Novel Married at First Sight Chapter 1655 -Jasmine: "Do you want to go back and prepare?"

Serenity replied: "I'll send Sonny home first. He said he missed me after class today, so Jim sent him here."

Serenity had to accompany Zachary to a charity event at night, so it was inconvenient to take Sonny with her.

Jasmine: "Then you go, I'm here to look after the store, I haven't sat here for a long time, I don't know if those little monkeys want me."

The students were little monkeys in her mouth.

Serenity: "You stay here to look after the store, do you want to tell Josh?"

Jasmine said: "Needless to say, Josh already knows. Besides, look at the row of bodyguards outside, if I don't say anything, they won't? Looking at the shop, Josh will not stop them. I want to just sit and collect the money."

Serenity smiled, "That's fine, you watch here, and I will send Sonny back."

Jasmine: "Go."

Serenity led Sonny left the bookstore.

After Jasmine waited for Serenity to leave, she immediately went into the kitchen, looking for ice cream in the refrigerator, but couldn't find it.

She muttered disappointedly: "The weather is so hot, why didn't Serenity fill the refrigerator with ice cream."

At Bucham's house, it was impossible for her to eat ice cream, it was too cold, and no one would let her eat it.

Even her own mother reminded her not to try to cool off and eat too much ice cream, telling her that it would be best not to eat ice cream.

Her mother knew her best. Every summer, when the weather was hot, she ate ice cream several times a day.

She looked around in the refrigerator, except for fruits and vegetables, not even a bottle of cold drink.

Jasmine closed the door of the refrigerator in disappointment, thinking that coming to the store would satisfy her hunger, but in the end there was nothing.

She turned around and left the kitchen, walked back to the cash register and wanted to sit down, after thinking about it, she went around the cash register again and went outside.

The row of bodyguards saw her coming out and looked at her in unison.

“Don’t stand here. It’s hot and the sun is hot. Find a shady place to sit and enjoy the coolness. The main reason is that you stand here too eye-catching, and it will affect the business of my store when the students are out of class.”

Seeing a row of tall and mighty bodyguards with a bit of a sinister look on their faces, the students would think they were gangsters and dare not enter the store to buy things.

When Zachary stood in the store with a serious face, the students were so frightened that they ran away.

She didn’t know how Josh chose the bodyguards for her, all of them were tall and strong, and looked a bit fierce, and all of them were dressed in black, well, it was quite scary.

“Miss, we are not afraid of the heat, we just sit at the door of the store.” A bodyguard responded to Jasmine on behalf of everyone.

After Jasmine was silent, she asked them: “Don’t you really feel hot? The highest temperature during the day has exceeded 30 degrees. In such a hot weather, do you want to eat some ice cream?”

The bodyguards: “...”

“Abi.” Jasmine called out the name of a bodyguard.

“Yes, Miss, please tell me.” Abi responded respectfully.

Jasmine said: “Wait a moment, I’ll go back to the store to get something.”

She turned around and went back to the store, took two hundred dollars in cash from her bag, walked out, and handed the two hundred dollars to the store.

In front of Abi, Abi looked at her puzzled.

“In such a hot weather, I invite you to eat ice cream. Take the $200 and head to the nearby store to buy some ice cream. For better quality and flavor, spend more money on them. We have to eat the best quality.”

She was worried that the bodyguards would not dare to spend more money, and she specially emphasized the last sentences.

Abi: "Miss, you don't need a treat, we want to eat, we will buy it."

Jasmine: "Go buy it now. Everyone should have a share."

Jasmine emphasized that everyone should have a share, thinking of bodyguards Probably buy one for her too.

Abi hesitated for a moment, exchanged glances with his colleagues, and took $200 from Jasmine.

Novel Married at First Sight Chapter 1656 -They were aware that Jasmine didn't put on a show and that her invitation to them to eat ice cream was genuine, even if Josh would object.

Abi went to the nearest store that Jasmine mentioned to buy ice cream.

After Abi went to get ice cream, Jasmine went back to the store and waited, thinking that she would soon be able to eat ice cream and feel very refreshed.

Soon, Abi came back. He entered the store empty-handed and Return the recovered money to Jasmine.

"Where's the ice cream?" Jasmine asked puzzled.

"I bought it back and shared it with them. Young Mistress, thank you for inviting us to eat ice cream."

Abi gave Jasmine the money back and made sure to thank her for everyone's.

When the weather was hot, eating ice cream was very refreshing.

Jasmine took the money and asked him: "Does everyone have a share?"

Abi: "Well, everyone has a share."

Naturally, Abi purchase them for his coworkers after Jasmine treated them to ice cream. Abi would still purchase them for himself and his coworkers but not for her.

Jasmine really wanted to ask everyone has a share, why not buy it for her?

“Thank you miss for the treat.” Abi thanked Jasmine again.

Jasmine was disappointed in her heart, but she didn't show it on her face, and said with a smile: “You find a cool place to sit, don't get sunstroke, I won't go anywhere, don't need to guard,”

Abi hummed.

After going out, Abi still guarded near the bookstore.

Jasmine sighed helplessly.

She said to herself: “Why didn't you think of buying me a copy? I said that everyone has a share, and I am also human.”

She touched her flat belly again. She didn't look like she's pregnant.

“I don't know if you are a boy or a girl. Once I have you, I won't even be able to eat ice cream. After you are born, I will eat more and get back my money with profits.”

What she wanted to eat was ice cream. In order to eat ice cream, she even specially invited the bodyguards to eat ice cream. Unfortunately, her wish had not yet been fulfilled.

After Serenity left the bookstore with Sonny, she first took a detour to Spring Blossoms.

Camryn was the only one in the flower shop, and her two shop assistants had gone to deliver flowers to the customers.

Camryn put a wicker chair in the store, she was lying on the wicker chair, she didn't know what she was thinking, when Serenity dragged Sonny into the store, she didn't even respond.

In the past, when Serenity got out of the car, Camryn would be able to tell that it was Serenity.

Her hearing was very good.

Serenity led Sonny to Camryn, but Camryn still didn't respond.

“Auntie Camryn.” Sonny politely called Camryn.

Since Serenity and Camryn had a very good personal relationship, and Sonny often went in and out with his aunt, he was also very familiar with Camryn, knowing that

Auntie Camryn was invisible, so every time he saw Camryn, he took the initiative say hello.

That's how Camryn knew it was Soony.

Camryn still didn't respond.

Sonny didn't get a response, so he looked up at Serenity.

Serenity said gently, "Maybe you didn't scream loud enough, your Auntie Camryn didn't hear it."

Camryn finally came to her senses.

She was still a little flustered, so she stretched out her hand to touch Sonny, and when she touched Sonny, she showed a gentle smile, "Sonny, you're here, did you come with her mother?"

Liberty always came to this store to buy flower pots and bring them back to grow. The flowers Liberty rose always die, and when it died, she came to buy a few more pots, and asked Camryn about her experience in growing flowers.

"My aunt Serenity and I went together. Auntie Camryn, you were unaware that my aunt and I had entered the room. I just called you, but you did not answer."

Camryn apologized: "Sonny, I'm sorry, I was thinking about something just now, and I was so engrossed in my thoughts that I didn't hear the footsteps of you and your aunt."

Camryn looked at Serenity, "Serenity, you are here, why are you free to come here today?"

"Evening I want to accompany Zachary to the charity dinner, and I want to close the door and go home in the afternoon to make preparations. Sonny went to my place in the morning, and I will take him back to my sister's house first, and come in to have a look when I pass by you."

Serenity moved here by herself and collected two chairs and gave one to her nephew.

After she sat down, she asked Camryn with concern, "Is the family matter still unresolved?"

Camryn fired his cousin, and when they came to make trouble, Callum happened to be present. After paying Camryn more than $20,000, although they didn't come to smash the store again, they didn't stop there either.

Camryn's two aunts came forward and pestered Camryn non-stop, using both soft and hard methods, using all kinds of means, just to get the Chandler and Joyner families brothers to return to the Newman family.

"They can't threaten me." Camryn said, her heart was very firm.

If she didn't let go, they would definitely not be able to return to Newman's to work.

"I'm worried that Trenton won't do well in the exam."

Tomorrow was the time for the college entrance examination.

Serenity heard her say that Trenton's academic performance was very good, and Camryn tightly covered up the family affairs, and did not let his younger brother know the truth, Trenton should not fail the exam.

Serenity said: "You said that your brother's grades are very good, don't worry, as long as he performs as usual, he can be admitted to the university of his choice."

Camryn smiled, "I hope so. After the college entrance examination is over, I will show my cards to Trenton."

For a moment, Serenity didn't know how to answer.

Serenity and her sister were of the same father and mother, and they had a very good relationship.

Camryn and her younger brother were of the same mother and half father. On the surface, Camryn was alienated and indifferent to her younger brother, which was different from the sisterhood of Serenity and sisters.

Serenity didn't have much to say if she wasn't in Camryn's position and couldn't understand Camryn's difficulties.

Sonny couldn't sit still, felt here and there in the shop, wanted to pick flowers several times, but didn't dare.

The last time he picked flowers at her aunt's house, she was educated by his mother.

Camryn: "Serenity, I want to ask you something."

Serenity said gently, "Ask, I will tell you everything I know. Do you want some water? I'll pour you a glass of water."

Feeling thirsty, she got up to pour herself some water, and when she came to Camryn's place, it's like returning to her own shop, and she didn't need Camryn to entertain her.

Camryn: "No, thank you. Serenity, I'm really sorry, every time you come here, I don't treat you well."

Serenity: "What's the relationship between us, do you still have to say those polite words? I'm not polite to you either."

"Auntie, I want to drink water too." Seeing Auntie pouring water, Sonny wanted to drink water too.

Both drank half a glass of warm water.

Serenity: "Camryn, you can ask me, what do you want to ask me?"

"Callum seems to have disappeared these two days, is he on a business trip?"

To Serenity's surprise, what Camryn asked was actually It was Callum's whereabouts.

Callum went to Annenburg to ask Dr. Leigh to treat Camryn's eyes, but he didn't tell Camryn. Before he asked Dr. Leigh to cure Camryn's eyes, he didn't tell Camryn, lest Camryn would be disappointed.

Her aunt was also looking for a divine doctor to help Camryn treat her eyes. The aunt didn't have such a wide network of contacts as Callum, so she was able to know that Dr. Leigh had returned to Annenburg immediately.

The divine doctor's apprentice was Camryn's last hope. Although she didn't say it, Callum knew that she had great hopes for it.

How disappointed Camryn would be if he couldn't get Dr. Leigh's consent.

Callum didn't say anything, and he didn't return, so Camryn couldn't help guessing where he went.

Just now Camryn was guessing his whereabouts, lost her mind, and didn't hear Serenity's footsteps coming in.

After asking Serenity, Camryn laughed at herself again, "Usually he sticks to me like a piece of brown candy, which annoys me so much that I don't want to talk to him. When he doesn't come for two days, I can't help but ask you where he is going."

It's not that she didn't like Callum, but she just thought that she was blind, not good enough for Callum, and didn't want to drag Callum down, so she always refused Callum's passionate pursuit.

"Didn't Callum tell you?" Serenity asked.

Camryn shook her head, "He didn't say anything, and suddenly he didn't show up for two days, and he didn't call. Is he on a business trip?"

"Well, he left Wiltspoon to do something."

Since Callum didn't tell Camryn, Serenity also chose to hide it and didn't tell Camryn the truth.

Left the opportunity to Callum to talk, so that Camryn would be moved.

"Oh."

No wonder he hadn't shown up for two days. It turned out to be a business trip.

Camryn thought Callum was on a business trip.

Serenity teased her: "Why, miss him after two days of not seeing each other? Camryn, Callum is sincere to you, and neither he nor his family will dislike you for not being able to see it. When your two eldest aunts went to see them, the second aunt responded to them very domineeringly. Even if you can't see it, as long as Callum likes you, they all like you, and you don't need to do anything, as long as you know how to spend money."

Camryn: "I also I can understand your concerns. Actually, I have had them too. When I try to understand and integrate, I find that it is not as difficult as I imagined. I also find that they are really good. The elders are the most enlightened I have ever seen."

The elders of her in-law's family were rarely enlightened, and her aunt was not as good as the elders of her in-law's family.

Otherwise, Elisa and Remy would not be blocked.

In order to destroy the relationship between the two, the aunt even calculated Andrew, trying to match Andrew and Elisa.

After being silent for a moment, Camryn said softly: "You are a matter of family background, but you are healthy and easy to get over. I am blind, so I can't see. Until now, I don't even know what he looks like. I don't know."

She touched Callum's facial features and imagined what he looked like.

That's all imagination.

Was he himself as she imagined?

Camryn didn't know!

Novel Married at First Sight Chapter 1659 -Serenity was not able to answer for a while.

In Camryn's words, she felt that she was not worthy of Callum because of her family background.

But Camryn was concerned about her health.

After being silent for a while, Serenity said comfortingly: "Camryn, your eyes will be fine, and Callum will help you hire the best doctor to heal your eyes."

Now Callum had gone to Annenburg and she didn't know what the situation was.

Camryn quickly got rid of her melancholy, put on her usual smile, and said to Serenity: "Serenity, let's not talk about this anymore, it would be better if Callum's business trip can be longer, we will be separated a period of time, keep calm and calm with each other, maybe he will give up."

It would be a lie to say that she didn't like Callum, but she always had a knot in her heart to let her accept him.

She always felt that she was blind and not worthy of Callum.

Callum should have married a better woman.

Serenity said: "Unless Callum is not sincere, he won't give up on you."

"Auntie, when are we leaving?" Sonny suddenly interjected.

Sonny would not stay long in a place where there were no toys and no entertainment.

He had admired the flowers here from Aunt Camryn.

After sitting for a while, he wanted to leave.

Camryn smiled and said, "Sonny thinks Aunt Camryn's place is not fun?"

"It's not fun." Sonny said honestly.

Serenity also smiled and said: "He didn't go out with toys, so he can't stay. Camryn, you go ahead, I'll take him back."

"Okay." Camryn got up to see Serenity and Sonny off, and sent them out of the store.

Serenity: "Camryn, there's no need to send us off, you go back to the store, we're leaving."

"Goodbye, Aunt Camryn." Sonny said goodbye to Camryn, then climbed into the back seat of the car, sat down by himself, and said goodbye. He Put on her seat belt himself.

Camryn waved her hand with a smile.

Serenity sent Sonny back to Liberty's side, chatted with her for a while in her rented room, and then left.

As soon as Serenity left, Duncan came.

Holding flowers, Duncan stood at the door of the rented house, straightened his clothes, and then raised his hand to knock on the door.

Liberty was making dumplings, when she heard the knock on the door, she said to her Sonny: "Sonny, go and see who it is, and open the door if you know someone."

Sonny responded, and walked over with a small stool, Putting the small stool on the ground, he stood on the stool and saw through the cat's eyes that the person standing at the door was Duncan. He immediately jumped off the stool, moved the stool away, and opened the door on tiptoe.

"Sonny, who is it?" Liberty asked.

"Uncle Duncan." Sonny answered and opened the door. "Uncle Duncan."

As soon as the door opened, Sonny trotted happily and hugged Duncan's leg.

Duncan picked Sonny up with one hand, smiling all over his face, "Sonny is at home, Uncle Duncan thought you were with your aunt."

"My aunt sent me back, and my aunt is not free at night. Uncle Duncan, don't you have to go to work?" Sonny asked childishly.

Duncan had to go to work every day, and he could only rest on weekends. Why did he have time to come here every day without going to work?

Novel Married at First Sight Chapter 1660 – Duncan: "Uncle Duncan is the boss, so if Uncle Duncan doesn't want to go to work, he doesn't have to go to work, no one can control Uncle Duncan, and Uncle Duncan doesn't have to worry about being deducted from your salary."

Sonny said oh, and then said: "But Uncle Duncan, you're the boss, then why do you work every day? Do you have to go to work?"

Duncan: "...your uncle's company is bigger, and he has more things to do, so he has to go to work every day."

Sonny was convinced.

Duncan put him down.

Sonny would always have a hundred thousand reasons, the reaction was not fast, and it was easy to be asked.

"Liberty." Duncan walked up to Liberty with the bouquet in his hand. He looked at Liberty affectionately and handed the bouquet to Liberty.

"Mr. Lewis, I don't like bouquets, please don't send them next time, okay?" Liberty said helplessly.

She refused many times, but Duncan still sent it.

Seeing that Liberty didn't accept the bouquet, Duncan found a vase himself, put the bouquet into the vase, and said: "I don't think it looks good to come here empty-handed, so I bought a bunch of flowers, not expensive, very cheap, you don't have to worry about it."

"Uncle Duncan, why did you send flowers to my mother instead of me? I like flowers very much." Sonny said from the side.

“Sonny.” Liberty called out to his son.

Duncan smiled and said: “Uncle Duncan was negligent, next time Uncle Duncan will also prepare a bouquet of flowers for our Sonny.”

Sonny’s eyes turned back and forth between Duncan and his mother, a little understanding, but not understanding.

His Dad told Sonny that Uncle Duncan wanted to rob his mother from him.

If his mother was taken away by Uncle Duncan, he would be a child that no one loved in the future.

Sonny didn’t believe what Dad said.

Uncle Duncan was very good to Sonny, why would he rob his mother?

Uncle Duncan only said that he would join his and his mother’s family, but he didn’t say that he would take away his mother and prevent her from loving him.

His dad also told him that whenever Uncle Duncan came to find his mother, he should call his father, and his father would come to help him protect his mother.

Sonny was struggling, should he call Dad?

“Mom, I want to talk to my aunt.” Sonny suddenly asked.

After Liberty finished making a dumpling, she said, “Your aunt just sent you back, are you going to call your aunt again?”

Sonny: “I just want to talk to my aunt.”

Handed the phone to him, Liberty said: “Your aunt is busy, don’t talk to your aunt for too long.”

After Sonny took the phone, he hid in the room with the phone in his hand.

Duncan smiled and said: “Sonny is getting more and more eccentric, even talking on the phone with his aunt and hiding in the room.”

He washed his hands and came to help Liberty make dumplings.

“Mr. Lewis, I don’t need your help. You sit and drink a glass of water.”

Liberty wanted to stop Duncan from helping. Duncan had already started making dumplings.

Duncan said, "I'm not thirsty. I know you've been making dumplings this afternoon. I'm busy. It's over, come over to help you make dumplings when you have time, so you don't have to be so tired."

She didn't look at him as an old man, he was also a person who could make dumplings.

Duncan insisted on helping, but Liberty couldn't drive him out.

Liberty said to Duncan: "Mr. Lewis, I've made it very clear to you. I don't think about getting married now, and I don't have any thoughts about you. You always come here, which makes it difficult for me."

Mrs. Lewis knew Duncan had to come to her again, asked her to quit the rent, moved out, and even told her to leave Wiltspoon.

"Liberty, I don't ask you to accept me now, and I don't force you. I just want to see you. You don't need to have psychological pressure. If you like me, accept me. If you don't like me, we will be friends for life like this and don't worry about what my mother said, my mother can't be my master. Don't even think about moving away, let alone leave Wiltspoon."
