Married at First Sight Chapter 2466-He was trying to catch up on knowledge about pregnancy, and he also knew that pregnant women should move around properly and not just rest in bed or sit still.

“I’m very relieved.” Audrey was very satisfied with Zachary and Serenity.

When her eyes fell on Liberty, Audrey sighed secretly. Her niece, Serenity, was a lucky person. She met Zachary and had a happy married life. Zachary was also a maniac who doted on his wife.

This eldest niece, Liberty, made Audrey very distressed.

Liberty met someone unkind. Despite the fact that her life improved and Duncan genuinely loved her after the divorce, God enjoys torturing people, so Duncan had a car accident and lost both of his legs. Although he was undergoing rehabilitation, he couldn’t know when he would recover.

To be honest, if Duncan did not recover, Audrey would not approve of Liberty and Duncan being together. Her eldest niece had not had a good life in the past few years. She hoped that Liberty could be as happy as Serenity for the rest of her life.

Just like Mrs. Lewis, before Duncan got into a car accident, Mrs. Lewis refused to agree with Duncan and Liberty being together.

Something happened to Duncan, and he became disabled, so Mrs. Lewis begged Liberty to accept her son.

Audrey was Liberty’s aunt, so she naturally thought about Liberty.

However, Audrey did not say what she was thinking. Duncan was working hard on rehabilitation. The doctor said that he had a chance to stand up again and return to normal.

Seeing that Liberty had a little affection for Duncan, Audrey thought, Let it be.

“What is the current status of Duncan’s well-being?” Audrey asked Liberty softly.

Liberty smiled and said, "He is very good. He does rehabilitation every morning and goes back to the company to work in the afternoon. Sometimes he has social activities that he cannot refuse in the evening. If I am free, he will ask me to accompany him to socialize."

Occasionally accompanying Duncan to socialize could only benefit Liberty. Now that she had entered the shopping mall, she could learn a lot by accompanying Duncan to socialize.

"Well, that's good. That's good." Audrey didn't ask any more questions.

Audrey just said, "If you need help with something, just tell me. As long as I'm alive, I will be your and Serenity's family and your supporter."

"Thank you, aunt; business at the restaurant as well as the breakfast shop is booming right now. Now that I have recovered all of my investment funds, I intend to expand the All You Can Eat restaurant, raise the quality slightly, and then open branches."

Her goal was to create a chain restaurant with the All You Can Eat brand.

Then she would invest in building a big hotel somewhere else, not in Wiltspoon. Wiltspoon was owned by her brother-in-law's family. She knew she couldn't compete, and she didn't want to compete with her own family for business.

Even if she won, there would be no sense of achievement if she had robbed one's own business.

It's better to grab other people's businesses. Only when she could defeat her competitors one after another would she feel a sense of accomplishment.

Liberty: "Well, you and Serenity are both successful people. I'm very relieved that you can develop it in Jensburg."

Audrey had not forgotten the matter of revenge for her parents and family.

It's just that Audrey had to be busy with Serenity's wedding recently, and Alice gave birth early, so she hadn't spared time to take action against Jensburg Farrell's family yet.
