Married at First Sight Chapter 2640-“Dad, you!” Kathryn looked at Holden in shock and disbelief.

Holden was so ashamed that Kathryn looked at him like this.

When parents make mistakes, they will try to cover them up and not let their children know about them, so as not to damage their image in the eyes of their children.

But Matriarch Farrell allowed her children and daughter-in-law to watch Holden be embarrassed and let the younger generations know what he had done. This made Holden unable to hold his head high in front of his children.

Fortunately, Holden’s grandchildren were not at home; otherwise, he would not be able to hold his head up in front of them.

“mom.”

Kathryn quickly sat down next to Matriarch Farrell and comforted her. “Mom, Dad may be confused for a moment. Dad is usually so affectionate with you. Could he have fallen into a trap or been plotted by the little goblin outside?”

“It’s that girl who plotted against me. Kathryn, please help me to beg for mercy and explain.”

Holden heard Kathryn’s words and echoed.

He wanted to put all the blame on that girl.

Matriarch Farrell finished smoking a cigarette and was about to light a second cigarette, but Kathryn stopped her and said, “Mom, it’s not good to smoke too much. Mom, I know you are angry and sad, but you can’t punish your body just because my dad betrayed you. Please, stop smoking. Smoking is harmful to your health.”

Matriarch Farrell looked at Kathryn. At this time, only Kathryn would comfort her and care about her.

Those few...

Matriarch Farrell looked around at the other children. They all felt guilty and did not dare to say a word.

“Mom, is my dad being plotted against?”

“Mom, you and my dad have been married for decades and have given birth to me and my brother. Our relationship has always been very good. Everyone can see how my dad treats you. Even though I just returned to you and my dad after two or three years, I also know that you and my dad have a good relationship.

My dad must have been plotted against you; otherwise, he wouldn't betray you.”

Matriarch Farrell looked at Holden. Holden also looked at her.

Holden: “Wife, I was really plotted. I don't even know what happened. I...”

Matriarch Farrell suddenly picked up the ashtray on the coffee table and threw it at her husband. The ashtray hit Holden and fell to the ground again, breaking into pieces.

“Holden, do you think I'm a three-year-old child? Kathryn didn't grow up beside us. She didn't know, so she spoke for you. That b*tch—I wanted to tear her apart. What does she want from you? Does she want you to look old?

It's not that you covet her beauty and her hot figure and chase her every day. Why would she go to a hotel with you to book a room? I'll just beat her up, and I won't cause her any more trouble. In this matter, if I really want to blame it, it's you.

You wanted to cheat on me before. I found out and taught you a lesson. You promised that you would never betray me again in this life. Are all your oaths lying to me? I'm not at home. After a while, you don't remember anything.

No wonder none of your three sons are loyal to their families and their marriages. Before getting married, each of them said they loved their girlfriend very much, and they took them home as their wives. In just a few years, they are raising girl friends outside. They also said that doing business and entertaining are unavoidable.

Who said you have to have mistresses when doing business and entertaining? It's because you four can't control your lower bodies. Stop making excuses for your cheating!"

Matriarch Farrell cursed and brought her three sons in.
