

Married At First Sight

Married At First Sight Chapter 3356-Duncan said, "Of course, I wish I could be back to normal now so we can get the marriage certificate and hold the wedding."

They would get the marriage certificate first and wouldn't hold the wedding too soon. They would hold the wedding when he could walk like a normal person.

Duncan: "See you this weekend, then."

Liberty: "Okay, see you this weekend."

Duncan reluctantly said, "You go to work first; I will also go to do things; I won't take up your time, but you have to take care of your health. Good health is the most important. You can't make enough money, and the stability of a company can't be achieved in one day. It takes time and effort."

Duncan was afraid that Liberty would be too anxious and tire her out.

Liberty nodded. "I know; I will take care of myself, and so should you. That's it for now; we can talk again in the evening when we're free."

After ending the call, Duncan was reluctant to put down his phone. He looked at it and smiled. In fact, he was thinking that he and Liberty would soon become husband and wife.

They should buy a bigger house in Jensburg so that they can live comfortably.

When Liberty took over the Farrell family, even if Duncan had to move into the Farrell family mansion, he would stay in the small home he had bought for a few days from time to time to spend a few quiet days.

There was a question that Duncan suddenly thought of.

If Liberty really takes over the Farrell family and becomes the next head of the Farrell family, then she will be looking for a son-in-law.

However, there is no defense.

He had already prepared to be a live-in son-in-law.

He also worked for his parents. He thought his parents wouldn't stop him. He had four brothers. Even if he becomes a son-in-law, he still has three older brothers to stay with his parents.

Besides, he was just a son-in-law, not selling himself, so he could still be loyal to his parents. Just like a woman marrying into her husband's home.

A son-in-law who lives with his wife's family swaps roles with the woman who becomes his daughter-in-law.

"Duncan, what are you thinking about that's so funny?" Desmond's voice rang out.

Duncan looked up and saw his eldest brother. He smiled and said, "Brother, when did you come here?"

Desmond said, "I just came back from sending a guest to the airport. I passed by your company and came in to take a look."

Duncan: "A very important guest?"

That person must be an important guest since he needed Desmond to personally send him to the airport.

Desmond Lewis, the eldest son of the Lewis family, had taken over the family business of the Lewis family and was the head of the family.

"Um." Desmond sat down at his desk. He was somewhat similar to Duncan, but he was ten years older than Duncan. He was in his forties, well-maintained, and looked younger than Duncan. He was gentle and elegant.

Duncan was a rough type, and although he took care of himself, perhaps because of his personality and his disfigurement, he didn't take care of himself as well as his older brother, Desmond.

Desmond, dressed in a suit and tie, looked more like a CEO than Duncan.

Even though Desmond's son is in his early twenties, he still charms many girls.

Fortunately, he was able to stay calm and often walked by the river without getting his shoes wet. His wife came from a wealthy family and was well-maintained. He also had a son and a daughter, both of whom were very outstanding, so he didn't have to worry about them. His small family was very happy and harmonious.
