Novel Married at First Sight Chapter 1885 -“Tomorrow, we will return to Wiltspoon with Sonny.” Serenity made the decision to leave FC Manor with her nephew. Children were forgetful, and when they returned to Wiltspoon, the two little children couldn’t play together, and Sonny forgot the secret behind Titus quickly.

Zachary looked at her and said, “If I say yes, I’m afraid that you will say that I wish you could go back. If I say no, I’m worried that Sonny will ask Titus out of curiosity and then lift Titus’s clothes to take a look. A child’s curiosity is very strong.”

“If I hadn’t accidentally learned about this, I would like to go back on the date originally planned.” Serenity had no idea she’d set Titus off like that. The clothes, she knew the secret of Titus’s back, no need to ask, the person who tattooed that pattern on Titus’s back had to be Titus’s relative.

In Zachary’s words, who would be willing to tattoo that thing on such a young child unless it was absolutely necessary.

“Don’t be too nervous, just play for two more days. You don’t have to be afraid.” Zachary comforted his beloved wife, “Maybe this is God’s arrangement.”

It was too soon for Serenity to leave, and Jane agreed with her. Tomorrow, Jane would take the children to Yves’s house to play with Iris, and if she changed her mind temporarily, it would be easy for people to become suspicious.

Serenity: “Then let’s play for two more days.”

Zachary hummed, “Don’t think so much, go to bed early.”

He sat down next to his wife, hugged her, and then whispered in a low voice: “In someone else’s house, I’ll spare you for the time being.”

Serenity hurriedly pushed him away and lay down next to Sonny.

Zachary smiled lowly.

No more words for one night.

The night passed, and the rising sun ushered in, and a new day began.

Jensburg.

Hayden was still in a dream when she was awakened by the phone ringing.

She was extremely irate. She could take a good rest and sleep in late because she wasn't typically busy at work on Sundays.

As a result, someone called her early in the morning.

Without even opening her eyes, she took the phone, gave it a habitual swipe to the right, placed it to her ear, and said coldly.: "Hugh, you better have something big."

The person who called her was either her parents or Hugh.

"Mr. Queen, it's me." Kevin's voice came.

Hayden suddenly opened her eyes and sat up.

The voice was lowered subconsciously, still cold: "Mr. York? Is there something wrong?"

Kevin called her early in the morning. And it's her home number, which most people didn't know.

"I am in Queen's mansion. Mr. Queen, I thought you would come back last night, so I came here early to wait for you, but the sun is already high, and I didn't see you. I asked my aunt to find out why you didn't come back home last night. My aunt gave me this mobile phone number and asked me to contact you." Kevin explained how he got Hayden's home number.

Hayden frowned, "Mr. York, you haven't said what it is yet."

Kevin: "We have agreed, we will go horseback riding today. After the horseback riding, I will treat you to dinner as my repayment for your help."

Hayden: "..."

She really didn't take this matter to heart.

Mr. York, why didn't you come to me directly?
