Chapter 24: Good news

Arabella is now observing the atmosphere in the room which is quite spacious and luxurious. Very different from the rented house that had been her residence. Maybe if other people, will feel very happy because living like a Cinderella in that magnificent palace.

When she wants to escape from the shadow of the conglomerate family, it ends up becoming a snare that makes her back in the vortex of the people who were the cause of his destruction, namely the Leonard family who had been making it difficult for her to find a job.

With her bare feet on the cold floor, Arabella observed every corner of the room which was filled with various types of high-quality furniture and also perfectly decorated her temporary residence.

Starting from the table, sofa, cupboard, flat screen television and also a large bed next to it there is a nightstand decorated with a night lamp, making the private room look perfect. Roughly, Arabella threw her body on the bed and didn't forget that she was now staring at the ceiling with a large chandelier illuminating the room.

"Will the drama start after I wake up tomorrow? What will happen to me after living here? Gosh!" Arabella got up from her position and was now sitting cross-legged on the bed. "I even forgot about that ghost-like woman. What if that savage woman tortures me? I feel like a stepdaughter while living here."

Squeezing her hair, Arabella groaned and cursed. "Aaah ... nothing has given me goosebumps like this. Because I've met her in court before. How can there be a mother who doesn't care about her own flesh and blood. Moreover, I'm only a serial wife who is not considered at all by that bastard."

Arabella was still busy cursing her fate as well as her stupidity. She looked at the clock on the wall which said it was 01.35 WIB. "This is the first time I haven't slept this morning. Better think about it tomorrow!"

By yawning many times indicating that drowsiness began to creep in her body. Arabella finally lay down on the soft king size bed and for a moment rested her body, and mind from all the activities that forced her energy. Of course it didn't take long, Arabella was already lulled into her sleeping flower.

Leonard felt something different in the next room, right next to Arabella's. Leonard purposely made Arabella sleep next door because he wanted to watch her at the same time. Of course he wanted to make sure that she wouldn't be a thorn in the flesh in his relationship with Ayumi in the future.

Leonard is now still busy walking back and forth in the room with his focus position staring at his cellphone.

"Is Ayumi already asleep?"

Impatient, with lightning-fast movements, Leonard had already searched the contact list of the woman he had in mind. Until the sound of the telephone dial tone was heard. However, even though several seconds had passed, there was absolutely no response. Of course that made him feel even more frustrated.

With a baritone voice that sounded stifled with emotion, Leonard threw himself roughly onto the bed and threw a flat object to the right of the bed.

"Think positive, Leo! Maybe Ayumi has fallen asleep, because she's tired after traveling from Japan to Jakarta. Okay, I'd better sleep now, so that tomorrow I can pick up Ayumi and invite her here. Oh yeah!" Leonard slapped his forehead as he remembered something.

Reflexively he rose from his position and immediately took his long legs towards the exit. Once in front of Arabella's room, he clenched his fists to knock on the golden brown door in front of him.

Even the sound of knocking on the door echoed to break the silence of the very silent night. However, there was absolutely no sign of movement or sound from within.

"Jesus, is that cheap woman asleep? She's sleeping so fast. You bull!" On a whim, Leonard pointed his hand at the doorknob and the door swung open.

"She didn't lock the door? You idiot!" Leonard stepped inside and saw the figure of a woman with her back to him hugging the bolster tightly.

Sneaking along looking like a thief, Leonard approached Arabella. His intention was to surprise the woman who seemed to be fast asleep. However, when he was right beside Arabella, his intentions suddenly changed and he failed to do so.

At this moment, Leonard was standing behind Arabella and he was reflexively shocked when the woman suddenly turned around and faced him. Even though he was still in a position with his eyes closed, for some reason Leonard felt very nervous. Even now, he was already holding his heart while frowning inside.

"Damn it, just shock this cheap woman. My heart almost exploded from the shock. Why am I now like a thief, huh. Because I often make fun of him stupid, I became a fool!"

Leonard, who had just finished cursing in his heart, was now observing the face of a woman who seemed to be fast asleep in front of him without blinking. The hair that covered part of Arabella's face, made it impossible for Leonard to look at her, so he walked over and slowly pushed her away from above the closed eyelids.

Not only that, he is now sitting crouched in front of Arabella and observing every corner of the face of the woman he hates so much without blinking.

"Today I have to thank Ayumi for not having sex with you. If that happens, maybe Ayumi will hate me so much just because of a cheap woman like you. However, earlier you said you were still a virgin. Is that true?" Leonard thought, already focused on staring at the sensual lips with the dry wound that had been the bite mark.

Of course he immediately imagined the incident a few hours ago when he almost raped the woman in front of him.

"It seems that it is true that she is still a virgin, because when I kissed her, she was silent and did not reply at all. Even earlier, she did the same thing, which was to bite me. What a strange woman. She should feel lucky to have a blessing like me. however, she foolishly rejected me and said she loved the young master."

Leonard had just remembered his purpose in coming to see Arabella. He grabbed Arabella's cell phone and searched Zaydan's contact list, then started to copy it. When he was done, he put the phone back and immediately dialed Zaydan's number as soon as he left the room.

After waiting for a long time, Leonard finally smirked when he heard a hoarse voice behind the phone indicating that he had just woken up.

"Damn it! What are you calling at this time of night!"

"Patience, young master Zaydan. It turns out that you still have my number. Sorry to disturb young master's good sleep. However, I have something important to tell you." Leonard took his cell phone away from his ear, because he heard another curse from the other side.

"Do you want to die!"

"Oh my, how can a human want to die. Oh yes, there is good news, young master Zaydan. Please tomorrow morning bring expensive clothes for my siri wife because I will introduce her to the woman I will officially marry. Oh yes, I ask for your blessing from the young master."

"What did you say? Do you want your family to end up under the bridge?" Zaydan shouted in a very loud voice.

"Of course not, young master. Because if you do, I will let Mrs. Salsabila know of her husband's intention to remarry." Leonard immediately hung up the phone and laughed out loud because he was very happy to know the weakness of the person who threatened him.
