Married At First Sight Chapter 2835-A few minutes later,

“Sister Liberty.” Kevin was still waiting for Liberty in the suite. As soon as Liberty arrived, he came out and opened the door.

“Kevin, thank you.”

“I told you, sister Liberty, don’t be so polite to me.” Kevin came out of the room and let Liberty in. He said to Jim and other bodyguards, “You guys stay here and don’t let anyone get close.”

Although not everyone could get up to the top floor, it’s better to be on guard.

Jim and others responded respectfully.

When Liberty entered, the two ladies from the Farrell family were already sitting on the sofa. Each had a cup of warm water in front of them, and there were snacks, fruits, etc. on the coffee table for them.

“Miss Hunt.”

Seeing Liberty come in, the two of them stood up from the sofa and immediately took off their sunglasses and masks. Since they had agreed to surrender to Liberty, they must always see people with their true colors.

The two of them were not young anymore, but they knew how to take care of them and were willing to spend money on it, making them look much younger than their actual age.

“Aunts, please sit down.” Liberty politely asked them to sit down again. She went to make herself a pot of tea, put the teapot on the coffee table, poured herself another cup of tea, and said, “I like drinking tea.”

The two smiled, and Carly said, “We are getting older and don’t drink tea much. If we drink tea, we will not be able to sleep at night.”

After Liberty drank half a cup of tea, she invited them to eat, but both of them declined politely.

Liberty said, "What words did Third Uncle Kaison and Fourth Uncle Rodrigo have that my two aunts brought to me?"

Liberty didn't beat around the bush with them, mainly because she wasn't familiar with them and had no topic to chat about, so she simply went straight to the point.

Carly said, "Miss Hunt, the one in our family said that if you need our words, just ask, and our two families will do our best to help you."

Amelia nodded in agreement. She wanted to complain about Matriarch Farrell's behavior in front of Liberty, but remembering her husband's numerous warnings to her when she went out, she held back.

Her husband, Rodrigo, said that when her sister-in-law came over, she only needed to express the feelings of the two families, and there was no need to say much else.

A chosen representative from Wiltspoon sent Liberty here, and she must already be familiar with the key members of the Farrell family.

They didn't need to say much.

Talking too much would leave a bad impression on Liberty. After all, people with long tongues cannot keep secrets.

Liberty smiled and said, "Thanks to my third and fourth uncles for thinking highly of me; please help me bring a few words back to my two uncles. I must find out how my grandparents died back then."

Liberty said, "It's something that belongs to us, and we will definitely get it back. If it doesn't belong to us, we won't want it. The Farrell family is about to fall out of the ranks of wealthy families in Jensburg. It's getting worse and worse. This is not a good thing. In Jensburg, the Farrell family has been a famous family for hundreds of years."

Married At First Sight Chapter 2836-Liberty continued: "I think everyone in the clan hopes that the Farrell clan can rise again, not to mention return to its peak period, but at least be in the middle. A big family relies on everyone working together to jointly develop our Farrell clan."

The revitalization of the Farrell family depends on the younger generation. As long as the younger generation in our clan is capable, they should be reused. Do the two aunts think this is the truth?"

Kaison and Kaison were getting old. Even if they had ambitions, they had no energy. They only cared about the future of their children and grandchildren.

Liberty's words were tantamount to a promise.

If the position of head of the family returns to her lineage, as long as the younger generation in the clan has the ability, she will use it so that everyone can shine in the appropriate positions.

It meant that she was a tolerant Lord.

The two ladies looked at each other and exchanged glances. Amelia said, "Miss Hunt, you're right. Miss Hunt, you're worthy of being a descendant of the previous matriarch. This is what the previous matriarch thought. When she was in charge of the Farrell family, we people in Jensburg still dare not look down upon Farrell's family."

Unlike now, everyone no longer takes the Farrell family seriously.

When the previous matriarch was in charge, Carly and Amelia had not yet married. They were between six and twelve years old at the time, and they did not understand the affairs of a wealthy family at all.

But their husbands had some memories of the past. At least when they were in school, no one dared to bully them as long as they said they were from the Farrell family.

Later, they often heard the elders in the family mention that they heard the most about the conduct of the previous matriarch. Unfortunately, the previous matriarch married late and had children late. After giving birth to two children, her health deteriorated, and she fell ill every three days, so she gave a chance to the current matriarch.

Liberty said, "You don't have to worry about safety. As long as you don't show off or seek death in the clan, I can guarantee your safety in Jensburg."

If they do too much, not to mention, Liberty won't protect them, and they won't dare to use them.

Amelia said, "We have always been very low-key. Our two families don't try to flatter each other. We can only keep a low profile."

It is true that they could get close to Matriarch Farrell, and they were not thick-skinned enough to flatter her.

Although they had some status in the Farrell family, it was because their relationship with Matriarch Farrell had not been out of five and they were still cousins, so they would be invited to the family banquet. If not, the family would have hosted the family banquet. There was no place for them.

Liberty took out two business cards, handed them to them respectively, and said, "This is my business card. Take it back and give it to the third uncle, Kaison, and the fourth uncle, Rodrigo. After saving my mobile phone number, the business cards can be destroyed to avoid unnecessary damage. If you have anything to do, please call me. If I can help you, I will."

In fact, she asked the two families to help her keep an eye on every move in the Farrell family mansion.

Liberty had information on how many people there were in these two families, their character, and their abilities.

She could train them to become her confidants.

"Thank you, Miss Hunt. With your words, we feel relieved. Miss Hunt, however, the most important thing is guarding against Kathryn. That girl, despite her weak appearance, is actually a person who pretends to be a pig and eats the tiger. There is also Mr. Fraser beside her. Mr. Fraser is very powerful. Every head of the family has a loyal assistant beside her. Mr. Fraser is Kathryn's assistant."

The two reminded Liberty.

They heard that Liberty and Kathryn seemed to get along well.

Kathryn was not as arrogant as Shiloh and looked down on them, but with Mr. Fraser by her side, Kathryn has secured her position as successor. If Liberty cannot defeat Kathryn, Kathryn will be the next head of the family.

Now that they have chosen to surrender to Liberty, they are standing opposite Matriarch Farrell, the mother and daughter.

Of course, they hoped Liberty could bring down Matriarch Farrell and Kathryn.

Don't be emotional.

Kathryn's weak and deceptive appearance made it too easy to deceive others.
