the ability to retaliate.

Vilhelm fell silent, slowly lowering his head.

Upon seeing the situation, Jennifer stepped forward and said, "Mr. Vilhelm, where are my father and brother being held? Please take me there so I can free them. You've been with my father for so many years, so why would you help Uncle Oscar do such a thing? Do you realize the extent of the damage your scheme has caused to our Summers family? It's not too late to turn back now. I will plead with my father to spare your life." Jennifer tried to persuade Vilhelm.

Jennifer didn't want to continue this self- destructive conflict any longer.

Otherwise, the strength of the Summers family would be greatly diminished.

Upon hearing Jennifer's words, Vilhelm slowly raised his head. However, there was no regret in his eyes, only a hint of frostiness. "If your father were to continue as the head of the family, do you think our Summers family would still have a future?" he asked.

"I must inform you, Mr. Oscar has taken over as the head of the family and has already established contact with the Demon Seal Alliance. The Summers family is on the verge of becoming a subsidiary of the Demon Seal Alliance. By becoming a subsidiary, the Summers family would gain access to unlimited resources, as well as status and influence. No one would dare to disrespect the Demon Seal Alliance throughout the entire Celestial Realm. However, your father has repeatedly refused to cooperate with the Demon Seal Alliance. If we want the Summers family to thrive and succeed, we have no other option but to proceed in this manner!" Vilhelm displayed no remorse whatsoever. He believed that his actions were justified, all in the interest of the Summers family's prosperity.

The Man Decree Chapter 3539-Upon hearing Vilhelm's words, Jennifer was seething with anger, gritting her teeth. Jared even delivered a resounding slap.

Smack!

Vilhelm's face swelled from the impact.

"Are you out of your mind? Do you think the Demon Seal Alliance is like your father, aiding your growth? All they're doing is using you as their pawn. Under the guise of eradicating evil to maintain peace, the Demon Seal Alliance recruited countless cultivators. In reality, their aim was not to eradicate the Demon Cultivators, but to control and collaborate with them. What capabilities does your Summers family possess? Apart from some proficiency in magecraft and charms, what else about the Summers family could possibly attract the attention of the Demon Seal Alliance? Once you, the Summers family, have handed over everything you know to the Demon Seal Alliance, see how they will treat you. How foolish..." Jared wished he could slap these two elders to death. How could there be such ignorant people in this world?

If the Summers family truly joined the Demon Seal Alliance and became a branch, they would have no autonomy whatsoever. They would be mere puppets.

After Vilhelm was slapped by Jared, his eyes filled with a menacing glare.

"Hmph, who do you think you are meddling in the affairs of our Summers family? Now that you have us in your hands, do as you wish. Kill or torture, it's up to you. However, I am willing to die for the prosperity and flourishing of the Summers family. My death is honorable, and it's worth it. Sooner or later, the Summers family will remember this day." Vilhelm snorted coldly, speaking without a trace of fear. Seeing Vilhelm's stubborn demeanor, Jared instantly lost the desire to continue questioning.

"Catina, kill this stubborn old fool for me. Kill him and crack open his skull. I want to see if it's filled with rubbish," Jared ordered indignantly.

If it weren't for his somewhat cordial relationship with Tyler, Jared would have had no interest in meddling with the Summers family's affairs.

Upon hearing this, Catina nodded and prepared to strike Vilhelm's head.

"Don't..." Upon witnessing the situation, Jennifer hurriedly stopped Catina, then turned to Jared and said, "Mr. Chance, Mr. Vilhelm has always been loyal to the Summers family. He was merely led astray. I still hope that his life can be spared. I believe he can come to his senses." Jennifer didn't want to witness Vilhelm being killed.

Freddie had already died in the family's internal strife. If Vilhelm were to be killed as well, the strength of the Summers family would gradually diminish in the ongoing internal conflicts.

By the time Tyler regained control of the Summers family, she was afraid the family's former strength would have significantly diminished.

"Alright, reveal the location where the head of the Summers family is being held captive, and I can spare your life," Jared turned to Vilhelm.

"It's impossible. I won't let you prevent the Summers family from joining the Demon Seal Alliance. Mr. Oscar has already begun negotiations with the Demon Seal Alliance. In just a few days, our Summers family will be able to officially join the Demon Seal Alliance. Mr. Oscar once said that as long as the Summers family joined the Demon Seal Alliance, Mr. Tyler could be released. By then, it would be set in stone, and Mr. Tyler wouldn't be able to change anything," the Second Elder spoke with an air of righteousness.

Jared, seeing Vilhelm's self-righteous demeanor, was so infuriated that he couldn't help but slap him.

The slap was so forceful that Vilhelm passed out.

"Mr. Chance..." Jennifer was quite taken aback, thinking that Jared had killed Vilhelm!

"He's fine. He just fainted," Jared explained, then turned to Cloud and said, "Lock this stubborn old man up. It seems I need to personally seek out Oscar for a chat." Jared knew that all of this had arisen because of Oscar.

In order to find a solution, he needed to address Oscar first.

Cloud nodded and promptly restrained Vilhelm. To ensure that Vilhelm couldn't escape, Jared established an arcane array around the room.

While the Summers family was well-known for their expertise in arcane arrays, breaking the one set up by Jared was nearly impossible for Vilhelm.

The Man Decree Chapter 3540—"Mr. Oscar, it's terrible, truly terrible. Mr. Vilhelm took some men to control those intruders, but they ended up being captured. All four of our array masters were also killed." Oscar was in his room, preparing to sleep, when suddenly he heard someone reporting. Upon hearing this, his brows furrowed, and he quickly rose to his feet.

"What's going on? Wasn't Jennifer's room surrounded by an arcane array? How did those people manage to escape?" Oscar asked in surprise!

"That Jared, he turns out to be a master of arcane arrays. We thought the arcane array was invincible, but he broke through it effortlessly. Moreover, there was the Fox Queen, who had reached the Seventh level of Tribulator. Neither Mr. Vilhelm nor the four array masters were a match for her. Right now, Jennifer is heading this way with those few people. What should we do?" the subordinate asked in a somewhat panicked tone.

"Don't panic. The situation is already under control. Even if they try, they won't be able to change anything. I am now entrusting you with the Summers family's token. You must immediately head to Henningsen City and deliver this item to Ilias. Tell him that the Summers family has agreed to join the Demon Seal Alliance as a branch. Furthermore, have him bring someone to visit the Summers family personally. Inform him that our Summers family's resources are willing to be shared with the Henningsen family!" Oscar took out an item pouch and handed it to his subordinate, instructing him carefully. His subordinate glanced over, then promptly nodded, quickly making his exit.

After his subordinates had left, Oscar was not idle. Instead, he took out a small porcelain bottle from the head of the bed and poured out some red powder.

Using this red powder, he drew a charm directly on the yellow paper.

After finishing the drawing, Oscar tucked the charm into his pocket and then left the room. He addressed a member of the Summers family, "Gather all the Summers family members in the main hall for a meeting..." "Mr. Oscar, has something serious happened? Why have you gathered everyone so late?" the member of the Summers family asked with some confusion.

"Why all the unnecessary chatter? If I tell you to go, just go..." With a furrowed brow, Oscar glared and bellowed.

The member of the Summers family was so frightened that he nodded repeatedly, not daring to delay even a bit. He gathered all the Summers family members in the grand hall.

Oscar was seated at the head of the table, silently waiting without uttering a word. He was waiting for Jennifer to bring Jared and the others to him.

"What's going on today? They have gathered us together in the middle of the night." "Mr. Tyler has been in seclusion for a few days, and Mr. Oscar seems rather mysterious." "Something significant must have happened. Otherwise, they wouldn't have summoned us all in the middle of the night." The members of the Summers family were all whispering among themselves, uncertain of what was about to happen.

Regarding the misfortune that befell the Summers family, many were unaware.

Only a select few at the top knew that Tyler, Jennifer, and Jacques were imprisoned. The rest of the Summers family members thought they were in seclusion.

After all, it was impossible for Oscar to let everyone in the Summers family know about such a matter. If mishandled, it could potentially throw the Summers family into chaos!

The imprisonment of Tyler and others was carried out in secret, outwardly proclaimed as seclusion.

On the other side, Jennifer led Jared and the others to Oscar's chambers, only to find that Oscar was not there. Upon inquiry, they found out that Oscar had summoned all the Summers family members to the grand hall.

Jennifer felt that this was a golden opportunity to expose Oscar's true face in front of the many members of the Summers family. So, she hurriedly led Jared and the others to the main hall.

Upon seeing Jennifer arrive with Jared, Oscar appeared remarkably composed.

"Jennifer, this is a private matter within the Summers family. Why have you brought someone from outside here?" Oscar was the first to question, directing his inquiry towards Jennifer.

Upon realizing that Jennifer had indeed brought a stranger into the grand hall of the Summers family, the other family members were quick to express their disapproval.

"Ms. Jennifer, this grand hall belongs to the Summers family, and outsiders are not allowed to enter. How could you behave in such a way?" "Indeed, if Mr. Tyler were to find out, you would undoubtedly face consequences." "Please ask them to leave promptly. This is not a place for outsiders to stay." The members of the Summers family insisted that Jared and the other outsiders depart.
