

Married by Accident (English) Chapter 49 - Gotta go soon

Chapter 49: Gotta go soon

A while ago, Leonard, who was conversing with Ayumi, discussed the ring that was pinned on each of their fingers. However, for some reason Leonard was very curious about what Arabella was talking about when her back was turned on and looked very serious when she received a call from someone.

Leonard, who currently does not take his eyes off the silhouette of his siren wife, once Ayumi returns to spoil his eyes by seeing the many jewels with beautiful sparkles behind the glass display case.

'Who called Arabella? She looks very serious when talking on the phone. Was it one of her lovers? Gosh, why do I feel so curious? I'd better focus on Ayumi who is currently choosing an anklet.

At first, Leonard wanted to keep his focus on the woman next to him, but he was very curious about who Arabella was talking to. Not wanting to be curious, he gently patted the shoulder of the woman he loved so much.

"I went there first because it seemed like Arabella's parents were on the phone. Let me talk to her parents so they don't worry when her daughter is with my family," said Leonard, who is currently lying to the woman with a beautiful face next to him so as not to feel suspicious.

Meanwhile, Ayumi, who had been looking serious from earlier, looked down at the window to choose a leg chain because she thought it looked very beautiful. However, she felt very confused because of the many beautiful jewelry in front of her eyes.

Reflexively she turned to the figure of the man who was currently staring at her with intense eyes. "Okay, just go. No need to say goodbye to me. You can do whatever you want without having to say anything to me, Leo."

"I'm not the possessive type of woman after all, and I'm too restrictive of a partner like most people do. So just relax and you can do whatever you want."

Then Ayumi now looked back at the glass display case below and focused on choosing jewelry without hearing Leonard's words.

Meanwhile, Leonard felt very strange about what Ayumi had just said, but he didn't want to bother thinking that it was indeed the nature of the woman of Japanese descent. His curiosity for Arabella was so much greater that he rushed off to approach the woman who still looked very serious about receiving phone calls.

Once the place was behind Arabella, when he asked it just happened that the phone call had been turned off and made him even more suspicious that his siren wife was hiding something from him. He immediately asked, but did not get an answer because the woman who was currently turning around to look at him still did not open her voice to answer.

Of course, he felt increasingly curious about what Arabella was currently hiding. "Why are you just keeping quiet? What are you talking to and why did you immediately turn off the phone? Are you planning something behind my back? Don't even think about it because your evil plan will never come true."

Still why is the sharp-looking woman's face still reluctant to open her voice to his question. He really felt very annoyed to see the response from Arabella who actually stepped away from him.

A few moments ago, Arabella who is currently feeling confused to make a decision on an offer from Stevan that sounds very tempting to her. Then suddenly got a question from the power that she had hated so much and made her feel ilfil, so she chose to leave Leonard.

Even though she knew that her serial husband felt very angry because she was ignored. However, she didn't want to bother at all because right now she herself was being bothered by an attractive offer that made her feel very indecisive.

'Let him speak as he pleases. I really feel very dizzy over the offer from Mr. Stevan,' murmured Arabella who currently chose to approach Ayumi, was near the window to avoid the man who she thought was too meddling in personal matters.

Of course she felt that Leonard had no right at all to interfere in her personal affairs because she herself had never prohibited anything from being done by this man.

'Her behavior is already like a woman who interferes too much in other people's personal affairs. It sucks. He should have done the same as me. So, we will break even and don't demand anything from each other to live a quieter life,' Arabella muttered, who was currently smiling at Ayumi.

"Is there any other jewelry you want, Ayumi? Aaah... I suddenly have some important business. Is it okay if I go? You can be with my cousin. It would be much more fun if you two just went there annoying and...."

Arabella didn't continue her words as she brought her face closer to whisper in the white skinned woman's earlobe. "You can be alone and making out without anyone bothering you. You wouldn't even feel embarrassed if I was among you."

She stepped back and winked at Ayumi, hoping that she would grant her wish. Especially now that she is confused because she is confused about making decisions, the intention is to just take a walk to relieve stress in her mind.

Between going or staying and accepting an offer from her husband's half-brother which is likely to make her have a pretty decent income, as well as an uphill career.

However, she immediately flinched when she heard Leonard's words, sounding like someone who was being overcome with reflexes made her turn her head towards the figure of the man with a firm jaw on her left.

A few moments ago Leonard felt very angry because Arabella didn't respond who looked very indifferent to him. As soon as he heard the woman's desire to run away, the first thing that came to mind was that she had a lover behind her.

"Didn't Ayumi just say this asking for your opinion when wearing a wedding dress because you don't like my opinion? So, it's better if you stick to the boutique and don't go anywhere. Next time you can go meet your friends, but not today because it's a good time. It's important for my future wife who is also your brother," Leonard sarcastically told Arabella not to run away to meet someone who he knew was his wife's mistress.

Leonard dared to look at Ayumi and pretended to smile and ask for an opinion. "Isn't what I'm saying right now, honey?"

Unlike Ayumi, who feels bad about the debate between them. She looked at Arabella and then at Leonard.

"Why are you guys arguing like this? I feel guilty for making two brothers fight. You can leave if you have important business, Arabella. I won't push and understand because you have other business with your friend. Have fun, Arabella."

Feeling the green light from Ayumi, Arabella immediately hugged the woman in front of her and smiled with a sparkling face.

"Looks like we can become brothers after you marry my cousin. Thank you for understanding. I really have important business and I have to go soon. Have fun for you too," said Arabella who now let go of her arms and walked away from the lovers the.

To be continued...