

Marry Ex's Uncle After Divorcement

Chapter 101-150

Chapter 101

Mrs. Calsis glanced at Cristina. When Cristina heard Ben's words, she gently touched his head, fearing that he had said something wrong. Then she said, "Ben, we will go back after eating, OK?"

Ben pressed his lips and was unhappy. Mrs. Calsis said, "Ben, don't you like grandma? Grandma won't take you away!"

Grandma just wants to have dinner with you. Don't think too much. Well. Look, there is so much delicious food." Mrs. Calsis refilled food for Ben and Leonard as she said. The two children were quite defensive fearing that she would take them away. Thought of here, Mrs. Calsis was very helpless. Cristina breathed a sigh of relief when she found Mrs. Calsis had given up convincing her. If Ben did not mention this, she didn't know how to explain it.

When they walked into the private room, Theresa came over. She had been waiting outside the restaurant. She sat in an inconspicuous seat, ordered something, and waited for them here. For some reason, she felt terrible when her sons stayed with Calsis's Residence. It happened that they took a long time to have dinner together. After six o'clock, Theresa's cell phone rang. She looked at it and found it was Charlie's call. She answered quickly. "Hello." "Where are you?" Charlie's voice sounded on the phone. Hearing this, Theresa frowned. Then she said, "I'm outside." "Where are you? Come back!" Now, this woman was so brave. He said that he would come to find her at night. Oh. She simply ran out and refused to see him. "I have something to do now and can't come back." "Come back soon!" Charlie said, "Or I will deduct your salary." "You can do it at will." "It seemed that you want to ask Jonathan to find your dad, right?"

Theresa was furious when she heard Charlie's aggressive words. But Theresa still said, "Why don't you go back first? I will go to your house to find you..."

Charlie hung up directly before Theresa finished her words. Theresa sat in the restaurant for a while. Then she came out of the restaurant for fear that he would wait too long. Charlie didn't wait in the lobby this time. He went upstairs and stood in front of her house. It looked a little funny when a nobleman stood in her small corridor. Charlie sat in a wheelchair and looked at her. Then he said with anger. "You are the first one who dares to let me wait for so long." Theresa looked at him. Then she remembered that she had packed everything well in her house. If Charlie came in with him now, he would find what she wanted to do. So Theresa had to find a way to take him away. Theresa said to Charlie, "Have you eaten yet?" "No." He came here immediately when he finished his work. Charlie was a little unhappy with Theresa's question. He looked at her and didn't know how dared she to ask this question.

She kept him waiting here for so long! Theresa said, "Let's go out for dinner!"

Anyway, she should take him away first. Charlie said, "I want to eat at your house." "I don't want to cook!" Theresa was in a bad mood now, and she did not want to cook. The point was that she could not let this man come to her house. Charlie looked at her and stood still. He just stared at Theresa, trying to find the true thinking of Theresa. Jonathan stood behind Charlie and had no intention of persuading him. It was embarrassing! Theresa looked at him and did not know what to do. Then she coughed and smiled at Charlie in a hurry. She said in a coaxing tone. "Dear, I want to eat hot pot. Will you accompany me?" Jonathan,

Chapter 102

Chapter 102

Mrs. Calsis glanced at Cristina. When Cristina heard Ben's words, she gently touched his head, fearing that he had said something wrong. Then she said, "Ben, we will go back after eating, OK?"

Ben pressed his lips and was unhappy. Mrs. Calsis said, "Ben, don't you like grandma? Grandma won't take you away!

Grandma just wants to have dinner with you. Don't think too much. Well. Look, there is so much delicious food." Mrs. Calsis refilled food for Ben and Leonard as she said. The two children were quite defensive fearing that she would take them away. Thought of here, Mrs. Calsis was very helpless. Cristina breathed a sigh of relief when she found Mrs. Calsis had given up convincing her. If Ben did not mention this, she didn't know how to explain it.

When they walked into the private room, Theresa came over. She had been waiting outside the restaurant. She sat in an inconspicuous seat, ordered something, and waited for them here. For some reason, she felt terrible when her sons stayed with Calsis's Residence. It happened that they took a long time to have dinner together. After six o'clock, Theresa's cell phone rang. She looked at it and found it was Charlie's call. She answered quickly. "Hello." "Where are you?" Charlie's voice sounded on the phone. Hearing this, Theresa frowned. Then she said, "I'm outside." "Where are you? Come back!" Now, this woman was so brave. He said that he would come to find her at night.

Oh. She simply ran out and refused to see him. "I have something to do now and can't come back." "Come back soon!" Charlie said, "Or I will deduct your salary." "You can do it at will." "It seemed that you want to ask Jonathan to find your dad, right?"

Theresa was furious when she heard Charlie's aggressive words. But Theresa still said, "Why don't you go back first? I will go to your house to find you..."

Charlie hung up directly before Theresa finished her words. Theresa sat in the restaurant for a while. Then she came out of the restaurant for fear that he would wait too long. Charlie didn't wait in the lobby this time. He went upstairs and stood in front of her house. It looked a little funny when a nobleman stood in her small corridor. Charlie sat in a wheelchair and looked at her. Then he said with anger. "You are the first one who dares to let me wait for so long." Theresa looked at him. Then she remembered that she had packed everything well in her house. If Charlie came in with him now, he would find what she wanted to do. So Theresa had to find a way to take him away. Theresa said to Charlie, "Have you eaten yet?" "No." He came here immediately when he finished his work. Charlie was a little unhappy with Theresa's question. He looked at her and didn't know how dared she to ask this question.

She kept him waiting here for so long! Theresa said, "Let's go out for dinner!"

Anyway, she should take him away first. Charlie said, "I want to eat at your house." "I don't want to cook!" Theresa was in a bad mood now, and she did not want to cook. The point was that she could not let this man come to her house. Charlie looked at her and stood still. He just stared at Theresa, trying to find the true thinking of Theresa. Jonathan stood behind Charlie and had no intention of persuading him. It was embarrassing! Theresa looked at him and did not know what to do. Then she coughed and smiled at Charlie in a hurry. She said in a coaxing tone. "Dear, I want to eat hot pot. Will you accompany me?" Jonathan,

Chapter 103

Chapter 103 Theresa asked her to deal with this. If she could not do it well, Theresa would kill her later!

After dinner, Cristina was very anxious and said to Mrs. Calsis, "I will go back today." She should take the children back soon, and her boss was still waiting for her to send the material. She found one excuse after another to postpone it in front of her boss, and it was so terrible.

Rose called the waiter and got the bill. Then they walked out together. Ben followed Cristina. "I want to go to the bathroom." "OK, I'll take you there." Cristina said to Mrs. Calsis and Rose, "Mrs. Calsis, Ms. Nandlall, you can go home first! I can take the children home." Mrs. Calsis said, "I also want to go to the bathroom, and let's go together." She was willing to stay with two children. When she returned home, she could not see these two little guys. Rose also followed them.

They came to the bathroom...

Leonard and Ben went to the gents by themselves.

Cristina was waiting for them outside. Seeing that the two children were so dependent, Rose asked, "Can they do it by themselves?" "Yes." Cristina said, "Don't worry, they can do anything." When she was in primary school, she couldn't do housework. But these two children even could do housework at home. But Theresa wouldn't want them to do it. In Cristina's eyes, Leonard and Ben were omnipotent. Rose said "How nice it is! I also want to have a child now." Rose thought it was a distant thing to have children. When she had her children, she needed to take care of them, which would waste a lot of her energy. But when she looked at Leonard and Ben, she suddenly felt that it was good to have a baby!

Mrs. Calsis went to the bathroom. Cristina and Rose were talking about the children outside. After chatting for a while, a man walked out from the gents. "Cristina!" "Cristina!"

The middle-aged man with glasses called out Cristina's name directly. Cristina was shocked when she saw that man. "Mr. Hudson!" "I am looking for you! Where are you hiding? Where is the information I wanted? Come here quickly!" Just now, Mr. Hudson was sending her messages and asking her to send the material.

Cristina never expected to meet her leader here. Mr. Hudson always made trouble with her when she was in the company. Cristina said, "Wait...wait a minute, I have something to do now." "What's the matter? What do you want to do? Do you know how important tonight is? You are later, and you even refuse to answer my call!" Mr. Hudson pulled Cristina straight away as he said. Cristina, "... Fuck... Seeing that Cristina was in a hurry, Rose said behind her. "Ms. Lagarde, You can do your thing, and I will take care of the children." Although Cristina was reluctant, she was dragged away by Mr. Hudson.

III

When Leonard and Ben came out, they saw Mrs. Calsis and Rose. But Rose was not there. Ben asked, "Where's Cristina?" Ben always called the name of the adults. Mrs. Calsis and Rose were not surprised about this.

Rose said, "She has something to do with her work, so she has to go to work first. Leonard, Ben, shall we wait outside first?" "No." Ben said, "She could not find us if we left here." Rose said, "I know where is your house, and we can call your Mom later."

Chapter 104

Chapter 104

Leticia took a look at Rose and sighed, "How can I rest assured to leave the kids with her like this?"

"Why don't you go back and talk to Uncle Charlie, ask him to divorce quickly and marry Cristina, then take the children home? Cristina won't allow them to go back if he doesn't marry her." Rose said. At the thought of Theresa and Charlie being separated and Cristina being her aunt, she was in a particularly good mood.

"Well, I'll go back and ask him," Leticia replied.

Theresa and Charlie were still having dinner. She was worried about the children, so she seemed to be absent-minded. Charlie took the chopsticks and put the just-cooked food into her bowl. "Why do you eat such a little when you said you want to eat hot pot?"

"I'm on a diet."

Charlie smiled, "Do you have something on your mind?" He had spent the whole day with her, but hadn't seen her smile. Although she didn't mention it, he knew she still care about Cristina.

Theresa lowered her head and drank the plum juice in the glass. "No."

Charlie put down his chopsticks. He looked into Theresa's eyes. "In fact, I'm a very impatient person." "Oh: "But I've been with you all day. Mrs. Cameron, shouldn't you be kind to me?"

Theresa had been thinking about the children all day. She hadn't slept well last night. At this moment, listening to Charlie's tongue-in-cheek words, she realized that he was coaxing her. No wonder he, who was usually so cool, had deigned to come to her house twice, and waited downstairs for so long. She knew that he was not that hard to talk to. From the beginning of the meeting, if she was the only one who dared to ask him, he could completely ignore her. But he kept giving her a chance. She watched him, and her eyes never moved away from him.

She hadn't looked at him today. Now her eyes suddenly focused on him, which made Charlie a little unaccustomed. He picked up the paper towel, swabbed his hands and said, "finally you're willing to look at me?"

His voice was proud and joyful. It was probably because there had been too many people to please him, but few women he had needed to coax. Therefore, coaxing her seemed to be a kind of entertainment for him. Seeing that she was finally willing to respond to him, he felt filled with a sense of achievement. "You are THE Mr. Calsis. Who dares not look you in the eye?"

wa

"But you've been showing your temper today."

Then why aren't you angry?" Theresa was too concerned about the children to consider the issue. On reflection, in his capacity, he could completely ignore her if she dared to treat him like this. But now, he was here to have dinner with her. Charlie looked at her with his freshly wiped fingers pinching her chin. "It's also interesting to see you angry. 'Are you a weirdo?' Theresa thought. However, she did not dare to say it directly. So she said, "Hurry up and have dinner. Then I'll do the acupuncture for this evening. I still have something to do tonight."

What do you have to do?"

"Dating other boys." She didn't bother to explain the children to him.

"Dare you try it? How dared his woman find other men?"

After dinner, Theresa followed Charlie out of the restaurant and checked her mobile phone. She didn't see messages from Cristina. So she sent Cristina one. (Have you done?]

Chapter 105

Chapter 105

Cristina was busy being bossed around by several leaders of her company at the moment. And she couldn't leave. After receiving Theresa's message, she just remembered that the two children were with Leticia. She replied, (Tess, something happened to me on the way. The kids are with Leticia and Rose.)

The light from the roadside shone on Theresa's face. Charlie had already got into the car, and saw across the door that her eyes suddenly darkened.

Cristina's news was undoubtedly a heavy blow to Theresa. All day long she had been on her nerves, worried about what might happen to her kids. It turned out they were really taken away.

She got into Charlie's car, sat beside him and said, "Let's go back!" Leticia must have taken the children to the Calsis's Residence. So she wanted to go back there.

"Why? What's the matter?" Charlie watched her anxious look. "Is something wrong with the children?"

Theresa usually cared most about the children. Hearing him talk about them, she cast an inquiring glance at him. Charlie explained, "If it's about the children, shall I send you there directly? Anyway, the children mattered. For a woman, it was not easy to take care of the children. Acupuncture could be postponed until tomorrow.

Theresa shook her head. "No, nothing!"

"Are you sure?*" Charlie was full of doubts about her words. He couldn't read it wrong just now.

"Yeah!" Theresa answered. She couldn't tell him that her children were his, and his mother had taken them home.

Charlie looked at her in disbelief. Seeing that she insisting, he said to the driver, "Go home."

Brenda was standing at the door when she saw Theresa get off Charlie's car. She greeted, "Mrs. Cameron."

"Is Mrs. Cameron back?" Theresa asked.

"No," Brenda answered.

"No?" The news surprised Theresa.

Charlie got out of the car. Seeing she cared about his mother, he asked, "Why are you looking for my mother?"

"No, nothing!" Theresa was weird. But Charlie did not want to expose her. They went upstairs to do acupuncture. Theresa's slender fingers held a needle. Charlie was worried about his legs as she seemed to be thinking something. "Dr. Cameron, are you trying to cripple me because you don't like me?" Theresa looked at him, "Why did you say that?" "Look at you, what are you thinking?" Charlie said, "It's rare to see you so lost. If you have something to do, you can deal with it first. Don't be distracted." Never had he seen her so distracted even if it was for Jimmy Watson. But now, Charlie had no doubt that she could kill him.

When Theresa heard his words, she concentrated her attention and said, "I see."

"Good. If you hurt me, you know the consequences." She pressed her lips together, and kept her attention on the needle. After the acupuncture, Theresa also breathed a sigh of relief. She had always been confident about her concentration. But today, she felt tired for the first time.

Just then, Jonathan knocked at the door and came in. "Mr. Calsis."

"What's the matter?"

"Mrs. Cameron and Miss Watson are back."

Chapter 106

Chapter 106

Theresa, who was packing her things, was shocked when she heard this. "I see. There's no need to make such a fuss!" Charlie said calmly. Jonathan smiled, "They brought the two young masters back. Would you like to have a look?" Charlie sat there and looked at Theresa first. Her face was extremely stiff. How could she not be stiff? Waiting for such a long time, she had known Leticia would bring the children back. Seeing Theresa's unhappy look, Charlie did not want her to think too much after they finally had had a dinner and she was willing to respond to him. So he replied, "No." Theresa turned to Charlie. "Don't you go and have a look?" "Isn't it certain that they are his children? He doesn't even want to see them!"

"It's not that I can't see them any time. I have something to do with you." Theresa felt puzzled. "What?" Wasn't acupuncture over? He didn't want to see the kids, but she wanted. "Wait and you will see." "Charlie, you really don't want to see the children? Why don't you go and see them?" Charlie didn't believe Theresa would be so kind. She didn't like children, but she asked him to see them. He knew that women liked to talk ironically. He said, with a cold face. "Don't test me. I said I didn't want to, so I won't." Theresa was speechless. How could it become a test for him? She sincerely wanted him to see the children, so she could take the opportunity to see Leonard and Ben. Jonathan looked at Charlie's firm face and said, "I'll tell Mrs. Cameron." Then he went out. "Don't you want to see your own children?" Theresa asked. After all, he was the father of the children. Charlie wondered, "Shouldn't you be happy that I don't go to see them?" 'Happy? How can I be happy?' Theresa felt extremely speechless. Jonathan had arrived downstairs. Leticia and Rose were in the living room. Brenda prepared some fresh fruits for Leonard and Ben.

Leticia sighed, "Cristina doesn't even care about the children once she gets busy. No matter how important the work is, she can't leave the children alone! Fortunately, we are here today. If it's any other day..." When Brenda heard Leticia scolding her niece, her mouth twitched. She certainly knew that the children were not Cristina's. Cristina had not married yet, how did she have children? But now, she didn't know why Cristina cheated the Calsises. Brenda's eyes fell on the two children. They were Theresa's kids. They were really like Charlie. She had only heard of them before and had never seen them. Seeing Jonathan come down from upstairs, Leticia asked, "Where is Charlie?"

"He is upstairs. "The acupuncture is not over yet?" Leticia asked, "Didn't they come back long ago? Ask him to come down to see the kids." It was not easy for them to bring the children back because Cristina was busy today. Originally, Leticia didn't want to bring the children back. She and Rose also had waited for Cristina for a long time. However, Cristina had been never finished. It had been too late so they brought them back. If Cristina came to take them away, she would send them back. Or, she would send them directly to school tomorrow.

Jonathan replied, "Master Calsis has something to do."

Chapter 107

Chapter 107

"What is more important than the children?" Leticia was so angry. There was nothing she could do with him. Charlie was really not interested in his own children.

Rose sat aside and asked, "Is Aunt Theresa here?" "Yes." Jonathan nodded. "Didn't Uncle Charlie go to see Cristina early this morning? How could he not worry about the children? Theresa is here now, it must be she who won't let Uncle Charlie down!"

Ben was sitting there and heard Rose's words. 'Theresa? Mom? However, this elder sister is so annoying that she speaks ill of my mom! Although he didn't quite understand what Rose meant, he could also feel that her tone was not friendly. Rose took a fork and handed a piece of cantaloupe to Ben, "Ben, come..." "No more." Ben got down from the sofa and picked up his schoolbag. "I'm going to find my mom." When Leonard heard what he said, he also stood up. Looking at the two little ones, Leticia said, "Didn't we agree to wait for your mother to pick you up? She's still working and hasn't come back. There's no one at home now. How about staying with grandma tonight? Isn't grandma's home good? You liked it when you just came back." When coming in, Ben said, "Grandma, your house is so big." Leticia thought he was very cute. He might not know that everything in the Calsises would belong to them in the future. But he said he would leave when he just came in and was having the fruits. This hurt Leticia's heart. "I want my mother," Ben answered. Although it was big and nice, like a castle here, he was not at ease when he couldn't see mom. Rose coaxed, "Dear baby. I will take you to see your mother after you eat something." "No, I want my mom now!" Ben avoided Rose and didn't let her touch him at all.

Theresa followed Charlie out of his room. Instead of going to the living room, they went outside. She looked at the man with some puzzlement, "What on earth do you ask me to do?" Charlie looked at her and said, "I have something to show you."

"What is it?" She was confused.

"Wait.

The garden in the backyard of Calsis's Residence was very large. At night, the grass was wide. Such a backyard was even bigger than the garden in her community. It was absolutely extravagant. Theresa was worried about the children and often looked inside. After a while, she heard a child crying, 'It's Ben. What's wrong with him?'

Chapter 108

Chapter 108

Theresa frowned. Seeing Charlie sitting there, she made an excuse. "I'll go to the bathroom first."

Charlie nodded, "Go ahead." Theresa came back from the backyard and just met Brenda. She asked Brenda, "What happened? Why do I hear someone crying? Brenda saw Theresa and lowered her voice. "Are Leonard and Ben your children? Brenda was one of her own. Theresa nodded and said, "Now others don't know about this. Don't tell them."

"I know, but now they all think that Cristina is their mother. I also feel strange."

"We'll talk about this later. What's going on inside?*

"Ben is looking for you. Mrs. Cameron and Miss Watson couldn't manage to coax him. Why don't you go and see them?"

Stunned for a moment, Theresa walked toward the living room. But she saw Rose come out before she entered Rose looked at Theresa who appeared here and said, 'Aunt Theresa."

"I heard a child crying. What's the matter?" "Oh." Rose took the opportunity to show off, "It's Uncle Charlie's two children. We brought them back. They have been crying. It's nothing to do with you. It's so late, should you go back? Your children must be waiting for you at home."

Because Theresa had to take care of her children, she usually didn't live in the Calsis's Residence. It was the first time that Rose had seen that two married people didn't live together. But it was also true that a woman like her, did not deserve Uncle Charlie. They were just playing in front of her great-grandfather. So Rose didn't worry at all that Theresa would cause any trouble in the Calsises.

"I heard a child crying all the time. I want to have a look," replied Theresa.

When she heard that Theresa wanted to see the children, Rose stopped her. "It's not necessary. We can coax the children, and they have their own mother. Auntie, you don't like them. Who knows whether you will hurt them if you see them?"

"I wouldn't do such a boring thing." Theresa explained. How would she hurt her own children?

"That's not sure. When they didn't come back, you stirred up discord with Uncle Charlie. Now, the two children have returned, you also prevented Uncle Charlie from seeing them. Now you suddenly say you want to see them. Who knows what you have in mind?"

Theresa could feel that Rose only despised her now. She looked at Rose and thought she was very ridiculous. She said, "The children are so young, it's better to stay with their mother. What are you going to do after you bring them back? She wanted to know what they were thinking when they brought the children back today."

Rose raised her eyebrows, "Was Theresa worried about her position to ask this question?" She said, "They are uncle's children, and they will come back sooner or later. Naturally, it is necessary to bring them back to familiarize themselves with the environment. After Uncle divorces you, he will marry their mother. The children are so young, naturally they need to grow up in a healthy environment." "What if Charlie doesn't like their mother?"

Uncle Charlie even liked a woman like you. Of course, he will like Cristina. Cristina is much better than you. She is still speaking for you today. The two children are so good, only a mother like her can teach such lovely children. Not like yours, only know how to hit others." Last time Rose had seen Theresa's two children in the restaurant, but they had been both wearing hats and masks, so she hadn't seen them clearly. But her impression of the two children had been extremely bad. In her opinion, Theresa's children couldn't compare with Uncle Charlie's.

Theresa listened to Rose scolding and praising Leonard and Ben, and she smiled. She did not know how Rose would react if she knew that her favorite children and the most hated children were actually all Leonard and Ben. She just said, "What if your uncle doesn't marry Cristina? Don't forget that his wife is me now."

Chapter 109

Chapter 109

Although they were only married by agreement, she was nominally Charlie's wife.

Rose rolled her eyes, "Don't worry. Even if Cristina doesn't marry Uncle Charlie, the children won't be with you. Who knows whether you will hurt them. I wouldn't trust a person like you with them." Theresa was about to say something, just then Jonathan came. "Ma'am." It seemed that Charlie was urging her, Theresa frowned, listened to the crying inside, and tried to open the door. Seeing she not give up, Rose said, "I won't let you see the children. Go quickly! Don't have bad ideas. I won't let you hurt Uncle Charlie's children!"

Her indignation looked hilarious. Theresa did not know what to say but had to follow Jonathan back to Charlie first. As she had just left, the door of the living room opened and Ben came out. He seemed to have heard mom's voice just now. Rose stood at the door and saw Ben was here. She squatted down and said to him, "Ben, why are you out? Go in! I will call your mother right away. Don't cry, dear. Look at you, eyes are crying red. Although she didn't like Theresa, Rose was really good-tempered with the two boys.

Ben saw there was only Rose here. He went back to the living room again.

Rose made a phone call to Cristina. And she was still busy at the moment. She saw it was from Rose and walked aside to answer. "Hi, Miss Watson "Hi, Cristina, haven't you finished yet?" Cristina also felt helpless. She only got weekends off and often worked late at night. Especially if the leader didn't leave, she absolutely couldn't leave. "How about Leonard and Ben? Theresa must want to kill her now. It was just that she couldn't walk away that she really couldn't help Theresa. "If you're really busy, do your work then. We're going to keep the children here for one night. What do you think?" Rose suggested "No, I'll come and get them later." Cristina didn't care, but she knew Theresa wouldn't agree, so she didn't dare to agree. "OK, we'll wait for you." After hanging up Cristina's phone, Rose returned to the living room. The children stopped crying now. They stood by the window together and watched the fireworks outside. Fireworks were prohibited in the urban area. Except for large-scale activities, they were rarely seen. The two kids only had seen them on TV since they were born. They didn't expect to see them with their own eyes today. "What's the matter?" Asked Rose. She heard the crackling explosions outside. Watching the happy children, she walked Leticia. "I don't know." Leticia turned to Leonard and Ben, "Leonard, Ben, let's go outside to see them, OK?" The two little ones had cried sadly, but they were coaxed by fireworks. They were really kids. Ben nodded when Leticia said they could go out. Then Leticia and Rose took them outside.

LE

On the grass in the backyard, Theresa stood beside Charlie and watched the fireworks. It had been burned for several minutes and then stopped. She asked, "What is this?"

"Do you like it?" Replied Charlie.

When Theresa heard this, her mouth twitched, "You just asked me to come here to show me this?"

Chapter 110

Chapter 110

"I heard that girls like these." Theresa was shocked when she heard what he said. She was the mother of two children, but he said she was a girl! How ridiculous! However, she was more surprised than ridiculous. She looked at Charlie, "You didn't make it for me, did you?"

"It's a piece of cake if you like it. As my woman, I don't want to see you unhappy!" Theresa stared at the man in the wheelchair, a little dumbfounded. She had just been thinking about Leonard and Ben. Now, seeing everything that the man had prepared for her, she was flattered. Her life had been all about her kids since she became a mother. She had never loved herself, nor spoiled herself. She felt that she had grown up. But in front of him, at this moment, she seemed to have changed back to the child who had been spoiled. Theresa looked down at the shadow at her feet.

Charlie reached over and said, "Theresa." She looked at him, his long and clean fingers stretched out in front of her. Seeing that she was unmoved and so confused, Charlie moved his wheelchair and held her hand. His palm was hot. Theresa wondered, "We are just a fake marriage. Why are you doing this?"

So what? Life is always real. You can't return every minute or second you spend. Don't always keep a stiff face, okay?"

Theresa looked at Charlie and smiled. She looked up at the sky. The fireworks that had just stopped were rekindled. She forgot how long it had been since she had stopped to feel every moment of her life. She had liked to fantasize and dream, but the old self had been buried in the failed marriage by Jimmy in the past. Charlie stayed with Theresa for a while, and Jonathan came over and bowed his head. "Master Charlie, you are wanted on the phone." Then Charlie went back to his room with Jonathan. The fireworks soon ended. Theresa was about to go back to think about the children when she saw them coming. They had been in the front yard, and now were in the back yard. At the sight of Theresa, they ran over like crazy. They had known Theresa was there, but they didn't expect to finally see her now. How could they not be excited?

As soon as Leonard ran over, he gave Theresa a hug just like every time she came home. He had been thinking about his mother all day, and now he finally saw her. Naturally, he was very happy. At the moment when Leonard hugged her, Theresa felt her heart that had been holding for a whole day was finally relieved. Leonard held her and whispered, "Mom, I miss you." Theresa had been worried all day. Her tears almost fell when she was held by the child. She squatted down and looked at Leonard and Ben. "Did you two just cry?" They cried for a long time, which kept her distracted.

They don't allow me to see you, mom, do you not want us?" Ben asked. "What silly words. Why doesn't mom want you?"

Then shall we go home?"

Chapter 111

Chapter 111

"Don't you like it here? It's so big. Don't you want to see dad? Theresa comforted the two little ones and suddenly thought that they had never seen their father. If they saw him now, they would be happy. She wanted to go with the kids. But she suddenly wanted them to see Charlie before they left.

"I don't like here. This elder sister is always speaking ill of you. I'm not happy." Ben answered angrily. Theresa smiled, and kissed Ben on the face. "Dear, mom can't take you now. When Cristina comes back, she will come to pick you up." Although she wanted to take them home now, she really had no position. In the eyes of Leticia and Rose. Cristina was the mother of the kids. If she took them away, they were gonna get it back. Maybe they would think she was going to kidnap the children or something. Although they were her children, and it was nothing, her relationship with Leonard and Ben would not be hidden then. And everything she had been hiding these days would be meaningless. "Why?" Ben didn't understand,

"Just trust mom, okay?"

Both the kids looked at Theresa and asked, "So are you leaving?"

"No, mom is right here with you." Cristina was still busy at the moment. She sent a message saying that she had to wait there. Before she came, Theresa planned to wait here and accompany the kids. They would also feel safe with her. Hearing that Theresa would stay with them here, the two children were immediately happy. They didn't want to go home as before.

"Leonard. Before Theresa spoke much to the two children, Rose's voice came. Theresa looked over and saw Leticia and Rose walk from the front yard. The front yard and backyard of the Calsis's Residence were connected, but there was a detour. The kids ran about, and the adults walked slowly. Now, seeing Theresa with the kids, Rose was full of defense. She hurried over and pulled Leonard and Ben away from Theresa. Rose checked the children first, and then her vigilant eyes fell on Theresa. "Just a while, and you have had an idea about the kids. You're also a mother. Don't do such an excessive thing!"

Theresa didn't know what Rose had seen to make Rose decide she had an idea about the children. But Rose had been influenced by Jimmy and now thought of her as a witch, a thoroughly bad woman.

Ben heard Rose talking, and immediately ran away from Rose. He didn't want to be involved with Rose. If Theresa hadn't winked at him, he might have stood in front of Rose and said, "Don't bully my mom. Theresa explained, "I didn't bully them. We just had a few words. If you don't believe me, ask them..." Rose turned to the children then, "Isn't she bullying you?"

"No."

"Do you believe it now? Theresa asked. Rose retorted, "It's because we came early. I don't know what you would have done if we come late." Leticia came over and saw Theresa alone here and asked, "Where's Charlie?" "He went to answer the phone."

Chapter 112

Chapter 112

Leticia took a look at the two children, but did not blame Theresa as Rose did. She just said, "Let's go back. The fireworks are over

Leonard and Ben looked at Theresa with big eyes and wait for her instructions. The children listened to Theresa very much.

If she didn't let them go out to play, neither of them would go.

Theresa was afraid that she would show her true feelings when she was with the children. She reached out calmly and rubbed Ben's head. "Go ahead." Hearing Theresa's words, Ben held Leonard's hand and followed Leticia and Rose into the house together. When they walked through the door, Leonard turned around and gave Theresa a wistful look-Just now, his mommy had touched Ben's head, but had not his.

Seeing that the children had left, Theresa sighed and followed them in. But she knew that Rose didn't like to see her, she didn't bother to embarrass herself, lest Rose talked in front of the children again. She went upstairs and Robert happened to be there at this time, so she went to look after Robert.

After playing chess with Robert for a while, Rose came up and saw Theresa here. She paused a few seconds before turning her eyes to Robert, "Great-grandpa." Robert looked at the little girl and asked, "Who is this?" Rose's mouth twitched, and she was very depressed. Every time Robert met her, she had to introduce herself, but Theresa didn't have to

Theresa mercifully introduced, "This is Rose. Why is grandpa so confused?" "Oh." Whether he remembered Rose or not, he asked her, "What's the matter?" Rose wouldn't argue with Theresa. She knew that Theresa was now very favored by Robert. In the name of Sarah, she successfully occupied a place in the family and even tricked Uncle Charlie into marrying her. However, after Robert saw Leonard and Ben, he would not think so. Rose asked, "Would you like to see Uncle Charlie's children?"

"His children?" Robert watched her suspiciously.

Rose smiled, walked out of the door and called Leonard and Ben in. She just took the children to see Robert on the pretext of Visiting their house. After all, as long as Robert saw the children and was not so obsessed with the marriage, he would have no interest in Theresa. At that time, Theresa and Charlie's divorce would be a matter of minutes.

In fact, the two boys were not interested in Robert, but when they saw Theresa here, their eyes brightened. Mom was here! Leonard had just been depressed. He didn't get rubbed by Theresa. Now, seeing her here, he felt much better. He walked - over to Theresa, but stopped timidly when she looked at him. Remembering Theresa said that they could not call her mom in front of Rose, he could only bear it Rose was delighted to see the two children close to their great-grandpa. She had been afraid that they would not be willing

As a result, they were very sensible. She introduced to Robert, "Look, great grandpa, who do they look like?"

Robert's eyes had already been attracted by the faces of the two little ones. What he had always cared about most was when Charlie got married and had children. Now, when he saw these two miniature versions of Charlie, his eyes lit up. "They are Charlie's children!" God, Charlie's children had grown so tall!

Rose said proudly, "Yes, they are Uncle Charlie's children. Have you never thought that Uncle Charlie has such two children? They are very good."

Chapter 113

Chapter 113

Then she told the kids, "Leonard and Ben, this is our great grandfather." Ben also felt very friendly when he saw Robert, "Hello, great grandfather." Leonard looked at Theresa's face and also greeted him. Ignoring his favorite chess game, Robert took the two children aside and said kindly. "Good boys, come here and let me have a look. It's great. Charlie finally has children!"

Theresa sat there, comforted by Robert's fondness for the children. From the moment they were born, the two children seemed to be unwelcome and hated by others. But now, in the Calsises, someone liked them so much.

Rose stood by and watched Robert like the children so much that her eyes fell on Theresa. Theresa had thought she was a favorite. Now she would show her what she was in this family. She couldn't even compare one of the kids' fingers,

Robert had been very satisfied with seeing the children on the sofa and waved excitedly to Theresa. "Come here, Sarah."

Theresa approached the sofa, sat down next to Robert, and looked at him and her two children, she said. "Grandpa." Robert kindly patted her hand, "Thank you for giving birth to two excellent children for Charlie." Theresa was almost stupefied when she heard what Robert said. She disguised herself in front of the Calsises for fear that they would know about it. As a result, it was told directly by Robert. She looked at Rose next to her, who was also surprised. Unlike Theresa being guilty, Rose was angrier after being surprised. 'Great grandfather thinks that the children belong to Theresa? Theresa is such a scheming woman! She pretended to be Sarah to cheat him before. Now, even Cristina's children can be said to be hers! She said to Robert, "Great grandfather, they are not her children. She is not their mother. The mother of the children is Cristina. I'll take her to meet you next time." Robert didn't care what Rose said, but directly ignored the chattering Rose. In his eyes, the two children were Theresa's. He said to Theresa, "Look, Sarah, they look like you very much! They are so cute."

Rose retorted, "Where are these two children like her? They look like Uncle Charlie!"
"Great grandfather is really senile! That's bullshit!

Theresa looked at Robert. At first, she had been worried that Robert's words would arouse Rose's suspicion. Now, after listening to Rose's words, she was not worried at all. Rose didn't think the children were hers. In Rose's eyes, she was a deep woman. Everything she did was just for the sake of opportunism and trying to stay in the Calsises. However, Robert's words made her particularly moved. Everyone thought that Robert was confused. He was ill and his mind was unclear. But she felt that he was the one who could see everything in the world?

Rose stood there, pleased and angry at how much Robert loved the little ones.

Chapter 114

Chapter 114

She was pleased that Robert liked Leonard and Ben very much. Theresa was not Robert's favorite any more. And she was angry that Theresa actually took the credit of the children on herself and deceived Robert. But it didn't matter. When great grandfather met Cristina, he would know who was the mother of the two children.

Theresa sat with the children and Robert, feeling very relaxed and comfortable. After a while, Leticia appeared at the door, "Leonard."

Rose saw her and went out, "Grandma."

"How is it?" Leticia asked, "Does your great grandpa like the children?" "Of course, he does." Rose replied proudly. "He likes them. I've never seen him so happy." "That's good." Leticia was also glad, "It's good for him to be happy." After all, what the family did now was to make him happy Including Charlie's marriage to Theresa, it was also because of Robert's wishes. "But he thought the children were born by Theresa, and he wouldn't listen to me."

Looking at her depressed look, Leticia said. "He doesn't know this. It's good that he likes children. It's getting late. It's not clear when Cristina will come. Let's take the children to rest first! They have to go to class tomorrow. Your great grandpa will go to sleep too. "OK"

Rose and Leticia walked into the room together. Leticia took a look at Theresa. The children did not seem to resist her. Leticia had no problem with Theresa being nice to the children. Theresa was also a mother. Leticia had been angry with her for not allowing the children back. After they came back, she was afraid that Theresa would try to get in the way. Fortunately, she was not so stupid and did bad things in front of the children. So Leticia said, "Theresa, it's late today. Let Grandpa get some rest."

"Okay." Theresa then said to Robert, "Grandpa, it's time to rest." Abel Hall, who was in charge of looking after Robert, also came over. Robert now listened to Theresa more. So he went to bed with Abel.

Then the three women came out of Robert's room with the children. Rose turned to Theresa and said, "Aunt Theresa, aren't you going home to take care of your children?" Theresa would normally be home by this time. But today, in order to cozy up to the two children, she even ignored her own children.

How did she know that Theresa's two children were here? Theresa disguised, 'Oh, they are at a friend's home today, so I don't have to go back "Leonard, Ben, let's go to bed!" Leticia said.

Leonard and Ben looked at Theresa. Theresa watched the time and realized that it was almost 11 o'clock. But Cristina's work seemed to have not been completed. It was not clear when she would come here. Leonard had been almost asleep in Robert's room. He was usually a snooze. So she told them, "Leonard, Ben, go to bed. Good night." The two children nodded. Then Leticia and Brenda took them away. Seeing that the children were listening to Theresa, Rose said, "Aunt Theresa is really scheming." *Thank you for your compliments." Theresa smiled.

Rose twitched her mouth. She wondered why Theresa was so brazen She scolded her, but she didn't feel ashamed at all.

Rose sneered, "You really give up your own children to get in touch with the two kids. However, I advise you not to think so. Cristina is their mother! I won't let anyone turn that around. If you think you can stay in the Calsises by getting hold of the kids, you are too naive!"

Chapter 115

Chapter 115

Theresa yawned, "I'm also sleepy now. I will go to have a rest." She didn't want to argue with Rose here. It was boring after all. She felt her nerves were on edge for the sake of the children today,

Leticia took the kids to go to bed. The room was ready and prepared specially for them. And the gifts that she had people prepare were all in there. Leticia showed Leonard and Ben them and asked, "Leonard, Ben, do you like them?"

They slept together at home. Now each of them had a bed in the room, and other things were also double. Leonard and Ben had never seen such a room before. It was like a castle. Ben looked at Leticia and said happily. Thank you, grandma." Knowing that Theresa was here, they were not so anxious to go home, so they could play here.

Theresa called Cristina first. It was still noisy there. Theresa could imagine how busy Cristina was. Theresa, standing in the hallway, said, "Haven't you finished work yet?" "No, the leaders are not leaving. I'm bored, too. How about Leonard and Ben?" "They have gone to bed." Theresa had thought Cristina would come to get them, thus they could go home together. But Cristina couldn't leave for a while. She could not bear to urge her again, so she said, "Deal with your work first and call me after you finish." "OK, I'm sorry, dear. It's all my fault."

"It's all right, you go to work." After all, it was her own business, how could she blame Cristina instead?

After hanging up the phone, Theresa entered Charlie's room. Charlie sat at his desk in black pajamas and saw Theresa walk

He looked at her and says, "Haven't you gone back?" After he had finished the call, he had asked Jonathan to go downstairs to see her, but found that she had been no longer there, he had thought she had left. "Not yet. I just went to accompany Grandpa. Why don't you go to bed?" "I will go right now." He rubbed his eyebrows and said, "Jonathan has gone home. Shall I call the driver to take you back?" It was almost eleven o'clock. She usually went home early because of her sons. Theresa stood by the door, looked at Charlie and said, "Well, I'm not leaving now." Charlie put down his hand with the mobile phone, looked at Theresa and smiled, "Don't you have to go back to see the kids?"

"Someone will take care of them today." Theresa replied, "So I don't worry." It was not easy to lie. Leonard and Ben were here, but she had to make up a lie. "Okay He stretched out his hand, tidied up the things at hand, and said to her, "Come and take me to bed." Theresa walked over, helped him from the chair to the wheelchair, and then took him to his bed. She helped him lie down on the bed and pushed up his pillow. Charlie, lying on the bed, saw her sitting by the side, looking at him, he suddenly smiled. She is such a fool! I just accompanied her to watch a fireworks show, she now actually doesn't even care about the kids, just stays here with me. She must be very moved." She was the mother of two children, but she was like a little girl who had just grown up. He asked, "Do you enjoy today's fireworks?"

Theresa was actually thinking about telling Charlie that she wanted to stay here for a while. She was not sure when Cristina would finish, nor did she know when she herself would leave. She could only spend time with Charlie here. When she heard him mention the fireworks, she remembered the romance he had just given her

Chapter 116

Chapter 116

She nodded. "Yes, it's just a little polluted"

"No, it won't, it's a new type of fireworks. The advantage is environmentally friendly."

"Is there this type?" "Yeah, our company will have a carnival at the beginning of next month, and we will need it then. I just tried it in advance today Theresa looked at Charlie speechlessly. She had thought he was specially prepared for her. Hearing these words, she couldn't help but rolled her eyes. "It's just for testing!" He made it sound like it was just for her. She had been moved here for nothing Seeing her face full of resentment, Charlie smiled. "You women are really serious. You were happy when you watched the fireworks with me. But you have to care about whether it was prepared for you." *Our women just don't like to lie and be fooled."

Charlie looked into her clear eyes and said, "In fact, you are moved?"

"Am I? Theresa averted her eyes. She didn't admit that she was touched by him.

*Then why did you suddenly decide to stay tonight?" He was not stupid either. He was a man. Wasn't it obvious that she stayed and hinted at him?

*Don't flatter yourself. I'll go back now." She stood up and was about to leave. Suddenly she felt her right hand was grabbed.

She looked down and found that he had held her wrist. Charlie gently pulled her into his arms. He reached out and hugged her. A man's body was stronger than a woman's. He put his arms around her and rolled her in his arms like the tide. Theresa was suddenly hugged by him. She naturally didn't want to. This man took advantage of her from time to time. This had happened several times. The last two were kisses. And this time...

Charlie hugged her and said in her ear, "Don't move."

As he spoke, the warm breath came out and sprayed on her neck. Her white skin immediately turned red. Theresa's face also warmed. "What are you doing?" she protested.

Charlie murmured, "What do you want me to do?"

The question was so...

Charlie saw her red cheeks as she was held in her arms and smiled, "Are you shy?"
"No, Why am I shy? I am a divorced woman with two children..." Didn't he care about this most? Theresa said this deliberately, knowing that Charlie despised her most.

Charlie listened to her words and looked at her with dark eyes. He also felt strange. She was a divorced woman with two children. But when he saw her, he could not help but wanted to bow his head and kiss her. Where there was one, there were two Ever since he had kissed her for the first time to prove himself, he seemed to be addicted to her. Now they were very close, and there are only two of them in the room, in his room, his bedroom... Charlie looked at her, bowed his head and wanted to kiss her.

Theresa was already on the defensive this time, and she directly avoided him. Charlie was a little disappointed. The woman turned him down!

Theresa said rationally, "What are you doing? Charlie, you won't forget that we were married in a fake way. Why don't you take out the marriage agreement to have a look and be sober?"

Chapter 117

Chapter 117

*The marriage certificate is real." Charlie said, "I can guarantee that."

"But we are going to divorce later."

Men were all lower half thinking animals. She hadn't believed it before, but now, she did. Even if he didn't like her, he would still have emotional moments when he was with her. "He was so shameless to begin to take advantage of this kind of loophole. Charlie stared into her eyes and asked, "After you divorced Jimmy, have you had any relationship with other men?" "Of course not! Theresa didn't want to answer his boring questions, but she didn't want him to think too badly of her either. Charlie smiled, "So, don't you want to have a man?" He asked in a very vague way. When he spoke, he slowly approached her ear, ambiguous and seductive. Speechless, Theresa seemed to understand what he meant. She said stiffly. "No!"

"You're lying!" Charlie's voice suddenly became soft, "Theresa, be my woman."

Theresa looked at the man in disbelief, "Are you crazy? I remember when we got married, you told me not to have any idea about you. Aren't you afraid that a woman like me might stain you?" After all, he had always been narcissistic, treating himself as if he was a God. It seemed that you had insulted him if you liked him. And you were shameless.

"I did think so before, but now I don't seem to hate you very much. Anyway, we are married, which is convenient." Theresa was shocked by the word "convenient". She did not know why, but a feeling of shame and anger came out. It seemed that in his eyes, women were a tool for venting! She bit her lip and looked at Charlie. "In your eyes, I'm such a casual woman? Because we got married, because it's convenient, you can be rude to me over and over again?"

Her sudden anger made Charlie strange, "Don't you like me too? It's normal for two people to be together. Why are you so angry?" "I don't like you." Said Theresa. Charlie saw her duplicity and said, "Don't worry, as long as we don't get divorced, I will be responsible for you." Then he leaned in and kissed her.

Theresa pushed him away defiantly. "No need!" What did he mean to be responsible for her as long as there was no divorce?

Theresa couldn't accept this kind of thing. For her, unless it was someone she liked, she was not willing to do such a thing at all, nor did she want to force herself. Charlie grabbed her hand and watched her. He was getting a little impatient with her. "Are you sure you don't need it?"

Theresa, you have to be careful when you say no. There is always a kind of person who can't recognize herself and is insatiable. She who gets a little and wants more, ends up getting nothing." Theresa wouldn't like to listen to his arguments. She explained with a straight face, "I don't want anything. I just don't want to have anything to do with you. If Mr. Calsis wants a woman, I suggest you solve it yourself, or find a woman who is willing to help you. I'm not feeling well today, so I will pass." With that, she stood up, left his bed, sat down on the sofa, and picked up her mobile phone Charlie's face was extremely embarrassed by her serious refusal. Did she really refuse him? But she had said she liked him in front of him a few days ago. Now she turned her back on him? All right! He was in no hurry. He was just waiting for this woman to come and beg him!

Chapter 118

Chapter 118

Charlie lay on the bed, pulled up the quilt and stopped talking. Theresa sat with her mobile phone, turned on her e-book, and watched it quietly. Leonard and Ben should have gone to bed by this time?

She watched it for more than two hours. It was almost two o'clock before she received Cristina's call. "Theresa, I just got out of the KTV. How are you doing? I'll come and get Leonard and Ben!"

Theresa was a little sleepy. After watching the time, she realized it was so late. Cristina wouldn't need to sleep today if she came here and went back. She looked over her shoulder at Charlie on the bed. He seemed to be asleep. She stood up and went to the bathroom, and whispered to Cristina, "Go back to bed first. It's so late. It's hard to run around." "Have you already gone home?" Cristina asked.

"No, they've both gone to bed. You can pick them up at school tomorrow." She was here tonight, and so were the children, both of whom should be asleep by now. It was not easy to call them up again. It was better to let them stay here for one night. Anyway, they had to go to school tomorrow. Theresa was not stupid. She could see that both Rose and Leticia were very considerate to the kids. They hadn't intended to bring the children back regardless of Cristina's wishes, so she didn't have to worry.

"Okay, I'll go back to bed." Actually, she was very tired too. Theresa listened to her sigh of relief and smiled. This silly girl was obviously tired, but she never refused anything about Leonard and Ben. Remembering that she had quarreled with Cristina last night, Theresa felt ashamed.

She hung up the phone and washed her face before she came out. Then she suddenly found that Charlie had sat up, leaning against the bed, his eyes staring at her. His hair was a little untidy from his sleep, a little languid from its usual meticulous look. Theresa said, "Why are you awake? You need to go to the toilet?" Looking at the woman's calm face, Charlie remembered the things before going to bed. She seemed to have forgotten, but he still hadn't fallen asleep because she had refused him. He watched her impatiently but said nothing. Theresa walked over to him and said, "Let me help you." He had physical problems and needed help going to the toilet.

*No. *Then water?" "No"

Two nos in a row revealed how much Charlie resented now. He couldn't say that he had been unable to sleep because he was angry with her.

As he needed nothing. Theresa said, "Let me know when you need anything. I'll go to bed first." Then she went straight to the sofa and lay down

Charlie was surprised to see her sleeping in his room. Why didn't she go home today? He was more surprised that Theresa fell asleep faster than he thought. He was so angry with her that he could not sleep at all. But she fell asleep within ten minutes. As he lay on the bed, he could still hear her even breathing after she fell asleep. He looked at the sleeping woman and suddenly sneered. She made him so angry and still wanted to sleep? Charlie took out the remote control of the air conditioner and directly lowered the temperature.

Chapter 119

Chapter 119

Theresa was lying on the sofa without a quilt. After the temperature was lowered, she was very cold soon. While Charlie lay on the bed, waiting to see when she would come to beg him.

*Cough... Cough... in the morning, Charlie was awakened by Theresa's cough. He opened his eyes and took a look at her who was still lying on the sofa. She curled up, holding her arms, and still didn't wake up. Was she a pig? Just sleeping all night without a quilt?

"Theresa!" He called.

Theresa lay on the sofa and didn't respond at all.

Jonathan opened the door and walked in. He came to wait on Charlie to get up as usual. He felt the cold as soon as he entered the room. He checked the temperature, which was only a dozen degrees. Then he saw a woman lying on the sofa, which was just Theresa. Hearing her cough, he asked, "Why is Mrs. Cameron here? And why is the temperature so low? She even doesn't have a quilt." "Wake her up." Charlie required. He reached out and set the temperature back to normal. Jonathan went to the sofa and called Theresa, but he couldn't wake her up. He reached out, touched her forehead, then said to Charlie, "Master Charlie, Mrs. Cameron has a fever."

Charlie admitted that he had been a little childish last night. He had thought that she would come to beg him when she was cold, but unexpectedly, she caught a cold before she had begged him. "Go to send for the doctor," he ordered. "OK, I'll go now." When the clock on the wall pointed to ten in the morning. Theresa woke up with a few coughs. Having slept so late last night and having a cold and fever, her brain was all mush now. She opened her eyes and found herself not in her rental apartment, but in ... Charlie's bedroom! She thought for a while and then remembered that she had slept in Charlie's room last night. Brenda said happily. "You finally woke up!"

Theresa moved and was about to sit up. Brenda reminded her, "Stop, you are having a transfusion." Then she noticed the back of her hand with a needle inserted. Seeing no one else here, Theresa asked, "Where are Leonard and Ben?" She had planned to get up early to see the kids. As a result, she had slept till now.

"Mrs. Cameron sent them to school this morning. Brenda replied. It had always been Leticia's dream to send her grandchildren to school, and now she had finally achieved this goal, so she got up early.

Theresa was a little relieved to hear that. As long as they went to school, she could bring them home in the afternoon. Then she could move house quickly. Theresa knew that her idea was very irresponsible, but she just wanted to move away. so as not to have any contact with the Calsises again.

"Master Charlie Brenda called. Theresa looked up and saw Charlie wheeled in by Jonathan Charlie looked at her, "Awake? "I'm all night" Charlie watched her with a look of sarcasm in his eyes. "Look at what you look like now, do you think you are all right?" He had never seen such a stupid woman! She had got a cold but she still knew nothing. If he had known she was such a lool, he wouldn't have taken her too seriously

Chapter 120

Chapter 120

Jonathan pushed Charlie's wheelchair to the bedside, looked at Theresa, and said, "Ma'am, you got a fever this morning, and we have just sent for the doctor Theresa was a little sheepish to be taken care of by them. "Sorry. I was so tired yesterday that I fell asleep on the sofa. She had been tired after running around during the day, so she had overslept. Jonathan smiled politely, glanced at his master and went out with Brenda. Theresa sat on the bed, seeing Charlie looking at herself, she felt uncomfortable and said, "Don't you need to work?" "There was a meeting, but I didn't go." After all, it was his fault that made her sick. Charlie didn't feel at ease, so he stayed with her. He put his hand on her forehead, and asked softly, 'Are you still uncomfortable?"

"Well, I'm fine." She suddenly found that Charlie was not as cold as last night, and seemed quite gentle. What was the matter? Seeing her sick, did he have a conscience? As she said she was fine, Charlie took back his hand and said, "Are you stupid? Didn't you know how to cover yourself with a quilt when you sleep? You just freeze yourself into a patient! Are you trying to deceive me to look after you?" "Of course not." Theresa explained, "I wanted to lie down for a while. It was not cold in the room anyway." He had been so cold last night that she had been embarrassed to tell him that she had wanted to stay. Who knew it had been getting colder afterwards.

When Charlie heard her say 'it was not cold in the room anyway', he felt uncomfortable when he remembered his foolish behavior at that time. "I'm sorry." "What?" Why did he suddenly apologize? Theresa was puzzled and looked at him curiously. "I felt hot, so I turned down the temperature, which made you sick." It was hard for him to say that he had been too childish and wanted to force her to obey, so he had done something. He could only find himself an excuse that didn't seem too embarrassing Smart as Theresa, seeing his guilty face, she suddenly realized, "Didn't you mean to do that, did you? You lowered the temperature on purpose, which made me catch a cold."

"Can this woman not be so witty?" When Theresa saw his dark face and silence, she confirmed her suspicions! "You are really good! How can there be such a weird person as you? It turns out you are the cause of my cold lying here! Go away. I don't want to see you." As she said this,

she reached out and pushed him with disgust

She was wondering why this man was so good, and he even came to care about her so gently. It was he who had done something wrong and felt guilty! Theresa reached out and pushed him angrily. Charlie took her hand and stopped her. "Don't move." "Charlie, you are such a jerk!" She was really angry. How could he be so childish!

You're having an infusion!" Charlie was not angry with her anger, but more worried. He comforted her. "I know you are angry.

You can hit me later. Don't move now"

Theresa was very angry at first. Saw him look ashamed that he seemed to have realized his mistake, she felt less angry

Charlie put her hand down and said, "Have a good rest. Are you hungry? What would you like to eat? I'll ask Brenda to bring it up." "She hasn't have breakfast till now. She must be hungry!" Theresa was ill and did not feel hungry. Hearing Charlie's words, she said, "I'm not hungry."

Then eat something later." He sat aside and looked at her with gentle eyes. She was a patient, and he made her catch a cold.

Chapter 121

Chapter 121

Since she had had the kids, she dared not let herself get sick, because she had to take care of the two children. If she fell ill, there was no one to look after them. Sometimes when she got sick, she would find some medicine, take it and sleep. Never had she been looked after like this. At this moment, seeing Charlie's concerned eyes, perhaps more vulnerable than usual due to illness, she had a warm feeling in her heart. She bit her lower lip and whispered, "You can go about your business. I'll be here by myself."

"I'm done."

Theresa couldn't believe it, "Are you very idle?"

Charlie glanced at her and didn't agree with her. "Because you are sick, I specially stay to look after you. Why am idle?"

"You don't need to. I can do it myself. Just take some medicine!"

Charlie sat in the wheelchair and looked at Theresa with a complicated expression. Theresa was a little uncomfortable and said, "Really, you can go about your business!"

However, Charlie did not leave. After a while, Brenda brought the food up. As soon as she appeared at the door with the lunch, Theresa frowned. The feeling of greasiness came over and made her feel sick. She hadn't had such a bad cold in the past that she still could have a good meal after taking some medicine. But today she had no appetite at all.

Charlie didn't miss her subtle reaction and said to Brenda, "Give her something light."

"OK." Brenda went to change a bowl of porridge, a bowl of soup and some simple dishes soon. It looked much better this time.

Charlie then told Theresa, "Just eat."

"Don't you eat?" She asked.

"I'm not hungry yet. I'll wait when you're finished."

Theresa sat and watched Charlie. She could see that he was here to take care of her out of guilt. She was unable to drive him away, so she let him go.

Seeing Theresa have eaten all, Charlie asked, "Do you want any more?"

"No. You should go to have a meal, too!" It was twelve o'clock. "Go to work after meal! I'll go home after a rest."

up

Leonard and Ben finished class at 3:40 p.m., and she was about to go there a little earlier to pick them. first before Leticia and Rose did.

Charlie listened to her and went out in the wheelchair. Theresa set the alarm on her mobile phone, and planned. to sleep for a while. After she woke up, she would go to pick up the children. Because of the cold, she slept very heavily and dreamed about some past events when she and Jimmy had not divorced yet. Jimmy had forced her to abort the baby but she hadn't wanted to, then they had divorced... For years, these events had been recurring in her dreams like nightmares.

Charlie sat and watched her lying on the bed, frowning and her lips trembling. She did not look well because of her illness and seemed to be more haggard than usual. Her hair was wet with sweat and looked a little pathetic. Perhaps she was dreaming of something, she seemed scared. He reached out and took her hand, trying to calm her down.

Jonathan was also there. He stood and watched Charlie take care of Theresa. He had never seen him look after others, it was always others who attended to him. Now, seeing that he was so concerned about a woman, something bold came to Jonathan's mind. 'Won't Master Charlie really like Mrs. Cameron?' Perhaps because of his admiration for Charlie, Jonathan was under the impression that the women Charlie liked should be very excellent to match him. Jonathan couldn't imagine that Charlie liked Theresa. After all, in his opinion, Theresa had nothing to match Master Charlie.

Chapter 122

Chapter 122

Just then, Theresa's mobile phone rang in the quiet bedroom. Charlie took a look at the phone she put beside the pillow, reached for it, turned off the alarm and put it back.

Theresa slept for a while before she woke up. Without an alarm, she woke up with Leonard and Ben in her mind.

Then she was surprised to see Charlie here. "Didn't you go to work?" Her throat was dry from the fever, and her voice was hoarse.

Charlie handed her a glass of water. "Take the medicine."

Theresa reached for the glass and water, took the medicine, and asked weakly, "What time is it?"

"4 o'clock."

"What?!" Theresa hadn't heard the alarm. She had thought there was plenty of time. After hearing Charlie's words, she quickly checked her phone. It was a quarter past four! She was in a sort of breakdown. "Why is it so late? Didn't my alarm ring?"

"It rang, and I turned it off for you." Charlie said, "You should rest until you're well, and don't worry about anything else."

Theresa glanced at him. For a moment, she didn't know whether she should thank him for his kindness", "I have something urgent." Although it was too late now, she couldn't wait to pick up the kids. She didn't care about anything else, and was about to get out of bed. Charlie reached out and pushed her back to the bed with great determination.

Theresa looked at him and said anxiously, "What are you doing? I really have something to do!"

"Look at you. Where can you go now?" Charlie was a stickler. If he didn't let her go, she couldn't go anywhere. "I'm going to pick up the children."

"Give the address to Jonathan and have him go."

She couldn't have him go. What if Jonathan saw Leonard and Ben's faces? She had worked hard to keep it from being exposed to the public. She refused, "No, The kindergarten has a rule that parents have to get their children. I usually pick them up by myself, and others can't."

"I'm the rule here. I'll have Jonathan do it. Don't worry! He won't lose your children."

Theresa was shocked at Charlie's words. She certainly knew that Jonathan would not lose the children. Seeing Charlie's insistence, she could only find a reason, "Jonathan is not a relative of the children, but a stranger.

Could he be successful?"

"Why not?" Charlie calmly looked at Theresa and said, "Don't worry, as one of my people, he can manage it."

In this city, there was nothing that he, Charlie Calsis, couldn't manage.

He said this just to make Theresa trust him. However, for Theresa, Charlie's words, far from reassuring, set off an alarm in her head. What Charlie could do, so could his family! She had thought that Leonard and Ben were safe in the kindergarten. But now, she even began to worry about the safety of them. If one day the Calsises really wanted to rob her of the children, would she have any chance of winning?

Seeing Theresa looking at him with wide eyes, Charlie said softly, "Go to sleep at ease."

At ease? How could Theresa be at ease? Her heart was burning now, and there was only worry.

Chapter 123

Chapter 123

Just then, her mobile phone rang. She took and looked at it, finding the word Cristina appeared on the screen.

And Charlie was looking at her phone. Theresa was a little guilty and avoided his sight and answered the phone.

On the phone, Cristina's voice came over. "Theresa, I heard from my aunt that you have a cold?"

"Yes."

"Well, take a good rest. I've come to pick up Leonard and Ben. I'll take them to my house for one night."

Cristina felt very guilty about having sent Leonard and Ben to the Calsis's Residence for one night yesterday. In the afternoon, Leticia had called her and asked if she were free. If not, she could help pick up Leonard and Ben. Cristina had just refused and hurried to pick up them. Fortunately, her leader had thought that she had gone home late last night, and gave her a vacation in advance to let her go home to rest. Theresa had been just very worried. When she heard Cristina's words, she was relieved. "OK, thank you. She had been thinking about what to do with the two children when she couldn't get away. Then she heard Cristina's words. Cristina was really like an angel to her, always there for her. After the phone call, she breathed a sigh of relief. She put down her phone and turned back. She was not as anxious as she had just been when she saw Charlie.

Charlie sat aside and looked at her. "Who is that?"

"My friend."

"Is your friend called Cristina?"

Theresa froze and said, "It's none of your business, is it?" Why would he ask that?

"It just reminds me of someone."

"Who?" She asked, "Cristina Lagarde? There are so many people called Cristina. Can't my friend be this.

name?" Obviously, she was extremely guilty, but she deliberately put on an air of righteousness.

Charlie saw her getting a little excited, and thought she was jealous of Cristina. He laughed, "Are you a vinegar bucket? You're not happy when I just mention this."

Theresa lay back in bed. "I'm sleepy." She didn't want to talk to him. So as not to make him realize her relationship with Cristina.

Charlie didn't forget about the kids, "Tell Jonathan where the kindergarten is. I will have him pick them up." "No." Theresa sighed and said, "My friend has gone to pick them up." Charlie knew that she cared about the children very much and suggested, "Don't you want to see the children?"

Why don't you let Jonathan pick them up so that you can see them?"

"No." Theresa refused.

Charlie said helplessly, "Theresa, are you hiding something from me?" As he spoke, his eyes were fixed on her as if he could see through her thoughts.

What he said shocked Theresa. The alarm sounded in her heart. She looked at him defensively and asked, "How... How can it be? What do I have to hide from you?"

"I just feel like you're trying to hide something from me. Last night when we came out after dinner, you answered a phone call. You seemed very anxious. I asked you to handle it, but you didn't. Now you're worried about the children. I ask Jonathan to get them. You are unwilling. Why?" Theresa didn't expect that he could even talk about last night. Last night, after eating hot pot, she had heard that Leonard and Ben had been taken away by Leticia, so she had been nervous. She didn't think Charlie even had noticed this. It seemed that she should be careful when she was with him in the future.

Now, seeing Charlie staring at her and waiting for her explanation, Theresa made an excuse, "It was nothing last night. It was unimportant. As for the children, I don't want you to pick them up because they have nothing to do with the Calsises. If Jimmy and Rose see it, they will probably make trouble again. I have no position in the Calsises, and everyone looks down on me. But in front of the children, I want to at least preserve some dignity. Isn't that too much?"

Chapter 124

Chapter 124

As she said this, she deliberately showed some sadness in her eyes. She didn't know whether Charlie believed it.

or not, but she could only think of such an excuse.

Fortunately, Charlie believed what she said. "I have said that I would not let anyone bully you in this family. Do Jimmy and Rose still bully you?"

Theresa just made an excuse casually, but she didn't expect Charlie to take it so seriously. In fact, he had been very protective of her. As for Rose's dissatisfaction with her, it was entirely because of Jimmy. Rose and Jimmy were a couple, and nobody could change this. "No," she answered.

"You don't have to cover up for them. If they are rude to you, I will teach them a lesson." Charlie's words were very protective.

She just said something casually, but he was so serious. Theresa felt a little ashamed. Wasn't he really going to make trouble for Jimmy and Rose? She was OK with him kicking Jimmy's ass. With her hatred for Jimmy, she couldn't wait for Charlie to be as bad as possible for Jimmy. But Rose was different. "Charlie, aren't you afraid Rose's dad would be upset if you scolded her?"

"I've always had a good relationship with my eldest brother."

"Even brothers have to worry about this kind of thing. His own child, how he beats and scolds her is his business, but if you overdo it, it will affect your brotherhood." She didn't want to make him look like an enemy to his family because of her. In fact, he had protected her enough!

When heard Theresa's words, Charlie smiled. "Why, worry about me? Who said last night that she doesn't like me?"

Did he still remember it? Theresa was a little speechless. "I just don't think you need to offend your family for Anyway, I won't stay in your family for long." When Sarah came back, they would separate. But he and his family would be together for a long time. Anyway, Charlie was not so bad. She still wanted him to be well. Charlie's tone was very overbearing, "Even if you were my wife for only one day, I would not let anyone bully you."

Theresa stared at him in a daze. Charlie was sitting next to the bed, and they were very close. She looked at the man in the wheelchair in front of her, and suddenly felt that somewhere in her heart seemed to have been stabbed by him. The whole world was eclipsed by him

Just then, the door of the bedroom was knocked. Theresa looked up and saw Roderick standing at the door. He smiled and asked, "May I come in?" He could go in Charlie's room at will before. But Theresa was here now. It seemed not good if he just came in straight.

"Go to the study," Charlie said to him. He had sent for Roderick and just had something to ask him.

"Okay." Roderick didn't leave in a hurry. He took a look at Theresa and asked, "Theresa, are you catching a cold?"

"Yes,"

"It looks very serious. Shall I take a look?" Roderick asked.

Chapter 125

Chapter 125

Charlie rolled his eyes. "Why didn't I know

"I'm a jack of all trades."

you treat a cold?"

Charlie was speechless. Seeing his dark face, Roderick did not tease him any more. He smiled and said to Theresa, "You rest first, and I will come back to you later."

Theresa nodded. After Roderick left, she looked at the door. According to what he said, was it something she had asked him to do that had come to an end?

Charlie watched Theresa's reaction. He found that every time Roderick appeared, the emotion in her eyes would become different. But he never saw her look like this when she was with him. Her eyes nearly grew directly on Roderick's face. "Is he so handsome?"

As soon as Charlie uttered a voice, a strange feeling came out. As Theresa didn't want to tell him in detail what she had done with Dr. Hill, she casually made an excuse, "Dr. Hill seems to be getting more and more handsome recently. I have never seen a doctor more handsome than him, just like he came out of the movie." "Superficial!" Charlie gave her a look of disgust.

"It's human to love beauty! Don't you like beauty?"

Charlie's eyes fell on Theresa's face. She was very good-looking, and you wouldn't know it if she didn't say she had two children. He raised his eyebrows and said, "I don't like beauty. I like ugly ones." Especially one as ugly as her. He also felt strange. Recently, he went to the company and saw other women. He found that they were all mediocre and vulgar. He even thought that they were far worse than Theresa.

Theresa didn't recognize that Charlie was insulting her, but smiled, "Mr. Calsis's taste is really unique. No wonder you're still..." She was just about to say, 'no wonder you are still a virgin', suddenly remembered the lessons she had learned before, and wisely shut up.

Seeing her stop, Charlie could guess what she had been trying to say. This woman seemed to have learned her lesson. However, both he and Theresa remembered the kiss. He had never kissed any other woman, but he thought kissing her was wonderful.

When he arrived at the study, Roderick had sat down and was drinking tea with a cup. Roderick smiled like a spring breeze and joked, "Have you finished talking with your wife?"

Charlie's wheelchair stopped beside him. He picked up something on the table and threw it in front of Roderick.

"What's the matter with this?"

Roderick picked up the information at his feet and read it, finding it was Charlie's paternity test. He smiled and said, "Congratulations, Master Charlie. You have sons!"

"Don't you think you need to explain to me?" Charlie's face was cold. He wondered how Roderick could still smile. He didn't call this guy here to hear him say that he had kids! He thought it over that he had absolutely nothing to do with Cristina. If he had something... It was on Roderick!

"What does this have to do with me?" Roderick asked.

"How can I have two children for nothing?"

"It's probably because you're having a good time outside. It's not impossible." Roderick smiled and joked.

Chapter 126

Chapter 126

Charlie looked at him with a very serious face, not smiling at all. "Do you think I'm you who like to mess around outside?"

"You've wronged me!" Roderick argued, "I'm in the hospital every day. How can I have time to mess about?" "Stop talking nonsense and get down to business." Charlie said, "You should know what I'm talking about." "Do you suspect that the children came out of the hospital?" Roderick asked. He had had a good relationship with Charlie who had been busy expanding his career like a robot all day, and had had no intention of getting married. He. Roderick had suggested to him that in this case, it would be better to keep his genes while he was young.

Roderick finished and noticed Charlie's face was black. But he still didn't believe it.

"How can this be possible? How can you be sure that it's my fault? What about yourself?" He looked at Charlie. He was in a wheelchair now, but no one had ever said he had a problem with fertility. "Oh, no! You really haven't touched other women outside?" This was even more surprising than Charlie having two sons.

"Do you want me to say it again?" Charlie's voice became stern. "Give you three days to figure this out. Otherwise, you will bear the consequences."

Although it had been confirmed that Cristina's children were his. But for Charlie, he won't easily muddle. through without knowing the whole story. He didn't know what Cristina Lagarde was thinking, but she had stolen his genes. Nor he knew what the person behind her was thinking.

Seeing Charlie's assertion, Roderick also frowned, "OK!"

"If you can't figure it out, I will damage your reputation."

"Yes, Master Charlie." Roderick listened to Charlie's words and squeezed out a smile, but he was a little worried. After coming out of the study, he was just about to go back to the hospital. However, he saw Theresa waiting for him downstairs when he came there. "Dr. Hill,"

Theresa looked rather haggard. Because of her illness, she stayed in bed all day today and never left Charlie's room. Now she wanted to come down for a walk, take a breath and chat with Roderick.

Roderick saw Theresa and smiled, "Mrs. Cameron."

Theresa was a little uncomfortable with him calling her that. What kind of Mrs. Cameron was she? She asked him, "Have you had any idea what I asked you before?" In the last few days, she had been so intent on moving away with her children that she almost forgot all about it. In front of the children, Jimmy and the Watsons were nothing. No matter how much she hated them, they were not as important as the children. She just wanted to leave with her children. Now, when she saw Roderick, she suddenly remembered the persistence she had been making in the past years.

"Let's walk and talk." Roderick replied.

Then they walked along the flagstones road in the garden. Roderick said, "I have contacted the person in charge who I told you about last time. She will be back here in a couple of days. She was responsible for the information before. I will call you again after she returns."

"Actually, I want to say, it's not important!"

"Well?" Roderick wondered, "Why? Have you always cared about it before?" He still remembered how eager Theresa's eyes had been when she had come to him, how her voice had quivered as she talked about it. "It just doesn't matter! So don't waste your time."

Chapter 127

Chapter 127

If she moved away, she wouldn't have any contact with Jimmy and his family again, nor would she have any contact with the Calsises any more. It seemed that it didn't matter whether she was innocent.

Roderick did not understand why she had changed so much. He watched Theresa, trying to find something in her eyes, but finding nothing.

"Dr. Hill." Just then, Rose's voice broke the silence between them. She ran over to Roderick and said, "When did you come?"

Roderick smiled and replied, "A moment ago, your uncle called me over for something. What did you just call me?" He looked at Rose menacingly.

"I called you Dr. Hill. Why?"

"How rude of you."

"Do I have to call you Uncle Hill to make you happy?" Rose smiled, and her eyes fell on Theresa defensively. "What are you talking about?" Roderick was a friend of Charlie. She wondered when did Theresa get so familiar with him.

Roderick answered, "Nothing, Just talking. Why? It's against the law to talk."

Rose stretched out and pulled him away. "You don't know that there's something wrong with this woman. Stay away from her."

"Something wrong with her? What's wrong? Isn't she your aunt?" Rose was not that kind of uneducated girl. She was respectful and polite to her elders. Roderick was quite surprised to hear what she said now. This was not like what a good girl Rose could say.

"My aunt? How can she be my aunt? She's just a divorced woman!"

"What's wrong with being divorced?" Roderick said, "It's nothing. There are so many divorces now. It's normal for a woman to meet a few men who cheat and play with women's feelings."

"Uncle Hill, you say that because you don't know her."

Theresa was standing there. Even in front of her, Rose did not save her face. These words were deliberately said in front of Theresa. Sure enough, the next second, Rose began to popularize Theresa's dirty history, "She divorced because she cheated and had children with someone else! I don't know what means she is using to make Uncle Charlie obsessed with her!"

Roderick had heard Theresa say something about her and her ex-husband before. Although he didn't know much, now he saw Rose's reaction and suddenly understood why Theresa had been so persistent in trying to find out the procedures for giving birth in the hospital. He advised Rose, "Now people like to spread rumors. Don't believe it easily. Since your uncle married her, he certainly appreciates her."

"I don't believe it easily. Her ex-husband is my husband. You've met Jimmy. He's very nice and doesn't lie at all. But she... Look, you've just met her but you are already speaking for her! You don't even believe what I talk to you!"

When Roderick heard this, he finally knew that Rose and Theresa had this relationship. No wonder Rose would say these. Well, women have to do something when they get together. He said to Rose, "Go about your business, I'm ready to go back. I have something to do."

"OK." Rose nodded. She gave Theresa a warning look over her shoulder before leaving.

Roderick walked back to Theresa, saying, "Are you all right?" Theresa had been there when he talked to Rose.

She should have heard everything they talked about just now.

"Yeah, used to it," Theresa said.

Chapter 128

Chapter 128

Although she had heard enough, she found herself still very angry. She had already planned to leave here with two children, but hearing Rose's words, she felt her discontent was coming again. This shouldn't be her life!

The life ruined by Jimmy was not hers.

She followed Roderick to the door. He said, "Remember to wait for my call. I will help you find the information." He spoke with more certainty than before.

Theresa smiled, "Aren't you afraid I'm cheating you?"

"I feel strange, too." He replied, "I don't know why, but I think you are innocent. So I will try my best to clear your name."

Shocked by his words, Theresa took a moment to find her voice. "Thanks a lot." She suddenly realized that she really only needed one person to believe her. When she heard him say he believed her, she suddenly felt that she had forgiven the world.

Roderick watched her and said, "Nothing is more important than innocence! Whatever your reason for wanting to give up, I hope you can persist. What do you think?"

Theresa looked at him in astonishment. Was he encouraging her? She said, "Don't you think I should give up?"

"Of course not." Roderick replied, "Are you willing to let go of those who have wronged you?"

The question seemed to have directly reached Theresa's soul. Yes! Unwilling! She was not willing at all! In fact, she had a better choice to make Jimmy and his family regret.

Theresa came back to the living room and found Rose waiting for her at the door. Seeing her, Rose smiled,

"Aunt Theresa."

Theresa did not respond, trying to see what she could say. Rose hadn't saved her any face outside just now. "Jimmy said that you like to seduce men but I didn't believe it. I see it now. Knowing that Uncle Charlie has two children, you're out of luck. So you start to get your eye on Uncle Hill?" Roderick and Charlie were good friends, and his family condition was not bad. She hadn't known that Theresa was good at fawning upon influential people. The more Rose looked at her, the more unpleasant she felt.

Looking at Rose, Theresa smiled. She remembered what Jimmy had said to her last time. In her eyes, Rose was just a poor woman who thought Jimmy was so good to her. She told Rose, "Instead of minding my business, why don't you focus on yourself?"

"I'm fine." Rose said, "Thank you for your concern."

'Really? Jimmy came to me the other day and asked me to be with him!'

#Chapter 129

Chapter 129

Chapter 129

Upon hearing what Theresa said, Rose darkened her face, but she didn't believe it at all, "You really know how to sow discord. Unfortunately, it's needless for you to do so as I have a good relationship with him! He will want to be together with you? Are you kidding?" Even though she knew Theresa was talking nonsense, Rose still got pissed and walked away.

Looking at her from behind, Theresa twitched the corners of her mouth, and then went upstairs. After entering the room, she saw Charlie sitting on the sofa with Jonathan reporting to him beside. After he saw her come in, Jonathan said, "Hi, Mrs. Cameron." Charlie also turned to look at her, and found that she looked quite thin as she didn't wear much. What's more, she had a cold and it got colder today. Therefore, he said to Jonathan while wearing a serious face, "You go out first."

Jonathan nodded and walked out the door with the documents in his hand.

Charlie cast a glance on Theresa, and then he looked away, looking aloof.

Theresa was that stupid not to realize that Charlie seemed to be somewhat angry. What's going on here? She felt it quite strange. She walked to the sofa and sat down. Looking at Charlie, she took the initiative to say, "Charlie.", while Charlie picked up the glass and took a sip without any reply. It got harder for Theresa to understand him. She showed a smile to ease the atmosphere, "Have I done something to irritate Mr. Calsis again?"

He looked at her and said, "Don't you know what's wrong with your body? You like Roderick so much that you are willing to feel the wind?"

Theresa wondered if she misunderstood it or not. From his words, she had a feeling that this may seemed to be jealous. Impossible! She quickly dismissed the idea. How could Charlie be jealous? She explained, "I just wanted to go down for a walk after lying in bed for a day. And I have something to talk to Dr. Hill."

"What?" Charlie asked, remembering that she said she had something to ask Roderick for help when they first met. He fixed his eyes on Theresa's face, trying to know how she reacted.

Theresa couldn't have told Charlie about the child. Without any other choice, she said, "My father is not well. I want to ask Dr. Hill about it."

"Roderick is not in charge of neurology." Charlie said, who was not so gullible! Her lie was immediately exposed by him.

Theresa had to say, "It's my private thing, which is inconvenient to tell you."

What she said caused Charlie's dissatisfaction, "So...you mean, I, as your husband, don't deserve to know what Roderick can know, right?"

Theresa pinched her chin and looked at Charlie, "Mr. Calsis, do you know what you look like now?"

"What?"

"A jealous man." Theresa said, "Why? Do you like me? Whenever I talk to others, you feel uncomfortable?" "I like you?" Charlie replied almost instinctively. "How could I like you? Don't show yourself in good light! I'd rather die if I love a woman like you." The moment he finished speaking, he had the urge to bite his tongue and commit suicide. He didn't know why he was talking so hard!

In fact, he knew deep down in his heart that he didn't hate her so much. But he felt embarrassed when she brought this matter up on her own initiative. After all, they had signed that contract. If he admit that he liked her, he ate his words. And Charlie was a proud perosn.

Upon hearing Charlie's words, Theresa raised her eyebrows and said, "Oh, I shouldn't have had such an idea."

Chapter 130

Chapter 130

It was true that he had seen every kind of woman. What's more, for a person of his status, how cheap it was to like someone. Sitting aside, she continued the previous topic, "Since you don't like me, it's okay not to tell you what I told Dr. Hill, right?"

Charlie was rendered speechless by her for a moment before he said in an unhappy tone, "Why? I'm your husband anyway. What does he mean to you?" With a marriage certificate, wasn't he more important than Roderick?

"When I divorce you, maybe I can be with him! So I should try to get along with him. And I found out today that

Dr. Hill is very nice to me." To make her reasons seem realistic, Theresa deliberately said. With a darkened face, Charlie looked at Theresa, "Are you really going to be with Roderick after you divorce me?" Previously Charlie had felt that it was impossible for someone with Roderick's personality to like Theresa. But now he thought that maybe someone shared the same taste about women with him, who just liked divorced women. Especially for Roderick, he was restricted in the hospital every day, and had not seen.

many women...

But out of an unknown reason, Charlie felt irritated when thinking of that! This woman, who belonged to him, took a fancy to Roderick now! But Theresa continued to add fuel to the jealousy, "Well, I heard from Rose that his family's background is pretty good. For a woman like me, it matters a lot whether his family is rich or not. What do you think?"

Charlie sneered, "You're probably the only wife in the world who is considering about a candidate for her next husband before getting a divorce. Do you know what are you doing?"

"What?"

"Emotionally detached."

Upon hearing his words, Theresa raised the corners of her mouth, "You've crossed the line! So I can't find someone else after I leave you?" Originally, Theresa said that for she wanted to avoid talking about why she went to find Dr. Hill. Out of her expectation, which made her feel a little funny.

Charlie said, "You can find anybody else except Roderick."

"Why?" Theresa asked in confusion.

Charlie replied, "Because he likes men." Although it was immoral to slander others like this, it was Roderick's fault for he wanted to steal Theresa from himself.

Theresa was a little surprised. "How is possible?" She hadn't seen any man who liked men in reality. She only heard of them online,

but

Seeing that Theresa was about to buy his words, Charlie continued, "Of course it's true, what did I lie to you for? I grew up with him, do I not know his sexual orientation? This kind of thing should have been a secret, I want to remind you of not being deceived since you are so foolish. He treats you well because he treats all women as best friends." Theresa thought that it was said that many handsome brothers liked men, and now it seemed that this was true.

She looked at Charlie, "So... he likes you?"

Upon hearing that, Charlie was speechless. Now he knew he had just set a trap for himself. He had said this in order that he wanted Theresa to stay away from Roderick, but he didn't expect Charlie would react in this way. What was wrong with this woman's brain?

+10

Without waiting for him to deny it, Theresa continued, "No wonder something goes between you two when I see you two talking. Now I kind of understand why you keep unmarried...

Speechless, Charlie felt a chill after she said it, "Forget it. Are you hungry? What do you want to eat tonight?" He would be pissed of if they kept talking about it.

Theresa said, "I'm not very hungry."

"You had a little at noon. You won't get well unless you eat something at night. Of course, you can refuse to eat if you want to be sick all the time and make me take care of you."

Theresa heard Charlie's words and said, "You don't have to say the second sentence." He clearly cared about her, but why did he have to say something that made her speechless? She was not a child. She would eat when she felt hungry.

Soon Charlie had someone to bring food. Without going downstairs, he just stayed with her in the room. Sitting on the side, Theresa looked at Charlie, "I can eat by myself. Why don't you go down and have some?"

+

Chapter 131

Chapter 131

"No," Charlie said. "I often ate in my room by myself."

His words surprised Theresa, "In the past?"

After she came, it was rare to see him eating in the room. He usually had dishes with everyone.

Charlie nodded, "Yeah. I was just injured and couldn't stand up... I really didn't want to live anymore, neither. did I want to face my family. I didn't want to see them looking at me with pitiful eyes."

Upon hearing Charlie's words, Theresa was surprised by seeing a different him since it was rare for him to say this. Born in a rich family with talents, he had been attracting attention since he was a child. He must be uncomfortable after experiencing such a blow suddenly.

She encouraged him, "Charlies, everything will be fine."

When hearing Theresa's words, Charlie looked at her, and changed his tone to a serious tone, "So I hope you can be well as soon as possible, otherwise my legs won't be improved forever." He was counting on Theresa to heal his leg.

Theresa's mouth twitched when she heard his words. Thinking about her plan to run away, she didn't know how to face him. She cared about the kids so much that she almost forgot everything. After hearing Roderick's words and seeing Charlie, she suddenly...thought she was too premature when making plans.

After all she cared about her father, and everything in the Cameron family was closely affected her actions.

While eating, she turned quiet for a while.

Charlie asked, "Why don't you talk?"

Theresa said, "I'll try my best, but...if you heal your leg, can you promise me a condition when we divorce?"

"What?"

Theresa said, "I haven't thought about it yet. You promise me first."

Charlie nodded with agreement, thinking that he would agree to whatever she asked if she helped to cure himself. Even if she asked to continue to be his wife, he could accept it.

Seeing him agreed, Theresa smiled and felt a lot better. So she had something more.

Charlie sat aside, looking at her, "Don't you say that you are not hungry?", meaning that she ate too much. Theresa explained, "It's delicious."

Looking at her, Charlie showed a smile on his lips that he didn't even notice.

After dinner, Theresa texted Cristina and asked about the two babies.

Cristina said, "They are well! They just miss you a little bit. I told them that you were with their father, and they turned speechless."

Theresa said, "Don't say anything! What nonsense are you talking to them!"

"I didn't lie." Cristina said, "Tess, haven't you found that your two children may be in need of a father. They've grown up. When seeing other children have fathers, they would also want to have a father. Since you and Charlie have been married now, why not take them to see the two kids?"

Cristina's words reminded Theresa that two children came over last night, but Charlie hadn't seen them.

Indeed, She also wanted the two kids to see Charlie. In that case, they should be very happy! But she couldn't be the one who arranged them to meet for a moment.

She said to Cristina, "Would you like to take the children to see him on the weekend?" Cristina said, "They are your own babies. Are you going to keep them from Charlie?"

"I don't know how to tell him for the time being." Theresa said. Although he had already promised today to agree to a request of her when divorcing, she still wanted to manage to hide the truth. His promise was just her last trump card anyway.

Chapter 132

Chapter 132

Cristina said, "Okay, I'll do that on the weekend."

After she finished talking to Cristina, Theresa saw Charlie in a thin beige sweater reading some work materials.

on the sofa by the window. The light was shining on his face, making him look quite delicate.

Theresa stood up and walked over to him, "Charlie."

Holding the book in his hand, he raised his head and glanced at her, "What's the matter?"

"It's getting late. Let me help you with acupuncture."

"Aren't you not well? You can take a rest."

"It's fine," Theresa said, "I feel much better now."

Charlie's eyes were full of suspicion.

Theresa knew what he was worried about and said, "Your legs are very important. I won't make fun of you."

And then she went to prepare the things for acupuncture.

When helping Charlie with acupuncture, she opened her mouth and said, "By the way, Charlie, the two children came over last night, haven't you seen them?"

"No."

Theresa asked, "Would you like to meet them?"

Hearing her words, Charlie frowned, "Are you testing me?"

"Testing?"

"See if I really care about the two kids."

Theresa said, "That's not true. I just think they are living a hard life. If you see them, they may be very happy.

As a mother, I know they are pitiful. If you have time on the weekend, you can meet them. What do you think?"

Charlie said, "Maybe some other time." He didn't seem to care about the two children at all. Theresa was a little disappointed and asked, "You have no interest in your own children." "That's not true," Charlie said. "I don't trust Cristina. I suspect she has other purposes." "Purpose?" Theresa was puzzled.

Charlie said, "I always feel that there is someone behind her, otherwise how could she be pregnant with my child all of a sudden? I even didn't know her. My mother only cares about the child without thinking deeper into it. But I hate being used."

Theresa was surprised when she heard Charlie's words.

Different from Mrs. Calsis and Rose who were sensible, Charlie, as a man, was much more rational. When he knew he had a child, the first thing he thought was not that he finally had a child. Instead, he doubted the purpose of the child's mother...

Theresa remembered that when she was pregnant with two children from the gene bank at the hospital. She had originally thought that it was just a coincidence that she happened to meet him. Now it seemed that Charlie was very concerned about this matter.

She couldn't help but said, "What if it's just a coincidence?"

"Where in the world are there so many coincidences?" Charlie said. "I now suspect that woman stole my sperm. If so, I will make her pay."

Theresa frowned when she heard his words, feeling bad all over.

After helping Charlie with acupuncture, she went into the bathroom to take a shower, keeping thinking about Charlie's words.

It turned out that in his eyes the mother of the children was not that simple. She may also be someone who wanted to use the children to approach him with ulterior motives.

Chapter 133

Chapter 133

Theresa thought, 'And I not only gave birth to the children who looked like him, but now I am married to him...

Will he also think that I am premeditated? Sure enough, it is not easy to be a man in a high position like him. Even if it is a simple coincidence, it will become a complicated thing in his eyes."

When Theresa came out of the room, Charlie had almost finished his job. Seeing her come out, he said, "You are not well. Go to bed earlier."

Theresa looked at him and said, "You go to bed. It is okay for me to sleep on the sofa."

"You caught a cold while sleeping on the sofa last night."

"It's okay. I've already asked Brenda for a quilt." Theresa said, "The sofa is very wide, so I can sleep on it."

"Go to bed. I don't repeat it." Charlie was serious.

Theresa looked at him and said, "You sleep on the sofa? It's not okay, I think?"

After all, he was a disabled person, and it was more inconvenient for him to sleep on the sofa. Theresa wasn't that selfish!

Charlie darkened his face, "Why should I sleep on the sofa?"

"So why do you ask me to go to bed?"

"I don't care sleeping with you!"

"I care!" Theresa looked at Charlie and said, "Who knows what you'll do!"

She used to feel safe around him, but now... she had changed her mind. After all, he had reacted like this not for the first time!

Charlie looked at her defensive eyes and couldn't help laughing, "I'm the kind of person you're talking about? Do you think too highly of yourself?"

"You are indeed!" Theresa said, "I almost forgot who always took advantage of me before." And he said those words last night! She remembered it clearly.

Charlie's face was blackened, and he was a little bit eager to strangle himself. How could he be aroused by this woman. Well, he was going to lose his face.

Charlie continued to ask, "Do you or do you not sleep on the bed?"

"Sleep by yourself! It's safer for me to sleep on the sofa." Theresa replied without any hesitation.

Seeing that she didn't follow his words, Charlie picked up her phone and started making a call.

Theresa asked, "What are you doing?"

"Call Brenda and ask her to persuade you." Charlie said, "I'm in a wheelchair and I can't do anything to you, so you can bully me as a cripple." His words made Theresa almost a sinner.

Theresa was speechless and said, "Okay, okay, I will sleep on the bed."

She carried the quilt from Brenda to the bed as Charlie's bed was big enough for two quilts. After making a bed beside, she said to Charlie, "Let's make a deal. Don't take advantage of me."

Charlie looked at her vigilant look and said, "Don't worry, I'm not so mad that I don't even let a patient go." He really didn't have that kind of idea today. He just didn't want her to sleep on the sofa, fearing that she would get sick again. After all, it was because of him that she got sick yesterday.

The two lay down on the bed. Theresa was lying in her quilt, Charlie looked at her, reached over, put his hand on her forehead, and said, "Why do I think you still have a fever? Why did you go downstairs?" He remembered her going to find Roderick..

Theresa said, "I just wanted to get some air."

Chapter 134

Chapter 134

Her forehead was a little hot, making his palms seem cold, and the worried look in his eyes made Theresa a little dazed. She had been despising this man in the bathroom just now because of his suspicion, but seeing him caring about her so much now, she felt that he was different.

Charlie said, "Go to sleep."

Theresa lay down obediently, not really wanting to talk to him. She fell asleep quickly because she took medicine at night.

Charlie hadn't slept in the middle of the night when she was drowsy, and came over every now and then to see if she had any more fever.

She opened her eyes, saw him who had just cared about her lying down beside her. She turned over and looked at the man. "Charlie."

Hearing her wake up, he cast a glance at her, and said, "What's wrong? Water?" He brought a glass of water from the table next to himself and handed it to her.

Theresa glanced at him and said, "Thank you." She took a sip of water, but the clear water in her mouth was a bitter taste, and she now doubted whether she could eat anything tomorrow.

Theresa found herself sweating after drinking the water. Charlie looked at her and said, "Go to sleep."

Theresa looked at his gentle look and said, "Sometimes I really don't know if you are good or bad!"

Charlie was a little surprised when he heard her words. "How can you think like this? Don't I look like a good person?" He thought he was nice to her, but she thought he was a bad person?

He looked at Theresa, "Is it because I did something that made you uncomfortable?"

Theresa said, "According to your words, if I think you made me comfortable, will you change it?"

Charlie said, "Tell me how did I make you uncomfortable?"

Questioned by that, Theresa didn't know how to answer. She looked at Charlie and said, "Everything was fine except that you like to take advantage of me."

Charlie said, "I don't know who was the one taking advantage."

"What do you mean?" Theresa asked. He seemed to imply that she was the one taking advantage of him. Charlie said, "Nothing, go to sleep! It's too late."

"I can't sleep. You can sleep." She leaned against the pillow.

Charlie looked at her and stretched out a hand to take hers, "Don't think about it. Go to sleep." He held her hand very naturally, and Theresa felt her hand get hot from his grip. She wanted to struggle from it. Seeing that the man beside her was already asleep, she remembered that he had been taking care of herself all night, so she didn't struggle any more.

Early in the morning, Theresa woke up to find her alone in the room. She sat up when Brenda came in and said,

"You're awake."

"Where's Charlie?"

didn't

"Mr. Calsis went to the company." Brenda said, "When he woke up in the morning and saw that you have a fever, he went. He asked me to remind you to take medicine before leaving."

Theresa heard this and looked at the place next to her where he had slept. Brenda came over, folded the quilt, and whispered to Theresa, "Seriously, I find that Mr. Calsis is really nice to you, much better than ever to his previous fiancée."

Theresa was a little surprised, "Really?"

When he was with Sarah before, Sarah didn't offend him. Since both of them were going to get married, how could he treat Sarah badly?

Brenda said, "Why do I lie to you? His fiancée has never slept in his room before. Mr. Calsis is a man of cleanliness who doesn't like other people staying overnight in his room. You are really different to him." Brenda smiled again, "Look at me, what did I say? You and Mr. Calsis are married, so the relationship is naturally different."

But what she just told Theresa was the truth! In her eyes, it was very difficult for a divorced woman to marry such a good husband as Theresa did. Although Charlie's legs were disabled, he was really stronger than many men.

Theresa raised the corners of her mouth when she heard Brenda's words, "Is he who told you to say these words?"

Chapter 135

chapter 135

Brenda smiled, "How is that possible? I said that just because I found out that Mr. Calsis is really nice to you."

"Well, I thought he did the same to others." Theresa was a little surprised that it was only for her.

Brenda made the bed, brought clothes for change over, and handed them to Theresa, "Mr. Calsis asked me to prepare them for you."

Theresa said, "He is quite thoughtful."

"Yeah." Brenda said, "Alas, he is too perfect that his legs..."

Having said that, Brenda sighed, feeling sorry for Charlie

Theresa looked at Brenda and smiled.

She got dressed and came downstairs to find Jimmy and Rose having breakfast in the living room. Rose pursed her lips, looking emotional, while Jimmy was coaxing her, "Good Rose, baby, eat a little. How can you eat nothing?"

"No appetite."

"Are you still mad at me?" Jimmy coaxed. "How can you believe her nonsense! How could I say that to her? I really didn't do that. Don't think too much."

Before he could finish his words, Theresa sat down in the seat opposite to them.

What Charlie prepared for her was a light green sleeve with lace, which made her quite beautiful, like a princess who came out of a classical painting.

As soon as Jimmy saw Theresa, his face sank. He hadn't expected that Theresa would tell Rose that he had once found Theresa. He opened his mouth and said, "Aunt Theresa, what are you talking about in front of Rose?" He didn't want to call Theresa in such a respectful way, but he did that on purpose in order to distance himself from Rose.

Theresa glanced at Rose, "What did I say?" She didn't remember anything at all.

Jimmy said, "You told her that I like you? And I want you to be with me? Are you crazy? How can you compare yourself to her? You are even not good enough to take her shoes! I would rather die than like a woman who cheated on me like you. Do you understand?"

The way how he behaved so ruthlessly looked ridiculous.

Sitting aside, Rose look at Theresa with her eyes turning red, seeming to be in a lot of trouble with Jimmy. Theresa admitted that she was a little dark inside, and watching the two quarrel, she felt strangely pleased, especially Jimmy's angry look!

Upon Jimmy's harsh words, she responded with a plain face.

Jimmy was half mad at her indifferent look, but he couldn't do anything to her, so he could only keep coaxing

Rose.

After dinner, Theresa came out of the house of the Calsis and was about to go home. She spent a whole day here yesterday, and now she had to go back and clean up the house.

She opened the door, put back the luggage she had packed before, and called to cancel the previous house. Just after doing all this and getting ready to rest on the sofa for a while, she heard the doorbell ringing. She went to the door and opened it, only to see Jimmy appearing at the door. Just as she was about to close the door, he directly reached out to block it.

After all, he was a man, and he was very strong. In front of her, he forced the door open and walked in.

Chapter 136

chapter 136

He was wearing a couture suit and looked aloof. He looked at this place that was completely incompatible with his temperament, and said, "You live in such a place now?"

Standing aside, Theresa saw how contemptuous he was from his eyes. This was the place she rented and where she lived with her two children."

Not interested in watching him examine her life here, Theresa said, "Please get out. You are not welcome here."

Jimmy was successful now for being high in the company and marrying Rose as his wife. He was not the same as before.

But so what?

In her eyes, she would always remember that when she first met him, this man was reluctant to buy even a good pair of sneakers. His first pair of sneakers that cost more than 1,000 yuan was sent by herself as a birthday present for him.

But now he acted as if he was of the first-class.

Jimmy walked back and looked at her, "Why would you say that in front of Rose?"

"Just reminded her not to be deceived by you!" Theresa said, "You forgot what you said? I didn't wrong you! Now, please go out!"

"Get out?" Jimmy stood in front of Theresa and complained, "Theresa, you have no conscience. Seeing that you can't get along with Charlie, I felt sorry for you, so I wanted to give you a chance. But what did you do to me? "Don't you want to ruin everything for me by saying that to Rose? How can you be so ungrateful? I am so nice to you, but you are thinking about how to hurt me! You really let me down on you.."

He coaxed Rose all night last night as she kept making trouble with him. And today when having dinner at the house of the Calsis family, Theresa was quite happy. Jimmy couldn't do anything about her at that time, which didn't mean he would let it go so easily.

He came here now just in order to trouble her.

Theresa was almost amused by him, "You're nice to me? How can you say that?" How shameless he was! Jimmy didn't think he was wrong, "Did I treat you bad? I've said I can give you a place to live and a house as long as you separate from Charlie. The house we bought now has risen a lot, and it is worth several million dollars. Why are you dissatisfied?"

"Since you're so nice to me, why shouldn't I tell Rose? If you don't separate from her, why am I with you?" "Of course I won't break up with her!" Jimmy thought that Theresa was a bit funny. "I'm already married. How can I get divorced so easily? Don't be naive, okay? If I get divorced, how will I support you?"

In that case, Pat would not let him go, and neither would the Calsis family! Of course he couldn't get a divorce.

Theresa raised an eyebrow, "So, you mean...you're with her, and I am your mistress?"

Jimmy said, "Don't regard yourself as that. We have known each other for a long time. Of course you are not a mistress."

Seeing how he argued for himself in a ridiculous way, Theresa realized that he really took her for a fool! Looking at Theresa, Jimmy found she still had a fair skin even if she had a baby and didn't wear makeup after coming back from the Calsis family. Being so close to her, he felt he still had feelings for her. Actually, he had come back to trouble her. But now seeing her beautiful face, he felt a little unwilling to do that.

He said in a softened tone, "For the sake of our future, don't say these things in front of Rose. Anything bad to me is not good for you, understand?"

He reached out his hand, wanting to touch her face, which was stopped by Theresa, "Don't touch me." Jimmy, who was rejected, darkened his eyes darkened, and then said in an unhappy tone, "I don't despise you now and I even let you come back to me, which you should be content with." How dare she refuse him! "Oh, so I should thank you!" Theresa said, "But listen up, Jimmy, I have no interest in you at all. Even if you kneel down and beg me, I won't be with you.'

Chapter 137

chapter 137

She said it very decisively. Jimmy looked at her eyes and said, "Are you serious?" There were so many women who wanted be his mistress, why was she so proud?' He thought.

"Seriously, of course, so don't do anything to me. Otherwise, I might talk something to Rose."

Jimmy twitched the corners of his mouth. In his opinion, she was so self-righteous just because she just thought she had Charlie as a backer. So he said, "Do you know that when Charlie's two children were sent to the Calsis family, you will be nothing to him?"

"By then you will still live in such a small house, and your two children will lead the same life as you do. You will go to the worst elementary school and eat the most rubbish food every day.

"Theresa, you are a selfish woman. When you had these two children, you had no idea what life they would lead. So they have such a life today all because of you!

You have never thought about your children. How can you say you love them?"

Theresa was disgusted when she heard Jimmy's words, "I don't need you to tell me what kind of life I should live. My children will definitely live a good life in the future. At least they won't rely on women like you!" "Rely on women?" These words made Jimmy very upset, and he threatened with a cold face, "You say it again!"

"Don't you rely on women? Did I say something wrong? You are coaxing Rose all day long as if she is your ancestor. So this is the life you want. Why do you think you are better than me?"

"You say it again." Jimmy darkened his face, exuding a cold aura. He was really angry! Theresa defiantly said, "You're relying on women to get the power! I'll say it again. What do you want to do?" Jimmy was so annoyed by her that he stretched out his hand and grabbed her neck, "You really think I can't do anything to you, don't you? I am nice to you, which is your honor! You dare to talk nonsense in front of Rose today. Believe it or not, I'll let you two children pay the price?" He seemed to like to show off his power in front of her only because he was a man.

Theresa thought it was funny because she used to think that he was gentle. Was she blind at that time? Otherwise, how could she have such an illusion! Now he only dared to bully women who were weaker than him. He was way too much away from being gentle.

Hearing him say that he would make her children pay the price, Theresa frowned for she remembered the last time Jimmy had attacked Leonard....

She raised her hand and stuck a silver needle at the back of Jimmy's neck.

Jimmy froze and looked at Theresa, "You stabbed me?"

Theresa was still strangled by him, but there was no panic on her face. She looked at Jimmy, "I've had enough of you!"

Jimmy looked at her, stretched out his hand, and was about to do something, but his body felt so numb that he couldn't exert himself at all. He looked at Theresa with a shocked expression.

Theresa said, "Don't show up in my house in the future. Next time, I won't let you go so easily. Jimmy, you know what? In fact, I am a person who is very afraid of death. I am afraid that if I die, my family will feel sorry for me, and I will not be able to see them; I am also afraid that if I die, I will not be able to take care of my two children. But you...every time you show up, I feel that it's okay if I die, for at least I don't have to see you so disgusting! But before I die, I will definitely not let you go. So please be careful."

After she finished speaking, she dragged him out of her house and threw him out the door. She was very calm. when doing all this. After all, she had experience dealing with him.

Jimmy lay in the corridor outside the door for a long time before his assistant finally called and came to rescue him.

After helping him into the car, the assistant asked, "Mr. Watson, are you okay? Do you need to go to the hospital?"

The needle had been pulled out, and the numbness in his body had eased a lot. Jimmy sat beside him, but he felt very uncomfortable. He didn't expect Theresa to deal with him in this way!

Okay! It seemed that he was really being too polite to her, and she wouldn't know how powerful he would be if he didn't teach her a lesson.

Chapter 138

Chapter 138

"Mr. Watson?" The assistant was still talking, looking at Jimmy worriedly, "How could you do this? Should you call the police?"

"No, don't tell anyone about today's affair, especially my wife."

The assistant nodded, "Okay." He knew that Jimmy had a good relationship with Rose, and it was normal that he didn't want to tell her.

Jimmy said, "And go do something for me this afternoon."

"OK."

In the afternoon, as soon as Theresa arrived in the kindergarten and found Lenoard and Ben, both of them looked very unhappy.

Theresa looked at them and asked, "What happened, Ben?"

Ben didn't speak. Instead, he walked forward with his head down in dejection.

Theresa turned to look at Lenoard and asked him, "Lenoard, what happened to Ben?"

Lenoard took Theresa's hand, "Mom, I miss you."

Theresa missed him too. After all, they hadn't seen each other all day yesterday.

She said, "Mom misses you too. But is Ben okay?"

Lenoard glanced at Ben's appearance and said nothing.

Theresa had never seen Ben so unhappy, as if he had experienced a heavy blow.

Ben walked in front while carrying his small schoolbag...

"Ben, do you want to drink milk tea?" Theresa asked.

Ben turned around and glanced at Theresa, "Am I allowed to drink that today?"

"Yes!" Seeing that he was not happy, Theresa wanted to please him in this way. Usually, Theresa wouldn't let them drink too much milk tea. After drinking it, they didn't want to eat. What's more, Milk tea was not a healthy thing in her opinion.

After buying a cup of milk tea for each of the two sons, Theresa took them home.

When they got home, the three sat down. Theresa looked at Ben who was still a little unhappy despite drinking the milk tea.

Theresa asked, "Did someone bully my baby at school?"

Ben said, "No."

"No? But why don't I believe it! Mom has never seen you so unhappy."

Ben said, "Because the teacher said that I won't be allowed to participate in the performance. If I can't perform,

I can't get the bonus to buy things for you."

Theresa was a little surprised when she heard this, "How could it be? Didn't you even buy your clothes before?"

The dresses for the performance were all ready, and Ben was also looking forward to it.

The teacher also said before that it had been confirmed that they would perform. How could it be like this now?

Theresa felt strange and continued to learn about the school's situation from Ben, "Did the teacher say why? Is it because the performance is suddenly cancelled?"

"No." Ben said, "All of my classmates all practice except me and Lenoard."

"What?" Theresa was surprised. A class of students were practicing except them? This was indeed a very shocking thing for children of their age. Actually, it was hard for her to accept this kind of thing.

Chapter 139

Chapter 139

Theresa said, "Sit down for a while and Mommy will ask your teacher."

"Yeah." Despite Theresa saying that, Ben wasn't happy.

Theresa looked at her son's stupid look, touched his head gently, and said, " Ben, maybe many things in this world are not all smooth sailing, but no matter what happens, Mommy hopes you can be strong, don't be because of Give up hope with such a little setback, understand?"

Ben grumbled, "Yeah."

Theresa coaxed them and went to the kitchen to cook. By the way, I sent a message to the kindergarten teacher and asked about what happened today.

After a while, the teacher returned to her, a little embarrassed, and said: "I'm sorry, this matter was not decided by me, but by the organizer. They called today and asked Leonard and Ben by name, and we didn't either. Method."

"And this kind of thing?" Theresa frowned. "Who is the organizer of the event?"

"It's Sky Music, a very popular software recently. Their company is very big. I'm sorry! I know that Leonard and Ben are also innocent in this matter, but I really can't help it. I also told our dean this afternoon. There's nothing she can do about it."

Theresa frowned, checked Sky Music on the Internet, and found that the company of Sky Music is Nandlall's Group, isn't that the company Jimmy works for now?

She was quite confused at first, but at this moment, seeing this, she immediately reacted, is it Jimmy?

Just because of the noon thing, so he is now venting his anger on the two children?

Jimmy was shopping with Rose at the moment. In a children's toy store, Rose said, "Husband, what do you think of this?"

Jimmy said, "Good."

"If it was given to Uncle Charlie 's two children, they would love it."

Jimmy looked at Rose 's expectation and said, "The two children will really be brought back?"

"Of course," Rose said. "My Uncle Charlie 's child, how could he be out there? It's just Cristina 's side. There's still some work to be done. It should be very soon. When the child is picked up, Theresa can leave the house.." Hearing Rose's words, Jimmy took the initiative to pick two Lego pieces for the child, "Give this one! I think Jake from my sister's house likes it very much. Boys should like these more."

Although the child has not returned yet, it is always necessary to establish a good relationship in advance.

Rose said: "Okay."

At this moment, Jimmy 's cell phone rang. He turned it on, glanced at it, and found that it was Theresa 's phone number. He said to Rose, "You pick it up first, and I'll go take a call."

Rose said, "Go ahead."

Jimmy goes outside and gets a call, "Hello."

Theresa's call, to him, was exactly what was expected.

She has always lived in an ivory tower and was spoiled by her father, an eldest lady who doesn't know the jealousy of the world.

It's just that now, I already have the right in my hand, and I can decide a lot of things.

Theresa know this?

Despite the phone, Theresa heard the triumph in Jimmy 's words, this man...

He just waited to call her by himself!

Theresa said angrily: "You called the kindergarten and asked them to cancel my son's participation in the competition?"

Jimmy said: "I found out so soon! It seems that you really love children! The kindergarten is quite fast. I thought you would come to me in two days!"

Jimmy." Theresa was about to laugh at him. "You're shameless? Even the children."

For adults, this is just a small thing, but for children, it is their dream.

Jimmy said: "Isn't that blaming them for having such a good mother as you?"

Theresa, you are just too self-righteous. You always think things in this world are very simple. It's a pity tha you are no longer the eldest lady who makes everyone coax you, you know

Chapter 140

Chapter 140

What happened today is just to teach you a lesson, so that in the future, you will have a few pounds and a few taels tomorrow. If you are not convinced, in the future, your two children will suffer."

Theresa stood in the kitchen, fingers clenched into fists, dammit!

She didn't expect that this man was so damned!

Theresa said: "You really don't find it ridiculous to say these words. From the beginning to the end, I don't know where I offended you."

When she got divorced, she didn't want to break up with him, she just wanted to get out of this scumbag quickly, so that she wouldn't bother looking at him.

But he didn't expect that his compromise would become the reason for their family and him to bully him. Because she's out of the house, they can use it to blame all the stigma on her. And now...

She has been cautious everywhere!

Try not to interact with him, not to have any entanglement with him, but in his eyes, it seems that he has made a big mistake.

Maybe it's human love!

If you step back one foot, others will advance one foot.

Jimmy said to the phone: "If you don't want to target them, you can come to Blue Gulf to find me at night. How your son will fare in the future depends on you as a mother, whether you are responsible or not!"

Blue Gulf is the house they used to live in.

He told himself to go over, the purpose should not be too obvious!

"Don't even think about it." Theresa said, "I really didn't expect you to make such a shameless request, and you're not afraid of me telling your wife."

"It's up to her to believe you or not," Jimmy said, and hung up the phone.

Theresa held the phone and glanced at the phone screen, wishing to strangle this scumbag to death..

She held back her anger, made dinner, and when she came out, she saw Ben was streaming live and interacting with the audience.

The barrage asked him, "Why is Ben unhappy today?"

Ben hummed, "My teacher won't let me go to the show. I can't buy a present for my mom."

When he complained, he looked aggrieved.

The barrage is comforting him...

Theresa looked at him with a serious look. She used to object to his live broadcast, but now...it feels good, at least when she has no time to spend with him, he has a place to talk to.

Because Ben was unhappy, Theresa went to the Calsis family to help Charlie with acupuncture while eating with the two babies at home today.

Charlie is still in the living room, chatting with Mrs. Calsis.

Mrs. Calsis said, "When did you bring the baby back? Charlie, what did you think?"

Charlie said: "I've been busy lately."

"What?" Mrs. Calsis said. "What could be more important than a child?"

Charlie glanced at her mother and was about to say something when Theresa came in.

His eyes fell on Theresa, and Theresa walked up to Charlie, sat down beside him, and said, "What are you talking about?"

"It's nothing." Charlie knew she didn't like children and didn't like bringing this up in front of her.

Mrs. Calsis was not shy at all. He always felt that it was Theresa's fault that Charlie didn't want to take the child back.

Chapter 141

Chapter 141

She said, "I asked Charlie to take the baby back, but he never agreed. Theresa, you're playing with him behind.

your back, right?"

"I didn't!" Theresa said, "Madam, you have wronged me!"

last time Mrs. Calsis said that Theresa wasn't worthy to be called her mother, Theresa changed her tune.

At this moment, Mrs. Calsis sneered when he heard Theresa's words, "Did you know that my grandson was bullied outside? Just because you never agreed, did you let your grandson suffer outside?"

"Bullying?" Charlie asked, "How to bully?"

Mrs. Calsis said: "How to bully? They have been preparing for a competition before. I heard their teacher say that it was the event sponsored by Sky Music. As a result...now the teacher won't let them go! The whole class

They are all training, but my grandson can't do it? I don't know who is behind the stumbling block." At the end, she glanced at Theresa deliberately, as if Theresa had done it.

She didn't go to see Leonard and Ben today, so she watched Ben when she started the broadcast. Mrs. Calsis.

was angry when she heard Ben say this during the live broadcast..

She even suspected that Theresa was behind it.

Theresa: "."

She is so wronged!

Mrs. Calsis said to Charlie: "People say that a child has a stepmother and a stepfather, and now it seems to be the case! Charlie, I warn you, if my two grandchildren are wronged, I will be without you in the future. This son! It's still Chan, when he's at home, he never makes me angry, how is it like you..."

Chandler Calsis is Charlie's second brother, because he rarely comes home, so every time Mrs. Calsis is upset, he will be remembered.

Charlie said with a headache, "Understood, I will handle this matter."

Although the two children did not come back, it is naturally impossible for the children to be wronged.

"You'd better deal with it for me, otherwise, I'll ask you!"

Mrs. Calsis finished speaking, he snorted, stood up, and went straight upstairs.

Charlie looked at her back, sighed, turned back, looked at Theresa, and took her hand. "Are you feeling better from the cold? Where have you been today?"

"I went home to see the children."

"How long does it take to see a baby? I heard from Brenda that you left early in the morning."

"..." Theresa was in a bad mood because of what Jimmy had done to Leonard and Ben.

But come here now, listening to Mrs. Calsis training Charlie here for a long time, I don't know why, but suddenly I feel more comfortable.

She looked at this very noble man in front of her, and knew that as the person in charge of Calsis Films, there was a lot he could do.

Sky Music is owned by Lu's, and on Nandlall's Group, Charlie can talk.

She asked, "What are you going to do with the two children?"

Charlie said: "I will let Jonathan deal with it. This matter has nothing to do with you. Mom is all about anything now, and she suspects that you did it. You don't have to worry about it."

In his words, full of trust in her, Theresa was a little surprised, "Don't you suspect that I did it?"

Charlie twitched the corners of her mouth when she heard her.

When he smiled, his neat teeth were exposed, and his bright eyes and white teeth made people move.

"Do you have this ability?"

Charlie is n't stupid. Nandlall's Group has Pat in charge. Although he is usually very busy, he can't be afraid of everything, but he doesn't believe that Theresa has the ability.

It's nothing more than some villains making a stumbling block, and it's not a big deal.

Theresa's mouth twitched, resentment, "I don't know if you said that, should I cry or laugh."

"Send me to rest, I'm tired." Charlie rubbed his brows and was taught by his mother as soon as he came back.

Chapter 142

Chapter 142

Theresa listened to him, nodded, and went back to the room with him.

She finished the acupuncture for him and said to Charlie, "Then I'm going back?"

Charlie sat in the chair, stared at Theresa, and said, "Won't you stay tonight?"

His words reminded Theresa of the scene last night, when she was forced to sleep in the same bed with him, and her face turned red and she coughed, "No."

I haven't been with my baby for two days. As a mother, she doesn't have such a big heart. It's better to go home early.

Charlie sat in the chair and watched her go out the door, but didn't leave her behind.

In the evening, the two babies were reading a book in the room. Theresa sat on the side and sent a message to Cristina. After hearing what Jimmy had done, Cristina was very angry and sent a voice message directly, "Is Jimmy still a person? No, he is not at all. Not a man, he's a dog! Bullying children like that. How about Leonard and Ben ?"

Theresa said, "Leonard and Ben are doing their homework right now."

Cristina said: "I went to Mrs. Calsis and asked her to vent her anger on Leonard and Ben. That bastard Jimmy is really mad at me!"

Theresa "Charlie 's mother already knew, and forced Charlie to deal with it. Ben said it during the live broadcast, and she saw it. When I went to the Calsis family, she still thought I did it and told me about it." Theresa sent it with a sweaty emoji. Cristina said: " Mrs. Calsis is very kind to LeonardBen. It can be seen that she really likes her grandson.

Although she is not good to you, she is still kind to Leonard and Ben."

Theresa nodded, "Hmm."

Of course she knew.

So, she was not angry.

No matter what Mrs. Calsis said, Theresa was n't that angry.

Cristina said: "I'm going to wash my face, no, I'm really going to be pissed off by Jimmy. I've never seen such a cheap man! I wish Rose could see through him sooner!"

Theresa raised her eyebrows, realizing that she actually agreed with Cristina, she nodded, "Okay."

The next morning, Cristina had just woken up and had just finished taking a shower when Rose came over.

Cristina opened the door, saw Rose, and said, "Why are you here?"

Because of what Jimmy did, even Rose was not pleasing to the eye,

Rose said, "I bought some presents for the two babies."

"No need." Cristina said, "Mrs. Calsis sent a lot of things last time."

Rose said, "My husband and I bought it this time, as well as Lego. The children must like it. Have they gone out yet?"

She entered the door, did not see the two children, and asked curiously.

Cristina said, "Your husband? Jimmy?"

Jimmy actually buys things for two kids?

Also, he doesn't know now that Charlie's children are the two children he lost.

Cristina took the bag and looked at it. It wasn't cheap. "He's really willing."

Rose smiled and said, "Our family is looking forward to Leonard and Ben going back home. Sister Wanwan, think about it carefully and send the child back, okay?"

Cristina lowered her eyes and said, "I'm thinking about it."

If it was her, she would be eager to send Leonard and Ben to the Calsis family right now, so that Jimmy's bitch.

could have a good look. The child he didn't want at the beginning is now someone he can't stand up to!

Rose said: "You just have to think about it."

Chapter 143

Chapter143

She also believed that their sincerity could move Cristina.

Rose said, "Then I won't bother you! Are you going to work? I'm going to the company too. I'll take you off?" "No." Cristina said, "I'll go by myself."

Rose had to go.

Theresa got up in the morning and sent her two children to the kindergarten. The teacher in charge saw her and said, "Mother Leonard, I'm sorry, I was so embarrassed last night."

"You have nothing to be ashamed of." Jimmy did this. Jimmy is a bit powerful now, likes to play with power and thinks he's amazing.

The kindergarten teachers were ordinary staff members, and Theresa was not so unreasonable as to embarrass her.

The teacher said: "Sky Music called in the morning and said that Leonard and Ben were on the show. They made a mistake before. I'm sorry, I'm also very sad to let the two babies go through such a thing. Leonard and Ben are so good.!"

Theresa looked at Ben, the little guy was upset all night.

"Ben, do you hear me?"

Ben looked at the teacher in disbelief, "Can we also participate in the show?"

The teacher nodded, "Of course, Ben is so good, of course."

"Oh."

Leonard was on the side, cold, he didn't care.

I wasn't very interested in this kind of thing.

Theresa glanced at the two little guys and looked at the teacher, "Thank you for your hard work."

"It's not hard." The teacher looked ashamed.

Theresa came out of kindergarten in a good mood and stopped by for breakfast.

She had just sat down when Jimmy 's phone called, "Theresa!"

Theresa said: "Isn't this President Shen? You're so busy, why did you think of calling me!"

Jimmy has already arrived at the company now, holding his cell phone, his face is black, and he only asked people to stop the performance of Theresa 's two children yesterday, but in a blink of an eye, Charlie personally called and asked. Two kids thing.

sure!

He had thought that Charlie had a child, Theresa was with Charlie, and sooner or later, he had to get out, but he didn't expect that now this woman is a goblin!

Charlie's soul was hooked.

Theresa said, "Didn't you call yesterday and swear that you're amazing? Jimmy, you're nothing more than.

that."

Theresa finished speaking, she hung up the phone, imagining how angry Jimmy was now.

Especially someone like him who likes to use his position to oppress others!

Being oppressed by others, I must be very angry.

Theresa hung up the phone, she saw Cristina had sent a photo of the gift from Rose and Jimmy, and asked, Theresa, "Do you want to send it to you? Or do you want to come pick it up yourself? Jimmy is quite willing to see these things. Not cheap."

He probably didn't expect that the gifts he carefully selected would actually end up in the hands of the two children he hated the most.

Theresa looked at the photo and felt a little sarcastic, "You can give it to someone else! No need."

Jimmy's stuff, she felt sick after using it.

The two kids wouldn't like it either.

Cristina said: "Keep it for now and give it away in a few days. I'm really looking forward to seeing Jimmy know the truth. Theresa, you really don't think about sending your child back to the Calsis family? You live in the Calsis now anyway. family, why do you have to run around so hard every day, why don't you just show up?" Theresa asked Cristina, "You know what Charlie is doing?"

"What?" Cristina wondered.

Chapter 144

Chapter 144

"He's checking how you got pregnant. He suspects that you were instigated by others and have ulterior motives."

""

When Cristina heard this, she felt incredible, "He's sick, so he!"

Theresa twitched the corners of her mouth. "You don't know Charlie yet, so that's why you think of him so easily. How easy is it for him to be where he is today?"

Even if the child is his own and his, so what?

This child was not born for him in the first place.

With this child, can you consolidate your position in the Calsis family?

If this is really possible, then those actresses in the entertainment industry will not be able to give birth to so many children without fathers.

Theresa was afraid that she would be confused for a while, blinded by the sugar-coated cannonballs at the moment, and in the future, she would only regret it for the rest of her life.

In this world, in addition to yourself, where else is there any trustworthy person? Cristina said to Theresa: "Then Charlie will investigate like this, I'll be fine." "What's going on with you?" Theresa said, "Don't worry, I'm here."

Theresa arrived at the Calsis family, she found Charlie sitting at the dining table, having breakfast with Old

Mr. Calsis.

She walked into the dining room, and Old Mr. Calsis saw her and raised the corner of his mouth, "Sarah." Charlie looked up, gave her a look, and Theresa went to the empty seat and sat down.

Charlie asked, "Have you had breakfast?"

"I just ate out." Theresa said: "If I knew you weren't going to the company today, I'd just come over and save a meal."

Charlie raised the corners of his mouth, "It's as if you can't come over to eat when I'm not here. If you want to eat in the future, come over directly. With Old Mr. Calsis here, who would dare to embarrass you?" Theresa looked at Old Mr. Calsis, who was very friendly to her, smiled, and sat aside, watching Charlie finish her meal, and handed the tissue over in advance when she wanted to get a tissue.

Charlie raised his head and glanced at this abnormal woman. She wouldn't take the initiative to be courteous if he didn't call her normally.

What's the wind like today?

He took the tissue from her hand suspiciously and asked, "Why, did you win the lottery today?" "Uh, no!" "Otherwise, why are you in a good mood?"

In his view, there is nothing in the world that attracts Theresa's attention more than Theresa's mouth twitched when she heard Charlie's words, "Just a tissue for you."

She admitted that she looked at him very nicely today.

money.

Because he managed to hit Jimmy!

Jimmy doesn't know how to be proud without him.

thought of Charlie helping the two babies out of her breath made Theresa happy.

Theresa finished speaking, she looked at Old Mr. Calsis and found that the old man was sitting by the side, looking at the two of them, smiling happily.

reason, Old Mr. Calsis didn't say anything, but Theresa was still a little embarrassed by the look in his eyes. She lowered her head, coughed, picked up the water, and took a sip. Suddenly I heard Old Mr. Calsis ask, "By the way, Sarah, what about the two kids? Why haven't I seen them."

66

"..." Although he knew that Old Mr. Calsis 's thoughts were not normal, but Charlie was beside him, Theresa's heart tightened.

Charlie asked, "What kid?"

As soon as his question was asked, he was despised by Old Mr. Calsis. Old Mr. Calsis looked at him and said,

"You! I've said it before, don't just focus on work, but also take care of your family. Leave the kids alone! Just let Sarah take care of the kids!"

Chapter 145

Chapter 145

Seeing Charlie's dazed expression, Theresa explained, "The last time the two children came to the house, Old

Mr. Calsis thought the children belonged to me."

When Charlie heard this, he realized that there was such a thing, "He really likes to think about it, but it's fine."

Theresa looked at him, "How's it going?"

"Old Mr. Calsis likes you as well as the children. The two children will be brought back, and you will take care of them in the future. What do you think?"

"Theresa said, "Pick up? When?"

Charlie said: "As long as you agree, I will pick you up in the afternoon. Mom keeps urging me. I think it's good.

to pick it up. You accompany me to see Cristina in the afternoon."

Theresa frowned when she heard Charlie's words, she really wanted the two children to meet Charlie, and now that she heard Charlie say these words, she had no reason to refuse.

She also asked her to take the children back. She could stay in the Calsis family and take them. Anyway, she and right?

Charlie were married now.

But.....

She didn't know why she felt a little guilty.

Living together every day, she is the mother of the child, it should be exposed soon,

Charlie frowned, wondering what she was thinking, "You don't want to? There are servants at home, you don't need to do anything, but I hope you are their nominal mother."

Theresa looked at Charlie, "I just thought, you and I are going to get divorced in the future... If you come back, we will get divorced in the future!"

"Isn't it too early to get divorced?" Charlie laughed: "And later, divorced... There are people in the family to take care of."

Looking at Theresa 's worried look, he actually wanted to tell her that he could not divorce in the future. But after thinking about it, she still can't make her so proud.

Theresa heard Charlie's words, she remembered that she and Charlie would be divorced in the future, and that the two children would stay in the Calsis family... The mood suddenly became complicated.

Charlie said, "Go for acupuncture first! You've been giving me acupuncture lately, and I feel my legs are much better."

Theresa's face was stiff. She said, "I'm a little uncomfortable. I want to go out and get some air. You go up first."

Theresa stood up and left the restaurant.

Charlie looked at her back and lowered his eyes.

Jonathan stood by and saw Theresa go out. Although she didn't say it directly, she could see that she was very unhappy about bringing the child back.

He said to Charlie, "Madam seems angry!"

Charlie asked, "Is she just disliking children that much?"

"I heard from the aunt at home that the children seem to like the wife very much! The last time I came here, the wife was also very kind to them."

"Then what does she do?"

Jonathan said: "Maybe she is afraid that after your child is brought back, she will not have time to take her own child! He has two children himself."

Charlie looked at Jonathan and said, "Oh. Then take her baby along!"

Jonathan was a little skeptical, "But Mr. Calsis, then you have four children. Don't you like children?"

At that time, there were four children in the family, and that scene...

Charlie said, "What's wrong with four? I can't afford it?"

"..." Jonathan said: "Yes, I can afford it!"

He is busy!

He didn't expect that one day, his own Mr. Calsis would be willing to be a cheap father to others.

Not to mention his identity, even if it is other people, not many men are willing!

why does he think that his family, Mr. Calsis, is quite happy?

Theresa was sitting outside in the garden, picked up her phone and sent a message to Cristina, Cristina said, "What's wrong baby?"

"Charlie said he wanted to bring the baby back today, and asked if I would answer."

Chapter 146

Chapter 146

"..." Cristina said, "Promise! What's not to promise? Think about it, with him as a father, can that scumbag Jimmy still bully Leonard in the future? Baby, I know you Love children, but when you love children, the more you have to think about them. Charlie has the ability to give children the best conditions, and that way you don't have to hide every day!"

"Oh, I'm just a little tangled." She was afraid that she would regret the decision she made hastily for a while. Cristina said: "What's the problem, you just think too much."

"I'm afraid that I will divorce Charlie in the future and I won't be able to take the child with me."

"Why don't you think about it, in case Charlie is attracted to you, she can't leave you!"

"He's not that kind of person." She remembered the last time, he made himself her woman, and what he said was...convenient...

So much so that Theresa 's view of this man is full of disgust.

Cristina said: "Who knows! You are so charming, I'm afraid he won't be fascinated by you."

"Forget it." Theresa said, "Everything you say makes it easier."

"That's because things are so simple! You have too much burden in your heart!"

Theresa sat on the bench, holding her phone, watching Cristina 's news, and reflecting on herself, was she really thinking too much?

"Theresa." She was thinking about the question when she heard Roderick 's voice.

Looking up, he saw Roderick standing beside him, looking at her with a smile in his white suit.

Theresa hurriedly stood up, "Doctor Du."

"Is Charlie there?"

"Yes." Theresa said, "You go in."

After she finished speaking, she sat back on the bench, ready to continue in a daze.

saw Roderick standing aside, looking at her.

With a grin at the corner of his mouth, he looked at Theresa, looking at her like a young man.

Theresa asked, "Are you... okay?"

Roderick came over, sat down on the other end of the bench, and said, "Your business has been settled."

Theresa was startled when she heard this, "Really?"

Roderick said: "The person in charge has been found, and she is back. She did delete some information because of her work mistakes."

"..." Theresa heard this and said, "So that's how it is!"

Roderick said to Theresa: "I came to see Charlie today, and I was talking to him about this matter. Maybe you were implicated at the time and accidentally injured."

"accidental injury?"

Roderick said, "I'll go find Charlie first."

It seemed like something inconvenient to say to Theresa

Theresa couldn't help but stand up and follow.

Charlie was in the living room and Roderick sat down on the sofa beside him.

Theresa stood outside the door and heard them speak.

Roderick said: "I'm sorry Mr. Calsis, it's really my fault for the child."

Charlie looked at Roderick coldly.

Roderick said: "It was the person who was in charge of this at the time who made a mistake and confused. your genes with other people's, which is why this kind of oolong happened and let others have your children." Charlie looked at Roderick and sneered, "You're that professional?"

Roderick said: "I didn't expect such a thing to happen. After the accident, the person in charge resigned and walked away because of a guilty conscience and was afraid that you would pursue it. He also destroyed all the information. I only found out when I went to check it this time."

Chapter 147

Chapter 147

Speaking of which, if Theresa hadn't asked him, he wouldn't have gone to the person who was in charge of it at the time.

When I got it back, I just found out that it was because of Charlie.

person in charge knew Charlie's identity, and when this happened, he panicked and had no choice but to run away before he found out.

It took a lot of effort for Roderick to get the man back!

Theresa stood outside the door, hearing Roderick 's words, and understood why she had two babies.

She thought it was just a coincidence.

Even thought that the disappearance of the data was all done by Jimmy.

It now appears that this is not the case.

But because of the mistakes of the staff...

It's just... such a mistake made her suffer for so long.

Charlie heard this and said, "So, the child's mother is innocent?"

"That's right." Roderick said, "I just want to go to the hospital for artificial insemination and get pregnant with your child. It's purely coincidental and has nothing to do with her."

The hospital already has genes for infertility patients.

And Charlie 's genes are mixed in, it is completely the staff's mistake.

Theresa was also relieved to hear this.

She was really scared before, and Charlie held her accountable.

After all, it is not easy to give birth to a child. If he wants to ask him to pursue his own troubles, she will really be embarrassed.

Roderick looked at Charlie, "How can I say I'm sorry for you, why don't I treat you to dinner?"

"No." Charlie said, "I've been busy lately."

"Yes, then when you are free, I will invite you again."

"Um."

talking to Charlie, Roderick took another sip of tea and came out to see Theresa standing outside the door. Theresa looked at Roderick and said, "Dr. Hill, I have something to ask you. Roderick said, "Go ahead."

Theresa looked inside, followed Roderick for a distance, and said, "It's the data that was destroyed, can you still find it now?"

Roderick said: "The data has been destroyed for a long time, and it should be difficult to restore it now." Theresa said, "That's it!"

Roderick looked at her and said, "However, I will try my best to find a way, no matter what, I will always clear you up."

"Uh..." Theresa said, "If it really doesn't work, forget it."

Roderick finds out the information, maybe she will be the mother of Leonard and Ben!

Theresa asked him, just to see how much Roderick knew.

Judging from his appearance, it seems that he does not know his relationship with the child.

He only thinks she and Cristina are two people!

Thinking of this, Theresa breathed a sigh of relief.

Roderick finished speaking to her and walked out the door.

Theresa didn't come back to the house until after he left, and Charlie said he was going to pick up Leonard and Ben, and she thought, just pick them up.

Anyway, the child is back to take care of her.

That way she doesn't have to run around in front of Charlie every day.

She walked in the door and saw Charlie still sitting on the sofa.

Seeing her come in, he raised his head to look at her and said, "Are you in a better mood?"

+

"Um."

Chapter 148

Chapter 148

"Sit down." Charlie patted the sofa beside him.

Theresa came over, sat down, and said to Charlie, "Charlie, I..."

"I thought about it, and I just have something to discuss with you," Charlie said.

Theresa looked at him in astonishment. "What?"

Charlie said, "I know that you should be under a lot of pressure to suddenly bring your two children back and give you such a heavy burden. It's normal that you don't want to accept it."

"Forehead....."

"So, I thought about it. Since I want to take over my child, why don't I also take over the children in your family. It will be more convenient for you to take care of several children together."

"No... no..." Theresa didn't expect Charlie to make such a sudden request.

There are only two children in total. Her two children are the two children he wants to bring back. Now that he suddenly asked himself to pick up his own children, where did she become two more children? Charlie said: "It doesn't matter, I can afford it. Your children don't have a father to take care of, I can be their father, so that the family can take care of each other in the future. You don't have to be polite and don't worry, wait for them to come, whether it's me My child, or your child, I will treat it equally."

"..." Theresa was ashamed, "really don't, really..."

Why did he suddenly have such thoughts?

No need at all!

I know your old man is rich, but can you not be so reasonable?

With him like this, Theresa didn't know how it would end

But Charlie looked at her anxiously, thinking she was just being polite, he held her hand, trying to reassure her: "I said you don't have to be polite to me. You help me heal my leg, I'm very grateful to you, I can't ignore it. You are willing to let you take care of the child for me. So, we will pick up your child first, and then we will go to see Cristina."

Anyway, gotta deal with Theresa before dealing with Cristina.

Theresa was sweating coldly at Charlie's insistent attitude, and she was afraid that she would not find a good reason for refusing, which would arouse his suspicion.

She was very depressed, and pretended to calmly change the subject: "Let's go to acupuncture first." Charlie looked at her when she agreed: "Okay."

the acupuncture, Theresa came downstairs and found that Jonathan had arranged for the car to wait at the door.

She thought she was going to take her home and was about to get in the car when she saw Jonathan pushing Charlie out.

Theresa looked at Charlie and said, "You're going out too?"

"Go out to dinner!" Charlie said. "I'll go see your baby after eating. Speaking of which, I haven't seen it yet."

"Theresa coughed, not expecting Charlie to remember this, she thought he was just talking casually.

Although this man was not very competent as a biological father, as a stepfather, he took advantage of his position a bit too much.

Theresa had to make up an excuse, "Actually...actually...it's my dad, he said he wanted two kids and planned to pick them up to live with him for a while. You know, my two My kids have grown up with me and haven't seen my dad very much. He met recently, and he likes it. So...I really don't need to pick it up! Let's go see Cristina first., What do you think?"

Charlie heard Theresa 's words and looked at her, "Are you sure?"

Theresa said, "I'm pretty sure!"

She is very, very sure!

When Charlie heard Theresa 's words, she remembered that old man Luo Zhiwen, who was angry with him last time, and Charlie was still a little unhappy.

Now that the child was with Luo Zhiwen, Charlie didn't want to mention it.

At noon, Charlie asked Jonathan to contact Cristina for a meal.

In the dining room, Theresa sat next to Charlie, watching Cristina who had just arrived from work. Cristina sat down on the opposite side, saw Charlie, and said, "What did Mr. Calsis want me to do?"

Chapter 149

Chapter 149

After Cristina finished speaking, she glanced at Theresa and wanted to greet, but thinking that Charlie was here, so she didn't do it.

Charlie said, "I have consulted the hospital and knew the children were just an accident."

Cristina said, "You won't hold me accountable anymore?" Cristina was very angry when she heard that Charlie was going to hold her legally responsible. Although she was not involved, she still felt angry for Theresa. Charlie said indifferently, "Yes, but since they are my children. I want to take them home." Cristina said unconvincingly, "Why can you take them home at will?"

"Jonathan." Charlie said. Jonathan walked over and handed a cheque to Cristina. Cristina saw the figure on the cheque and was stunned. She had to admit, Charlie was really generous! The money was so much that she couldn't earn it even if she worked overtime for her whole life!

Cristina was staring at the figure on the cheque in a daze, and she heard Charlie's words, "This money is enough for you to spend for the rest of your life. However, in the future, I hope you don't visit your children." When Cristina heard this, she instantly felt that the cheque was not good. She looked at Charlie and asked,

"Why?" Before children were born, she had agreed with Theresa that she would be the godmother of the two children, she had been accompanying the two little guys in the past few years.

Charlie said, "My wife will take care of them in the future, so they don't need you. Your existence will affect the harmony of our family." Charlie thought, "Cristina wanted to marry me before! If in the future she seduces me with an excuse of visiting children, that's bad! Especially, Theresa may have a conflict with me." Charlie was a person who hated trouble, so...he wanted to solve these troubles in advance.

Hearing this, Cristina refused, "No! I must visit children! I believe Theresa will agree on it." She said, looked at Theresa, and asked, "Will you?"

Theresa looked at Charlie and said, "Charlie, I think...it is harsh to not let them meet."

Charlie glanced at Theresa, "You are just too soft-hearted!" Theresa was speechless, because she knew she was not soft-hearted, she was clearly...making a way for herself! Fortunately, Charlie listened to her words, "Do whatever you want!" Theresa said so, so he didn't say anything.

Cristina saw Charlie love Theresa, and didn't hate this man so much like before. She glanced at the cheque in front of her. She actually wanted to accept such a large sum of money, not for herself, but for Theresa. After Theresa and Charlie were separated, Theresa would not suffer with such a sum of money. However, after thinking about it, she gave it up! Theresa surely didn't want it, she wanted to the visitation right of her two children more, so Cristina didn't accept the money. Cristina said, "I don't want the cheque! I want to visit the children in the future anytime."

Charlie looked at her and was a little surprised. Cristina shouldn't want such a large sum of money. Charlie didn't force Cristina to accept the money. In his opinion, if Cristina had other ideas, she would be more. stupid.

When school was about, to be over in the afternoon, Theresa and Charlie appeared at the door of the kindergarten. Charlie's car was parked at the door. Theresa sat in the car and was a little nervous. She didn't know why she was so nervous. In the past, she always picked up the children by herself... But this time she was with Charlie! Compared to her nervousness, Charlie seemed to be very calm. He was holding a tablet to read something, and holding a mobile phone in the other hand, answering the phone. Theresa sat beside and looked at him, and heard him communicating with others in Ehenes, and he said some terms that she didn't.

COMPACT

understand.

Chapter 150

Chapter 150

The door of the kindergarten opened, and parents led their children out. Theresa glanced at Charlie and said,

"Can I go to pick up children?"

Charlie said, "Go ahead."

After Theresa got out of the car, Jonathan also got out of the car. Theresa came to pick up the children every day, but she was so nervous today. She walked in front, but she couldn't even walk. Jonathan followed her, raised the corner of his mouth, and said, "Ms. Cameron, are you nervous?"

Theresa said, "It's a little bit. I pick up my own children from school every day. It's the first time for me to pick up 'someone else's' children."

Jonathan said, "In the future, you will get used to it."

Theresa said, "You can just wait at the door, and I'll pick them up."

Jonathan asked, "Can you?"

"I think I can." Theresa had to take advantage of the time to let the two children know something first, to avoid being exposed. Jonathan looked at her suspiciously, but he still stopped at the door and waited. Theresa entered the door, greeted to the teacher, and saw her two children. The two babies came over and hugged her, "Mom." Theresa was most afraid of letting Jonathan see the scene. After all, in the eyes of Charlie and Jonathan, Theresa was not the biological mother of the two children. If the two babies were so affectionate with her, they would probably be suspicious.

Theresa looked at Leonard and Ben, and said, "Let's go!" She led the two babies out, and took them to the bathroom first. In the process, she told Leonard and Ben the situation, saying, "Leonard, Ben, we will move to Dad's place today."

Ben heard this and saw Theresa vigilantly, "Mom, don't you live with us anymore?"

"Of course not." Theresa said, "I will also come over. I have been working at the Calsis family. Now I'll take you.

over there. We will live there for a while in the future."

"Really?" Ben was looking forward to it. Calsis's Residence was very big, and he liked it very much! Moreover, he wanted a father... Since he was a child, he had always wanted to know why everyone else had a father and mother, but he didn't!

Theresa nodded, "Yeah, of course. However, you should not forget one thing. When they asked you, you should say Cristina was your mother."

"Then can't I call your mother in Calsis's Residence?" Leonard was very suspicious.

Theresa said, "You can also call me mom." It didn't matter anyway. Her current identity was Charlie's wife, their stepmother. Leonard breathed a sigh of relief immediately. He was not happy at all if he was not allowed. to address Theresa as mom.

After Theresa explained this to the two children, she led them out. When she came out, she saw Jonathan was still at the door, he looked at Theresa nervously, "I thought you were not coming out!" He even narrowly thought whether Theresa would take the opportunity to abduct and sell children.

"We went to the bathroom." Theresa introduced Jonathan to children, "This is Uncle Jonathan."

Ben said, "Hello, Uncle Jonathan." Leonard looked at Jonathan and said nothing.

Jonathan looked at the faces of the two babies who looked exactly like Charlie, and was a little excited. Although he had seen them in Calsis Residence last time, he was still in awe when he saw these two little guys again, as if he had seen Charlie. He respectfully said, "Get in the car first!" As he said that, he took the initiative to reach out, to hold Leonard. Leonard glanced at him coldly, and passed his hand to Theresa who was beside him.