

Marry Ex's Uncle After Divorcement

Chapter 301

Chapter 301

"Yes." Theresa said: "I was also surprised when I first met Charlie. I didn't expect Charlie to be the father of the child. I have to say that it is really destined! So, Dad, I am now There's no way I'm going to leave the Calsis family unless I don't want these two kids."

Johnson listened to her answer and fell silent.

He originally thought about letting Theresa leave the Calsis family and completely cut ties with Charlie.

But unexpectedly, Theresa's two children turned out to be Charlie's.

This is the end of the matter, there is no way to force her anymore.

"What do you want me to say about you?"

Is this the evil fate?

Theresa looked at her father and said, "Actually, Charlie is quite a nice person. You'll know it after you get in touch with him. Dad, you just need to take care of yourself and take care of your health. Let me take care of the rest."

She knew that her father was worried about him, so she dispelled all doubts in his heart.

Theresa got into the car while chatting with her father.

The driver sent Theresa and the two children back to the Calsis family. Before getting out of the car, Theresa said to Leonard and Ben: "Say goodbye to grandpa."

"Goodbye, Grandpa."

While in the car, Johnson had already seen the cuteness of the two children.

He looked at Theresa and said, "Bring more children back home when I have time. I want to see them."

"I will." Theresa smiled and opened the car door.

Seeing the driver drive away, she led the two children into the door.

When I got to the living room, I saw that Brenda was preparing something, and seemed very anxious.

Theresa said: " Brenda."

Brenda saw Theresa and said, "Ma'am, you're back!"

Theresa said, "No one at home?"

"Everyone has gone to the hospital, Miss Rose's child is gone, she is recuperating in the hospital now." Brenda packed her things and said to Theresa: "By the way, Madam called back and asked you to go to the hospital with me. Say I have something to do with you."

Theresa frowned when she heard this, remembering that Rosales had gone home today....

Leticia has something to do with herself, maybe it's because of Rose, right?

After all, Rose saw her talking to Jimmy before falling, so she must be blamed for this incident.

Theresa said: "I see."

She sent Leonard and Ben upstairs to do their homework, then came downstairs and got on the car to the hospital with out of the car, Brenda led Theresa forward. Brenda came here once in the morning, so she knew which ward Rose lived in She led Theresa to the ward, and before she entered, she saw Jimmy standing at the door.

Brenda.

Seeing Theresa approaching, Jimmy 's face darkened, wishing to strangle her to death, "You still have the face to come here?"

"..." Theresa stopped, looked at Jimmy, and said nothing.

Jimmy said." Theresa, my child is gone, you are happy!"

"What did I do?" Theresa looked at him, and the angrier he got, the more she thought he deserved it.

Jimmy said. "You know what you did."

Jimmy was in a bad mood.

Rose's baby is gone.

Chapter 302

Chapter 302

The point is that now, she doesn't want to talk to him at all, and won't let him into the ward, so he can only stay outside. Theresa said: "Jimmy, your child is gone, you should blame yourself. You don't accumulate virtue, this is your retribution!" Jimmy heard her words, he was so angry that he grabbed her neck directly, "What did you say?"

"Mr. Shen." Seeing this scene, Brenda also widened her eyes in surprise.

Unexpectedly, Jimmy would actually attack Theresa...

Theresa looked at him and said with a smile: "You do it, strangle me, I want to see, do you dare!"

Jimmy said: "Why don't I dare, Theresa, I have never seen such a vicious woman like you!"

She knew Rose was there and said those words on purpose.

He didn't know it at the time, but now he has figured it all out. She did it on purpose to drive a wedge between him and Rose Thinking of this, he grabbed Theresa 's neck and tried harder.

Brenda was dying of anxiety, "Mr. Shen."

This is how to do ah?

She didn't know how to help either.

At this moment, Rosales came out of the ward. Seeing this, she rushed over and stopped Jimmy, Jim, what are you doing? Are you crazy?"

"She made me childless, and I want her to pay for it." There was only deep hatred in Jimmy's eyes.

Theresa reached out and rubbed her neck. He just pinched her so painfully that she couldn't speak at the moment.

Rosales stood aside, because she knew Theresa was holding Jimmy's hand, she didn't dare to offend Theresa now, and said to Jimmy: "You are confused! What does this matter have to do with Theresa? The child is gone, it's an accident. The doctor also said that Rose is not in good health."

Rosales now dare not put the blame on Theresa in the slightest is rare for Jimmy to see his mother speak for Theresa. All along, his mother hates Theresa the most, "Mom, are you crazy?"

I'm afraid that if Theresa is dissatisfied, the Watson family will be destroyed forever.

Theresa stood aside, watching Rosales speak for herself coldly, for some reason, she always found it funny.

Rosales didn't care what Jimmy said, but just looked at Theresa and said, Theresa, Jim just lost his child and he's not in a good mood. Don't take it to heart, Rose is inside, you go in."

Mrs. Watson, who has always been aggressive, is extraordinarily 'reasonable' at the moment.

Theresa heard her words and followed Brenda into the ward. Even Brenda felt that Rosales had taken the wrong medicine and kept looking back at Rosales.

In the ward, Rose was sitting on the bed, her little face was pale, with no blood at all.

She was getting an infusion, and Leticia was sitting on the sidelines watching her. Brenda walked in with the chicken soup she had stewed, "Ma'am."

Leticia raised her head and looked at Brenda. Brenda put the chicken soup aside and took it out, ready to pour it out for Rose to drink.

Rose had already seen Theresa following in.

Seeing Theresa, Rose, who had finally calmed down, became excited again. She said with red eyes: Theresa ! You give me back my child!"

. " Theresa heard Rose's words and said, "I'm also very sad that your child is gone. Rose, take care of yourself."

"Hehe..." Theresa's comforting words caused Rose to laugh loudly, "Are you disgusting? You should be very proud that my child is gone! What are you talking about now, take care?"

Leticia sat aside, looked at Rose, reached out her hand gently, touched the top of her head, and said to Theresa." Theresa, you go out first." Theresa nodded and walked out the door.

As soon as she went out, she saw Pat. Rose had an accident, and Pat came back on a special trip. Rose was pregnant, he was abroad. Unexpectedly, before he returned to China, Rose 's child was gone. Pat glanced at Jimmy standing at the door, and slapped him straight across the face.

Chapter 303

⌘

Chapter 303

Jimmy stood straight and didn't fight back.

After beating Jimmy, Pat raised his head and his gaze fell on Theresa, almost equally cold.

He opened his mouth and said meaningfully: " Miss Cameron."

* Mr. Nandall is good." Theresa greeted proactively.

Pat looked at her and smiled, "You are Charlie's wife and another woman, I won't fight with you. But... your family should receive the gift I prepared for you."

After he finished speaking, he pushed Theresa away and walked into the ward, not even bothering to look at Theresa Theresa stood at the door, startled, family?

heard some rumors about Pat earlier, I heard that he is very ruthless, and most people are afraid of him.

She would never naively think that what Pat said just now was just to scare her.

Theresa didn't care about anything, she came out of the hospital directly, took a taxi, and was going back to the Cameron family.

It was off-duty time at this point, and the road was very congested. Theresa took her mobile phone and called home, but no one answered the call.

She was so anxious that she didn't know why, but she thought of Charlie.

His brother's thing, he should...

Can you manage it?

With a little hope, she picked up the phone again and called Charlie.

She suddenly realized that she was still, quite dependent on him.

It may be because he has been helping her, so that she will habitually think of him when she encounters something now.

Who knows, Charlie didn't answer.

Charlie was sitting in the meeting room. He had just finished the meeting and was thinking about whether to go home, but when he thought of Theresa leaving with her father, he ignored her. He sat aside, looked at the lit phone screen, and didn't reach out to answer the phone.

Theresa couldn't get through to him and guessed he might still be in a meeting, so she called Jonathan.

Jonathan stood aside, took out his cell phone, glanced at it, and said to Charlie, " Mr. Calsis, it's my wife's call."

"Bye."

Jonathan had no choice but to hang up the phone after hearing his words.

I really don't understand him. He obviously cares a lot about this woman. He has been looking at his phone today, just waiting for Theresa to call.

result, Theresa called, but he didn't answer it again.

A bit like a primary school student throwing a temper tantrum!

Theresa couldn't get through to both of them. Seeing that it was not far from Charlie 's company, she asked the driver to divert to Charlie 's company.

The family doesn't know what's going on now, but she knows that maybe she can't help if she goes there.

Pat are not something she can afford to offend.

Looking for Charlie... Maybe there's still some hope.

However, as soon as she arrived at the company, Theresa was stopped by the company's security, "Miss, work permit."

Theresa said, "I'm looking for Charlie."

Hearing what she said, the security guard laughed mockingly, "Many people have come to see Mr. Tang, do you have an appointment?"

Theresa looked at the man, "I was here last time."

The last time she came, it was also this man who treated her respectfully and let her in directly.

Now you are asking her for a work permit?

The security guard said: "We are also business-like, please don't make things difficult for us."

.." Theresa looked at the security guard's cold face and asked, "What does Charlie mean?"

The security guard didn't speak.

Theresa sighed helplessly. She took out her mobile phone and called several times, but couldn't get through.

Charlie doesn't answer her calls at all!

Just because she ignored him when she left in the morning, he had to

Chapter 304

Chapter 304

Theresa had no choice but to get out of his company. She took the subway and went back to the Camerons. After getting off the subway and running all the way back, she was amazed to see the house was in a mess and all the furniture was smashed to pieces.

At this time, Robert and the maids were helping to tidy up. Johnson was sitting on the sofa with a head wound while Leah was crying to help him clean the wound on his head.

Was this the 'gift' from Pat? Thinking of this, Theresa was white and trembling with anger. She asked, "What's going on here?"

Robert said, "A group of people burst into the house and smashed all the furniture up. We have called the police. and they were taken away."

In spite of this, everyone, nevertheless, was shocked, especially Johnson was injured.

Theresa swept the house and recalled what Pat had said to her. She had always known that she couldn't offend those powerful like him, but she didn't expect Pat would be so arrogant! She sat down beside her father, and couldn't help but be worried that Pat would make trouble again.

Just then, a maid came in, "Ms. Cameron, there's someone waiting outside."

"Who is he?" Theresa was a little surprised but walked out anyway.

After she came out of the house and found a car parked in front of the house with the windows down and Pat was sitting inside. As soon as Theresa saw him, she clenched her fists unconsciously tightly. She never thought that he would dare to laugh at her at the gate of her house. "Is this the gift you gave me?"

Pat sneered, "Just a warning to remind you that Rose is my daughter, and you should think twice before bullying her!" Then he closed the window and asked the driver to drive away.

Just like Robert said, those who vandalized her house were indeed arrested by the police, but the real culprit. behind the scene was still on the loose.

Theresa stood still for a long time, and then she returned home to company her father. Not until he fell asleep did she come out to go back to Calsis's Mansion.

In Calsis's Mansion, Charlie was already back and was sitting in the living room, talking to Ben gently while Leonard was sitting aside watching TV.

Every time before, Theresa had enjoyed watching him with the children, but now she was only disappointed in him.

Charlie looked up and saw her, asking indifferently, "You are back."

Theresa felt his bad mood and headed straight upstairs without answering him.

"Stop!" Charlie growled at her.

She felt that she was like a servant at his command. She stopped and asked, "What's up, Mr. Calsis?" She didn't call him Charlie this time.

Charlie stared at her coldly, glanced at the two children, and said to Jonathan, "Jonathan, take the two children upstairs." He didn't want the kid to see him and Theresa arguing!

Chapter 305

Chapter 305

Jonathan came over and said, "Leonard, Ben, let's go upstairs to play."

Noticing Leonard and Ben's glance, Theresa said, "Go ahead."

Then the two children stood up and followed Jonathan out of the living room.

After they left, Charlie asked in a cold voice, "I told you that since you left with your father, there is no need for you to come back!" Although if she really didn't come back, he would certainly find a way to keep her. He had been thinking about it all day that what would he do if Theresa wouldn't come back. He swore he would not beg her again in case of losing his self-respect.

Theresa heard Charlie's words and thought it was ridiculous. She turned back to look at Charlie. She had always been clear that there was a huge gap between them, and in order to protect her family she had to try her best to please him and flatter him even if she was reluctant. However, no matter what she tried, she could not narrow the gap, so at this moment, she gave up and said, "In that case, let's get a divorce!"

"What?" Charlie froze for a moment. He just said those cruel words to force her to admit her mistake, but he didn't expect that she would directly ask for a divorce and didn't even care about the future of the Camerons. Theresa repeated, "I want a divorce from you. Now!" Although they had agreed that she would not leave until he recovered, Theresa felt that she could not stand him any longer.

Charlie stared at her and asked, "That's the answer you gave me after you met your father. Sure enough, everyone is more important to you than me!" He regretted letting her see his father.

"I'm tired." Theresa said, "Please ask Jonathan to sort out the agreement as soon as possible."

"I won't agree to it."

"Anyway, suit yourself." She finished and went straight upstairs.

Charlie looked at her back, even more annoyed and he couldn't accept this result.

Theresa stood in the doorway, staring at Jonathan who was playing with the two children.

Jonathan noticed her and asked, "Ms. Cameron, have you finished talking?"

Theresa said, "I want to divorce him, please go and sort out the divorce agreement."

Chapter 306

Chapter 306

Jonathan had prepared their marriage agreement for them, so Theresa thought it was reasonable for him to sort out the divorce agreement.

But Jonathan refused, "Mr. Calsis will not agree to it." As a result, he wouldn't prepare the divorce agreement for her.

Theresa said, "It seems that I have to prepare it by myself?"

Jonathan looked at Theresa and said, "Ms. Cameron, Mr. Calsis has been waiting for your call all day long. He's a little moody, but he still cares about you."

"Shut up." Theresa interrupted Jonathan, "Do you know that I have called him several times today?"

Jonathan nodded, "Yes, I know."

"But he didn't answer!" Theresa would always remember how desperate she felt when she couldn't find him.

Jonathan asked, "What happened to you?"

"Nothing." Theresa said, "I won't ask him for help anymore. If you don't prepare the divorce agreement, I'll get it myself." Then she walked to her bedroom and turned on her computer. She hadn't used a computer for a long time, but this time she needed to fight for herself.

Theresa was sitting at her computer, preparing the details of the agreement when Charlie pushed open the door.

and came in.

Charlie came over in his wheelchair and asked, "Are you really going to divorce me?"

Theresa ignored him, absorbed in the agreement.

Charlie reached over, "Theresa! Look at me."

Theresa asked rhetorically, "Why? Do you think you can change my decision?"

Charlie asked, "Because of your father?"

Theresa remembered her father's wound and nodded, "Yes! Although he is just an insignificant person to you, he is my father who is much more important than you."

She didn't know where he got the confidence to try to compete with her dad.

Charlie stared at her cold expression and uncontrollably became panicked.

He negotiated with her, "I will forget what you have done today but I won't agree to divorce you."

Theresa sneered, "Charlie, did you get something wrong? No matter whether you agree or not, I don't want to go on living with you anymore."

"You dislike me just as much as your father, don't you?" Her attitude made him a little annoyed. He let arm and said, "Your father doesn't allow you to stay with me just because I am a cripple, right?" Theresa shook her head and said, "You are the master of Calsis family, no one will despise you stand."

go of her

even if you can't

Charlie said, "When have your family members ever looked up to me? In their eyes, I'm afraid I'm not even as good as an ordinary person." Thinking about this, Charlie felt his dignity was deeply abused by her. On the contrary, for her sake, he couldn't do anything to the Camerons!

Theresa said, "I'm just telling you the truth. Charlie, now that you are going to recover, why not let me go and let go of my, Okay?"

"Impossible!" Charlie said, "If you dare to leave me, the Camerons will immediately go bankrupt."

Chapter 307

Chapter 307

Charlie felt it was shameful that he could only force her not to divorce him in this way. He was sure that once he agreed to sign this agreement, she would leave decisively.

Theresa was amazed by his words and sneered, "I really didn't expect that you are such a shameless person!"

"Yes!" Charlie simply didn't even deny it anymore, "If I hadn't met you, I wouldn't have known that I could be so shameless!"

Theresa was bored talking to him, so she put down the mouse and stood up, ready to leave the study.

Charlie suddenly tugged her hand and held her in his arms tightly.

Theresa was nowhere to escape and cursed, "Bastard, let me go!!"

Charlie was so irritated that he lowered his head and bit her hard on the shoulder.

Theresa struggled with violent pain, "Ouch, what are you doing?" She didn't expect that he would bite her! Theresa gave up struggling and Charlie finally let go of her. She checked the wound, finding it was bleeding, but he seemed quite happy and said, "This is the mark I left so you can remember me later."

She glowered at him, gritting her teeth, "Rascal!"

Charlie didn't get angry at her scold, gently caressing her hair, "Be good, don't leave me. You know I have a bad temper, so you shouldn't always mess with me!"

She frowned and vented her anger on his hand in the same way. No matter how hard she bit, he didn't struggle, just quietly watching her.

Theresa stopped and asked in confusion, "Is it painful?"

"Yes." He said in a deep voice, "But I am willing to be bit by you."

She was stunned for a moment and blushed, "You idiot!" Theresa did not expect that they would end up the conflict in such a way. After calming down, she turned to Charlie, "Let go of me." "Will you still divorce me?" He stared at her, and it seemed that if she nodded, he wouldn't let her go.

Theresa said, "We'll talk about it later."

Charlie said, "Alright, just stay here unless you promise you won't leave me."

Theresa sneered, "Charlie, I don't love you anymore!"

"It doesn't matter." Charlie said, "When I can stand up, you will stay by my side willingly."

Theresa really wanted to explain to him that she didn't mind his disability, but she held it back and said, "I'm going to the bathroom."

#

Chapter 308

Chapter 308

Charlie heard her words and let her go, "Go ahead."

Theresa stood up and went into the bathroom. She lifted her shirt and looked over her shoulder where he had bitten her, which was extremely painful. However, Charlie, sitting in his wheelchair, stared at his injury with a sweet smile.

Theresa came out of the bathroom and sat down in front of him, with a medicine cabinet in her hand. She asked, "Give me your hand."

Charlie was relieved and murmured, "Theresa."

Theresa ignored him and picked up the alcohol, spraying it into his wound, "Does it hurt?"

"Ouch." He pretended to be wronged, but Theresa didn't care about his feeling, pressing his wound harder instead. He asked, "Are you revenge on me?"

Theresa raised her eyes to look at Charlie, "Do think that I'm treating your wound because I feel sorry for you?"

Charlie said. "You're so mean!"

Theresa said, "Does it still hurt?"

"No." He became very depressed.

Theresa paused when she heard his words. Then she put everything away and then walked over to the couch and sat down.

Charlie said, "I need to take a shower."

"Go ahead."

Charlie was going to ask her for help, but it occurred to him that he refused her help before, so he went into the bathroom without bothering her.

Theresa sat on the couch and asked Cristina to introduce her a lawyer to consult about divorce.

After Charlie finished washing, he ignored her and straightly went to lie down on the bed himself.

Suddenly, Theresa's phone rang and she picked it up, "Hello, Roderick."

Charlie was about to fall asleep when he heard his name. He was lying down and could only see Theresa sitting there, her slender fingers holding the phone. A strong sense of crisis attacked him and he immediately became sober.

Roderick asked, "How's Charlie? Have you made up with him?"

"Not yet." Theresa frowned, not expecting Roderick to be quite so concerned about Charlie.

Roderick laughed, "What can I do for you?"

Theresa said, "No need, he and I are already getting a divorce."

When she mentioned divorce, she heard Charlie break the glass. She turned back and found Charlie still awake. staring at her with a complicated expression.

She ignored him and continued to talk to Roderick on the phone.

Roderick asked, "What's going on?"

Chapter 309

Chapter 309 He Agreed

"Nothing," said Theresa simply. Although she considered herself a loser, she didn't want to lay herself. open to ridicule. Besides, in her eyes, Roderick was less than a good friend, so she refused to tell him what happened. today.

Roderick persuaded, "I can give you advice if you are in trouble."

"Thanks, but I am okay."

Roderick could sense her bad mood through the phone, but gave up persuading her into telling what happened. After talking with her for a while, he hung up the phone.

Theresa went to take a shower. When she came back to the bedroom, she saw Charlie reading a book. She was surprised because she had thought that he was sleeping.

Charlie looked up and asked, "Did Roderick call you just now?"

She looked away. "It's none of your business." She didn't want to sleep next to him on the same bed, so she took out a quilt from the wardrobe and put it on the sofa.

Staring at her cold expression, he asked, "You are being cold for the sake of early divorcement, aren't you?" "How could you do that to me? It hurts!"

Her mouth twisted. 'I don't mean that. What are you talking about? You are so good at slandering.' She then said impatiently, "Oh, yes. You are right. So please divorce me as soon as possible." "But I love your coldness. And your angry face," replied he with cheekiness.

She rolled her eyes at him and lay on the sofa, silent.

The next morning when Theresa just woke up, she saw Charlie practicing walking alone near the wall. She wondered. 'When did he get up?'

After he took a few steps, he fell awkwardly on the ground and thumped his legs angrily.

She didn't disturb him but lay on the sofa quietly, watching him fall down but crawl up many times with all his strength. With a bit of pity for him, she believed that if she were he, she would go insane. She kept watching him struggle for almost an hour without drawing his attention.

Suddenly he tilted his head toward her and met her gaze, which dazed him. Then he straightened up quickly and leaned against the wall slightly. "When did you wake up?"

'He's trying to look well.' She answered, "Actually, I am still sleepy." She closed her eyes as she spoke.

With his eyes fixed on her, he didn't know what he should say. After a while, he reached out his hand to hold hers.

She opened her eyes to find him back in his wheelchair with his white shirt all wet with sweat.

He looked into her eyes seriously. "If you insist on divorcing, I agree."

She became much sober now. Thinking for a few seconds, she asked, "Really?" "But you were so stubborn last night and said no to me many times. Why do you suddenly tell me you agree?"

He continued, "But I have a condition for that. We won't divorce until my legs totally recover. I don't want to be abandoned again when I should sit in a wheelchair. So when my legs recover, I will divorce you. Okay?"

She got his point and realized why he didn't let her go. 'It's not because he loves me. He just cares about his pride and esteem. He was once abandoned by Sarah, which hurt his pride. Now he just wants to stand on his dignity and doesn't allow me, a once-divorced woman, to abandon him.'

Chapter 310

Chapter 310 She Felt Like a Loser

Theresa glanced at his legs on the wheelchair.

Sensing her hesitation, Charlie asked, "Is there any problem? You have told me that I can stand up one day. Is that a lie?"

She put a strand of her hair behind her ear and lay on the sofa again. "Nothing wrong. Now just keep quiet. I am taking a rest." She was not as emotional as last night. After a few seconds, she heard someone knocking at the door. Before she stood up to answer the door, she saw him going to open it in his wheelchair. 'He has always asked me to open the door. But this time... What's wrong with him today?"

Ben's voice came from the door. "Daddy, is my mommy awake?"

Looking down at his son, Charlie asked with a frown, "So you came here for your mother, not me." He was unhappy with that. After all, Ben was his natural son, who, however, preferred Theresa to him and treated Theresa as his natural mother.

Ben soon noticed the wound on Charlie's hand, which was already scabbed after a night. He asked, "Daddy, your hand. When did you get hurt?"

Charlie glanced at it and answered, "Oh, a dog bit me yesterday."

Theresa was speechless. 'What? It was you that bit me first!' She stood up and walked over to them. Smiling at Ben, she said, "Good morning. Ben."

Ben had dressed already. He had had servants help him wear the clothes since he lived in the Calsis, which was a great help to Theresa.

Leonard stood next to Ben. Both Leonard and Ben looked at Theresa caringly. Then Ben said, "I am going to school soon."

"Okay," replied Theresa.

"Mommy, are you feeling good?" asked Ben.

Theresa didn't expect that her sons would be so concerned about her. Although she had long known that her sons were thoughtful, she was touched again. She had been in a bad mood since she came back last night, because of the disaster in the Camerons. Now she became vigorous again thanks to her sons' concern. She nodded and said, "Yes. Did you have your breakfast?"

Ben said, "No, we are going to have breakfast."

"Okay, so am I," replied Theresa, who walked out of the bedroom with the kids. She had thought that Pat wasn't in the house. When she came downstairs with her sons, however, she found Pat sitting in the dining room. together with Mrs. Calsis.

When Theresa came over with the kids, Mrs. Calsis was talking with Pat. Noticing them, she said, "Good morning, Leonard, Ben."

Pat looked up at Theresa. His mouth twisted with disdain.

Theresa met his gaze and sensed the prejudice in his eyes, which stunned her. Every time he showed up, she somehow felt that she was inferior to him. Also, she felt a surge of beating him. "Why are you standing there? Take a seat," someone said gently behind her.

Theresa turned around and saw Charlie who was staring at her in his wheelchair. Reminded by him, she realized that she was standing still for a long while.

Charlie averted his gaze from Theresa to the kids. "Go and have your breakfast. You are late for school." Then he came to the dining table and said to Pat, "Good morning."

Pat said, "Good morning. I came here last night. You know, Rose is in the hospital. I should take care of her."

Chapter 311

Chapter 311 Could She Come Back?

Charlie didn't go to see Rose yesterday since it was inconvenient for him to go to the hospital in a wheelchair.

So he asked, "How's Rose? Is she okay?"

Mrs. Calsis sighed. "She cries a lot. She loves her baby very much. But the baby is gone. It is a disaster to her." She felt depressed as well.

Standing aside, Theresa just listened to their discussion about Rose, silent.

When Theresa turned around to leave, Charlie said to her, "Come here please." Although he had quarrels with her, he was polite to her when others were around.

Theresa walked over and sat next to him. After all, she was here to have breakfast with her kids. She was feeding Leonard and Ben while aware of Pat's gaze on her. It was the most terrible thing for her to have breakfast with her enemy at the same table. 'Maybe I should tell Charlie what Pat did yesterday. She thought, but then she gave up this idea. 'It's useless to do that. Pat is Charlie's brother, who gets along with all the whole Calsis. Nobody in the Calsis would fight against Pat for me. I shouldn't be so naïve."

Pat continued, "Charlie, I hope that Rose can return and live here. I have discussed it with mom. You know she is not well. I don't want her to live in the Watsons anymore." He was clear that it was Charlie who asked Rose to live in the Watsons just for the sake of Theresa. So if he wanted Rose back, he should discuss it with Charlie. Actually, he didn't need Charlie's approval; he had made the decision together with Mrs. Calsis. Besides, Rose just lost her baby so he knew that Charlie wouldn't say no to his suggestion.

Charlie said, "Okay. I agree with you. She can live here."

Pat said, "Great. I told Rose about it yesterday and she insisted that you wouldn't agree. I wonder what has happened between you and Rose. You know, she used to follow you everywhere. But now she seems to be afraid of you." He then gave Theresa a glance significantly. In his eyes, Charlie had been aloof to Rose since he married Theresa.

Charlie had lived with Pat since his childhood, so he understood Pat's connotation. He said, "I don't dislike Rose. Maybe sometimes I am too strict with her. But I always hope that she will live a happy life. Jimmy is not a good man, is he? But Rose loves him so much that she obeys him blindly.

Pat agreed with him.

Chapter 312

Chapter 312 You Are not Qualified

Pat nodded. "You are right. I know you are good to Rose. She has just been spoiled by us. I haven't stopped her from living with Jimmy. Now I hope that she can leave him, but it is so difficult. She's not well and I can't force her to do that." He bore grudges against Jimmy. The two people he hated the most were Jimmy and Theresa, so on seeing Jimmy yesterday, he couldn't help slapping him on the face. But since Jimmy was still Rose's husband, he held back his anger and didn't beat Jimmy hard. He then continued, "Oh, she hasn't talked with Jimmy since yesterday. I think maybe she has got to know that he is not a good husband. Charlie, don't be so strict with her, okay?"

Charlie asked, "Really? It kind of surprises me."

Pat added, "She seldom listened to me. Now she has come to realize what Jimmy hides from her. I am sure that she won't fall in love with him so blindly. Oh, I should thank Theresa for that." He finally mentioned Theresa. Theresa was putting some toast on Leonard's plate when she heard her name. She was dazed.

The next second, Pat said, "If Rose hadn't seem Jimmy stay with her, she wouldn't have realized his true self now."

Charlie did a double take and then turned to Theresa.

Mrs. Calsis's face also fell.

Pat continued, "Charlie, I know you are always nice to the family. But you are inexperienced in love. I hope that you should be careful about your relationship with your wife. I don't think she has told you about Jimmy." Clenching her fists, Theresa flared up. She knew that if Pat kept making up stories about her, she would be infamous in the family. So she said loudly, "Mr. Nandlall, you must be kidding. It was Jimmy that begged me to chat with him for a short while. I have no relationship with him, okay? I am also sorry for your daughter's miscarriage. But you seem to blame me for that. I am totally wronged!" "So you think I wrong you?" Hearing Theresa's retort, Pat was angry too. "I don't think so. You are Sarah's sister, Ms. Camerons. And we have long known the morality of the Camerons. What did your sister do to Charlie? Do remember that? Oh, poor Charlie. He was forced by his grandfather to marry you. You are not good enough for him, are you?"

you

"It's none of your business," argued Theresa. "If you are bored, just keep an eye on Rose and Jimmy. It's they that stir up trouble from the beginning."

Pat replied, "Of course, I will watch them. Also, I hope you know your place." His words reminded Theresa of what happened yesterday. As a smart guy, he didn't mention what he did to the Camerons in front of Charlie and Mrs. Calsis. And he was also clear that if Theresa spoke it out, she would seem to defame him with that. He was confident and wore a triumphant expression.

Mrs. Calsis looked at Theresa and said, "Pat seldom came back here. You should be polite to him. Besides, I want to ask you about what happened to Rose. Are you responsible for her miscarriage? Why did Rose tell me that you are the culprit?" She always cared about Pat and Rose and treated Pat as her natural son. Theresa said, "If you want to know the truth, just check the surveillance footage. You have long known how Jimmy and Rose treat me. Maybe the biggest mistake I have ever made is living here."

Pat smiled. "Then just leave. Why are you still here? Aren't you going to divorce Charlie? Just get out of here." He sneered at her.

Theresa put down the fork in her hand and stood up. "I am eager to leave as soon as possible. But your brother always stops me. You should persuade him into letting me go." Then she looked at her kids. "Leonard, Ben, let's leave."

Leonard and Ben hadn't finished their breakfast. Hearing Theresa's words, they stood up quickly as well. Mrs. Calsis was nervous. "They haven't finished. You can't ask them to leave."

Chapter 313

Chapter 313 Have You Done Anything to Her?

Mrs. Calsis knew that the kids loved Theresa, so she was afraid that they would leave with her. Theresa explained, "I am going to drive them to school."

Mrs. Calsis checked the clock and said, "It's still early. Leonard, Ben, finish your breakfast."

Ben said, "No, I am full."

Mrs. Calsis thought. 'There's a lot on your plate. You aren't full.'

Leonard didn't say anything but walked over to Theresa and held her hand.

Mrs. Calsis realized that the kids followed Theresa, so she persuaded the kids, "Don't worry. It's too early for you to go to school. I can drive you there later." However, no matter what she said, the kids just stood still with Theresa and silence dropped into the room. "Charlie, you see? Your sons are so stubborn," she had no choice. but to complain.

Charlie looked at Theresa and said to her, "Go and drive the kids to school."

Theresa was a bit surprised because she had thought that he would ask her to leave alone without the kids. After a few seconds, she gave him a glance and left with Leonard and Ben.

Staring after them, Mrs. Calsis felt a headache. She asked Charlie, "Why did you let her go with your sons?" Charlie didn't answer. He looked at Pat and said evenly in a polite manner, "I wonder if you did something to Theresa." His question drew both Mrs. Calsis and Pat's attention.

Pat asked, "Why would you say that?"

Charlie continued, "Did you do anything to her?" When he came downstairs, he saw Theresa standing still in front of Pat, and later he also noticed that she was strangely quiet while having breakfast. 'She has never been like this before. Besides, last night when she came back, she was quite upset and put forward the divorce. That's all weird."

Pat knew that it was time to tell Charlie what he had done, so he said, "Yes. But I just gave her a lesson. Don't worry. I know you love her, so I didn't beat her." Charlie kept his eyes on Pat. "So what did you do?"

"I just hired some trouble-makers to give the Camerons a little bit of punishment. Do you remember what that family did to you? It serves them right!"

"Did you ask them to her family?" Charlie frowned tightly. Yesterday, he was angry at her for her coming back with her father but didn't expect Pat's plan. Although he had always told the Camerons that he wouldn't spare them, he hadn't really punished that family for the sake of Theresa. After all, he had promised Theresa that he wouldn't hurt her family and that was one of the terms of their marriage. 'But now, what Pat has done just destroyed the contract between Theresa and me. What should I do?'

Seeing Charlie frowning, Pat made up his mind and persuaded him, "Charlie, the Camerons don't deserve your kindness. You are too good to them. They should have gone broke. But now, see? They just made you marry such a woman. I am sure that she should be blamed for Rose's miscarriage. Besides, she has been Jimmy's lover. You know, she shouldn't live here with you. So just divorce her as soon as possible."

"I don't agree!" Mrs. Calsis said. "Charlie and Theresa should get divorced." Her words surprised Pat.

Chapter 314

Chapter 314 I Have Nothing but You

Pat hadn't expected that Mrs. Calsis would disagree with him. He asked with confusion, "Mom, you don't like her, do you? Why do you object to my suggestion?"

Mrs. Clasis answered, "You know, the kids like her very much. They just listen to her."

"That's also one of the reasons why she should leave. If she continues living here, the kids will be stickier to her. Now they are young and naïve. It's the time to depart them from her." Pat placed great importance on educating kids. He didn't think it a good decision to give Rose a stepmother, so he remained single all these years and raised Rose by himself.

Charlie claimed, "The relationship between Theresa and me is my own business. Just leave it to me, please. Pat, no matter what you are going to do with her, remember to notify me, okay?"

Pat was puzzled. "So you want to defend her? Charlie, what's so good in her?"

"It's none of your business."

"No, you look so inexperienced," Pat said sternly. "I think she has made fool of you already. What a manipulative woman."

Charlie ignored Pat and insisted on his opinion. "Please remember what I said."

Pat gave in and nodded. "Okay." Although he was reluctant to do as Charlie said, he had no other choice but to agree with him. After all, Charlie allowed Rose's return. It was kind of a trade based on their friendship.

On the way to school, Theresa bought some snacks for her kids.

Standing in front of her, Ben asked worriedly, "Mom, are you unhappy?"

Looking at Ben, Theresa asked, "If I don't want to live in the Calsis any longer and leave there, are you willing to follow me?"

"Of course we are," said Ben. "We will always be with you." Although he and Leonard found the Calsis interesting. Theresa was the most important to them. So if Theresa didn't want them to live there, they would never argue to stay.

Theresa smiled at them. "I have nothing but you two." It was hard for her to trust others and only her kids would always stay by her side. She was clear that no matter what she did, the kids would admire and respect her the most.

"Oops," said Ben. "Are we going to be late?"

Theresa checked her watch and said, "Yes, let's go." She led her kids out of a store and drove them to the kindergarten. After that, she went back to the Camerons to see her father.

Johnson was having his breakfast. Because he got beaten yesterday, his face was a bit swollen.

Theresa walked over and sat beside him. "Dad."

After sipping some coffee, he looked at her. "Why do you come back? I have told you that I am okay." He knew that she was worried about his injury.

She answered, "I just want to have a talk with you."

Johnson had no idea that the trouble-makers were hired by Pat and he just considered them some villains. Besides, the police also told him that those who had been fired by him took that revenge on him.

Chapter 315

Chapter 315 Roderick Came over

Johnson asked Theresa, "Have the Calsis bullied you? Are you okay? Oh, Rosales came here yesterday. She said that you were involved in her daughter-in-law's miscarriage. What's going on?" Although he believed that the miscarriage had nothing to do with his daughter, he was afraid that the Calsis would trouble her.

Theresa said, "Don't worry. I am fine." She didn't want to tell him what Pat had done. 'Dad shouldn't know the truth. Otherwise, he will be anxious and worried about me.

After a while, Theresa's phone rang. It was Roderick.

Roderick asked, "Where are you?" He had told her that he would come to see her. Now he was ready.

Theresa said, "What? Are you really going to see me?"

"Of course," said he. "Are you in the Calsis?"

"No, I am home now. The Camerons," replied she. "There's no need to see me."

"No, I insist."

"Well," said Theresa. After a while, she heard a car stop outside her house. She opened the door and saw Roderick, which surprised her a bit. She greeted him, "Hey, Dr. Hill."

"Who's this?" Johnson walked over to the door with his head wrapped in bandages.

Roderick said politely, "Nice to meet you, Mr. Cameron."

Theresa introduced Roderick to her father, "Dad, this is Dr. Hill. He's my senior in college."

Johnson said genially, "Nice to see you too." Then he invited Roderick to the living room. He was always polite to those who came over to see his family. Besides, in his eyes, Roderick looked like a gentleman. In the living room, Roderick offered to help Johnson change the bandages. He was a medical expert, who wrapped Johnson's head in bandages better than Leah. Then he asked Johnson, "I wonder how you got the wound."

Johnson sighed. "It's a sad story. I met some villains yesterday who intruded here and made trouble." Much furniture was destroyed and moved away.

Roderick said, "No wonder I sense something wrong here. Does Charlie know about that?" He looked at Theresa. He thought that Charlie would definitely do something for the Camerons since his wife was Theresa.

Theresa said with a cold smile, "I don't know. But it doesn't matter. You know, I don't want to tell him anything about me." "He didn't answer my phone when I tried to tell him about what happened yesterday. I will never tell him anything from now."

Aware of the bad relationship between Theresa and Charlie, Roderick said, "Well, I will ask him whether he knows about it."

"No need. Don't ask him for help. The police are investigating it."

Roderick said, "Okay." After he helped Johnson with changing the bandages, he said to Johnson, "Finished." "Thanks, Dr. Hill." Johnson stood up. "I am going to take a rest. Have a good time. See you around. He thought that Roderick was a humble gentleman, much better than Charlie.

After Johnson left, Roderick asked Theresa seriously, "Are you really going to divorce Charlie?"

"Sure," answered Theresa. "Charlie said that I can divorce him after his recovery."

"It seems that you haven't told him the truth-you are the kids' natural mother." Roderick believed that Charlie wouldn't agree to the divorce if she told him about that.

Chapter 316

Chapter 316 How About the Kids?

"You are right. I don't want to tell him about that," said Theresa. "You know, I just want to leave him. So I had better not do that."

Roderick asked, "What's the reason?"

"What?"

"You insist on divorcement and I wonder the reason for it."

She clenched her fists tightly. "Have you seen the wound in my father's head? It's not the villains that beat my father, actually. It's Pat that hired some people to do that."

"Pat?" Roderick said in surprise.

She snorted. "Do you know about Rose's miscarriage?"

"Yes. Does it have anything to do with you?"

"Jimmy came to talk with me yesterday. She saw it and got emotional. Then, she fell down the stairs. I did.

nothing about it. But I just think that I shouldn't live in the Calsis. You know, I am not qualified to be Charlie's wife. I feel inferior to that family. And no matter what happens, my family always gets involved and suffers. I don't want my father to worry, so I haven't told my father about the truth. You hope that Charlie and I can get along well with each other, right? But please tell me what should I do. Do you think Charlie will care about me or my family? I am nothing to him while Pat is his important brother. He won't fight against his brother." She just wanted to stay away from the Calsis.

Roderick said with sympathy, "Pat indeed crossed the line. His daughter does suffer, but he can't vent his anger. on you and your family."

Theresa smiled. "I thought you would support Pat."

Roderick said with a smile, "I am not blind. I know what he did is immoral. By the way, it is interesting that Jimmy is around you again. After the divorcement, you two married into the Calsis. What a coincidence." He was here to persuade her into staying in the Calsis, but now after chatting for a while, he found her divorcement a rational choice. He knew that marriage wasn't only based on love and that the families. concerned were a significant factor. Thinking for a few seconds, he asked again, "What about the kids? After you divorce Charlie, where should the kids go? I think the Calsis won't let you bring away the kids. So I suggest that you should talk about it with Charlie as soon as possible."

Theresa was indeed worried about the kids. So she just sighed. "You are right. I am thinking about it." "Should I talk with Charlie about it now? Although he has agreed on the divorcement, will he consent to my plan?' Looking at Roderick, she added, "Maybe I should just leave with the kids without informing Charlie." She thought that the kids just lived in the Calsis for a few days and it was still easy for her to bring them back. 'Maybe they can do nothing about it.' She hoped.

"Just like what Sarah did before?" Roderick asked curiously.

She answered, "Yes, it's a good plan."

"If so, the whole Calsis will go crazy." Roderick now also felt sympathy for Charlie, but at the same time, he understood Theresa.

When they were discussing, Leah's voice came from the door. Leah came to buy some vegetables this morning. Soon she walked in, followed by Charlie and Jonathan. She led them in passionately. When seeing Theresa, she said, "Charlie is here."

Charlie had changed into a suit. Sitting in his wheelchair, he looked quite serious. He noticed Theresa as soon as he came in. Because Theresa had left in anger, he guessed that she would be back to the Camerons, so he came here to see her.

Chapter 317

Chapter 317 He Got Furious.

Charlie didn't expect that Roderick would be here too, so he asked with a long face, "Why are you here?"

Roderick answered with a smile, "I have something important to ask Theresa."

"What's it?" Charlie was in a bad mood. He sensed that there seemed to be many secrets between Roderick and Theresa. 'She's not your wife! She's mine.'

Roderick didn't answer his question but said, "Are you here to see Theresa?" He didn't want to quarrel with Charlie. He was afraid that Charlie might lose his temper so he diverted. 'I don't want to be his enemy. It's terrible."

Charlie said impatiently, "Yes, I am here to see my wife. Should I inform you of that in advance?"

Sitting on the sofa, Theresa kept a poker face, reluctant to say any word to Charlie. She fixed her eyes on the screen of her phone as if Charlie didn't exist.

Leah reminded Theresa, "Theresa, what are you doing? Charlie came here just for you. How could you ignore him? It's so impolite!"

"Does it matter?" Theresa said coldly.

Leah was speechless, but she couldn't scold Theresa in front of Charlie. So she avert her gaze from Theresa to Roderick and asked curiously, "Theresa, is this gentleman your friend? I haven't seen him before."

Roderick introduced himself to Leah, "I am Charlie's friend and Theresa's alumnus. I came here to discuss something with Theresa."

Leah nodded. "Oh. Okay, you continue. I am going to see Johnson." She asked a servant to store the vegetables and went upstairs. Then another servant served Charlie and Jonathan some black tea. Jonathan took a cup of tea from the tray and gave it to Charlie.

Charlie sipped some tea and put down the cup. Ignoring Roderick, he just stared at Theresa. "Are you still angry. at me?"

Theresa gave him a glance. "Why should I be angry? And why are you here? You should go to work."

Jonathan said, "Mrs. Calsis, Mr. Calsis has got to know what happened yesterday. He came here just for you." He was afraid that Theresa and Charlie had a quarrel again, so he explained immediately. Dazed by Jonathan's words, Theresa looked at Charlie.

Charlie was still calm and apologized sincerely, "I am sorry for what Pat has done and I have asked him not to do such a thing again."

"Oh, all right." Theresa just thought his apology ridiculous. She then said, "Pat is like your natural brother while I am just nobody. There's no need for you to come here."

Roderick raised his eyebrows, listening to their bicker.

Charlie said, "I will ask Jonathan to buy some furniture for your family. Jonathan." He turned to Jonathan. Jonathan nodded. "Got it." Then he walked over to some servants and asked them what was destroyed. yesterday. Soon, he bought a batch of furniture back to the house which now was kind of refreshing.

Charlie asked, "Could you be less angry now?"

Theresa said, "No, my family has suffered a lot. And that can't be compensated by money."

"So what do you want me to do?" asked Charlie. "If you think it's not enough, what should I do? Just tell me! Charlie was a bit upset as well since Theresa kept a cold face to him. He kind of regretted coming here to see her, but still cared much about her.

Chapter 318

Chapter 318 He Really Loved Her

Theresa said, "I don't want you to do anything else. That's it."

"But I can tell that you are unhappy," replied Charlie.

Theresa looked at him. "Should I accept what you bought with a happy smile and pretend that nothing has happened yesterday? Charlie, I am a human with feelings, not a machine."

Charlie said, "Rose lost her baby. The whole Calsis feels sorry for her, including me. But you are more important. to me. I am here just to see if you are unhappy. I don't want to see you sad, so I try to do anything that can make. you feel better."

"No, Charlie, what you do is all meaningless to me." Theresa sneered at him.

Charlie lost his temper and threw the cup onto the ground, which startled Jonathan who was asking the servants to put the furniture in place.

Roderick was stunned as well.

Staring at him, Theresa held her breath, silent.

Charlie was nearly mad because Theresa hadn't been good to him since he showed up. He became clear that no matter what he did, she wouldn't change her attitude. I pay all my attention to you, but you just care about Roderick and your phone.' He took a deep breath and said, "Okay, I get your point. What I did is indeed meaningless, and so is my fucking love. I shouldn't have fallen in love with you. Fuck you." He was furious. He didn't know if he had done anything wrong and wondered what he should do to her. 'Maybe I am not good enough for her.' He thought.

Jonathan walked over. "Mr. Calsis." He seldom saw Charlie so outraged. 'Did Mr. Calsis speak some bad language?' He was a bit shocked.

"Let's go." Charlie glanced at Theresa and said, "Since you hate me, you shouldn't go back to the Calsis from now on. I am so fucking blind to love you. Shit." Then he gestured to Jonathan who left with him, pushing his wheelchair.

Staring after them, Roderick shouted, "Wait, Charlie!" He stood up and ran out of the house. He had been Charlie's friend for years but hadn't seen him so mad. 'It seems that he really loves Theresa and cares about her attitude.'

Charlie's driver was waiting at the gate. Upon seeing Charlie out of the house, he opened the car door for him quickly.

Roderick caught Charlie up at the gate. He tried to appease him, "Theresa isn't in a good mood. So please understand her. You know, her father just got injured, which quite upset her. And I have no relationship with her.

Trust me."

Holding the handle of the wheelchair, Charlie said, "I understand." He was clear about the reason why she was unhappy.

Roderick did a double-take. "Good." He was really afraid that Charlie would misunderstand Theresa because of him.

Charlie looked up at him. "Do you think I am ridiculous? I don't lack women, do I? Is she the only woman in the world? No!"

"Of course, there are many women admiring you," said Roderick. "If you like another woman, I can help you at any time. You are loved by many beauties."

But since Sarah left him, Charlie hadn't fallen in love with anyone else except Theresa. He sighed inwardly and said, "Well, I am going back. Please help her if she needs help. She trusts you, you know. Oh, I am the last one in the world she will trust."

Chapter 319

Chapter 319 Do You Have a Girlfriend?

Roderick said, "Well, see you later." After Charlie left, he returned to the Camerons.

Theresa was still sitting on the sofa with her phone, lowering her head. Seeing Roderick, she immediately wiped away her tears on the screen of her phone.

Roderick walked over. "Are you okay? Charlie just left."

She looked up at him. "Maybe I should treat him better. After all, he hasn't crossed the line." She now thought that she was as bad as Pat.

He said, "Well, maybe."

She sobbed. "But I don't know what to do." Recalling Charlie's angry face, she knew that she hurt his feeling. Roderick seldom saw her so sad. 'It seems that Charlie's reaction hurts her too.' Thinking for a few seconds, he said caringly, "It's okay. Charlie will understand you. You know, he cares about you." He knew why Charlie was so angry. 'He wanted to make her happy, but failed. He just didn't know how to do it.' Theresa said, "I will live here for two days and won't go back to the Calsis. As for the acupuncture treatment, please ask Keith to do that. I have told him about Charlie's health information."

Roderick nodded. "Okay."

Leah had the lunch cooked and came to the living room where there were only Roderick and Theresa. She asked, "Where's Charlie?"

Roderick knew that Theresa wouldn't answer the question, so he said immediately, "He left for work."

Leah said, "Oh no, how could he leave so soon? The lunch is ready."

At this moment, Johnson went downstairs. Seeing Roderick, he said, "Dr. Hill, how about having lunch with us?" Roderick was going to leave for lunch. Now suggested by Johnson, he nodded. "It's my pleasure. Thanks."

While having lunch, Johnson looked at Roderick. "Dr. Hill, what are your parents?"

Hearing his question, Theresa who was chewing a steak nearly choked. 'Why would he ask such a question? He just met Roderick for the first time. Is it proper?'

Roderick answered patiently in a gentle manner, "Just like you. They are businesspersons."

Theresa glanced at Roderick. 'He's not lying, but his parents are not ordinary. After all, the Hills are the Calsis' old friends. His family is as wealthy as Charlie's and has a big company.' Johnson continued, "Do you have a girlfriend?"

Theresa yelled in her heart. 'Hey, dad, what are you talking about!'

"No." Roderick smiled. "I am too busy to find a girlfriend."

Theresa was speechless at her father's satisfied face. She guessed that her father wanted Roderick to be his son-in-law. 'Wait! Does dad want me to marry Roderick? How could that be possible? After I get divorced, I will only focus on my job and take good care of the kids. Money is much more important than any man.'

Chapter 320

Chapter 320 She Was Blocked

Hearing their conversation, Leah glanced at Johnson and frowned. 'Dose Johnson really want Theresa to marry Roderick after divorcing Charlie? No! I disagree! Roderick is a rich guy and he should be Sarah's husband. Theresa has got married twice. She doesn't deserve such a good man.' Thinking of these, she gave a little cough and said, "Charlie is so considerate. He bought us high-quality furniture."

Johnson's face fell. Remembering Charlie and Theresa's marriage, he sighed inwardly.

Roderick just smiled. And after finishing lunch, he left.

Afternoon, Theresa went to the kindergarten to pick up her kids. When she arrived there, she was told that her kids had left with Mrs. Calsis.

Since the teachers there were all familiar with Mrs. Calsis, they just said goodbye to the kids when Mrs. Calsis picked the kids up.

Theresa became unsettled and went directly to the Calsis regardless of Charlie's words. As soon as she got off the car, she was blocked by Jimmy who just came out of the Calsis. She looked at him and said coldly, "Fuck off." She was annoyed by his appearance because he had made things much worse than before.

He said, "I was looking for you just now."

"Looking for me?" said she impatiently. "Why?" "I just want to see my sons, not you."

He said emotionally, "Can you explain what happened between us yesterday to Rose? She has ignored me since yesterday just because of you. Besides, can you stop defaming me? You will get no benefit even if you make me and Rose depart. You are already Charlie's wife, aren't you? I don't want you anymore." Although he had thought that maybe he should get Theresa back to him, he had no interest in Theresa now because Rose refused to see him. 'My future and my career depend on Rose. I can't lose her. Theresa just likes Charlie, not me. It's no use to get Theresa.'

Theresa laughed at his funny speech. "What? Are you kidding me? Listen, you make me gross. And if you want Rose back, you shouldn't come to talk with me. If we are seen together again, there will be more rumors." Then she passed Jimmy and walked over to the gate of the Calsis. Aware that the door was closed, she said to the doorman, "Please open it."

The doorman said apologetically, "I am sorry, Madam. I can't do that."

"Why?" Theresa looked at the doorman.

The doorman answered, "I have been ordered not to open it for you."

Theresa was speechless. 'Oh, it's Charlie. He is angry at me and forbids my return.' Remembering the scene where she and Charlie quarreled with each other this morning, she clenched her fists. After suppressing her feelings, she asked, "Have the kids come back?"

The doorman replied, "Yes, they have come back with Mrs. Calsis."

Theresa said, "Okay, thanks." Well, my sons are in the Calsis. They are safe. She had been worried about them although the teachers told her that Mrs. Calsis came to pick them up.

Jimmy who saw Theresa blocked outside the gate smiled. "It seems that you can't get in as well. Are Charlie's wife?"

you really

Theresa thought. 'I am going to divorce Charlie. It's reasonable that I am blocked outside. Besides, Rose is back in the Calsis, who is under Pat's protection. I think the whole Calsis won't be happy to see me now' After rolling her eyes at Jimmy, she walked aside and gave Jonathan a call.

"Hello, this is Jonathan," Jonathan answered the phone quickly.

#Chapter 321

Chapter 321

Chapter 321 The Quarrel Between Jimmy and Theresa

"Jonathan, this is Theresa. Could you ask Charlie whether I can continue to look after the kids?" Theresa was worried because she had been responsible to pick up her sons, but this time Mrs. Calsis did that in place of her.

Jonathan said, "Madam, Mr. Calsis said that you should take a good rest in the Camerons since you are not quite happy recently. It is also convenient for you to look after Mr. Cameron. As for the kids, he has arranged for others to take care of them, so don't worry."

Charlie didn't know that the kids were Theresa's natural sons, so after the quarrel, he didn't want her to look after them.

Theresa was irritated, feeling it was kind of difficult to breathe. 'What the hell is he talking about? They are my sons! They should be looked after by me!" She hung up the phone, speechless.

Observing her for a long time, Jimmy sneered at her immediately. "It seems that the kids can't help you go back to the Calsis. What a pity."

Theresa glanced at him and smiled ironically. She just cared about her sons, but in Jimmy's eyes, she made use of her sons to go back to the Calsis. She didn't deny it in front of him. "Actually, I am happy to see you so miserable." She remembered that when he was in a good relationship with Rose, he looked down upon her and even tried to attack her. So she was kind of satisfied when seeing him rejected by the Calsis. 'At least, he is disliked by the Calsis as well.' She said in her heart.

Jimmy said confidently, "I am not the same as you. Rose still loves me and I will go back to the Calsis sooner or later. She will want me back." He knew that Rose would forgive him when she wasn't angry. "Oh, good luck to you." Theresa got into her car.

Charlie didn't return to the Calsis until 6 p.m.

As soon as Jonathan pushed him into the house, Mrs. Calsis came over anxiously. "You are back!"

Charlie looked up at her. "What's wrong?"

"What happened between you and Theresa?" Mrs. Calsis was worried about it because Charlie called her this afternoon and asked her to pick up Leonard and Ben.

Charlie said, "Nothing."

"No, there's something wrong." Mrs. Calsis was not satisfied with his answer. "I am so anxious. Leonard and Ben haven't had any food since they came back. Don't you know that they like Theresa very much?" Charlie then went upstairs and came to Leonard and Ben's bedroom, the door of which was locked by the boys.. After asking a servant to unlock the door, he got in.

Seeing Charlie, Ben who was always good to him didn't say anything this time.

Charlie asked, "Your grandmother told me that you are being cranky."

Leonard said coldly, "When will my mom come back?"

"You won't eat any food until your mother comes back?" Charlie's face fell. "Go and eat something. Right now." He didn't expect that his sons would annoy him because of Theresa.

Leonard said, "You are a bad father. I won't eat anything unless my mother shows up."
"It should be my mom who picked us up. I just want her back."

Actually, in kindergarten, Mrs. Calsis lied to them that Theresa was waiting for them in the Calsis, but when they came back, they didn't find Theresa, so they locked themselves in the bedroom and even refused to take their favorite painting lesson.

Charlie frowned. "Ben." He was clear that Leonard seldom listened to him, so he tried to persuade Ben who was considerate.

However, Ben said with tears in his eyes, "I won't eat anything either until my mom is back."

Charlie sighed and turned to Jonathan. "Go and ask Cristina to come here." He hoped that his sons' natural mother would help.

Chapter 322

Chapter 322 Cristina Came

Cristina was busy with work when her boss came over.

Her boss said, "Cristina."

She raised her head. "Yes?"

"Someone needs your help. Go and pack your purse."

"Who is it?"

"Just go."

"So I don't need to work now? I haven't finished my work today." As a white-collar, she was used to working long hours. So she was unwilling to leave her work and went to see someone. But at last, her boss pushed her out of the company. When she came out of the building, she saw a man from the Calsis.

Seeing her, the man said, "Hello, Ms. Lagarde."

"Hello, why are you here?"

"Mr. Calsis asked me to pick you up."

'Charlie wants to see me?' She was confused. Since the kids went back to the Calsis and Theresa looked after them, Charlie had asked her not to see the kids. She had never thought that he would arrange for a man to pick her up. Not knowing what happened, Cristina got into the car. On the way to the Calsis, she sent a message to Theresa. [Hey, what's wrong between you and Charlie?] Theresa just returned home when she saw Cristina's message. She replied. [Are you off work?]

[I was supposed to work longer. But Charlie arranged for a man to pick me up. Now I am on the way to the Calsis. Do you know why he would want to see me?] She knew that there must be something wrong between Theresa and Charlie so Charlie wanted her help.

Theresa replied. [Maybe he wants you to look after Leonard and Ben. I am home now. Don't worry. Just help me take care of the kids. I will talk with you later.]

Cristina nodded. [Okay.]

[Make Leonard and Ben happy. I will go to fetch them a few days later.]

When seeing Cristina, Brenda was surprised. "Cristina, why are you here?"

Cristina said, "Charlie wants to see me. What happened between him and Theresa?"

"I don't know," said Brenda quietly. "It seems that they are getting divorced and Mr. Calsis doesn't allow her to pick up the kids. Oh no."

Cristina frowned. "Well, I guess right. How could Charlie do that to her? He is crossing the line!"

When Cristina went upstairs, Rose just walked out of her room with a pale face. Seeing Cristina, she said,

"Hello, Cristina."

Cristina asked, "Are you okay?" She found Rose quite weak so she said in a polite tone.

Tears came to her eyes immediately. "You are here to see Leonard and Ben?"

"Yes," answered Cristina.

"Ms. Lagarde, this way," Jonathan said near them all of a sudden.

Looking back, Cristina saw Jonathan. Recalling that he was loyal to Charlie, she asked him with a cold face,

"Where are the kids?"

"In their bedroom." Jonathan led her to Leonard and Ben's bedroom. "They refuse to have their dinner. So Mr. Calsis wants your help."

Cristina sneered. "What? It seems that he doesn't take good care of the kids. What a father." When Theresa is not around, Charlie is unable to look after the kids well. He can just ask me for help. How could he take away the kids from Theresa? He is not a good father.'

Jonathan didn't argue with her. He just led her to the door of the bedroom and pushed it open. "Your mom is here."

Chapter 323

Chapter 323 That's Our Home

with a

Leonard and Ben looked up immediately. When they saw Cristina, their faces fell. Leonard looked away poker face. Both of them were still unhappy even though Cristina showed up. They wanted to see Theresa.

Jonathan was dazed by the scene. 'What's going on? Cristina is their natural mother. Why are they so cold?'

Cristina was afraid that Jonathan sensed something strange, so she walked into the room and said, "Hey, my good boys. Aren't you happy to see me? I came here without having dinner. So you just show me your cold faces? Do you dislike me because I have left you long?"

Jonathan breathed a sigh of relief. 'Maybe they are cranky because Cristina hasn't come to see them long.'

Cristina looked back at Jonathan. "Hey, prepare some food for me and my sons. We are all hungry." "My godsons are like my natural sons.' She thought.

Jonathan nodded and walked away.

Then Cristina stood up and locked the door. After that, she stared at the kids who were indifferent to her. "Talk with me okay?"

Leonard said, "I just want my mom. You are not her."

"It's your mom that asked me to come here for you. If you don't want to see me, okay, I am leaving."

"Really?" Ben looked at her. "Did she give you a call?"

"Yes," said Cristina. "She said that she would fetch you a few days later."

"Does she want us?" Ben hesitated.

Cristina's tears came to her eyes. She said with a smile, "Yes, of course. She will never leave you. But she is busy now, so I came here to accompany you."

"I want to go back home," said Leonard seriously.

Cristina smiled. "You are home now, aren't you?" "No, this isn't my home."

"Where's your home? That shabby apartment?"

"That's not shabby." Leonard argued. "That's where Ben and I spent much happy time with mom."

Hearing his words, Cristina felt satisfied. Stroking Leonard's hair, she said, "Good boy." After a few seconds, she said, "Let's call your mom. I think she wants to see you." Taking out her phone, she gave Theresa a video call.

Theresa was sitting on the sofa alone. When she answered the phone, she saw Leonard's face first, which made her tearful. "Hi, Leonard."

"Mom! I miss you so much," said Leonard.

Theresa asked, "You haven't had your dinner, right?"

"You promised that you would pick us up. Liar!" Leonard curled his lips.

Looking at his face, she said, "I will fetch you. You know, your grandpa is injured and I should take care of him. Just wait for me for two days, okay?"

"Is grandpa's injury severe?" Ben's adorable face instantly appeared in the video.

Theresa said, "Yes."

"Your father got injured?" asked Cristina. "You haven't told me about it."

Theresa said, "You are so busy. So many things happened these days and I don't know how to tell you about.

them."

Cristina hadn't seen Theresa for days. Looking at Theresa's weary face, Cristina sensed something. "Did the Calsis do anything to you?" She had told Theresa that she was busy with work so she hoped that Theresa wouldn't call her unless there was an emergency. 'I shouldn't have said that.' She thought guiltily.

Chapter 324

Chapter 324 I Miss Them

Theresa hadn't expected that Cristina would guess it right so quickly. She said, "I will talk with you later." Cristina knew that Theresa didn't want her kids to get worried so she avoided talking about it when the kids were around. Cristina then nodded. "Okay. Just talk with Leonard and Ben. They must be hungry now. But they keep refusing to eat."

"Listen, Leonard, Ben." Theresa tried to persuade them into staying in the Calsis and obeying Cristina.

Finally, the kids were willing to have dinner.

Jonathan asked the servants to bring some food to the kids' bedroom. After the servants put the dishes on the table, Cristina and the kids began to have their dinner.

Standing at the door, Mrs. Calsis and Jonathan both heaved a sigh of relief. Then they left.

Keith was also in the Calsis because Roderick asked him to give Charlie the acupuncture treatment. After he finished, he was ready to leave.

Jonathan said to Charlie, "Sir, Ms. Lagarde is here and Leonard and Ben are having dinner."

"Ask Cristina to stay here for some days. She should take care of the kids," ordered Charlie. Jonathan said, "Okay." Then he turned around to lead Keith out of the house.

Cristina was having dinner with the kids. When she almost finished, she saw Rose walking in.

Rose said, "Cristina, I have something to talk about with you."

"Take a seat," said Cristina. "Are you not well? Sit down please."

Rose had spent much time on the bed. It was the first time for her to walk around these days. Looking at Cristina and the kids having dinner, she said sadly, "I lost my baby because of Theresa."

Cristina felt sorry for Rose when she said that she lost her baby. After all, the baby was the biggest victim. But when Rose blamed it on Theresa, Cristina frowned tightly and asked, "Did Theresa make you lose your baby?"

"She lured Jimmy and I saw it."

"No! What are you talking about?" said Cristina. "Let me tell you, it's all the man's fault. You shouldn't blame Theresa. Besides, I don't believe that she would do such a bad thing."

Rose knew that Cristina thought ill of Jimmy but highly of Theresa, so she didn't show her disapproval but sighed. "Well, I am not here to talk about it. I want to tell you that Theresa and Uncle Charlie are going to get divorced. Uncle Charlie might want you to look after the kids. Maybe he will marry you after the divorcement." "Really? That's great," Cristina said in a weird tone. "If so, I will definitely punish that bad man.'

Rose averted her gaze from Cristina to Leonard and Ben. "Your kids are so cute. You are so lucky." Cristina looked at Rose. "Don't be so sad. You are so young. I believe that you will have your kid. Actually, my mother lost her babies twice before she gave birth to me because she was not quite strong. So what you should do is to take good care of yourself for the sake of your health. Everything will be okay." -Rose nodded. "Thanks." Cristina's words of comfort consoled her.

After a few days, Johnson's wound was almost recovered. In the morning, Theresa helped him take off the bandages. Seeing the wound almost gone, she heaved a long sigh of relief.

Johnson said, "I am fine." He had found Theresa keeping an eye on him these days. He knew that she was worried about him, but he didn't want her to be so nervous. Theresa nodded. "All right."

"How about the kids?" asked him. "I miss them. When will you bring them to see me?"

Chapter 325

Chapter 325 She Was the Scapegoat

Hearing Johnson's words, Theresa was dazed for a few seconds. Then she asked, "You want to see them?" Johnson said, "I haven't had a meal with them." Since he met the kids in the car, he had had dreams about them.

"Okay." Theresa smiled. She had heard of her kids from her father frequently these days. "I will bring them here." "Is it so hard for me to see my grandsons?". Sensing Theresa's hesitation, he asked, "Is there anything wrong between you and Charlie? Doesn't he allow you to see the kids?" He was clear that Theresa wouldn't leave her kids for so long, so he had some guesses.

Theresa looked at him. "I am going to divorce him. It won't take long to finish all the relevant procedures. After I get divorced, I can stay with the kids."

"But you told me that you wouldn't divorce him in such a hurry," said he. "What's going on?" He was sure that something went wrong.

She was surprised at her father's acuteness. "Yes, there's something wrong. I have long planned to divorce him actually. Now I just want to get divorced as soon as possible." She had been waiting for Charlie to discuss the divorce with her these days, but Charlie hadn't contacted her even once.

After having breakfast with Johnson, Theresa went out to work. Keith had introduced a patient who needed acupuncture treatment to her and now she was heading to the hotel where the patient stayed. The patient was a skier, named Ronald Woodland, who just came to this city and settled in the hotel.

When Theresa arrived at the hotel, she parked her car at the parking lot nearby and called Ronald's assistant, who told her to wait in the hotel lobby. After a few minutes, she saw Rose in the lobby.

Rose looked better after taking rest for two days. She came here for breakfast since it was a five-star hotel where she often enjoyed the food with her friends.

In a minute, Jimmy caught up with Rose. "Rose, my honey..." He hoped that she was not angry at him now. When he knew that she came here for breakfast, he followed her immediately. Even though Rose had ignored him for days, he still wanted to have a talk with her.

Rose said, "Get away."

"That was a coincidence. Trust me," said Jimmy. "It's Theresa that tries to destroy our relationship. You know It hate her, right?"

"But I indeed saw you grab her hand," argued Rose. "Jimmy, I think I am just an idiot. I know that you are still in love with her. Just go and find her. You should be with her. Leave me alone from now on."

"What?" Jimmy said, "You just wrong me. I can swear to God that you are the only one I love. Honey, I know that you are unhappy. But don't ignore me, please. I know I should go to hell. But I really love you. Please let me stay with you, okay?"

Rose said, "You are so annoying." She pushed away his hand but he still managed to grab her hand gently.

Watching them for a while, Theresa was sure that Rose was no match for Jimmy who was so experienced in making a girl happy. She guessed that Rose was not angry now. 'She might get back to him soon. They are still in love with each other but I become the scapegoat. What bad luck.'

Chapter 326

Chapter 326 Are You the Real Father?

Theresa gave a little cough to draw their attention.

When Jimmy saw her, his face fell. 'Shit. Why is she here? Is she a stalker? Does she want me to go to hell?' When Rose saw her, her eyes turned red with fires of anger. She had forgotten Theresa these days since Theresa was not in the Calsis. But now she became angry at her again. She took back her hand from Jimmy's and said, "Jimmy, I know why you are here. You must be waiting for her."

"No! That's not possible." Jimmy felt helpless. 'I don't want to see her.' Thinking for a while, he pointed at Theresa and said, "Honey, she must follow me secretly. Trust me, I don't know she is here too." Then he glared at Theresa fiercely. "Theresa, is it funny? I am fed up with your little tricks. Could you please stop? Even Charlie doesn't want you. I think you should reflect on yourself."

"My little tricks? What?"

"Charlie doesn't want you anymore, so you turn to me so cheekily. I can see you through. Listen, Rose is the only one I love. So fuck off."

"Interesting." Theresa looked at him. "Watch out when you are in the street. Maybe you will have some unexpected trouble." She was amazed that he could tell lies so fluently. Although she knew that he said those to satisfy his wife, however, she decided to fight back. 'I am not the one you can bully!' Jimmy said, "It's a shame for me to talk with you. It's the first time for me to see a woman not guilty of two-timing her husband."

"I two-time my husband?" She was surprised. 'How could he say that?'

Jimmy became shameless in defaming her. Knowing that it would be hard for her to prove her innocence, he tried his best to slander her just like his mother.

Rose stared at Theresa and said, "Well, well. I don't want to hear that. I just want to know how you will compensate me, Theresa."

Theresa's eyes widened. "Have I misheard? Do you want me to compensate you? Come on, I am not the one who made you pregnant. I shouldn't be responsible for your loss."

"You are so shameless!" Rose was so angry that her face turned red. She found that she was always the loser when confronting Theresa.

Theresa said, "I am sorry for your baby. But there's one thing you should remember. I didn't push you downstairs. Your loss has nothing to do with me. You were so careless that you fell downstairs. Your baby left you because your husband is such a bad man who has done many evil deeds. He is not qualified to be a father. As long as you are with him, you will never have a healthy baby."

"What are you talking about!" Jimmy's eyes widened. 'How could she curse me!'

"You know what I am talking about." Theresa sneered at him. "I wonder if the baby is yours. Maybe the real father is another man."

"What?" Rose looked at Theresa in disbelief. "What do you mean?"

"I mean literally." Theresa rolled her eyes at Rose.

Chapter 327

Chapter 327 She Was Like a Princess

Theresa was still angry at Pat because although Charlie had said sorry to her for Pat, Pat didn't apologize. 'It's he that crossed the line first. It's reasonable for me to revenge. Looking at Theresa, Jimmy laughed. "You are mad, Theresa."

"No, you are mad. I am just an ordinary person." She said in her heart. 'You are the most shameless one in the world.'

Rose was so outraged that she even felt out of breath.

Suddenly. Theresa's phone rang. It was Ronald's assistant calling. After Theresa answered the phone, soon a woman walked over and asked, "Are you Theresa?"

Theresa nodded and immediately stood up. "Yes, nice to meet you."

Rose looked at the assistant for a while and said, "Hi, Annie."

Hearing Rose's voice, Annie turned to Rose. "Oh, Rose, it's you."

Rose walked over and hugged her like a wronged girl. "Yes, it's me. Long time no see. Do you still remember me?"

Annie said, "Of course, I remember you. I have been too busy recently. Ronald is not quite well, so I ask an acupuncturist to come over."

"Is she the acupuncturist?" Rose looked at Theresa.

Annie nodded. "Yes." Theresa was introduced to her by Keith who was Annie's friend.

Giving Theresa a glance, Rose said, "No, she is not good. My uncle asked her to do the acupuncture treatment for him before, but recently Keith has taken place of her. I think you should ask Keith to do the treatment." She had noticed that Keith became Charlie's acupuncturist.

'Apparently, Uncle Charlie doesn't want Theresa anymore.' She said loudly with Annie, ignoring Theresa. She thought it okay for her to say something bad about Theresa who just crossed the line in her eyes.

Annie was persuaded by Rose. When she looked at Theresa again, her expression changed a bit. She and Ronald came to this city mainly to talk business with the Calsis. Now told by Rose, she was sure that the Calsis didn't like Theresa. So it might kind of influence the business between Charlie and Ronald if she insisted on hiring Theresa as the acupuncturist. Besides, she knew that Charlie would soon arrive. Therefore she shouldn't stay with Theresa any longer. Thinking for a while, she said to Theresa, "I am so sorry. Please return. I will ask Keith to come over. Sorry to have you here." She just wanted Theresa to leave as soon as possible.

Hearing Annie's decision, Theresa looked at Rose.

Rose looked triumphant. 'Good. It's so easy for me to drive Theresa away. After all, I am the only granddaughter of the Calsis. All the people in this city should respect me. I am just like a princess.' Theresa nodded helplessly. "Okay."

Annie turned to Rose and said politely, "How about coming with me and having a chat upstairs?"

"No," said Rose. "I have my appointment. If you are available later, you can find me in the restaurant."

Annie said, "Okay, see you later." Then she left.

Rose looked back at Theresa with a proud smile. She said, "That's the price you should pay. You shouldn't have defamed me."

Jimmy also looked at Theresa and smiled. "It serves you right, Theresa. Without Charlie, you are nobody. Oh, Charlie used to spoil you. But now he just wants to abandon you. What a shame for you."

Chapter 328

Chapter 328 She's My Wife

Theresa said, "I believe that I will have work soon. You are not so powerful."

"No, you are wrong," said Jimmy. "We are way stronger than you think." Since Theresa was not protected by Charlie anymore, he could easily drive her out of the city. Staring at them, Theresa said, "Well, well. Jimmy, you are like a dog in front of Rose." Then she stood up and walked away.

Jimmy looked back at Rose. "She is so arrogant. I will never fall in love with her, trust me, honey."

Rose just gave him a glance and said, "I've got to leave. My friend is waiting for me."

"Let me accompany you, please."

"No."

"Okay, I will wait for you outside the restaurant," said Jimmy. But at last, he followed her in.

When Theresa just walked to the gate, she saw the hotel staff line up neatly at the gate. She thought that there might be a superstar nearby. But later she saw Charlie's car there. After Charlie got off the car, the head of the staff said politely, "Good morning, sir."

Sitting in his wheelchair, Charlie didn't reply. Jonathan then pushed Charlie's wheelchair forward while the head of the staff showed them the way.

Theresa stepped aside immediately to avoid them.

When passing Theresa, Charlie looked up and saw her. He was dazed because he didn't expect that he would meet her in the hotel. But he still remained silent and looked away.

Staring after Charlie at the gate, Theresa felt the social gap between her and Charlie, which was overwhelming. The hotel had reserved a room for Charlie and Ronald's meeting. When Charlie just sat in the room, Ronald and Annie came over.

"Nice to see you, Mr. Calsis," said Ronald who was a bit nervous in front of Charlie, although he had got many awards in the sport.

"Have a seat." Charlie sipped some water on the sofa.

Annie and Ronald sat down. Then Annie said, "Oh, I met Ms. Nandlall downstairs just now."

"Is Rose here?" asked Charlie. 'Well, she now can wander around. It seems that Rose is much better.'

Annie said, "Yes. And Ronald is a bit tired these days. So I just asked an acupuncturist to come here. Rose told me that the acupuncturist did some acupuncture treatment for you before, but the acupuncturist was not so experienced, so I just asked her to go back."

Charlie was drinking water. Hearing her words, he paused and looked at Annie. 'Did she mean Theresa? So

Theresa was here for work, but finally, she had to go back because of Rose.'

Annie mentioned Theresa just to get close to Charlie. But now she found that Charlie's face fell.

When she was going to diver the topic, Charlie said, "Rose must be kidding. That acupuncturist is my wife. Rose is being naughty with her. Ms. Rockery, I hope you won't take Rose's words seriously."

Annje was stunned. She asked in disbelief, "Do you mean that Theresa is your wife?"

"Yes,"

Annie apologized immediately, "I am so sorry. I don't know about that." She had never expected that Rose would kid her.

Chapter 329

Chapter 329

Theresa got back in the car and called Cristina. She was going to see her children. Cristina also promised to bring the children out to see her.

At this time, the mobile phone rang. It was Annie. "Ms. Cameron."

Theresa said, "What can I do for you?"

Theresa knew it was Annie who refused her because of Rose.

Theresa knew that Annie just tried to please Rose.

This is the real world.

Only when you have your status can others think highly of you.

Annie said, "Have you gone? I'm waiting for you at the hotel. It was my fault. I'm so sorry, but please help

Ronald

Theresa was a little surprised. Why did Annie suddenly change her attitude?

"I'm busy now. I'm on my way back."

Theresa was still in the hotel parking lot, but she did not want to go back. After all, Annie did not care about her feeling just now.

Annie asked patiently. "Do you have time tomorrow?"

"You'd better find Keith. He is a better acupuncturist."

"Ms. Cameron, I know I did something wrong today. Please forgive me."

"What have you done wrong? I don't know that." Theresa asked curiously.

Annie said, "I heard that you are one of the best acupuncturists, please, can you help Ronald do acupuncture, I beg you."

When Theresa heard Annie, she said, "Do you really want me to do that?"

Didn't Annie look down on her before?

Why did she suddenly change her attitude?

Annie said, "Of course."

"Ok. I'll think about it." Theresa finished and hung up the phone.

Theresa stared at the mobile phone, stunned.

What's wrong with Annie?

After a while, Theresa was still hesitating. Keith called, "Theresa."

"Keith." Theresa said, "What's up?"

"Ronald's assistant Annie just called me. I heard you are unhappy. Is that true?"

Theresa told Keith about what happened today, "I think she might doubt my acupuncture skill. So..."

"Don't be mad " Keith helped Annie to explain it, "Annie is only an assistant. It's not an easy job for her because she could not decide anything. For my sake, do acupuncture for Keith. I don't have time to do that recently, and I must help you take care of Charlie. Unless you come back to take care of Charlie yourself."

"Um "Theresa felt that she was in a dilemma.

Although Theresa was angry because of Ronald, she was even more reluctant to go back to Charlie at this time

Theresa nodded, "Fine. I'll go back now."

"OK, I'll tell Annie."

In the car, Theresa called Cristina, got out of the car, and returned to the hotel.

Annie has been waiting in the hall. She came over and said friendly, "Ms. Cameron."

Theresa stared at this woman with a strange expression. She could not wonder why Annie behaved differently. Was she crazy?

Theresa didn't ask anything, and Annie led her into the elevator.

Theresa went upstairs and did acupuncture for Ronald.

After that, Annie accompanied Theresa out and said to her, "Do you want to go downstairs for lunch? It's my treat. I want to apologize for what happened today."

"You don't need to apologize." Theresa said, "I don't mind at all."

For most people, working is suffering.

Perhaps Theresa has suffered a lot from the Calsis family, but she no longer cared about it.

Annie said, "No. I should apologize to you. I'm just doing my job."

Thinking of what she had done before, Annie felt guilty to death.

She just hoped Theresa would not be angry with her.

When Theresa saw Annie's guilty look, she followed Annie downstairs and went to the restaurant in the hotel.

Jimmy was downstairs, while Rose was having dinner with her friends. He could only stay by and order a cup of coffee, waiting for Rose to show up.

Chapter 330

Chapter 330

Unexpectedly, Jimmy saw Theresa come in with Annie.

To his surprise, Annie was polite to Theresa.

Jimmy stared at them in surprise.

When Annie entered the restaurant, Rose saw her immediately, "Annie."

Rose waved because she thought Annie came to find her. However, she soon found that Theresa came in with Annie.

Rose looked at them vigilantly. "Why is she here?"

Annie said, "I treat Theresa to lunch here. Excuse me."

Annie glanced at Rose and asked Theresa to sit down on the other side.

Rose looked at Annie and frowned. What's the matter?

Did she make a mistake in her memory?

She clearly remembered that Theresa left with anger.

Theresa sat down. Annie quickly ordered the food. She looked at Annie and said, "Come on! Why did you suddenly change your mind?"

Annie looked at Theresa and said shamefully, "I didn't know you were Mr. Calsis's wife before."

"Um..." Theresa frowned when she heard Charlie.

Annie said, "Mr. Woodland will cooperate with Calsis's Group. Maybe you could put in a good word for Ronald. It was my fault previously. I really hope you could forgive me."

"Um....." Theresa finally understood why Annie suddenly changed her attitude

It was because... Charlie.

Wasn't he angry?

Wasn't he getting divorced?

Now...

What's going on?

Theresa was puzzled by a series of questions.

However, Theresa knew that Annie could not answer her questions.

After dinner, Theresa said goodbye to Annie and came out of the restaurant.

When Theresa arrived at the hotel lobby, she happened to meet Charlie and Jonathan who were ready to go.

home.

Charlie was about to get in the car, and. Theresa went straight over. When the manager saw Theresa, who tried to squash into the car, he said, "Who are you?" Theresa did not return to him. She looked at Charlie and said, "I want to ask you something."

Charlie looked at her. "Get in the car."

The manager was confused.

Fine!

The manager thought Theresa was here to harass Charlie, but to his surprise, they knew each other.

Theresa got in Charlie's car and left the hotel quickly.

It was very quiet in the car. Jonathan sat in the front seat and looked back at Theresa and Charlie from time to time.

Finally, Theresa broke the silence. "Why do you want to interfere in my affairs?"

Charlie said, "What do you mean?"

"About Ronald, you don't have to pity me. It's my own business!"

Theresa didn't know what Charlie thought.

However, when she knew this, she wanted to figure it out.

Charlie looked at her in surprise after listening to Theresa's words, "I don't think you need my sympathy. You just look down upon me. What on earth am I for you? I have no right to pity you." Charlie still spoke in such a strange way.

Theresa clenched her fist, took a deep breath, and restrained her dissatisfaction. "How are things going with the divorce agreement? Since we are going to divorce, we can go through the formalities earlier."

Theresa has informed Leonard and Ben's school these days.

As soon as the divorce is over, she will take the two children away directly and never see him again.

She could not delay anymore.

She just thought that Charlie have never appeared in her world.

Chapter 331

Chapter 331

Jonathan was shocked when he heard this..

He looked at Mr. Calsis.

Charlie was calm.

He calmly said to Theresa, "Jonathan is busy with his work these days. About a few days later, I'll tell you if I'm done."

Jonathan was speechless.

Was he busy?

He did not seem to be that busy.

"A few days? When?" Theresa wanted to know the exact time. "It's just a divorce. I don't think it would take you too much time."

"So, do you rush into divorce because you are eager to marry Roderick?"

In the hospital, Roderick suddenly sneezed.

He rubbed his nose. He was thinking about who was missing him.

Embarrassment stole over the car because of Charlie's words.

Staring at Charlie, Theresa didn't understand why Charlie suddenly talked about Roderick

She admitted, "Maybe. So please quickly divorced. I'm still waiting to find a new father for my children."

Charlie looked at her helplessly. "I spent a lot of time with you, but you are so ruthless. Women are all the same."

Now Charlie thought that Theresa was even worse than Sarah!

Hearing his words, Theresa said, "Yeah! I am ruthless."

"Get the hell out of here."

The driver has already driven the car for a while.

Charlie asked the driver to stop at the roadside and said to Theresa, "I don't want to see you now." "About the divorce..."

"Don't worry. You don't have to mention it. I will do it. I'm just busy these days."

With that, Charlie didn't even look at her. "Get out of here!"

Theresa looked at him and opened the door to get out of the car.

She stood by the roadside and found that she was a little far away from the hotel.

It was not far, but it was not close either.

After leaving Theresa, Charlie soon asked the driver to drive away.

Theresa stayed where she was. She looked at the driving vehicles, turned on her mobile phone, and looked back in the direction of the hotel. It's not far, only two kilometers... Theresa stood by the roadside and stopped the taxi. After waiting for a long time, she found that no taxi driver wanted to drive her. She could only walk to the hotel.

Her feet even hurt.

Back in the car, Theresa opened the door and sat down. Suddenly, she felt extremely aggrieved.

She hasn't walked like this for a long time.

Theresa couldn't help sending a message to Cristina, "Charlie is an asshole! He just dropped me off halfway. I have walked for a long time to come back."

"Eh..."

After leaving the hotel, Theresa went directly to meet Cristina.

They met in a café. Theresa's two children were eating. Charlie didn't let Cristina bring the children out before. Charlie was busy these two days. It seems that he had no time to care about it. In addition, the two children only listened to Cristina now. Therefore, Cristina has successfully brought them out.

When Theresa saw Cristina, she walked to her side and sat down dejectedly. Cristina held her in her arms.

"What's wrong? What did Charlie do? Tell me."

Theresa told the story that Charlie had left her on the road halfway and made her walk for two kilometers.

Theresa was on the verge of collapse.

Hearing Theresa's words, Cristina smiled and looked at her. "It's only two kilometers. It's not that far. You don't have to be so angry."

"What?" Theresa stared at Cristina.

Cristina quickly explained, trying to placate Theresa. "He's really gone too far. Don't be sad. Come on, girl. Do you want to order some food? I just got paid. It's my treat."

Theresa picked up the menu and read it.

Chapter 332

Chapter 332

Cristina said, "In these two days, I took care of the children at home. Charlie might say something to my team leader. He didn't ask me to work but take care of the children at home. He would pay me as well." Cristina was delighted that she could be paid without working.

However, she felt strange living in Calsis's residence every day.

Cristina asked Theresa, "Hey. Do you think your husband likes me and wants to marry me? About Leonard and Ben, we must make it clear. If he really marries me, I won't help you keep it secret from him."

Theresa said, "No, I just wait for him to divorce now. After that, I will leave with Leonard and Ben."

"Where will you go?"

"Change a school. Change a new place." Theresa said, "A place without Charlie."

"H'm." Cristina said, "Charlie has really gone too far. I used to want you and Charlie to be together, but now I think I was wrong. It's good for you to leave."

Theresa sat aside and looked at the two babies. They opened their big eyes and ate lovingly, with some butter on their mouths.

Theresa felt strange when she looked at these two babies' faces, which resembles Charlie.

Theresa pursed her lips and remembered Charlie's cold face. It was obvious the same face as her babies, but.... he really made her disgusted.

In the bar, Jack and Roderick were both there, and Charlie quietly sat by with a cold face. No one know what he was thinking.

Jack looked at him. "Mr. Calsis, do you want to drink?"

"Do you try to kill me?" Charlie glared at him.

Jack was speechless.

Didn't you have a good time last time?

You were just caught by your wife once. How come you dare not drink?

What a coward!

Although Jack thought about it like that, he didn't dare to speak out, "How about I find you a whore?"

Charlie scowled at Jack again. Subsequently, Jack could only sit there quietly.

Seeing that, Roderick smiled and looked at Charlie, "Have you seen Theresa?"

When Charlie heard this name, he was getting angry. "I must be blind!"

Charlie thought that he must be blind. He could not wonder why he was so obsessed with this woman.

Theresa irritated him again and again, but he didn't learn the lesson. Every time, he wanted to find hope from her, but he failed.

Today, Theresa irritated Charlie again.

Roderick said, "What did she do to you?"

"I just cared about her as usual, but she just wanted to divorce all the time. I should not give her a chance to calm down, right? I don't think she is introspecting."

Hearing Charlie's words, Roderick didn't know what to say. "You look so cold. If you behave like this, she would not come back to your house, not to mention introspecting herself.

"I did that because she was angry. I just want to talk to her when she calmed herself down."

Theresa took the initiative to come here today. Charlie thought that she knew she was wrong and would reflect on herself.

However, it never occurred to Charlie that she just came to irritate him.

Charlie lived a good life these days, so she wanted to make trouble with him.

If Charlie knew this, he wouldn't get her in the car.

Roderick looked at Charlie. "Well, women need to be coaxed."

"I won't coax her!"

Charlie even spoiled her.

He has never spoiled a woman like this in his life.

However, Theresa has really gone too far. She never cared about his feelings at all.

Especially when they met today, she just kept talking about divorce, which drove him crazy.

Stood by, Roderick saw Charlie's angry look, which was rare.

Jack leaned over and whispered to Roderick, "What happened? Mr. Calsis was bullied by a woman?"

Chapter 333

Chapter 333

What the fuck?

This is big news!

Roderick never thought that Charlie Calsis, who stayed away from womanizing, would be hurt by a woman.

Roderick said, "You shouldn't ask. Trust me."

Jack was speechless.

Roderick then stood up. "I have to go."

Jack said, "So, are you going to work?"

"Yeah." Roderick said, "I go to see the woman who made Charlie so angry."

Roderick visited Theresa's father these two days.

Theresa's father likes Roderick.

After work, Roderick returned to the Calsis's residence. He saw that Theresa had come back early. In the yard, she was digging soil and planting flowers with a shovel.

Roderick stood behind her. His shadow reflected in the soil. He looked at the woman squatting on the ground.

and asked, "What are you doing?"

"Don't you see that? I'm planting flowers." With that, Theresa looked up at Roderick's shadow.

Roderick said, "I heard that you go to work today. How is it going?"

"Well, it's not bad, but I met some nuisances on the way!"

Thinking of that, she was in a bad mood.

Nuisances?

Did she mean Charlie?

Roderick walked to her side, "Jimmy?"

"Well, he is, but he is not the only nuisance." Theresa thought for a long time and found that Charlie angered her most.

Theresa finally found that she was angry because of the conversation with Charlie in the car.

Theresa didn't mean to say that when she went to him.

However, when they met each other, she couldn't help it.

When Theresa first came to the Calsis's residence, although Charlie always made trouble with her, she could calmly deal with it. She just considered him a rude customer.

Theresa didn't know why she behaved like this. Perhaps they were too familiar with each other.

Facing Charlie, Theresa could not calm herself down.

Somehow, Theresa expected something from this man.

This kind of feeling annoyed her.

She was severely hurt in love once.

What is she doing now?

Theresa buried the flower roots she bought today in the soil as if she also buried her expectation of Charlie.

Johnson poked his head out of the window. He saw Roderick and said, "Dr. Hill."

Roderick said politely, "Mr. Cameron."

Roderick ignored Theresa and went straight to Johnson.

In the evening, Roderick had dinner at Cameron's house.

Although Leah was very polite, she was actually anxious.

Theresa has not returned to the Calsis's residence for three days. She seemed to stay here. What if she doesn't go back to the Calsis's residence? What should Charlie do? Thinking of that, Leah lost her appetite.

Leah said to Theresa, "Theresa, when will you go back to the Calsis's residence?"

Theresa heard Leah's words, looked at Leah, and said, "I won't go back for the time being."

"How could you do that?" Leah said nervously, "Your father is better, and he is under my care. You'd better go back and focus more on Charlie."

Theresa was upset when Leah mentioned Charlie, "Please stop talking about him."

Chapter 334

Chapter 334

Leah sneered, "I don't want to, but you promised me. I gave you the house, but you don't want to go now. How could you go back on your words? What's more, Charlie just didn't come to find you these days, but he will find you in the future. It's a crucial juncture for our family. You don't have to worry about anything because we are supporting you. If something happens to our company, I don't think you could live at ease like now."

"Ok. Thanks to you, I have no appetite now." Theresa put down the bowl, stood up, and walked out of the door. Theresa was already in a bad mood. When she heard Leah's words, she was even more upset. Now she just wanted to get divorced quickly so that she could leave this place earlier. Roderick looked at Theresa's back and stood up. "Mr. Cameron, take your time. I should go." "Alas..." Seeing that, Johnson rolled his eyes at Leah helplessly. "I don't think you should do that."

"Of course, I should!" Leah said, "You're not as stupid as Theresa, are you? Don't you know what's going on with us now? Can we afford to offend Charlie? Have you forgotten everything before? Old Johnson, I've been with you all my life. I don't want to end up in debt when I get old and become homeless with you."

When it comes to money, even if Johnson didn't mind, Leah could not ignore it.

Leah didn't care if Johnson would be angry now. She just told him what she thought directly.

Johnson said, "Isn't your daughter away? If you mind, you should call Sarah back."

"Sarah's gone! How can I get her back?" Sarah has already hidden. Leah won't let her come back now.

Leah would only blame everything on Theresa.

Looking at this woman, Johnson was speechless.

He put down the bowl and didn't finish his dinner.

Theresa came out of the house and walked on the road at the door. After a while, Roderick also came. He drove over and stopped beside her. "Get in the car."

Theresa asked, "Are you going home?"

"It's still early. I'll take you for a ride." Roderick gave her a gentle look.

Hearing that, Theresa opened the door and got in the car.

Roderick reminded her, "Seat belt."

Theresa lowered her head and fastened her seat belt.

In the evening, there were fewer cars outside. Roderick took her to the expressway.

After they left the highway, Roderick slowed down, looked at Theresa, and said, "Do you feel better?"

Theresa said, "Yeah."

Roderick said, "Be relaxed. Everything will be fine."

Theresa brainwashed herself, "I will get over it!"

"All right!" Roderick asked, "Would you like to find somewhere to drink?"

"I don't drink alcohol." Since Theresa had two babies, she has stopped drinking.

"Ok. We can drink others." Roderick said, "I don't drink alcohol either."

"Ok." Theresa heard him and said, "Then we can go."

It's boring.

Cristina has brought the two babies back to the Calsis's residence.

Theresa wanted to take them home. However, she thought of Leah... If she sees two children who look exactly like Charlie, she will definitely make a fuss, and then she could not keep the secret about the children. Theresa just wanted to divorce Charlie smoothly and take the children away. She didn't want to think about anything else.

At this time, she could only bear it.

Roderick parked his car at a place. They were about to go for a drink when Roderick's mobile phone rang.

He picked up his cell phone and answered it. "Is Leonard sick?"

Theresa was going to get off. Hearing that, she looked at Roderick in surprise.

Roderick finished the call and said to Theresa, "The Calsis said that Leonard is ill. They asked me to go and see him. It seems that we can only make an appointment next time. Could you take a taxi yourself?"

"How's Leonard going? I remembered he was fine this afternoon."

Why was he sick?

As his mother, Theresa was the most anxious one.

Roderick said, "I don't know. It seems that he has a fever. I'll go to see him."

Chapter 335

Chapter 335

"I'll go with you." Theresa said without hesitation.

Roderick said, "I don't think you want to see Charlie."

"I don't care about him now"

Although Theresa hated him, she cared more about the children.

Theresa looked worried. Seeing that, Roderick nodded. They went directly to the Calsis's residence.

When Brenda saw Theresa come in with Roderick together, she said, "Dr. Hill, young madam."

Theresa and Charlie haven't divorced yet. Brenda thought it should be OK to address her like that.

Theresa said, "Just call me by my name."

Theresa came to see Leonard.

Because of worry, Theresa looked solemn now.

Brenda nodded.

Roderick said, "We come to see Leonard."

Brenda led them to the door of Ben's room. "He has a fever. He is sleeping in his room right now."

Charlie was found in Leonard and Ben's rooms. He was taking care of Leonard.

Ben was also there, standing aside and accompanying Leonard.

Stood at the door, Theresa stared at Charlie, who was taking care of Leonard. Charlie doesn't like Leonard ordinally, but now he just tenderly took care of Leonard here.

Charlie was not that cruel.

However, it was only Theresa's imagination, not the reality.

Charlie said to Leonard, "Eat!"

Leonard quietly pursed his lips without looking at Charlie. He felt bored and turned his face to another side.

Leonard was only four years old, but he had a bad temper as Charlie.

Charlie frowned, "You like getting hit?"

Theresa felt that her eyelids were twitching.

Charlie was not coaxing Leonard to eat something, but ordering.

Leonard said, "Kill me! You evil."

Ben stood by and anxiously looked at Charlie. He thought. "Leonard won't really get hit, will he?"

Charlie looked at Ben but said nothing.

Theresa hasn't entered the door yet when Cristina came. "Theresa."

Theresa looked back at her and said, "I heard Leonard is ill."

"He has a fever. I have called the doctor."

She then found the doctor standing by.

Charlie had heard their voices and looked up at the door.

Roderick entered the room and said teasingly to Charlie, "You are funny when you were coaxing your son."

As a father, Charlie had no experience. He really had no patience in handling children. Seeing that, Roderick almost laughed to death.

Theresa followed Roderick into the room.

Charlie immediately noticed her. He looked up at her. "Why did you come?"

"Leonard is ill. I come to see him." Theresa suppressed the urge to quarrel with him.

Charlie frowned and looked at Theresa. "I didn't find you so kind before."

Leonard was not her son.

Why did she come here?

He felt incredulous.

Charlie's words reminded Theresa of her current relationship with Leonard and Ben.

It's normal for Charlie to doubt it.

Theresa looked at Charlie and said, "I've been with him for so long. Of course, I have feelings for him. I happened to hear from Dr. Hill that Leonard is ill, so I come to see him. So, do you think I shouldn't come here?" Charlie looked at Roderick. "Are you couples?" Why did they come together? He just called Roderick and she knew!

Roderick coughed. "We had dinner together in the evening. I wanted to go out for a drink, but I got your call."

Chapter 336

Chapter 336

"Just you two?" Charlie looked suspicious.

When Roderick was about to explain, Theresa said, "Can't we? Do you mean I have to inform you next time when we have a date?"

Standing aside and Hearing Theresa's words, Cristina frowned.

Cristina really hoped that Theresa could beat Charlie up.

Anyway, Cristina didn't like Charlie at this time.

When Charlie heard Theresa's words, he was so angry that he left the room in a wheelchair.

Once Charlie left. Theresa looked at Leonard on the bed, "Leonard."

Leonard looked at Theresa. He was so happy, "Mom."

Roderick sat by and looked at them.

Although Leonard liked Cristina and was kind to her, he liked Theresa more. It's a totally different feeling.

The Calsis family was so stupid that they couldn't find this different feeling.

Roderick examined Leonard, prescribed the antipyretics, and left the room.

Charlie was sitting in his room when Roderick opened the door and walked in, "Mr. Calsis."

Charlie sat on the sofa and looked at him coldly. "What are you doing here?"

Roderick said, "Of course, I come to see you. I thought you were angry. You can't take your wife's words seriously. She just said that because of anger. I had told you before I went to see her." "Stay away from her!" Charlie said coldly.

Roderick made Charlie annoyed.

Seeing Charlie's jealous look, Roderick sneered and sat down on the sofa next to Charlie. "If I stay away from her, can you two make up? She really likes you. Even if I accompany her every day, it's all in vain." Charlie pursed his lips.

Roderick said, "Since you like her, try to say some good words. Women need to be treated well. Next time when you see her, say some good words."

"How? I don't know how to say good words. Besides, I don't like her!"

Roderick won't admit that he liked her.

Roderick looked curious, "Really?"

"I'm not lying, or my nose will grow longer." Charlie said, "Why should I like her? What is she? How about Leonard?"

Roderick's mouth twitched when he heard Charlie's words. Well, someone's nose is getting longer. There's no way. He can't stop it.

Roderick said, "Just a fever. Take some medicine first. Don't worry. His two mothers are accompanying him."

Hearing that, Charlie said nothing.

Charlie seemed to know nothing. Roderick could not help wondering why he never doubted Theresa. Theresa cared so much about them and they always stuck to her. Roderick said, "Did you find that Theresa is kind to your two sons?"

"I'm not blind" Of course, he knew.

At first, Theresa didn't let the two children come back. When the two children came back, she treated them very well.

See.....

10

These two little guys also like her.

On the contrary, Charlie is their father, but his kids dislike him.

"Don't you think Theresa is too kind?" Roderick stared at Charlie.

Although Roderick promised Theresa not to tell Charlie, he thought he could hint at Charlie.

Roderick really didn't want his friends to be fooled for so many years.

Unexpectedly, Charlie scowled at him when he heard that, "So, do you want to tell me she did that on purpose? She is not that kind of person! If you want to sow discord, just stop!"

Charlie didn't like these words.

Roderick was speechless.

Now he became a bad guy.

Roderick looked at Charlie and sighed, "Mr. Calsis, you are so dim!"

He wished he could dissect Charlie's brain so that he could find out why he was so dim. Roderick said disappointedly. "Forget it, I should go. I leave your wife here. Seize the chance."

Then Roderick stood up and walked away.

Chapter 337

Chapter 337

Before Roderick left, Roderick went back to Ben's room and said to Theresa, "Theresa, I have to go. Do you want to go with me?"

Hearing that, Theresa looked at Roderick and turned around, looking at Leonard who was holding her hand. She said to Roderick, "I won't go. I want to accompany Leonard."

Theresa missed her son so much.

Usually, Theresa could control her feeling. However, Leonard was sick. Theresa could not leave him here.

Roderick knew she would say that.

As Leonard's mother, Theresa naturally cares more about Leonard than anyone else.

He nodded, "Then I have to go. Call me if you need help."

Rose sat in the room and watched TV for a while. The servant came in and Rose stopped her. "Is Theresa here?"

"Yeah." The servant said, "Leonard is ill. She came to take care of the children."

"Isn't Cristina here?" Rose said, "Leonard's mother is here. Why did she come here?"

The servant said, "Ms. Lagarde is also here. I don't know what's going on."

At the thought of Theresa, Rose couldn't sit still. She got up and went directly to Leonard's room.

Theresa used a towel to wipe Leonard's forehead to cool him down. Rose suddenly walked over and grabbed her wrist. "Why did you come here?"

Theresa raised her head, looked at Cristina, frowned, and said, "Are you crazy?"

Rose used to quarrel with Theresa, but Theresa didn't expect that she would fight now.

Rose pressed Theresa, "I just want to know what you are doing here?"

Theresa pulled out her hand. "Leonard is ill. I come to take care of him. I don't want to quarrel with you now.

Stop making trouble with me."

Theresa was in no mood.

Rose sneered, hugged her arms, and looked at Theresa. "What? Are you taking care of Leonard? Who are you? Why do you take care of Leonard? If my memories are correct, Cristina has always taken care of Leonard and Ben these days. Charlie ignored you and drove you out, but you want to come back to the Calsis's house through the children. No way!"

Theresa had lots of schemes.

Theresa was no longer a member of the Calsis family, but she could even find a way to come back.

Theresa was such a stubborn woman!

Theresa looked at Rose, "I haven't divorced yet. I have the right to come here."

"If you didn't come with Dr. Hill today, you wouldn't be allowed to come in."

Two days before, Rose's father issued a ban to prevent this woman from entering this house.

Unexpectedly, she can even use Roderick to come here.

Hearing Rose's words, Theresa was stunned. She remembered that she could not enter the Calsis's residence before.

Forget it.

Theresa felt angry when she thought about that.

Theresa turned around and said to Rose, "Get out of here. Your voice is too loud. You will wake the baby. I'm not an important person, so I do not dare to argue with you, Ms. Nandlall. But the kid is sick now. You shouldn't make a noise like that."

"As long as you leave, I won't make any noise." Rose said, "You are not his mother. Why do you come here to take care of him? His mother is here. Cristina will take care of him. You should mind your own business!" At this point, Rose smiled. "Yes... You have two kids, but I don't know who their father is. Cristina's kids are members of the Calsis family. It's your fate. No matter how hard you try, these two kids will not belong to you."

Since Rose lost her baby, she thought that she was almost crazy.

As soon as Rose saw Theresa, she couldn't help hating her. Rose was rude to her.

Theresa frowned when she heard this.

Seeing that Theresa didn't leave, Rose picked up her mobile phone and called the security guard at home, "Come upstairs." After a while, two security guards came up, stood at the door, looked at Rose, and said, "Any orders, Ms.

Nandlall?"

Chapter 338

Chapter 338

Rose said, "Get Ms. Cameron out of my home!"

Cristina bathed Ben just now.

When they came out of the bathroom, the security guard was about to drive Theresa away. Ben came straight over and stood in front of her.

Ben looked at Rose. "What are you doing?"

Rose looked at Ben and said softly, "Ben, come here. Stay away from this woman. She is a bad woman..."

At this point, Rose looked at Cristina and said, "Cristina, take care of Ben. Charlie turned Theresa away, but she wanted to return here for the reasons of the kids. You can't trust her!"

Cristina looked at Rose and then at Theresa.

Cristina said to Rose, "Theresa came to help me take care of Leonard. What are you doing now?"

Cristina was so tired of Rose.

Cristina really wanted to beat Rose up, but she must keep the secret for Theresa so that she could not be close to Theresa.

Rose said, "I can help you take care of Leonard. We don't need her. Take Ben away. I must drive Theresa away!" Hearing that, Cristina looked at Rose and asked, "Did Uncle Charlie tell you to do that?" "Of course, he did." Charlie totally ignored Theresa now. He didn't even allow Theresa to take care of the children.

Theresa naturally had nothing to do with this family.

Now Rose drove Theresa away, just to do Uncle Charlie a favor.

With that, they heard Charlie's voice from the door. "How did you know what I meant?"

Looking up, Rose saw Charlie at the door. Jonathan pushed Charlie's wheelchair here.

Charlie sat in a wheelchair with a solemn look.

When Rose saw him, she walked up to him and said, "Uncle Charlie, see... this woman is here again! She pretended to take care of Leonard, but she actually wanted to come back to you."

"Really?" Charlie looked at Theresa meaningfully.

It suddenly occurred to Charlie that Theresa came here today for Leonard.

Theresa and Leonard are unrelated. Did she only come here to see him?

Perhaps, Theresa also wanted to come back to Charlie, but she was not willing to apologize. That was why she came back for the reason of Leonard.

"Of course." Rose said, "Leonard was not her kid. See. Leonard is sick, and she pretends to be concerned. Did she need to do that? So, to come back to the Calsis family must be her real purpose. Uncle Charlie, don't fall for her! This woman is so cunning. Don't you understand that?"

Listening to Rose, Charlie looked at Theresa, and asked, "Are you really here for me?"

Theresa was speechless.

For you? What a shameless man!

If it wasn't for Leonard, I wouldn't have come!

Theresa looked at Charlie and said coldly, "Whatever. If you believe it, then I am."

Theresa didn't care if Charlie was willing to believe Rose's words.

If Charlie really wanted to drive her away, she could only blame herself for choosing the wrong man.

Hearing that, Charlie thought Theresa acquiesced it.

Charlie had been upset, but now he was in a better mood.

He looked at Rose and said, "You had just been discharged from the hospital. You need rest. Go to your room and sleep."

Rose said, "But she..."

Rose scowled at Theresa.

Theresa was still here. Rose would not accept it.

Charlie said, "Don't worry. I'll handle it. Just go to sleep."

Chapter 339

Chapter 339

Rose hesitated and nodded down. Under Charlie's pressure, she walked out of the room.

Was Uncle Charlie's response a signal to drive Theresa away?

Since Sarah came back, their relationship was at risk.

Charlie had no reason to indulge Theresa.

The security guards stood by and looked at Charlie, "Mr. Calsis. What should we do now?"

"Just go to sleep." Charlie said, "Rose was making a fuss. Do you all want to drive Theresa away? How dare you? Theresa is my wife."

Two security guards were speechless.

They wonder if they did anything wrong.

Looking at Theresa who stood by, they understood what Charlie meant, and nodded, "Then we should go.

Goodbye, Mr. Calsis. Goodbye, Mrs. Calsis."

Then they quickly run out of there.

Theresa was speechless.

She looked at Charlie in puzzlement.

Charlie said to Cristina, "You can leave."

Cristina was speechless.

What? Charlie just asked her to leave.

Cristina thought she was just used.

Theresa asked in puzzlement, "What do you mean?"

Didn't Charlie drive her away?

Did he want to keep her?

"You just said you want to care of Leonard. Now no one will bother you." Charlie looked at her and asked Jonathan to push him back to his room.

Cristina stood beside Theresa and said, "Did he tell you to stay here?"

Theresa was speechless. She thought she would be expelled.

Just now, she was thinking that if Charlie really wanted to drive her away, she would tell the truth to him.

Anyway, She must stay with Leonard.

But she didn't expect...

Charlie changed his mind.

Sitting in her chair, Theresa found Leonard looking at herself. She held Leonard's hand and comforted him, "Go to sleep."

Leonard looked at Theresa and said, "Dad is a jerk. I hate him."

Theresa was shocked when she heard Leonard's words. She reached out to touch Leonard's head.

Leonard said, "Mom, when will we leave here? I hate Dad! He treats you badly."

Listening to her son's words, Theresa's nose twitched. "You shouldn't think about it now. You have to sleep."

It was difficult for Theresa to ease the tensions between the father and the son.

Now it seemed to be all in vain.

That's Leonard's personality. He would not allow other people to blame his mom. As long as anyone treats him badly, he will hate them. Cristina stood beside Theresa and said, "See. Leonard is a good kid. Alas, if I have such a son, I don't need a husband. Fuck off, jerk."

Hearing Cristina's words, Theresa took a look at Christina. Anyway, Theresa felt relieved that she could stay with Leonard.

"Do you want to sleep?"

Cristina said, "Yes, I do, and I have to get Ben to sleep."

With that, Cristina walked to the bedside to ask Ben to go to bed, then they slept.

Theresa took care of Leonard. When Leonard fell asleep, she came out of the room and found Charlie at the door.

Charlie sat in a wheelchair and looked at Theresa as if he was waiting for her.

Theresa looked at him, but she didn't speak.

Charlie asked, "Did Leonard sleep?"

"Yeah." Theresa said, "What do you mean by that?"

Charlie asked, "What?"

Theresa said, "I mean, you said that I came to see Leonard because I want to get close to you."

Charlie also agreed with what Rose said and did not deny it.

Charlie looked at her and said, "Yes! So I didn't drive you away."

Theresa looked at Charlie in confusion.

Charlie said, "You made efforts to get close to me. I won't disappoint you."

Charlie was serious when he said this.

Theresa realized that this man was so narcissistic.

He really thought she came here for him.

So...

Chapter 340

Chapter 340

Charlie looked so happy.

Charlie talked to Theresa more tenderly. They did not argue with each other like before.

While facing Charlie, Theresa remembered his cold look in the car before. She said to Charlie, "I remember that don't want to see me."

you

Theresa was not allowed to enter the Calsis's residence.

Hearing what Theresa said, Charlie quietly gazed at her.

Who said he doesn't want to see her?

In the past two days when she was away, he was thinking about how to get her back every day.

Since Charlie saw that Theresa made efforts to come back, he had to take the trouble to keep her.

However, Charlie was ashamed to say that.

Charlie asked insincerely, "How is your father?"

Theresa froze when Charlie mentioned her father. "He's much better."

"That's good." Charlie said, "I'm going to bed!"

With that, Charlie pushed his wheelchair away.

Theresa looked at his back and went downstairs to take a bottle of water.

She stood in front of the refrigerator, drank half a bottle of water, took the bottle upstairs, and continued to accompany Leonard.

The Calsis's residence was very quiet at night.

At five o'clock, Mrs. Calsis came to Leonard's room.

When Mrs. Calsis saw Theresa lying by the bed, she shook her awake.

Theresa looked up drowsily and saw Mrs. Calsis, sitting up straight, "Why did you come here?"

"It's almost dawn. I come to look at Leonard." Mrs. Calsis said, "Did you stay up all night?"

Leticia looked at Cristina, who was sleeping soundly on Ben's bed, and then looked at Theresa.

This stepmother looked more tired than her own mother.

Seeing that, Mrs. Calsis was touched.

Leticia was dissatisfied with Theresa before. When she saw what Theresa did now, she was soft-hearted. That was why her voice became softer.

To dispel Leticia's doubt, Theresa said, "No, Cristina took care of them before. She just slept."

Hearing that, Mrs. Calsis said, "I can't sleep now. I can watch Leonard. You can go to sleep. Leonard won't go to school today. He needed to rest." Theresa nodded, "Ok."

Theresa stayed up all night and was somewhat confused.

Theresa sat there staring blankly for a while.

Mrs. Calsis patted her on the shoulder and reminded her, "You can sleep in Charlie's room."

Theresa has always lived in Charlie's room.

Charlie's room is next to Leonard's room.

Theresa looked at Mrs. Calsis with hesitation, but Mrs. Calsis insisted.

Theresa felt that she was too warm-hearted to be a "stepmother".

Besides, Leonard felt better. Therefore, Theresa had to stand up.

She stood at the door of the next room, trying to knock on the door, but hesitated.

Is it ok to enter Charlie's room? After all, they are getting divorced.

As soon as Theresa was ready to leave, the door opened.

She looked back and saw Charlie sitting in a wheelchair. He still wore the clothes of last night.

Theresa looked at him and said, "Why did you get up?"

"I haven't slept."

Theresa remembered that it was he who said to sleep and leave last night.

As a result, Charlie stayed up all night like her.

Theresa said, "Why don't you sleep?"

"I haven't finished my work."

He looked at her. "What are you doing here? Do you miss me?"

Theresa was speechless. She could only explain, "Your mother got up. She is taking care of Leonard, and she asked me to come here and have a rest."

"Then what are you doing?" He looked at her coldly.

Theresa was speechless.

The next second, Charlie said, "Come here, now."

Chapter 341

Chapter 341

After staying up all night, Theresa felt that her body was a little stiff. She followed Charlie into the room. He didn't move his quilt. There was only a pile of documents beside his desk. It seemed that he had not slept all night.

Charlie said, "Just sleep on the bed."

"I can sleep on the sofa." Theresa said, "You stay up all night. You need to sleep. Just sleep on the bed."

Theresa lay down on the sofa.

Theresa closed her eyes and didn't want to communicate with him.

When Theresa thought about their animosity, she could not be that calm.

After a while, Theresa suddenly felt that the sofa was sinking.

Theresa opened her eyes and saw that Charlie had come. He was sitting on the sofa. Theresa saw a handsome face.

Charlie suddenly approached her, which made her stunned. As he was about to speak, he had already lowered his head and kissed her.

In the early morning, the sound of autumn wind and rain outside came.

However, their room was quiet.

Charlie's lips were soft and hot. Theresa didn't know if it was because she didn't sleep much all night. She felt that she was too weak to resist him.

Theresa tried several times to push Charlie away, but she couldn't use her strength, as if she was seducing him.

Charlie grabbed Theresa's hand and said with a low and slightly hoarse voice, "I lost."

Did he lose?

Theresa opened her eyes and looked at Charlie in puzzlement.

Charlie looked at her with a solemn face, but said softly, "You married Jimmy. You have two children. You used to love someone else. You never liked me. I can find a better woman at any time. But damn it... I miss you so much!"

Charlie really decided to leave her.

He wanted to divorce her!

Charlie even printed out the divorce agreement. He wanted to slap her in the face with the divorce agreement, but he couldn't.

Charlie thought about it all night and decided to follow his heart.

He wanted to keep her around.

He didn't need the dignity of a man.

He only wanted her.

Looking at the man in front of her, Theresa was confused. She was wondering if she misheard Charlie or if she misunderstood him.

Otherwise.....

Although Charlie said a harsh word, Theresa felt that it was a confession somehow.

But he's Charlie!

Was he out of his mind?

Charlie just angrily drove her out of the car before. He didn't want to see her at all.

Theresa stared at him for a long time, then raised her hand and put it on his forehead.
"Are you sick? Do you want me to call Dr. Hill?

Theresa's words spoiled the atmosphere. Charlie clenched his teeth. "Stop pretending!"

Theresa said, "A man cares about a woman because he doesn't get her. Mr. Calsis, you miss me because I want to divorce you, which makes you feel shameless. So you want to conquer me from the bottom of your heart.

That's it. You don't really like me! You just want to keep me with you."

"Then what should I do can you believe me?" Charlie gazed at Theresa's eyes and asked irritably.

Shit!

He made it so clear. Why did she still doubt him?

Theresa pursed her lips. "I don't know."

Chapter 342

Chapter 342

Theresa said with a soft voice, as if she said to herself, "Probably no one would really like a person."

She was also confused about how to judge a man if really likes her.

Theresa thought that there is no true love between a man and a woman.

Jimmy always said he loves Rose.

Does he really love her?

Maybe not!

Jimmy just loves everything about the Nandlall family, such as the power of the Nandlall family, and the benefits Rose brings him.

Rose couldn't see through his heart now. She was still immersed in it. After a long time, if she has no use value for Jimmy, Jimmy may change his attitude towards Rose.

Listening to Theresa's frustrating words, Charlie said, "I don't want to hear your harsh words. I said I like you. I mean it! I won't let you down! I can't believe it. You are just disappointed in love because of Jimmy. He is a scum. There are still good men in the world!"

"You mean you are the good man?" Theresa looked at this self-righteous man and said, "You didn't allow me to go home and drive me out of the car in anger. Would a good man do that?" Charlie felt that he was in the wrong. "Because you are ungrateful. I treat you so well, but you never give me a chance. I am a human being with feelings. I would be sad."

Theresa was amused by his childish words. "But I didn't see that you were good to me! Charlie Calsis, as long as you are unhappy, you can vent your anger on me and my family. If this is the way you like me, I can't afford it. Real lovers should be equal, but we will never be equal."

Therefore, there will never be love!

After all, the so-called love and liking are more like alms given by Mr. Calsis.

Charlie was gradually stirred by her theory.

Charlie looked at her, and complained, "Theresa, do you have to retort me like that?"

Charlie was obviously confessing here. Did she know how determined he was when he told her his feelings.

humbly and sincerely? As a result...

Theresa must want to infuriate him.

Theresa said, "I didn't retort you. I just made it clear. I would rather you give me more money than say you like me."

31

Charlie asked incredulously, "Do you think money is more important than my love?"

"People will change, not the money."

"Ok! Ok!"

Charlie almost laughed in her exasperation. He grabbed her hand harder.

Theresa frowned and reminded, "Are you angry? You are hurting me."

Charlie looked at her long thin fingers. He didn't grab it that hard, did he?

Theresa felt pain!

Women are really fragile.

He said, "If you are so afraid of pain, how did you live with Jimmy?"

Charlie's words reminded Theresa of her memories after the divorce. Jimmy would always fight with her. She lowered her head.

Theresa looked at Charlie and felt aggrieved. "So, you will hit me, just like Jimmy, right? Men are naturally stronger than women. Women shouldn't be bullied like this."

Charlie was shocked for a moment. "I'm not talking about that."

Hearing that, Theresa was stunned. Did he ask about her feelings when they have sex?

When Theresa looked at Charlie, she always felt that he was jealous.

Charlie likes her now, so he can't help thinking about it.

At the thought that Theresa was Jimmy's wife, he was very depressed.

However, Charlie reflected on what Theresa had just said and looked at Theresa, he suddenly found the key point, "Did you say Jimmy often hit you?"

Chapter 343

Chapter 343

Theresa was still absentminded because of the topic Charlie just said.

Hearing Charlie's words, she was shocked for a moment, "It's all over. Forget it."

However, Charlie showed a solemn look.

He looked at her. "Did he do that before the divorce?"

"No, he was kind to me before the divorce."

After the divorce, Jimmy felt more guilty and treated Theresa more badly.

Especially after she was married into the Calsis family...

He has beat her up more than once.

Charlie said, "Is he always looking for you now?"

Theresa thought that no one would pay attention to these things.

Theresa didn't expect that Charlie would ask these now.

She said, "Charlie, I want to sleep."

Theresa didn't want to stay up all night to talk about Jimmy. What a scum!

Charlie said, "Ok. You can sleep. When you wake up, we must continue."

Theresa opened her eyes and looked at Charlie. "What do you want to do?"

Charlie looked serious and said, "Nothing. I think I don't know enough about you. I want to know more about you."

He likes Theresa, but he doesn't care much about her.

Because of his legs, Charlie actually spent a lot of time caring about himself.

For example, after Sarah came back, he cared more about Sarah. Although he didn't care about Sarah because he likes her, he really paid more attention to Sarah than Theresa. Charlie really hoped one day he could stand up.

After talking to Theresa about this, Charlie found that he knew little about what happened between Theresa and Jimmy.

In the future, Charlie would try to understand her.

Theresa looked at him. "Fine. Thank you. I'm going to sleep."

Charlie allowed Theresa to sleep.

He took the remote control, closed the curtains, and turned off the lights to darken the room so that she could sleep.

Theresa suddenly thought that he was thoughtful.

Theresa slept for a while, but it was not enough.

When she woke up, it was still dark in the room. She picked up her mobile phone, switched it on, and found Charlie sitting on the sofa beside her.

Charlie didn't say a word, but Theresa was shocked. She sat back on the sofa and asked, "You didn't sleep?"

"Yes."

"Are you watching me all the time?" Theresa felt scared when she thought that Charlie was watching her sleeping.

Hearing that, Charlie said, "Why don't you sleep some more?"

Theresa stood up and turned on the light. She rubbed her eyes. "I'm going to see Leonard."

Leonard would be unhappy if he couldn't see her when he woke up.

That little baby clings to his mother, especially when he is sick.

"Go to sleep."

He must be crazy. Why didn't he sleep?

Did he think he was a hero?

If it were her, she could not bear it.

Charlie looked at her and asked, "Listen. Does Jimmy often bother you?"

"Why did you ask that again?"

Theresa was a little depressed.

Charlie didn't sleep all the time. Did he wait for her to wake up and ask this question?

Charlie said, "I want to know. Did he really hit you?"

Theresa felt that Charlie was gazing at her.

In fact, they seldom discussed Jimmy.

Even though Charlie knew the relationship between Theresa and Jimmy, Theresa sometimes defended herself, but they did not talk about it openly.

They didn't do that because Charlie doesn't like her very much. Although they were a couple, they were just pretending.

When Theresa heard this topic, her mouth became stiff.

Theresa looked at Charlie and said, "Is this important to you?"

Chapter 344

Chapter 344

"Yes." Charlie was very persistent, "I want to know."

"But I don't want to say much about him."

Perhaps they both wanted to retain a little dignity when facing the people they like.

Theresa didn't want Charlie to know what she suffered before.

What a shame!

Her past life made her feel ashamed.

Theresa thought that if she met Charlie at a younger age, she would treat him well. After all, she was an innocent girl then.

But now...

The world broke her heart.

She also became no longer gentle!

Charlie said, "About Rose, what happened?"

Theresa was stunned by Charlie's question.

These days, everyone blamed her, but Charlie has not asked her about this.

Others ignored her feelings, blamed all on her, scolded her, and punished her.

But Charlie didn't seem to pay attention to it.

Theresa looked at Charlie and asked, "Didn't they tell you?"

"I want to hear from you," Charlie said. "I don't want to hear from others about you."

Charlie looked at Theresa with trust.

Many things happened between them. They quarreled because of Theresa's father. They almost broke up, but Charlie had never asked about this matter because he trust her.

Charlie believed it wasn't her.

When everyone doubts you and blames you, it's rare for someone to trust you, and you should cherish it. Theresa clenched her fist, looked at Charlie, and found that she could not deny it expressionlessly. "I'm sorry." Charlie looked at her. "Why do you apologize?"

Theresa said, "You shouldn't trust me."

Charlie was shocked for a moment. "Is it really your fault?"

Theresa lowered her head and looked at her toes.

Theresa bit her lip and said, "Charlie, I don't know if you have the feeling that you want the world to disappear in a moment. I had... I hope Jimmy's children will disappear from the world, and I hope he will never have children in his life! I hate him... His child was gone. He deserves it."

Then Theresa looked up and looked at Charlie.

Charlie was looking at her with surprise.

Charlie probably didn't know that she was such a vicious person, did he?

Theresa sneered at herself. "Are you surprised? I'm such a person! Such a mean, shameless and vicious person.

I live an awful life. Why should he live a good life?"

No one will like her!

Theresa believed that Charlie was the same.

Some couples like each other because they don't know much about each other.

Theresa just wanted to show what she really is now.

Theresa didn't want to lie to him!

She was really happy when she saw that Jimmy and Rose had lost their children.

Theresa was not sad at all!

She could not pretend to be sad.

Theresa has gone out of the room before Charlie said something.

Theresa closed the door of the room and peeked at Charlie. She found him sitting on the sofa. No one know what he was thinking.

He must hate her!

But that's not important.

Anyway, they will not be together in the future.

After returning from Charlie's room, Theresa returned to the next room.

Ben was awake. Mrs. Calsis was taking care of him.

She helped him put on his little blue coat.

"Thank you, Grandma."

The little guy was so polite.

Mrs. Calsis said, "Are you afraid of going to school alone today?"

Chapter 345

Chapter 345

Ben shook his head. "No."

While putting on his shoes, he looked at Leonard and said, "Is Leonard okay? Is he better?"

"Still ill." Mrs. Calsis said, "Let him sleep."

"Then we keep it down." Although Ben was still a little boy, he was very sensible.

Mrs. Calsis said, "Well, let's go. Let's go down for breakfast."

With that, Leticia looked at Cristina, who was still sleeping on the bed. She was lazier than Ben. As a mother, how could Cristina be careless like this?

She just slept all the time.

Theresa entered from the door and Ben saw her, "Mom."

Mrs. Calsis said, "You woke up so soon?"

Theresa said, "I can't sleep. Come to look at Leonard."

Mrs. Calsis said, "Then you can accompany Leonard and I will accompany Ben to have breakfast. When Leonard woke up, you could make him take some medicine." Theresa nodded, "Ok."

She sat by the bed for a while, looked at Leonard's face, and remembered how Charlie kissed her and said he lost.

Theresa's feelings were mixed.

Cristina rubbed her eyes and lay on the bed, saying, "Where's Ben?"

Theresa then looked back at her friend and said, "You are awake."

Cristina asked, "What time is it?"

"Eight o'clock."

"Huh?" Cristina suddenly got up. "It's so late?"

Cristina just said she would help Theresa watch Leonard when she woke up, but she didn't expect that it was already eight.

Cristina really slept soundly.

She even laughed at herself.

Theresa said, "Go to sleep. It's OK. I've just slept for a while."

"No, I'd better get up."

Cristina got up, walked over, and sat down beside Theresa.

Theresa said, "You're tired these two days."

"No." Cristina said, "I haven't been working these days. I'm not tired."

In the Calsis's residence, Mrs. Calsis will not only raise two babies, but also her.

Cristina was the same as the baby. She didn't have to do anything but eat. She lived a wonderful life.

Theresa looked at her and laughed.

After a while, Brenda brought them breakfast.

She cooked the porridge for Leonard.

Cristina sat aside, eating the croissant made by Brenda, and said, "Brenda, it's so delicious."

Brenda said, "You eat it every day. Haven't you felt tired of it?"

"Of course not." Cristina said, "I hope I could have breakfast every day."

"Nice try." Brenda stared at Cristina, "You are old enough to find a boyfriend. You should learn from Theresa..."

When Cristina heard that Brenda was urging her to get married again, she rolled her eyes at her and said, "I don't want to hear that. You are so mean. I just want to eat breakfast. Brenda, do you really think I can't go to the Ivy League colleges because I don't want to take the exam?" Cristina said with a mouthful of croissants, "That's an analogy. If you want me to find a boyfriend, I need to make someone like me, right?"

Looking at her niece, Brenda was speechless.

Leonard had already woken up when they had breakfast.

Theresa picked up the porridge and went to feed him.

Seeing that, Cristina felt that she could help nothing and said, "After breakfast, I plan to go home. Theresa, I'll leave you here. Is that all right?"

Hearing that, Theresa said, "OK."

Cristina simply dressed up and left directly.

She went downstairs and found Rose. Rose saw her and stopped her, "Cristina."

Chapter 346

Chapter 346

Seeing Cristina carrying her bag, Rose asked, "Are you going out?"

"Yeah."

"How's Leonard?" Rose asked, "Is he better?"

"Theresa is with him. I have to go home to change my clothes. I haven't been home for several days."

During these two days, she has always worn Brenda's clothes.

Rose was surprised to hear Theresa's name, "She hasn't left yet?"

Cristina frowned and didn't want to talk nonsense with Ms. Nandlall, who only expected Theresa to leave.

Cristina went straight out.

Rose sat at the table, frowning.

Pat came over, looked at her, and asked, "What's wrong?"

Rose said, "Dad, Theresa is back again."

Hearing that, Pat said, "Ok."

Rose said, "Last night, Leonard was ill, so she came back with Dr. Hill. She said she need to take care of Leonard, so she refused to leave."

To her surprise, Uncle Charlie didn't drive this woman away!

Theresa's purpose was so obvious. Didn't he feel angry?

Theresa clearly came to haunt him!

Pat looked at his daughter and said, "Take a good rest and get better. You should not think about it." Rose nodded.

Rose sat aside, eating. Then her cell phone rang.

Pat took a look and saw that it was Jimmy who sent the message.

He said, "Are you seeing Jimmy again?"

Rose bit her lower lip. She told her father before that she would not get along with Jimmy forever.

After all, Jimmy was with Theresa.

Because of this, Rose lost the children.

Hearing that, Rose said, "He told me that Theresa framed him for everything that day. He didn't like Theresa, but he liked me. I don't think he was lying to me."

Rose was angry before. However, when she pondered over it, it was not Jimmy's fault.

Pat frowned when he heard this. "Do you believe all his words?"

His daughter was so naïve!

"Dad." Rose said, "Jim is very kind to me. Please get him back to the company. I don't know why Uncle Charlie suddenly asked Roger to take over the job Jim did before. I think Jim is a miserable man. Theresa cheated. He was hurt by her. Poor man!"

Even so, Theresa didn't let him go.

Even their children were gone!

Jimmy sent Rose back last night.

It seemed that he really knew he was wrong.

After all, he is the baby's father.

Pat kept silent.

Rose grabbed his arm, shook it, and pleaded, "Dad."

Pat spoiled Rose, "Just wait. I want to see his performance. It's not important now. The most important thing is that you need to get better."

Rose looked a little better these two days.

But why did she still care about Jimmy? She should have a good rest now.

Forget it. Pat has only one daughter.

Just then, the housekeeper came in, and the servants behind him came in with several pots of flowers, all of which was Rose's favorite gardenias. Rose was delighted, stood up, and said, "It must be Jim. See, I said he is a good man."

At the thought of that, she was happy, as if she could get out of the hurt soon.

Rose went to the housekeeper and said, "Let's put these flowers on the balcony."

There is a large balcony in her room. She could put plants there.

When the housekeeper heard Rose's words, he froze for a moment. He was embarrassed. "Mr. Calsis ordered these flowers."

Rose was stunned, "Uncle Charlie? Why did Uncle Charlie suddenly send me flowers?"

Chapter 347

Chapter 347

Did Uncle Charlie want to appease her?

Rose could feel that Uncle Charlie has treated her much better since she had been discharged from the hospital.

As long as Theresa doesn't sow discord between them, Uncle Charlie still loves her very much.

The housekeeper was scared. However, when he looked at Rose's expectant face, he had to tell the truth, "It's for Ms. Cameron."

Rose was stunned, "Is it for Theresa?"

No way!

They became like this now. Why did he send something to Theresa?

The housekeeper looked at Rose and reminded her friendly, "You should call her Auntie Theresa. If Mr. Calsis knows it, he will be angry."

Rose said, "She is not!"

Rose couldn't figure out what Charlie was thinking, he would even send presents to Theresa!

But Rose thought there must be something fishy in it.

What happened just now made Rose feel very humiliated. She went to the table and sat down, feeling extremely bad.

The housekeeper sent all the flowers upstairs.

Instead of sending the flowers to the balcony in a hurry, they placed them at the door of the two children's room and said to Theresa, who was taking care of the children, "Madam, Mr. Calsis sent you these flowers. Do you like them?"

Theresa was feeding Leonard some food. She saw several potted gardenias. It was cold, but the flowers were still in bud. Obviously, someone carefully cultivated it.

Theresa was surprised to hear what the housekeeper said, "For me?"

It seemed that Charlie must be bored.

Why did Charlie suddenly send her flowers?

The housekeeper said, "If there is no problem, we will move the flowers to the balcony."

Theresa said, "Move over quickly."

Theresa didn't understand what Charlie meant.

The housekeeper quickly moved the flowers to the balcony of Charlie's room.

The balcony was soon filled with gardenias.

One or two blooming flowers diffused a scent.

Theresa accompanied Leonard into the room. Seeing that Leonard has finished his breakfast, she made Leonard take some medicine.

Just then, Charlie came in.

Charlie came in in a wheelchair and stopped beside Theresa. He didn't talk to her, but just stared at her silently.

Theresa didn't understand why he came here suddenly.

Wasn't he supposed to ignore her?

After all, Theresa told Charlie that she was such a vicious person.

Theresa was a little uncomfortable when Charlie stared at her. She said to Leonard, "I need to go to work. You need to stay at home and rest. Ok?"

Leonard grabbed Theresa's hand. Leonard didn't want her to leave.

Yesterday, Theresa promised to do acupuncture for Ronald. She must go there on time today. Keith helped her, and she couldn't go back on her promise.

When Charlie saw that she was leaving, he asked, "Where are you going?"

"Go to work."

"You don't need to go to Ronald. I have asked Keith."

Theresa was shocked when she heard Charlie's words and looked at him. "Did Keith agree to it?"

"I told him you were here, and he naturally agreed." Charlie said, "When Leonard gets better, you can spend time with me."

Keith did acupuncture for Charlie recently.

He was not used to it.

After all, Theresa has always been with him.

Now that Charlie has decided to make up with her. He would naturally ask Theresa to do that.

Hearing that, Theresa found that Charlie didn't seem to be angry with what she told him last night.

Theresa was surprised by Charlie's response.

Theresa got Leonard asleep and followed Charlie back to his room.

Chapter 348

Chapter 348

The curtain of the balcony was drawn back. People could see those white gardenias through the window.

Theresa looked at the flowerpots and asked, "Did you buy these flowers?"

Charlie was happy to hear that Theresa finally asked him. He said, "This is for you."

Theresa looked back at the man and said, "You're boring."

"From now on, I will pursue you as a man. You can dislike me, but I will treat you well. You can't stop it, right?"

Theresa was speechless.

Theresa thought it was weird, "Charlie, I think you missed the point."

"What?" Charlie looked at her with curiosity.

"About Rose..."

"Did you push her?"

"No."

"What have you done to her?"

"Of course not."

Charlie said, "In that case, what's the problem? You didn't hurt her, nor did you fight against her. You didn't do anything against the law. It's ok that you only feel happy about that. When I see someone I hate has a bad day, I will also be happy. I will go to him and tell him that I am happy. I wish it would infuriate him."

Theresa looked at Charlie. It was not like a joke. He looked serious.

Theresa asked, "Did you really do this?"

Charlie said, "Of course. So... When I meet someone I hate, do I have to pray for him to make his life better or what? You just watched too many soap operas." "Who said that?" Theresa protested.

Theresa did watch it when she was young, but she had nothing else to do then.

Everybody's watching, isn't it?

Charlie asked, "Do you like these flowers?"

Theresa said, "It's good."

"From now on, I will pursue you. It's only one of the gifts."

One of them?

Theresa looked at him in confusion, and then saw the housekeeper appear at the door. It was the same servants who sent some clothes.

However, it was more than she needs.

The butler stood aside and introduced Theresa, "These are the latest early spring clothes from various brands."

It was still winter, but they have started to produce the clothes for the next season.

Normal people couldn't get these clothes.

In previous years, only one person in Serameton could get these clothes, and that was Rose.

Ms. Nandlall would not wear the same clothes as others. When others can buy them, she has already started to wear new clothes for the next season.

Charlie sat by and looked at Theresa. "It's all for you. You can choose whatever you want."

Downstairs, Rose was almost out of breath, "Dad, what does Uncle Charlie mean? He gave Theresa everything. What should I wear?"

Pat looked at his daughter, "Don't you have clothes?"

"But those new clothes are mine!"

Now all of them have been given to Theresa. Charlie has really gone too far!

Rose didn't want to call him uncle anymore.

The housekeeper took the servants and put all the clothes in the dressing room.

After a while, they sent all kinds of shoes and bags...

Theresa almost thought Charlie was going to run a boutique at home.

Theresa said, "Don't you think it's cliché? I mean the way you pursue me."

"You said that. You would rather I give more money to you."

"But you are wasting money now!"

Jonathan walked over and handed over a wallet from the side. He just picked it up from the bag sent by the housekeeper.

Charlie took it and handed it to Theresa. "Open it."

Chapter 349

Chapter 349

Theresa opened it and took a look. There was some cash, but not much. There was a bank card and a credit card.

Charlie said, "The password is my birthday. If you like, you can use it."

Theresa looked at the man in front of her and rubbed her eyebrows.

Theresa suddenly regretted asking Charlie to give her more money.

She said, "Are you insulting me with money?"

"I will do whatever you like."

"I won't accept it." Theresa said, "In your opinion, what I am?"

"My wife."

Theresa was speechless.

"If you think it's not enough, I can give you my salary card in the future."

Theresa was speechless again.

Theresa looked at the man and said, "Charlie, are you crazy?"

"For you, I want to be crazy."

Theresa didn't want to say a word.

Finally, the housekeeper didn't send anything here anymore, and Jonathan also went out.

The house was finally quiet and Theresa could help Charlie do acupuncture.

Because Theresa helped Charlie do that, she could be free from Ronald.

After finishing the acupuncture, Theresa went downstairs.

Theresa wanted to make lunch for Leonard.

As soon as Theresa got upstairs, she saw Rose. Rose looked at Theresa and said, "It seems that Ms. Cameron is good at seducing men. I can't believe you hook up with Uncle Charlie again."

Charlie had never been so nice to her before. Now he spoiled her very much and wanted to give her all the good things.

Theresa didn't think it was rare for Charlie to give her those things.

After all, she was not used to taking other people's presents for nothing.

However, seeing Rose's angry look, she was in a good mood.

She went into the kitchen and tried to make lunch for Leonard.

Rose said, "Spit it out! Have you lost your tongue?"

Theresa said, "I don't know if Ms. Nandlall will frame me. I don't want you to say I hurt you if something happens" Theresa didn't do anything before, but Rose blamed her for all. If she did have anything to do with her, could she still leave the Calsis's residence?

Rose said. "I can't do anything to you this time. But I hope you will stay away from Jim. You have been divorced for so long, and Uncle Charlie likes you now. You shouldn't pester Jim. Don't you feel ashamed? Theresa originally thought she would be more tolerant of her because Rose just lost her baby and she was

Charlie's niece

However, Theresa got angry when Rose spoke for Jim and said that she was pestering Jimmy.

She looked at Rose and said, "Am I pestering him? Does Jimmy explain to you in that way? Ms. Nandlall, in fact, if you didn't target me again and again, I wouldn't hate you at all. I only hate Jimmy. Because you are just as stupid as I was before. No matter what Jimmy said, you will believe it. I only feel pity for you."

"I don't need your sympathy," Rose said unhappily.

Rose grew up in the Calsis family. With a good family background, she is a cultured and kind woman.

Rose just couldn't stand Theresa.

Every time Rose saw Theresa, she would treat her badly.

Theresa looked at her and said, "Believe it or not. I just remind you to be careful. How long have you known him?

Are you sure you really know him?"

Theresa finished and continued to work on her own affairs.

Rose stood aside and looked at her back. She was trying to make trouble with Theresa. Hearing Theresa's words, she was suddenly stunned.

Rose could not help wondering.

Did she really know Jimmy?

In fact, people can be easily influenced by others.

In particular, Theresa was so confident.

Rose came upstairs and directly returned to her room. Rose tried to dress up, but Jimmy called her, "Are your ready to go out? I'll pick you up."

"I'm ready."

Rose has put on her makeup.

Jimmy said he would pick her up today.

Chapter 350

Chapter 350

Although they didn't make it clear yesterday, they had already made up.

Rose likes Jimmy very much. She calmed down and moved on.

Rose quickly packed up and left her home.

Jimmy's car stopped at the door. Seeing her, he hurried out and opened the door for her. "Baby, do you feel cold?"

Rose said, "Of course."

"Get in the car." The Calsis family won't allow him to get into the house. Rose had to walk to his car.

When Rose got into the car, Jimmy helped her fasten her seat belt.

Jimmy drove away from the Calsis's residence.

Rose sat in the front passenger seat and gazed at this handsome man. He was very considerate of her.

Rose said, "Jimmy."

"What?" Jimmy gave her a gentle look.

"Do you like me?" Rose asked.

Jimmy laughed. "You are talking nonsense. Of course, I like you! You are the apple of my eye."

"You won't lie to me, will you?"

Rose felt that she was stupid. Hearing Theresa's words, she couldn't help thinking over it.

Jimmy released one hand and grabbed Rose's hand. His hand was warm. "Of course, I won't lie to you. When did

I lie to you?"

"Tell me about you and Theresa. Did you like her?"

Jimmy's face changed. Rose's words reminded him of his past life with Theresa...

Does he like her?

Of course!

Theresa is an outstanding woman with a good family background. Every time she appears in front of him, Jimmy thinks she is shining.

When Jimmy got married to Theresa, he felt that he could live with her for the rest of his life.

For the reason of his body, Jimmy felt inferior. He was afraid that she would dislike him.

But Theresa didn't!

Perhaps because Theresa treated Jimmy badly now, Jimmy always compares the old Theresa with the current Theresa.

It reminded Jimmy of the glorious memories with Theresa before.

Jimmy almost ran into the car in front of him because he was absent-minded for a while.

Rose scowled at him, "Jimmy, what are you doing? You want me to die with you?"

Jimmy apologized, "The front car suddenly stopped. I don't know what he was going to do. I'm sorry to scare

you."

Rose said, "Did you just think about something else?"

Rose just asked Jimmy something about Theresa. She didn't expect that his mind was straying.

Jimmy looked at her and said, "It's because of you. Why did you talk about Theresa? You reminded me of what she did to me. I was so angry Rose, baby, you can't be her... You can be with others, OK? I'll be out of my mind!" When Jimmy saw Theresa with Charlie, he was angry! Women are heartless.

He used to like her so much, but she stayed with Charlie all day!

Rose said, "Of course not."

Jimmy said, "Good. You're the best!"

Rose looked at Jimmy. Because Jimmy showed a strong response, Rose didn't doubt him anymore.

Theresa deserved it.

Rose won't be like Theresa.

Jim will certainly treat her well.

Rose asked, "Where are we going now?"

"My father's birthday is coming I want to hold a birthday party for him. Let's go to see the hotel."

Recently, Jimmy didn't have much work to do in the company. He got plenty of time now

