

Married At First Sight

Married At First Sight Chapter 3140-Liam said, “Zack, even Tatum, who is underage, is not short of money and can use money to make money. Zack distributes Tatum’s annual red envelope money to his brothers, enabling them to invest and generate profits. Tatum is the youngest; he already has a lot of private money.

Those of them have already entered society, either taking care of the family business or starting their own business. Which one is unsuccessful? They all have a lot of money. Maybe they really look down on the little private property of us two old guys.”

Tania: “Then I will leave it to my grandchildren.”

Just like an old lady.

After her sons got married, the old lady divided her private property once and distributed it to her sons and daughters-in-law. However, except for the daughters-in-law who accepted the jewelry presented by the old lady, none of her sons or daughters-in-law wanted her other private property.

Let her spend as much as she wants and spend whatever she wants.

How much can an elderly person spend?

She has a house full of children and grandchildren, all of whom are filial. She can’t even spend all of the filial piety from her children and grandchildren, so she might as well use it for investment.

An old lady who can teach an outstanding grandson like Zachary has never lost money on her investments, and the result is more and more private property.

The old lady said that all nine grandchildren would be left to her in the future. Except for Zachary, the eldest grandson, who would get a slightly larger share, the other eight grandsons would all have the same amount.

She doesn't care whether her grandchildren want it or not. She made a will anyway. When she dies, the lawyer will act in accordance with her will. She understands that the grandchildren will not dare to refuse Grandma's arrangement.

Serenity had no idea her mother-in-law would be concerned that her younger sister-in-law would eclipse her eldest.

She was busy with her own company.

During this period, she watched a video that her brother-in-law, Tatum, posted and asked a few questions within the group. Knowing that Tatum would only re-examine tomorrow afternoon, she did not ask any more questions.

There was a result; Tatum would tell the family members.

At around three o'clock in the afternoon, Serenity finished her work and said to Elisa, "Elisa, I'm going to pick up Sonny from the kindergarten."

Sonny could be taken home at four o'clock.

She was now going to kindergarten. When she arrived at the kindergarten, it was just after four o'clock, and she could pick up Sonny.

Elisa hummed, "Go ahead and ask the driver to drive slowly. By the way, I will accompany you when you go for a prenatal check-up."

Before Serenity could speak, her secretary responded to Elisa with a smile: "Ms. Stone, Ms. Hunt is going for a prenatal check-up. Mr. York must be accompanying her. Don't compete with Mr. York."

Elisa also laughed. "If I really want to compete with Zachary, Zachary will have to give up his seat to me. However, seeing how he treats Serenity so well, I won't fight with him and keep him with me. Wear Serenity for a prenatal check-up."

Serenity smiled and said, "We have made an appointment, and Zachary has already arranged it. He will accompany me."

Zachary said that the child was shared by their husband and wife. He could not share the pain of giving birth to a child with her, but he would definitely accompany her to her first prenatal check-up.

For Zachary, a busy man, it was very good for him to accompany his wife every time she had a prenatal check-up.

Elisa said enviously, "Serenity, you're so happy. You are a model of happiness for us women. Whether we will be happy or not will be based on you."

The secretary said, "We ordinary people can forget about it."
