

Chapter 7

6months later.

Emma's POV

"Shhh. There there Abrielle no crying." I say rocking her in my arms.

"Emma? Do you need help? She has been crying all night." August says.

"I just dont get it. Killian says when she stays with him she sleeps all night long." I say.

"Maybe she wants her Daddy." He says.

"You know what Im just gonna call him." I say.

When I called him he came over to the house and I handed Abrielle to him. She was still crying and I felt as if I was gonna lose it. She hasnt been this bad since she was first born.

"Love I think I figured out whats wrong with her." Killian says.

"Really what is it?" I ask.

"Well I felt her forehead and she feels warm." He says.

I placed my hand on her head and she was warm.

"Oh what do we do?" I ask.

"You take her and I will call the doctor." He says and handed her to me.

Killian's POV

1year later

"So here is all her stu and I will be back in a few days." Emma says.

"Love I have been taking care her for awhile when you leave her with me we will be okay." I say to her.

"Are you sure the longest I have been away from her is only the two days you have her a week." She says.

"Emma thats why you need a week away. Now you have to go because you told the girls you would go. I know Mary-Margaret and if you change your mind she will hunt you down and make you go. So either way your going." I say.

"Yeah I guess." She says.

She kissed Abrielle's head and walked out the door. I picked up Abrielle and we looked out the window and when Abrielle saw Emma she waved goodbye to her mommy. Its been awhile since I thought there were feelings for Emma. Im not sure if there is, but all I know is that I think there is something there and I just dont know what it is just quite yet.
