

Married At First Sight

Married At First Sight Chapter 3303-Camryn's people may not be from the York family, but if they really touched Camryn's people, Camryn's guess would be confirmed.

Carrie had no ability to deal with the people arranged by Camryn.

Carrie said, "Okay, then you can lure them away and then pick me up."

In desperation, Carrie pretended to have forgotten her wallet, turned around, and walked inside.

She waited for the bodyguard to inform her that she could leave before leaving.

....

Duatemalo Hotel in Province G.

Two cars drove into the parking lot of the Duatemalo Hotel in the night.

Soon after, a group of people took the elevator and went straight to the presidential suite on the top floor. When they reached the top floor, the elevator door opened, and Elora walked out of the elevator, surrounded by bodyguards.

Following her were two female bodyguards.

As they approached the door of the room, the two male bodyguards stopped, and the two female bodyguards followed Elora to the door of the room.

Elora didn't need to open the door. The door was opened from the inside. Tatum stood at the door and said respectfully, "Miss, you are back. I have prepared a midnight snack."

Elora entered the room without closing the door, but the two female bodyguards stayed at the door.

They wouldn't rest until Tatum left. They lived next door to Elora. If Elora needed something, they could arrive in the shortest possible time.

Elora hummed lightly and sat down on the sofa in the hall.

As soon as she arrived in Duatemalo, she went to deal with things first.

She didn't even eat. She only ate a few snacks Tatum brought her.

After getting off the plane, Tatum disapproved of her going to deal with business immediately, saying she had to eat first. But she wanted to eat the food he cooked and needed time to prepare it. She didn't want to waste this time, so she asked Tatum to prepare a midnight snack for her, and she would come back to eat after she was done.

Tatum was just a chef. He knew that he spoke lightly, so he stopped trying to persuade her.

He stayed in the presidential suite of the hotel and prepared a light midnight snack for her using the ingredients he brought.

Even if she didn't eat in the evening, it's late at night, so she shouldn't eat too well and eat something light. And he didn't bring many ingredients, so he could only use them tonight.

Joly would arrange for someone to deliver the ingredients he needed tomorrow. He had just made a list and sent it to Joly.

Breakfast was easy to solve, so Joly didn't have to worry too much.

He just delivered the ingredients he needed at nine o'clock in the morning.

Elora had been staying at the Duatemalo Hotel these days during her business trip.

He, the chef, lived with her two male bodyguards, and the two female bodyguards lived next door to Elora.

When Elora went out, she relied more on two female bodyguards.

Tatum had never tested the skills of her bodyguards, but judging from their words and deeds, he guessed that their skills would not be much worse.

The Ormond family was not short of money, and Elora was a girl. For her safety, she must have spent a lot of money to hire skilled bodyguards.

A glass of warm water was placed in front of Elora.

She looked up and met Tatum's handsome face.

Tatum said, "Miss, please drink a cup of warm water first to warm yourself up."

Elora took the cup of warm water and thanked her politely. She was thirsty, too.

After drinking half a cup of warm water, she asked Tatum, "It's late at night; I don't want to eat something too greasy. The late-night snacks I prepare for you are very light, and the portions are not large. After you're finished, you will only be six to seventy percent full, and it will not affect your rest."

After Elora had a late-night snack, she still had to take a shower and maybe talk to the company's senior management about work matters. By the time she was about to go to bed, it would probably be around one in the morning. She would only eat sixty-seven minutes full, so it wouldn't affect her sleep.

Elora hummed. She got up and washed her hands before turning into the dining hall.

The late-night snacks prepared by Tatum for her were placed on the dining table. They were very light, with several items and not much in quantity. They were only enough for her to eat alone.

Tatum's cooking skills were so good that he could turn even a simple vegetable into flowers.