

Married by Accident (English) Chapter 47 - Angry and annoyed

Chapter 47: Angry and annoyed

Arabella, who looked at the bills, thought it was the first living of the siri husband and was considered not a debt, so she accepted Leonard's gift with pleasure. Moreover, yes, it really requires additional fees as money when you are in Bali.

Meanwhile, Leonard, who looked disapprovingly at Arabella when he looked radiant when she saw the money that had just been put in her sling bag, cursed in his heart.

'You materialistic woman! Look at the green in his eyes,' cursed Leonard, who had been staring at Arabella's facial expression that sparkled when she received the money he gave her.

Not wanting to feel even more annoyed when he saw the shining face of his siren wife, Leonard chose to turn his attention to the figure of a woman who was currently busy choosing jewelry behind the glass display case which gave off a beautiful sparkle that dazzled anyone who looked at it.

"You just choose what suits your taste because I will agree with whatever you choose, honey." Showing a smiling face next to Ayumi.

Meanwhile, a few moments ago, Ayumi, who had been looking down to choose various types of couple rings, actually imagined her lover buying her jewelry.

'If my boyfriend chose a ring for me, I would be very happy.'

Ayumi's daydream instantly vanished when she heard the baritone voice of the man on her left. She then returned to acting with a sweet smile at Leonard and showed her his chosen ring by pointing her index finger at the clear glass in front of her.

"I really like that ring because the design is very simple but elegant and not too fancy, so it's very comfortable to wear."

Even though she thought she would wear it for a while, Ayumi wanted to feel comfortable when she put the ring on her ring finger. Hope Leonard agrees with her choice because she really likes the ring with this simple design.

Leonard's reflex followed his index finger and stared at the ring which he thought was very simple. Far from the impression of luxury and glamor. At first he thought that Ayumi liked something full of luxury, but frowned when she saw that the woman chose a simple ring.

Not a diamond-studded ring that has a fantastic price. "You're not wrong? It's very ordinary and not eye-catching. There are many luxurious rings for you to choose from, Ayumi. Why choose a simple ring and maybe too cheap. I want to give you all the best."

Arabella who had been sitting in the waiting chair without intending to see Ayumi's choice. Right now, what she had in mind was that she wanted to get away from the couple who would become husband and wife.

However, her daydream was suddenly shattered when she heard Ayumi's voice calling her. Reflexively she immediately got up and walked over to the woman with white skin.

Just a moment ago, Ayumi was feeling very annoyed that Leonard didn't like her choice. In the end she chose to call Arabella to support her choice.

"I'd like to hear from your female cousin. I'm sure she knows what I mean." Turning to stare at Arabella who was already next to her. "What do you think?"

Ayumi was still pointing her index finger at the jewelery she had chosen. "Isn't that ring very elegant? What do you think?"

Arabella, who is currently looking serious, looks at the display case which displays a lot of jewelry with beautiful sparkles and is able to bewitch women to buy.

"Oh ... that one? Nice, simple and elegant, Ayumi." Arabella looked at the jewelry store clerk to pick up the ring of Ayumi's choice.

Once the ring of Ayumi's choice had been picked up by the shop clerk, Arabella now looked at Leonard and handed over the ring she had received from the shopkeeper.

"Leonard, try to put this ring on Ayumi's finger. It will definitely look very beautiful and luxurious on the curly fingers of your very beautiful wife," said Arabella, who currently looks calm without feeling anything when she saw her sir husband buy a ring to wear at the wedding. later.

'Hope you both live happily and forget about me when I'm gone,' murmured Arabella, now feeling very confident that she would be free from the snares of a Leonard's power. She thought that Leonard would be more busy taking care of Ayumi when she ran away.

If Arabella's face glowed with joy, it was in contrast to Leonard's face, who was currently acting, smiling when he saw the expression on his wife's face. He felt very upset because he saw that Arabella did not mind at all or showed displeasure when he was about to marry another woman.

'Maybe if a woman other than Arabella, would feel very upset and also heartbroken, but instead she looks very happy. Seeing this, made me feel like destroying this woman.'

What could make her sad? I want to see her cry or be heartbroken to see me happy with Ayumi,' Leonard muttered, currently still overcome by feelings of irritation.

Actually he wanted Arabella to feel jealous when he saw her with Ayumi. However, Arabella's flat attitude made her feel very angry and annoyed at the same time.

'Damn it!' Leonard cursed as he was overcome by anger.

To be continued...