Chapter 23: Get into the trap

Arabella still didn't move where she was because she didn't want to go along with the man who was outside the car and continued to stare at her with an evil grin. At first glance she felt very disgusted to see Leonard who seemed to want to eat her.

Even she was currently directing piercing gazes when she saw the man he thought was shameless for exposing his upper body in public.

Leonard, who could see the hatred in Arabella's eyes, had just laughed out loud. It was a pleasure for him to see the angry face of a woman with a glint of fire from his eyeballs.

"Gosh, why do I feel scared when you look at me like you want to kill me." Leonard, who felt even colder from not wearing a shirt, got back into the car when there were several people in the hotel area staring at him. "Go, sir!"

"Yes sir." The driver immediately started the car engine and drove the four-wheeled vehicle out of the five-star hotel.

Meanwhile, Arabella was now breathing a sigh of relief after the black luxury car drove back through the silence of the night. Until Leonard's baritone voice made her understand.

"Relax and relax!" Leonard turned to Arabella and began to reveal his plans. "I was just working on you."

Arabella who couldn't understand, with Leonard's childish attitude, didn't respond at all to the sentence that she found very annoying. She just waited for the man next to her to continue speaking.

When she didn't hear any response from Leonard, she, who was very annoyed, finally started cursing. "You are indeed a very annoying man. Don't do this in front of Ayumi. Instead, she will be ilfil with you."

Leonard immediately refuted the words of the woman who seemed to be mocking him with a faint smile. "Of course not, because you and Ayumi are very different. She is very special to my heart, whereas you are like a pile of trash that you can't see at all."

"So don't ever equate yourself with her because you guys are really very different." Leonard gradually felt cold and rubbed his arm.

"Because you were injured earlier, making me like this." Again and again, Leonard had crossed her arms, making gestures like hugging herself. Don't forget to glance at Arabella and see what the reaction of the woman who had been silent in her place was.

Even though Leonard had insulted her so badly, Arabella didn't feel offended at all. Instead, she felt very happy when the man sitting next to her thought of her as nothing more than trash.

"I am trash and will forever be trash. Don't go near trash that will make you look dirty and despicable."

"So I'll be safe forever if you think like that," Arabella whispered in her heart.

Arabella's stabbing sentence made Leonard even more sick when he remembered the brutality he had been about to ****. He could only smile wryly when he felt cornered and at the same time, his luxury car had entered the main gate which had just been opened by security.

The luxurious house with the second floor is where Leonard's big family lives, consisting of his mother and father, because he is an only child and has always been full of love and all the luxuries since childhood. However, in a short time, all these luxuries were threatened with extinction when the company went into a crisis and almost went bankrupt.

But the big company owned by his family is now under the control of the Zaydan family. None other than the family of his stepbrother's wife. Sadly, the luxury house he currently occupies has also been taken over by his stepbrother because it was used as bank guarantee. However, it has been redeemed by his stepbrother.

Leonard got out of the car after previously staring intently at the figure of the woman in the pajamas. "Hurry down! I'll show you your room. Don't ever dream of staying in my room because Ayumi will live there."

"I know that. Don't think I wish I could share a room with you because I never thought about it. Never even thought about it," said Arabella who stepped out of the car after opening the door and observing the atmosphere around the luxurious house that would become her temporary residence. .

The atmosphere of the house which has a fairly large yard with a manicured garden makes it look very beautiful. Then she trailed behind Leonard because she felt very unfamiliar with the house she had stepped on for the first time. As soon as she entered the main door, her eyes could now see a very large room that became a space for conversing with guests.

In fact, she could see all the high-quality furniture adorning every corner of the room. Arabella jogged a little when Leonard had walked away from her up the stairs.

"He's walking so fast. Wait!"

Meanwhile, Leonard did not pay any attention to Arabella's screams because he was already very sleepy and wanted to immediately lay down on a comfortable bed in his private room.

The atmosphere of the house is very quiet and quiet, indicating that all the residents of the palace-like house are already late in their respective sleep flowers.

"Do not be noisy!" rebuked Leonard who glanced back briefly as he stopped his footsteps.

Arabella who felt very guilty, immediately covered her mouth and her position was now right behind Leonard, reflexively nodded immediately. "Yes, sorry. I was afraid that you would leave me and make me lost in this palace of yours."

Understanding Arabella's concern, Leonard immediately grabbed the woman's right wrist who looked very worried. "Hurry up! Your way is like a snail!"

Actually, Arabella felt uncomfortable when Leonard took her hand. However, she didn't want to make noise and wake up the old man who had led her up the stairs to the second floor. Until she stopped at a room with a light brown door that looked very shiny in front of her.

Leonard opened the bedroom door and with his hand still tightly gripping Arabella's left wrist, he went inside.

"This is your room. Isn't it much more comfortable than the room in the small rented room?"

Arabella glanced down, where her hand was still gripped by Leonard. "Yes, but let go of your hand first!"

Leonard bowed head and as soon as he realized his stupidity, immediately let go of his hand.

"Oh ... because I'm not that playboy, so you feel uncomfortable. Unlike when you were held by Zaydan. At that time, I saw that you looked obedient and sparkling. I was the only one who was stupid, because I didn't realize it. it doesn't matter. Go to sleep and be nice to my future wife tomorrow morning."

Of course Arabella felt very embarrassed when she heard the taunts from Leonard. However, because it was true, it made her divert the conversation. "How about a change of clothes for me?" asked Arabella who was very worried, when she had no clothes at all.

Leonard, who had just stepped out of the room, paused and looked back. "Calm down, because I've already told the playboy you adore so much to buy clothes for. I don't have the money and won't want to buy it for you. Unlike the two men I'm currently in control of. I guess I should thank you, thanks to you, I came to know the weakness of a Zaydan."

Satisfied with revealing everything, Leonard had already stepped back into the next room.

Meanwhile, Arabella, who realized her stupidity, reflexively slapped her forehead repeatedly. "You idiot! You've fallen into the trap of a bastard like Leonard."
