

Read Novel Married At First Sight Chapter 1963

Married at First Sight Chapter 1963-Shiloh wanted to argue for herself, but seeing her mother's serious face, she finally bowed her head and apologized to her mother.

"Mom, I'm sorry, I was wrong this time."

She took another two steps forward, took Mrs. Farrell's arm affectionately, and said coquettishly: "Mom, I know I was wrong, don't be angry. It's just that I like Young Master Queen so much, he is already competitive. And there is a third Young Master York. Because we are women, we can't get close to Young Master Queen, but the third Young Master York can get close to Young Master Queen, and Young Master Queen's bodyguards don't care about him. He even openly wanted to pursue Young Master Queen and piled up a large sea of flowers at the gate of the Queen Enterprise.

I was envious of him, and I couldn't help but do such a thing for a while. I didn't expect to fight. The third young master reacted so quickly that I didn't trip him, but I was tripped by him, which made me die of pain and shame."

Thinking of her fall just now, Shiloh gritted her teeth with hatred.

She had never been so humiliated.

"Mom, don't be angry. I promise I won't make such low-level mistakes in the future. Kathryn is the same. When she saw me fall, she didn't come to help me immediately. My sister-in-law is right; Kathryn was just happy to see me making a fool of myself. "

After the sound fell, Mrs. Farrell poked her on the forehead and said to her, "Kathryn was eating, and Young Master Queen came to her suddenly, but she didn't even react, so you fell down. She said, 'She was in a daze at the time, how could I help you?'

Kathryn grew up in the countryside and had never learned martial arts, so her reaction was naturally not fast enough. The young master put you in the army instead, making you provoke people who should not be provoked.

Shiloh, this is your own problem, your own mistakes; don't always blame Kathryn. No matter what, Kathryn is also my biological daughter. You have to remember that if it weren't for your father, Kathryn wouldn't suffer so many grievances.

You owe Kathryn, don't always act like Kathryn has robbed you."

Mrs. Farrell's heart was very clear, she just didn't point it out. She was getting old, and in a few years she would not have the energy to take care of the Farrell family's affairs. At that time, she needed to consider retiring and letting the heir take over.

But it had only been a year since her biological daughter returned to Farrell's family. Although she was a capable person pretending to be a pig and eating a tiger, due to the short time, she had not yet gained a firm foothold. She seemed to continue to prefer her adopted daughter and didn't care much about her biological daughter.

In fact, she used her method to hone her own daughter, forcing her to gain a firm foothold in just a few years and be capable enough to take over the matriarch Farrell.

As for some people in the family secretly inquiring about her two nieces, matriarch Farrell didn't care at all.

It's been decades, could they still find it?

They were only a few years old back then, even the eldest niece may not be able to remember it, let alone the younger niece.

The next matriarch must be her daughter!

"Mom, I'm innocent too. my father was the one who did that, not me. I was just a newborn baby at that time, and I didn't understand anything. How can it be said that it was me? I owe Kathryn, neither Kathryn nor I owe anyone else, because neither of us can take the lead in this matter, and what mom doesn't know, how can she and I know?"

Mrs. Farrell: "..."

It was her negligence that caused the bloody drama of her daughter being quilted to happen to her.

"Okay, go in and don't leave my side again, lest you be stupid again and do something embarrassing. Remember, stay away from the third young master of the York family. We can't afford to offend the York family."

The Farrell family was even inferior to the Queen family in Jensburg, but this family had existed for a long time and was different, so it had not been squeezed out of the top rich families in Jensburg.

It's nothing to fight within their own family, but once they fight with big families outside, the chances of the Farrell family winning were not great.

For many years, matriarch Farrell had made friends with families stronger than their Farrell family and families weaker than them. She either bullied or embezzled other people's businesses to gradually strengthen the Farrell family.

She hoped that one day, the Farrell family could return to its peak period. At its peak, the Farrell family was like an emperor in Jensburg.

Recommended Novels