Married at First Sight Chapter 2013-Mrs. Stone: "The Farrell family in Jensburg? What's the matter?"

Serenity: "Auntie, there are not many people with the surname Farrell. The Farrell family in Jensburg is different from other big families. Their family is respected by daughters, and the head of the family is inherited by daughters."

Mrs. Stone asked her: "Serenity, do you think that Auntie is related to the Farrell family and is a member of the Farrell family?"

Serenity nodded, "I doubt it that way, and Zack and the others also doubt it. Zack told me about this, and I came here to ask Auntie. Auntie, do you remember where your home is?"

Mrs. Stone didn't answer right away, but fell into the memories.

When she and her younger sister were sent to the orphanage, she was only eight years old. Although she was sensible, she was still a child of a few years old, and she didn't know many things.

All she knew was that her parents and family were gone, and she and her younger sister became orphans. They were taken away by a nanny and auntie, and after traveling around for several days, they were finally sent to an orphanage in Wiltspoon.

Because the two sisters were too young, no matter how good her memory was, she couldn't remember where her home was. She only remembered that when she was a child, the family conditions were very good, and others called her the eldest lady.

Her mother was very busy, and it was basically her father who accompanied her and her sister.

Parents loved them very much, and grandparents had never disliked them as girls, but think they were daughters.

She didn't remember which day it was. Their parents, grandparents, uncles and aunts, etc., went out and never came back. Later, an adult told them that all of them had an accident, and no one survived.

It's just her and her sister.

Her younger sister was too young to understand what death means. In fact, she didn't understand much either. She only knew that she would never see her parents and relatives again.

Later, she and her sister were taken away from that house, and then they kept riding, walking, riding, and walking. In the end, even the aunt who took them disappeared, and the two sisters lived on the street. sent to an orphanage.

Mrs. Stone only had so many memories of her childhood, no matter how many, she would have no memory.

“Serenity, what happened to the Farrell family in Jensburg? Is it related to my mother? My mother’s surname is also Farrell. Could it be my mother’s family?” Elisa asked curiously.

If the Farrell family in Jensburg was her mother’s natal family, her mother and aunt would not need to enter the orphanage.

Serenity told Elisa about some things about Farrell’s family in Jensburg. The main point was that the head of the family had two daughters. Life and death are uncertain.

It is said that the current matriarch killed the previous matriarch, even the two nieces.

Elisa was extremely shocked after hearing this, and she looked at her mother.

Mrs. Stone muttered to herself: “I have a little aunt. I have two aunts, the second aunt and the third aunt. It’s just that decades have passed, and I have no impression of the two aunts for a long time.

When my sister and I lost their relatives, I was only eight years old and my sister was four years old. I don’t remember many things. I just remember that my family’s conditions were not bad when I was young and people called me Miss.”

My mother worked hard and was always very busy, and there were always things that couldn’t be finished, but my mother loved us very much, she was very kind to me, but she was also very strict, no matter what I did, she always asked me to do my best.”

Elisa and Serenity looked at each other face to face. They were basically sure that Mrs. Stone was the eldest daughter of the previous head of the Farrell family.

Serenity thought of Zachary and said that Mrs. Stone’s age was not compatible with the children of the previous head of the Farrell family.
