

Marry Ex's Uncle After Divorcement

Chapter 401-450

Chapter 401

Hearing Leah's words. Theresa laughed.

It was ridiculous. Why did Theresa have to sacrifice herself for Leah's own interests?

Theresa said to Leah, "You should ask Sarah to give in. She treats Charlie badly. She didn't care about Charlie's feelings."

Leah looked away. "I don't want to talk about this."

"Ok. So do I."

With that, Theresa left the ward directly.

At the entrance of the Cameron's Group, the driver stopped the car. Charlie and Jonathan sat in the car. Jonathan opened the door and got off the car.

It happened that Sarah came out of the company.

Sarah was shocked when she saw Jonathan. "Why are you here?"

She looked at the car behind Jonathan. It's Charlie's car. Was Charlie here?

Sarah defensively said, "Well, Mr. Calsis said that he would never pester me. Does he go back on his words?"

Sarah was flattering herself. Jonathan looked at Sarah and helplessly said, "We are here to pick up Madam. It's none of your business."

Hearing that, Sarah was relieved. "Theresa? She is not here."

Charlie rolled down the window and looked at Sarah.

Sarah said, "She's not here. She came here today but she left now."

Charlie looked at Sarah. "Why are you here?"

Sarah said, "My father is ill. I must help him manage the company."

Charlie was speechless. Could she manage the company?

Charlie curled his lips. Johnson was such a fool.

How could he hand over his company to Sarah?

Seeing that Charlie closed the window, Jonathan got into the car.

When they got home, Theresa had been there.

Leonard and Ben were live streaming, and Theresa was sitting on the sofa using her mobile phone.

When Charlie and Jonathan came in, she glanced at them and then continued to do her own things.

Charlie's wheelchair stopped beside her. Charlie said, "Why don't you go to your father's company?"

Theresa said, "My father is sick. I went to the hospital to see him. Sarah is in the company, so it seems that they don't need me." "Your father is such a fool. Didn't he know who is his real daughter?"

When Theresa heard Charlie's words, she curled her lips and warned Charlie, "That's enough.

Stop talking nonsense. After all, he's sick now. He had to hand over the power."

Charlie looked at Theresa, "I remembered that you showed your interest in your father's company before. Don't you want it now?"

"I don't want to compete with Sarah."

With Leah here, Theresa found that it was all in vain to compete with Sarah.

Charlie said, "Do the acupuncture for me."

After that, Charlie went upstairs with Jonathan.

When Theresa looked back, she found that Leonard sat on the sofa staring at Charlie.

Although Leonard didn't like Charlie, he still cared about Charlie sometimes.

Looking at her silly son, Theresa sighed. She stood up and said to the two little boys,
"You can play by yourself, but you can't run around."

"Yes, madam."

Theresa was speechless.

Theresa went upstairs and saw that Charlie had taken off his thick clothes, leaving only a light shirt.

Jonathan was not there. Charlie was alone.

Chapter 402

Chapter 402

Theresa walked up to Charlie and took the tool of acupuncture.

Charlie looked at Theresa and said, "I went to your father's company today."

"Why did you go there?"

Theresa was a little confused.

Charlie said, "I wanted to pick you up, but you've come home."

Theresa smiled, "You are so silly. You should call me first."

"I didn't expect you were home so early." Charlie looked at Theresa and said, "You should tell me if something happens. If you do that, I wouldn't have a wasted journey."
"What should I tell you?"

"If you want to manage your father's company, I can help you." After all, Charlie was the only supporter of the Cameron's Group.

Hearing that, Theresa said, "I don't need that."

Charlie looked at her. "Your stepmother always hurt you. Your father is a fool. As your husband, I am your only supporter."

Theresa curled her lips and looked at Charlie. "I don't need you to support me. Sarah is free now. If she wants to handle the company's affairs, just let it be. Anyway, you are the real controller of my dad's company."

"Well, you know that." Charlie turned around and turned his face.

Theresa looked at the back of his head. Charlie is so handsome. Even the back of his head is so perfect. "I hate the way you treat my father's company. You can bankrupt my family in a minute. My father worked hard to run the company. For you, it's so easy. All roads lead to Rome, but someone was born in Rome. Your parents are so rich, so you can enjoy your wonderful life."

With that, Charlie lowered his face.

Charlie looked at Theresa and snorted, "So, you just showed your opinion on me, right? I'm only a rich and incompetent second generation.

Theresa coughed, "Well. It's harsh, but it's true."

Theresa began to do acupuncture for Charlie. During the acupuncture, Charlie didn't say a word.

When they finished, Charlie was still silent.

Theresa looked at Charlie and said, "Are you angry?"

Charlie said, "I don't want to see you."

Seeing his angry look, Theresa suddenly thought that he was a little cute. "I just complained about it. I didn't mean to hurt you. You don't need to care about it."

Charlie looked at her. "Get out of here."

"Ok. I'm leaving." Theresa packed her things and said, "I'm hungry. I have to eat something." Theresa was glad that Charlie drove her away.

When Theresa was about to go out, she heard Charlie snort, "What an ungrateful woman!" Theresa was speechless

It was Charlie who asked Theresa to leave. Why did she have to be scolded?

Charlie really had a bad temper.

Theresa sighed helplessly and walked out of the door.

When Theresa met Jonathan outside the door, Jonathan looked at her, "Madam."

Theresa said, "Mr. Calsis is unhappy. You need to amuse him."

Hearing that, Jonathan was surprised. "Did you make him angry again?"

"Do you really think I would do that?" Theresa refused to admit it.

Jonathan said, "Yes."

Theresa was speechless.

Jonathan smiled. He didn't care about it. Anyway, Theresa would coax Charlie, and he would forgive her.

"On your father's birthday next week, Mr. Calsis has decided to hold a birthday party for him. We have fixed the time and booked the hotel. Please check it out. If there are any problems, you can tell Mr. Cameron."

Theresa received the banquet proposal from Jonathan. She remembered that Charlie had mentioned it before. She didn't take it seriously. However, Charlie was really preparing it.

Theresa said, "Why did he suddenly hold a birthday party for my dad? He didn't like my father all the time. Besides, my father's birthday hasn't come yet."

Theresa knew that Charlie doesn't like her father.

However, Charlie was so enthusiastic about celebrating her father's birthday. Theresa couldn't understand it.

Chapter 403

Chapter 403

Jonathan said, "Mr. Cameron's birthday is on next week. If Mr. Calsis wants to hold a party for him, just let it be. Mr. Cameron is an old man. You didn't get along well with him recently. Because of your divorce, he has never had a birthday party. You should make him happy. What's more, Jimmy will be there."

Jonathan's words reminded Theresa of something.

Yeah!

Jimmy's father and Theresa's father were born on the same day.

She used to celebrate their birthdays every year when Jimmy was her husband.

Since Theresa divorced Jimmy and people thought that she had an affair, her father has never officially celebrated his birthday.

Jimmy's father, on the contrary, celebrates it every year.

Theresa asked, "When is Jimmy's father's birthday?"

She didn't remember it.

Jimmy said, "The same day."

Hearing that, Theresa said, "Charlie did it on purpose, didn't he?"

Jonathan said, "I don't know."

Theresa was speechless.

Jonathan said, "I should go to Mr. Calsis. It's time for dinner."

"I'll go." Theresa remembered that she had just made him angry. She didn't want to coax him, but she changed her mind when she heard Jonathan's words.

Theresa walked into the door and saw Charlie sitting there. When she came in, Charlie noticed it. He said without looking back, "I don't want to have dinner tonight. I have no appetite." "Why?" Theresa asked.

Charlie suddenly turned around and looked at Theresa. "It's you!"

Theresa was gone, wasn't she?

"So, do you think it's Jonathan?"

Charlie said, "Get out. I don't want to see you."

"Jonathan just told me about my dad's birthday. He said you want to hold a birthday party for my dad."

"So what?" Charlie showed an indifferent look.

Theresa looked at him and said, "You know it was Jimmy's father's birthday, but you still want to celebrate it. What did you think about it?"

Theresa was curious about his thought.

Charlie said, "Nothing. I just don't like him. What's wrong?"

When he spoke, Theresa had already sat down opposite him.

Theresa stared at Charlie.

Charlie recalled that Theresa had just mocked him, but now she was seducing him. He felt annoyed about it.

Charlie doubted whether Theresa cast a spell on him, or he won't like her so much.

Theresa despised him so much!

In her opinion, he was only an incapable and rich second generation.

If Charlie didn't like Theresa, he wouldn't care about her thoughts, because he didn't care.

But he liked her. Her words hurt him so much.

Theresa said, "Don't look at me like that. Get out of here. I don't want to see you now. I won't have dinner tonight!"

"It's me who makes you angry. You don't have to punish yourself, right?" Theresa got closer, sat beside him, and stared at him. "Charlie, I thought you are so childish. Don't spoil your health because of me. Dress up and go to dinner. Otherwise, Pat will scold me for bullying you."

Pat had a partiality for Charlie.

He didn't treat his daughter so well.

Charlie said with anger, "You are bullying me."

Theresa curled her lips, "Of course not. Who dares to bully you? You are Mr. Calsis!"

Theresa stood up and took his coat. "Put your clothes on and go downstairs for dinner."

Chapter 404

Chapter 404

When Theresa talked to Charlie, she put Charlie's clothes on his body.

Charlie sat on the sofa quietly, so Theresa could help Charlie wear his clothes.

When Theresa dressed Charlie, she kept staring at him. Theresa curled her lips and warned him, "Don't look at me like this, or I will kiss you."

Hearing Theresa's words, Charlie was stunned.

However, Charlie was not angry at all.

He smiled and said, "You should try."

Charlie hoped Theresa could kiss him.

Theresa said, "So, you are not angry now. Charlie, you look handsome when you smile."

"Why are you praising me? Do you want me to help you do anything?"

Charlie was no longer as innocent as before.

Every time Theresa flatters him or praises him, Charlie would doubt if Theresa needs his help.

Theresa was a sly fox.

Theresa said, "You are so cute, so I want to praise you. I don't need your help."

"No, I'm just a worthless rich second generation"

"You really have a grudge." Theresa looked at him and coaxed him, "Please forgive me, Mr.

Calsis. I know I was wrong."

N

Charlie looked at her. "I don't see your sincerity if you just apologize to me in words."

"So, do you want me to kiss you?"

Perhaps Charlie did want Theresa to do that. He looked away.

Theresa said, "So, you don't want me to do that, but you don't need to hide."

"I want." Charlie worried that Theresa would leave, so he hurriedly dragged her over.

He hugged her and said, "Kiss me."

Theresa wanted to kiss him, but she suddenly thought it was weird. Theresa soon lost her courage. "Forget it. I was joking."

Theresa felt a little embarrassed when Charlie asked her to kiss him.

Charlie looked at her and said, "God must send you here to irritate me?"

Theresa said, "Why did you suddenly celebrate my father's birthday? Jimmy's father's birthday party will be held on the same day."

Jimmy's father was 60 years old this year. Therefore, it was a big party.

Charlie said, "Nothing. I just don't like Jimmy."

Theresa looked at Charlie and curled her lips. Although Charlie didn't say anything, she could feel that he was supporting her.

Theresa asked, "Is it because of what I told you last time? It's about Jimmy hitting me."

Theresa remembered Charlie's reaction at that time.

Charlie denied, "No, you are overthinking. I just don't like him."

Charlie must be lying. Hearing Charlie's words, Theresa almost confirmed her assumption.

When Theresa gazed at Charlie, she was moved.

Charlie was stubborn and mean. He rarely said good words to Theresa. However, when he knew that someone hurt her, he would revenge on the person who hurt her.

Theresa put her arms around Charlie and leaned on his shoulder. "Charlie..."

Different from usual, although she still called him by his name, there was bitterness in her voice.

It seemed that Theresa was about to cry.

Charlie put his arm around Theresa's waist and said, "What happened?"

Theresa pursed her lips without speaking and leaned on Charlie's shoulder for a while.

The servant knocked on the door and told them to go downstairs for dinner.

When Theresa didn't hug Charlie, he saw her red eyes and said, "Why are you crying? I didn't bully you."

When Theresa gazed at this man, she thought that sometimes she was unlucky. Otherwise, how could she have met Jimmy? How could she have lived an awful life? However, when Theresa looked at Charlie, she suddenly thought that she might be lucky.

It's good to meet Charlie. Because of him, Theresa's life was getting better.

Chapter 405

Chapter 405

When they went downstairs, Theresa helped Charlie push the wheelchair.

The whole family was here, including Leticia, Robert, Pat, Rose, and Old Mr. Calsis.

The two kids were sitting aside. Robert, who had always been cold, was now playing with his grandson.

Ben sat beside his grandpa, enjoying Robert's care.

The children are really the angels in the family. With these two kids, they could see the different elders.

Charlie and Theresa sat on their seat. Charlie gazed at his father. He had never seen him so patient when he was a child. Now he was a responsible grandpa for these two children. When Leticia saw Charlie, she said, "Charlie, Rose said that Jimmy is going to hold a birthday party for his father. Do you want to go?"

Charlie replied, "No, I will be busy that day."

"What are you busy at?" Leticia asked.

Charlie said, "Some private affairs."

Rose was not surprised when Charlie refused her. She smiled and said, "I know. Uncle Charlie doesn't like socializing. That is an idle question."

Jimmy invited a lot of people from different companies, so Rose asked Charlie. Rose was afraid that Charlie would be angry if he was not invited.

Charlie looked at Rose, "Are you and Jimmy reconciled?"

up with Rose looked at Theresa beside Charlie. "Since Aunt Theresa is back, I should make it Jimmy. Uncle Charlie, you are biased against my husband. What's more, when will you allow him to work? You said that he should go home to take care of me. But now I lost my children."

Rose looked pitifully.

That's exactly what Charlie said.

Charlie drove Jimmy out of the company with the excuse of Rose's pregnancy. He handed over Jimmy's power to Roger.

Now Rose interceded with Charlie for Jimmy. Charlie seemed to have no choice.

Charlie looked at Pat and asked, "Mr. Nandlall, what do you think?"

"Just let him come back to the company and do his previous job." Rose has mentioned it to his father several times.

Every time she says it, she cries.

Pat did not want Rose to be sad anymore.

Charlie said, "Ok, he can come back."

Rose looked at Charlie surprisingly. She couldn't believe that Charlie agreed.

She said, "Thank you, Uncle Charlie."

If Jimmy knows it, he must be very happy.

Theresa looked at Rose with a strange feeling.

Rose treated Jimmy so well.

Rose just got better. She still took medicine recently, but she still cared about Jimmy's career.

Theresa was speechless.

After dinner, Theresa went to Charlie's study with him. Charlie looked at her and said, "Jimmy will return to the company sooner or later. You shouldn't worry about it."

As long as he does not divorce Rose and Rose does not abandon him, he will return to Nandall's Group sooner or later.

Although Charlie could interfere in the affairs of Nandall's Group, he must ask Pat's permission. On other occasions, he could not interfere with it too much.

Theresa said, "Rose seems to really love Jimmy."

Charlie looked at Theresa and said, "She is young and naive. She is just like you before." Theresa curled her lips. "Well, I'm just talking about Rose. You don't have to scold me." Theresa got upset when she talked about Jimmy.

Theresa ignored Charlie and went straight to the bathroom.

After a while, Theresa came out. Charlie looked at her and said, "I want to visit your dad with you."

Chapter 406

Chapter 406

"No." Theresa said, "My dad is bad-tempered. I'm afraid he will say something to irritate you."

"I won't be angry with him." Charlie said, "He is a patient. I should give in."

"Forget it." Theresa said, "You don't have to suffer from it."

Charlie looked at Theresa, "I'm serious."

"I'm serious, too."

Theresa was not joking with him, but she thought it was unnecessary.

Charlie and Theresa's father look down on each other. When they meet, she would worry that they will fight.

Charlie said, "I want to be with you, so I go to see your father with you. We will be together sooner or later. Your father hates me so much. I just try to make him like me. Don't you want to be with me?"

If Theresa really wanted to be with Charlie, she should be happy, but Theresa just refused him. Theresa was shocked when she heard Charlie's words. She looked at Charlie and said, "We can talk about it in the future."

Theresa never thought about their future.

"Future?" Charlie said, "How can we have a future if you behave like this? Forget it."

Charlie couldn't go on. He hates Theresa's father. That man always looks down on him.

Charlie was willing to give in to please his father-in-law for Theresa, while Theresa hasn't thought about their future.

Knowing that, Charlie was upset.

Seeing that Charlie was suddenly silent, Theresa said, "Charlie."

She tried to please him, but Charlie ignored her and ran to take a bath.

Theresa went to chat with Old Mr. Calsis for a while. When she returned to the room, she saw Charlie lying on the bed.

Theresa climbed into bed and lay down beside Charlie. Her hands and feet were cold because she had chills.

However, the man around me was like a heater.

As he lay there, Theresa felt the heat.

Theresa looked at Charlie quietly and tried to touch him, but he dodged her.

Charlie turned over and turned his back to her. He just ignored her.

Charlie suddenly recalled their conversation at night. He stopped it then.

Charlie was so angry now. Theresa began to reflect on herself.

Theresa lay flat on the bed, looking at the ceiling. She felt she was empty, but she couldn't describe this kind of feeling.

As if she were on a high cliff, Theresa was afraid that she would fall off the cliff at any time. Theresa didn't know what the problem was. Although Charlie treated her so well, Theresa was afraid that Charlie would lie to her. She was afraid that his kindness to her would suddenly vanish.

Theresa looked at the man beside her. She tried to catch him, but she resisted.

Forget it. After all, she didn't deserve it.

In the middle of the night, Theresa got up, opened the door of the balcony, and went out.

She needed to go for a blow.

The cold wind howled in winter. When the wind blew, her tears were blown away.

Theresa didn't expect to see the snow outside.

This year's snow came earlier than ever.

Theresa stood at the door for a while. She wanted to feel the wind. Although her hands and feet were frozen, she didn't feel cold at all.

She just stood there for twenty minutes, then she lay on the bed again..

The bed was so warm. As soon as Theresa went to bed, Charlie felt cold. He turned around and stared at her.

Theresa looked at Charlie, who was angry, and said, "Didn't you sleep?"

"I'm frozen. Do you want to kill me?" Charlie looked at Theresa with disdain. He doubted that she did that on purpose. Theresa said, "I'll sleep on the sofa."

Chapter 407

Chapter 407

Theresa used to sleep on the sofa, but Charlie always slept on the sofa with her. Subsequently, Theresa decided to sleep with him on the bed.

Since Charlie didn't like her now, it was a good chance to sleep on the sofa.

She was about to get out of bed, but Charlie stopped her. "Come back."

She looked at him curiously. He had already stretched out his hand and dragged her into his arms like a stove.

He took her hand and put it on his chest. Although his face was cold, his chest was so hot.

Theresa looked at him with puzzlement and said, "Don't you feel cold?"

Charlie looked at the woman in his arms and shouted, "Are you stupid? Why did you go for a blow at night?"

While scolding Theresa, Charlie held her tightly.

Theresa leaned against him and said, "I just want to clear my head."

"Do you feel better now?" Charlie looked at Theresa. He clearly hated her so much, but he felt pity for her.

Sometimes Charlie didn't want to talk to her, but he couldn't. Theresa was pitiful, so he couldn't ignore her, because no one would help her except him.

Jimmy was a jerk.

Charlie really wanted to kill Jimmy now.

Hearing what Charlie said, Theresa knew that Charlie was still angry. It was not a good way to argue with him. Therefore, she pretended to be aggrieved, "I'm cold." Charlie glared at her. Of course, he knew what Theresa was thinking. "I know. You just want me to get sidetracked."

Theresa looked at Charlie. Perhaps she felt cold, her eyes were red.

After all, Charlie couldn't bear to scold her. He took her hand, put it on his lips, and gently blew,

"Do you feel better?"

Charlie said with a tone of indifference, but he was very gentle.

Theresa looked at the man and smiled. "Charlie, you are so good."

"I'm not good." Charlie said, "You made me angry, so I'm not good. You are so dull. I did a lot for you, but you didn't show any response."

"I don't know how I respond to you." Theresa looked at Charlie, "I'm scared."

"Why? Do you think I will hurt you?"

"I'm afraid I'll like you." Theresa said with a soft voice.

Theresa didn't want to tell Charlie her real feelings.

In the past, when Theresa was joking with Charlie, she always said she likes him.

But now, when Theresa took it seriously, it was embarrassing for her to speak out.

Charlie was shocked when he heard what she said. He looked at her, "If you like me, I'll be happy. Why are you scared?"

"I don't know."

Theresa didn't know how to explain it.

Charlie said, "You liked Jimmy before. Can't you like me? In your opinion, am I a worse person?"

Theresa looked at Charlie and said, "I liked him when I was young and naive... But now... I am patient. I dare not, and I am afraid to trust others. Although you are very kind to me, I am still afraid that you will like others when you get better. Well, we can't tell it yet. Life is so long.*

"If I like others, I wouldn't be single all the time and get engaged to Sarah." Charlie looked at Theresa and said, "I've always been a self-righteous person. I'm so confident that I wouldn't like any woman. I feel that marriage is a waste of my time and life. I never thought I would like you. But you are my wife now. I want to be with you. I like this ordinary life. I treat you so well, but you don't accept it. Do you know how sad I am?"

Charlie didn't expect Theresa to like him.

However, when Theresa always refused him, he would be sad.

Theresa said, "I'm sorry."

When Theresa apologized to Charlie, Charlie lowered his head and said, "You don't need to apologize to me. I really want to ask Jimmy to come here, so I can beat him up now. That scum really made me angry to death."

Theresa laughed when she heard that Charlie angrily scolded Jimmy.

Theresa was crying, but now she laughed. Charlie frowned when he saw that. Charlie rarely had a heart-to-heart talk with Theresa, "I know you don't like me, and I know you didn't care about my feelings at all. Although I like you so much, you won't take it seriously. I have no special requirements for you. I just want you to accept me when I treat you well. You are my wife. You should do it. If you keep refusing me, we can't live a peaceful life. I like the way you treated me when you first came to my home. You were so cute then."

Chapter 408

Chapter 408

"Really? So, do you mean I just need to treat you as before?"

Charlie said, "Yes. Don't refuse me anyway."

Theresa was speechless. His request seemed to be easy.

Theresa said, "I know I won't refuse you in the future."

Charlie felt better when he heard Theresa's words. "Remember what you said today. If you refuse me in the future, I won't forgive you."

Charlie took Theresa in his arms. He put her hands on his chest. Theresa took the initiative to put her hands in his pajamas and fondle his firm chest.

Theresa didn't notice what she was doing because she had just talked to Charlie. She felt embarrassed at this time.

Theresa withdrew her hands quietly. Charlie stared at her and said, "Your hands. Put them in." Theresa was speechless. She looked at the man and said, "Your demand is weird."

Why did Charlie ask Theresa to put her hands in his pajamas?

"I like the way you touch me."

Theresa coughed and even blushed.

Theresa put her hands into Charlie's pajamas again and casually touched his chest. "Like this?"

You look like a pervert."

Charlie snorted and said proudly, "No one has touched me before."

Well, it's my pleasure." Theresa looked at Charlie and couldn't help laughing

She was happy to be with him.

Although Charlie won't say good words to Theresa, he is still an interesting man.

In the morning, there was a vast expanse of white outside. It snowed last night, but it has stopped now.

The room was very warm. Theresa slept on the bed and felt that the men around her kissed her like a dog.

Charlie just woke Theresa up from her dream.

She opened her eyes and looked at the man beside her with her sleepy eyes, "What are you doing?"

Charlie scowled at her as if he didn't kiss her just now.

He said, "Nothing."

"You kissed me."

"I didn't." Charlie shamelessly denied it.

"You are a liar. You did do it, but you dare not admit it. How dare you?"

Charlie cleared his throat and looked at the woman beside him. When he thought of what he had just done, he also felt ashamed.

Charlie woke up very early today. When he woke up, Theresa was still with him.

After so many years, Charlie finally found that he would be happy to see this woman when he woke up.

Charlie stared at Theresa silently.

Theresa pursed her lips. "Why are you looking at me? You have to pay for that."

"You are a material girl." His voice was a little hoarse.

Charlie only thought of one thing at that time. "My wife is so cute!"

When Charlie watched Theresa, she was embarrassed

She lowered her head to look away and complained, "I'm sleepy. If you keep staring at me like this, I can't sleep."

Chapter 409

Chapter 409

Charlie said, "You can go to sleep. I didn't do anything to you."

"You just woke me up." Charlie kissed Theresa when she fell asleep.

Charlie withdrew his hand and said, "OK, I won't touch you."

After a while, someone knocked on the door. Charlie quietly looked at Theresa who was asleep.

"Dad." Ben's voice came from the door.

Charlie frowned when he heard that.

Janet woke up Leonard. It was cold today. Leonard didn't want to get up. Ben got up and put on his clothes, while Leonard was still on his bed.

As soon as Leonard walked out of his room, he saw Ben standing in front of Theresa and Charlie's bedroom.

Leonard came over and asked curiously, "What are you doing?"

"It's snowing." Ben said, "I want mom to see it."

"She hasn't gotten up yet." Leonard looked at the closed door and analyzed it.

Ben stared at the door and guessed. "Are they making a baby sister for us?" "Sister?" When Leonard heard that, he was instantly on the alert. Leonard stared at Ben. Ben said, "Lemia said her parents would make a baby brother for her, but I want a sister."

When Leonard heard Ben's words, he was excited, as if he had found a new continent.

Leonard didn't want to knock on the door. Hearing that, he began to do that.

Leonard didn't want a sister!

Mom belongs to him!

Now, Leonard's mother had less time to accompany him. If he had a sister, his mother would totally ignore him.

Charlie lay on the bed. When he heard his two kids knocking on the door all the time, He picked up his mobile phone and sent a message.

After a while, Jonathan received his message. He soon went to their door. He looked at Leonard and Ben and said, "What are you doing?" Leonard looked up at Jonathan. "Open the door!"

Jonathan was speechless. He suddenly realized that Mr. Calsis called him because he needed him to coax these two kids away.

However, Leonard was not afraid of Jonathan. He kept giving the order. Leonard's solemn look was the same as Charlie's.

Jonathan calmed himself down and said, "They haven't got up yet. Let's go downstairs for breakfast first."

Ben said, "I want my mother to watch the snow with me. It's snowing outside."

Jonathan said, "How about I go with you?"

When Ben saw that no one opened the door, he had to compromise, "OK."

Ben agreed with Jonathan. He wanted to leave but found Leonard still standing there. Jonathan said, "Leonard, let's go to watch the snow."

"I don't want to watch it." Leonard said, "Where's my mother? I don't want a sister."

"Um." Jonathan said, "What sister?"

"I don't want her to make a baby sister for me." Leonard showed a solemn look at this time:

For him, it was far more important than the snow.

Jonathan looked at him with puzzlement and said, "Who said you would have a sister?"

Leonard looked at Ben.

Ben explained, "Lemia said."

"Who is Lemia?"

"One of my classmates."

Jonathan smiled and said, "Don't worry. You won't have a sister. Let's go downstairs."

It was not an easy job for Jonathan to coax Leonard and Ben downstairs and watch the snow at the door.

Janet came to ask them to have breakfast.

It was cold today. Theresa got up late. When she got up, she was so sleepy that she sat by the window, stirring her coffee. She needed a cup of coffee to refresh herself.

Chapter 410

Chapter 410

Jonathan talked to Theresa about what happened to the two kids.

Hearing that, Theresa was shocked. "Why did Leonard suddenly have a thought like that?"

Jonathan said, "Now, kids now know everything."

With the development of the Internet, they can receive more information.

Theresa sighed helplessly and said, "Thank you. You must be tired."

Theresa felt guilty to ask Jonathan to take care of those two kids.

Jonathan said, "Not at all. I should do it."

When Theresa finished her coffee, Charlie had already gone downstairs.

Charlie came out of the elevator in his wheelchair and stopped beside Theresa. Jonathan helped him sit on the sofa. Charlie looked at Theresa and said, "Why didn't you wake me up?"

Charlie was staring at her, but later, he was so sleepy that he slept again.

When he woke up, he found Theresa had gotten up and left him alone on the bed.

Theresa said, "I didn't wake you up because you slept like a log."

"You are talking nonsense."

Standing aside, Jonathan stood curled his lips. It's good to fall in love with someone.

But could they care about his feelings?

Theresa glared at Charlie, "I think you are very childish. If the kids come to find me, you should wake me up, but not call Jonathan. Jonathan is your assistant. Don't take it for granted that Jonathan should help you take care of the children." Hearing that, Charlie looked at Jonathan. He didn't expect that Theresa would know it.

"Did you tell her?" Charlie asked.

Jonathan lowered his head and explained to Theresa, "Madam, it's my duty to help Mr. Calsis take care of the children. Besides, Leonard and Ben are very cute. I like them very much." Theresa said, "You don't need to speak for him. He is an irresponsible father. He doesn't care about his son at all."

"Excuse me, I don't understand why I'm an irresponsible father. I'm their biological father. They can go to school. They can eat anything they want." Charlie said, "Boys should be independent. I grew up like this when I was young."

"Are you independent?" Theresa looked at Charlie with suspicion, "Well, I don't see it. Charlie, do you hate these two kids?"

"Why did you say that?" Charlie said, "They are my sons. Of course, I like them. I asked Jonathan to take them away because I don't want them to wake you up. You should not blame me."

"You..."

When Theresa was about to say something, Charlie ran away and said, "I have to work."

Charlie didn't want Theresa to blame him.

Theresa's eyelids kept twitching. When Jonathan saw that, he left with Charlie.

Theresa sat on the sofa, picked up the phone, and sent a message to Cristina, "I think Charlie doesn't like the two kids. What's your opinion?"

If Leticia didn't like her grandson and take them home, Theresa thought that Charlie didn't like the two children at all.

She was a little sad.

Theresa tried hard to give birth to her two babies.

She worked hard to raise them, but Charlie wouldn't understand that.

Cristina said, "That's impossible. Leonard and Ben are so cute. So, what did he do to the children?"

"Leonard and Ben went to my room to find me in the morning. When I fell asleep, he ignored them and asked Jonathan to take them away."

What's more, Charlie seldom cares about the two children.

He just tried to keep the children around, but then he seemed to ignore them.

Theresa was very depressed when she thought of this.

Cristina said, "Men are the same. My father used to ignore me. Only my aunt cares about me.

Men are jerks. They always thought that only women should take care of the children."

Theresa was speechless.

When they finished their breakfast in the Calsis's house, Theresa and Charlie went to the hospital to visit her father.

Theresa sat in the car silently, and so did Charlie.

There was an air of embarrassment there.

Jonathan sat in the front seat. He was so nervous that he kept sweating.

Chapter 411

Chapter 411

Jonathan looked at Theresa. To ease the tension, he said, "Madam, did you call Mr. Cameron about our past?"

Theresa nodded, "Yes."

Jonathan said, "It seemed that Mr. Cameron doesn't like Mr. Calsis. If they quarrel, please try to interfere with them."

Hearing that, Theresa looked at Charlie and said coldly, "Well, I don't think I could solve it."

As soon as Theresa finished speaking, she felt Charlie staring at her.

Charlie looked at Theresa and said, "What do you mean?"

Theresa said, "Nothing. I just don't like you."

"Why?"

"You know it."

When the car arrived at the parking lot of the hospital, Theresa got out of the car and watched Jonathan take out Charlie's wheelchair. Jonathan took Charlie out of the car and moved him to the wheelchair.

Instead of waiting for Charlie, Theresa just walked away.

Theresa was not angry, but depressed.

When Jonathan saw Theresa's angry look, he said to Charlie, "Mr. Calsis, Madam is angry. You'd better give in to her."

Charlie said, "Did I do something wrong?"

Charlie didn't do anything to offend her.

"It's probably about Ben and Leonard."

Charlie looked up and looked at Jonathan. "Don't you think Theresa treats the two children better than me? She said I'm not a responsible father."

Jonathan smiled and said, "Although Madam is not their biological mother, she treats them better than her own children. Isn't it good? You shouldn't be angry."

Charlie said, "So, you mean I'm just overthinking, huh?"

"Well, if you don't give in, Madam must ignore you. At that time, you will be sad."

"I have never been sad."

Jonathan looked at Charlie. He realized that Mr. Calsis would not learn a lesson from that.

When Theresa was away, Charlie missed her so much. Did Charlie forget it?

Jonathan was speechless.

Theresa walked into the ward. Leah was not at home, but Johnson was.

Theresa said, "Dad."

Johnson looked up at her, "You should be at home. Why do you come to the hospital?"

"Of course, I came to see you." Theresa replied, "By the way, Charlie is here."

As soon as Theresa finished speaking, Charlie and Jonathan appeared at the door.

Because Johnson knew that Charlie is the biological father of the two children, he thought Charlie's face was not so disgusting.

Johnson said, "I'm fine. I'll be discharged later. You get injured. You should rest at home, but not come to visit me."

Charlie said, "Well, I'm fine. I want to come here."

Charlie knew that this old man considered him a cripple.

He was angry with it, his voice sounded cold.

Theresa looked up at Charlie. She could feel Charlie trying hard to endure it.

It suddenly occurred to Theresa what Charlie said last night. She looked at her father and said, "Charlie knew you were ill. He wants to come to visit you." "I'm glad to hear that, but Mr. Calsis, you don't have to do it." Johnson was polite.

Theresa thought they couldn't even find a topic to talk.

Charlie sat by and gazed at this old man silently.

Theresa said, "Jonathan, please go outside with Mr. Calsis for a while. I want to talk to my father for a while."

"Can't I be here? Am I your secret lover?" Charlie couldn't help criticizing Theresa at the moment.

Chapter 412

Chapter 412

Charlie would only be generous to Theresa. For others, he was still a bad-tempered man.

Hearing that, Johnson didn't say anything.

Theresa stood up and pushed Charlie's wheelchair to the lounge outside. "I need to talk to my dad for a while. I'll ask you to come in later."

Charlie looked at her. "Hum."

Theresa said, "I'm trying, OK?"

Theresa needed to mediate between Charlie and her father.

Hearing that, Charlie gazed at Theresa.

Theresa looked at Charlie gently. "Wait for me."

When Theresa calmed Charlie down, Theresa entered the ward.

She sat down, looked at her father, and said, "Dad, you should care about Charlie's feelings. After all, we are a family now. Charlie came to visit you today. He didn't know how to communicate with people, but he did want to please you."

Johnson said, "Of course, I care about his feelings, but he always tries to criticize me. I thought it would be inconvenient for him to visit me, so I asked him not to come here." "Your words made him feel that you are discriminating against him."

"Well, if he wants to think that way, I can't help him. Actually, I just want to see my two grandsons. I don't want you to be with him."

"In fact, Charlie doesn't need me to take care of him ordinarily. He can take care of himself. Don't be prejudiced against him. Besides, I came here today because I want to discuss something with you."

"What is it?"

"On this weekend, your birthday is coming. Charlie said he wanted to hold a birthday party for you. What do you think?"

"There is no need. It would bother you."

He hasn't had a birthday party for a long time.

Johnson didn't like the noisy place.

"He has already made arrangements." Theresa said, "If you refuse, he will be embarrassed. Dad, Charlie is actually a good man." Johnson still felt strange. "I remember that he hates our family. Why is he suddenly so kind to me?"

Theresa said, "He said he likes me."

Hearing that, Johnson doubted it, "Well, I don't think so. After all, most men are irresponsible. Jimmy treated you badly, let alone Charlie..." Johnson thought that Charlie was more irresponsible.

Theresa smiled, "I don't believe it, so I want your opinion. After all, you are older than me. You are a good judge of people."

At that time, Theresa's father allowed her to be with Jimmy because she loved Jimmy so much.

After the divorce, she really regretted not listening to her father.

Johnson noticed something.

He looked at Theresa and asked, "Do you like him?"

Theresa lowered her head, "Do you think I have the right to like others now?"

Theresa's words reminded Johnson of Theresa's sad experience with Jimmy.

She didn't know why. At this moment, Theresa really hoped that Charlie loves her.

At least she won't be so sad.

Johnson said, "Please let Charlie in."

"Be nice to him."

"I see."

Charlie sat outside. He didn't know why he was so nervous. He was not like that when he saw

Charlie didn't whether Theresa could persuade her stubborn father.

"Charlie." At that moment, Theresa came out. She came over and said, "OK."

Charlie looked at her and said coldly. "So, how's it going? Did you talk to him?"

Theresa looked at Charlie's angry look, lowered her head, held his hand, and said, "I've talked to my dad. Now it's your turn. If you are still cold, my dad wouldn't know how to get along with you. I mean you are Charlie. My father is afraid of you."

Chapter 413

Chapter 413

After all, Charlie was the one who almost made the Cameron family go bankrupt.

How could Charlie not be afraid of him?

Charlie looked at Theresa, who had been angry in the morning, and took the opportunity to hold her hand. "Are you not angry with me?"

When they got off the car, Theresa didn't want to speak with Charlie at all.

Theresa said, "Well, we will talk about it later."

Charlie was speechless.

Charlie followed Theresa into the ward.

Johnson sat on the bed, and Theresa looked at Charlie, "This is my father. You can call him Mr. Cameron."

Theresa's father didn't get along well with Charlie, so Theresa could only mediate between them.

Hearing Theresa's words, Charlie asked, "Did Jimmy call him Mr. Cameron as well?"

Theresa was speechless

Why did he suddenly mention Jimmy?

Theresa was suddenly in a bad mood.

"Of course not," Theresa said

Jimmy used to marry her, so he naturally called Johnson by his name.

Charlie said, "Then how did he call him?"

"So, do you want to call me by my name? Well, if you want, I don't mind it.

"Of course, I want."

Charlie looked at Johnson and said, "Johnson."

Theresa was speechless.

Johnson was also surprised. He didn't expect that Charlie would closely call his name.

Before Theresa got married, the two families were enemies.

Johnson looked at Charlie with embarrassment. He said, "You haven't held a wedding yet. You can't call my name directly."

Charlie was stubborn, "I will marry Theresa in the future. When I have time, we will hold the wedding. I don't care if you like me. I just want to be closer to you. Theresa respected you. I would learn from her. You shouldn't be ungrateful."

When Charlie began to say, Theresa was glad that he could be sincere. However, when she heard his whole words, Theresa was speechless. She rolled her eyes at Charlie.

What was he talking about?

He must be crazy.

Jonathan stood aside. Hearing Charlie's words, he sweated. Jonathan hurriedly explained, "Mr.

Calsis is nervous, so he said something wrong. Mr. Cameron, I hope you could forgive him."

Johnson looked at the two men and then at Theresa.

He said, "Since you have married Theresa, as long as you treat Theresa well, I can't complain." Charlie said, "Of course, I will be nice to her. Anyway, I will be better than you. As Theresa's father, you don't even trust her."

Theresa doubted that Charlie intended to irritate her father.

Theresa looked at Charlie and curled her lips, "Do you try to annoy my dad?"

Johnson said, "It doesn't matter. Charlie is right. I'm not a good father. As a father, I didn't know how to trust Theresa and how to teach Sarah."

Johnson had to admit that his carelessness has hurt Theresa and Charlie.

Charlie looked at the man and said, "I didn't expect you to reflect on yourself."

Theresa reached out and pinched Charlie.

Did he have to talk like this? It's annoying.

Johnson was silent.

Theresa said, "Dad, let bygones be bygones. Charlie didn't care about it. In fact, it's not your fault. Those bad guys should be blamed."

Jimmy and Sarah had their own problems.

As outsiders, they couldn't find it.

Jonathan said, "Yes. We shouldn't care about what happened in the past. We don't come here to talk about it. Now, the point is you should have a good rest. Two days later, your birthday is coming."

Theresa said, "Charlie wants to hold a birthday party for you. Dad, you can go then."

Johnson said, "OK."

Theresa and Jonathan finally eased the tension.

Chapter 414

Chapter 414

Theresa sat next to her father and ate breakfast with him.

Sitting aside and looking at Theresa, Charlie knew that she was happy to stay with her father.

So, although Johnson made him suffer a little, he could also accept it.

At noon, Leah and Sarah came over.

Seeing Charlie and Theresa here, Sarah was a little surprised, "Why are you here?"

When Charlie saw Sarah, he didn't say a word.

Jonathan glanced at Charlie and said, "Mrs. Calsis, we'll just go

Theresa knew they didn't want to see Sarah.

So, she nodded and said, "Okay, I'll be with you in a minute."

back."

After seeing the two of them leave, Sarah said, "It's amazing that Charlie would come to see Dad in the hospital. He didn't come to look for trouble, did he?"

Theresa gave her a look and said, "You think I'm you, offending the Calsis Family and causing our family to go bankrupt?"

"You can only mention old scores?"

Theresa looked at her, smiling crookedly, "Since you dare to do it, don't be afraid of others to mention."

Sarah laughed, "Charlie is just a cripple. Why are you so cherished for him? And even if he was nice to you now, so what? It's still me who didn't want him."

"Do you dare to say it again?" Theresa looked at Sarah and wondered why she was speaking so harshly.

Charlie had let her go, but she still called him a cripple.

Leah glanced at Sarah, who had to keep her mouth shut..

She was not afraid of Theresa.

But she didn't want to leave a bad impression in front of her father.

She said, "Dad, mom and I are coming to get you out of the hospital."

Theresa said, "Dad, I'll go back first."

"Okay."

Theresa stood up and walked out the door.

Looking at Theresa's back and then at Johnson, Leah smiled and asked, "Why did Charlie come over to see

you?"

"He accompanied Theresa."

"He didn't give you a hard time, did he?" Leah was a little worried.

She had been in contact with Charlie and knew that he had a problem with their family.

Johnson said, "No."

"Then he's really changed," Sarah said.

Johnson looked to Sarah, "Now that Charlie has spared you, you need to say less to make people angry."

"I didn't say it in front of him." Sarah said, "Why Theresa is so concerned about Charlie? He almost bankrupted our family before, then I couldn't say anything? But it looks like they're getting along pretty well. Dad, right? I told you at the beginning that Theresa and he were close. Unlike me... I can't coax him who has such a terrible temper."

Leah said, "Your dad is not feeling well, and you just say less. You're really.

"Okay, it's my fault." Sarah looked at Johnson and introspected seriously.

Soon it was the weekend.

Neither Leonard nor Ben went to school, and they were currently in homeschool.

When Theresa returned from watching the two children, she found Charlie and Jonathan in the dressing room with Jonathan holding the clothes and asking, "Is this okay?"

Charlie shook his head.

Jonathan gave him a new one.

But when Jonathan took several clothes for Charlie in a row, he was not very satisfied. Theresa walked to the door, looked at the two men, and asked, "What are you doing?" Looking to Theresa and then to Charlie, Jonathan said, "I'm changing Mr. Calsis' clothes." Theresa glanced at the clothes he was carrying in his hand, "Isn't this nice?"

"Not good enough," Charlie said, "I'm not handsome wearing it."

"Theresa looked at the man in confusion, "Why?"

Chapter 415

Chapter 415

He was not bad-looking. Except for his bad legs, he was good in every way.

He was Charlie, and no one would mind what he wore.

But his serious look at this moment made Theresa feel strange.

Looking at Charlie, she was suddenly surprised to find, "Charlie, did you get a haircut?"

He gave her a blank look, "You're just now noticing?"

Jonathan explained, "He cut it yesterday afternoon."

"I really didn't notice that." Theresa said, "Why are you cutting your hair?"

His hair wasn't long.

Charlie said, "It looks good this way."

11

Theresa laughed, "I didn't think you were such a show-off."

She turned to Jonathan, "This clothing is pretty good."

Jonathan looked over to Charlie for his opinion, "Mr. Calsis?"

"Just this one." Since she said it was good, it must be good.

Theresa stopped by to help him pick out a tie and a brooch and dress him up in a grand way before they left the house.

Because Leonard and Ben had to be at home for classes, they did not go with them.

When Theresa and Charlie arrived at the hotel and entered together, they saw the sign for Jimmy's father's birthday party hanging at the door, making it easy for people to find the location of the birthday party. After seeing the sign for Jimmy's father's birthday party, Theresa glanced at Charlie, who arranged her father's birthday party and booked the hotel.

Soon, they arrived at the banquet hall.

Theresa discovered that their banquet hall was coincidentally next door to that of Jimmy's father.

It's hard to say that Charlie didn't do it on purpose.

Because Theresa and Charlie came early, there were not many people in the banquet hall yet.

Charlie sat aside to drink tea while Theresa made a phone call.

Theresa's father hadn't come yet. Because he was not well, Theresa asked him to go out later and Leah would come with him.

Compared to their side, the banquet hall next door was slowly becoming lively.

To celebrate Jimmy's father Eric Watson's 60th birthday, he wanted to invite all their relatives and friends.

As Jimmy was now married to Rose, many people were willing to come to please him.

Eric stood in the doorway. Looking at his father's handsome appearance, Jimmy said, "Dad, you are so handsome today."

He was wearing a suit that Rose had custom-made for him.

He had never worn such expensive clothes in his life,

Eric said, "How's my outfit?"

Jimmy said, "Rose really has an eye for clothes."

Eric smiled and was very pleased with Rose, his daughter-in-law.

As the guests arrived, Jimmy greeted them and invited them in.

Not long after, they saw Leah and Johnson appear at the door. When he saw these two, Eric's face darkened, "Why are they here?"

Jimmy looked over and was surprised to see his former father-in-law.

Eric said, "What bad luck."

When Theresa was with Jimmy, Eric's attitude towards Johnson was still quite good.

Because Eric used to be an ordinary worker, and Johnson was a businessman, earning a lot of money. And with Old Mr. Calsis's help, Johnson had good connections.

At that time, Eric liked to please Johnson.

After all, Johnson was rich and generous...

Chapter 416

Chapter 416

But then Theresa cheated on his son.

Eric did not expect that Johnson would dare to appear at his birthday party today. Thinking about it, Eric smiled and walked up to Johnson, "Hello, Mr. Cameron." Johnson looked to Eric, not expecting to meet Jimmy's father here.

Jimmy stood next to Eric, and when he saw Johnson, he called out, He used to call Johnson's dad, but now he called him uncle.

In fact, Jimmy hadn't seen Johnson for a long time.

"Uncle."

Since his divorce from Theresa, he had not had much contact with the Cameron family.

He had risen in his career and married Rose, so he had long ago not put the Cameron family in his eyes.

When he saw Jimmy and heard him call himself uncle, Johnson raised his hand and slapped Jimmy in the face. Jimmy did not expect Johnson to slap him at all.

Leah was standing next to Johnson, and when she saw this, she was shocked and rushed to hold Johnson, "Old

Johnson."

Johnson who usually even gasped for breath when he was walking now slapped Jimmy. Jimmy didn't expect to receive a slap himself when his father just gave Johnson a hello.

This scene made people passing by gathered around and all looked at them.

Seeing his son being slapped, Eric looked at Johnson and said, "Johnson, what do you mean by that?" Johnson looked at Jimmy and remembered how Jimmy had assured in front of him when Jimmy was with Theresa.

He said he would be good to Theresa, but Johnson didn't expect...

In the end, Jimmy actually put Theresa in this state.

Johnson said, "What do I mean? You should ask your precious son."

Eric looked at his son, and then looked at Johnson, saying, "Well, when your daughter did such a disgraceful thing, I didn't even slap her. What are you doing? You are now so dotage that you dare to slap my

Johnson said, "You don't deserve to mention my daughter!"

son?"

Jimmy stood aside and looked to Johnson, "Mr. Cameron, what do you mean by that?"

"You do not know what I mean?" Johnson looked at Jimmy, "How could you do this to Theresa? I married my daughter to you, but you bullied her like this?"

Ever since he found out the truth, Johnson was angry every day when he thought about it.

His precious daughter was treated so badly in the Watson family.

She was obviously so good, but she was ruined by Jimmy.

Leah stood aside and said to Johnson, "Old Johnson, don't make trouble, and there are so many people today."

They came for a birthday, not for trouble.

Leah was surprised that Johnson would get so angry about what happened to Theresa and even slap Jimmy. Old Johnson was always quite good-tempered, rarely hitting people. Johnson gasped, "It's because there are so many people watching that I have to slap him."

Eric looked at Johnson and sneered, "I've really learned today what it means for an evil person to sue first. He is Mr. Cameron of Cameron's Group. It was his daughter who cheated on my son and had children with other men, so my son had to divorce his daughter. I never thought that he would blame it on my son today." When Eric finished, everyone stopped and looked at Johnson, and some people came out of the banquet hall.

Over the years, with the Watson family spreading rumors everywhere, the matter of Theresa cheating, being pregnant with two children, and being driven out by the Watson family was known to everyone.

"He is the one who didn't teach her daughter well!"

"Tsk, when he has a daughter like that, how can he still have the nerve to come to another's banquet to make a scene?"

"Old Johnson, you might as well go back and take care of your daughter when you have time. And you are too unreasonable to slap Jimmy."

These people who were watching were still trying to make things bigger.

The crowd looked at Johnson and blamed him.

In fact, over the years, whenever he encountered the Watson family people outside, he would face such scenes.

#Chapter 417

Chapter 417

Chapter 417

Everyone knew about his daughter's 'disgraceful' things.

Everyone thought he couldn't teach his daughter well despite that he had a clean reputation.

And Jimmy, after divorcing Theresa, went up in his career.

Everyone thought he was unlucky to have married Theresa in the first place.

Johnson used to have a good reputation because he was righteous and loved to help others.

People nowadays could not bear to have any stain on a good person, therefore, everyone mocked him when they caught the opportunity.

In addition to the fact that the Cameron family was about to go bankrupt with Sarah running away from her marriage, everyone was even less friendly to him.

Now when they see Johnson, all would like to come out and scold him for a few words.

Anyway, he would not retort?

Because his daughter had done something bad, he had no face to say anything back.

Seeing that everyone was on his side, Eric looked contemptuously at Johnson, "Old Johnson, I heard you've been sick lately. You must be so sick and confused that you even forgot what your daughter did, so you slapped my son today."

Johnson looked at Jimmy, and since he knew what Theresa had suffered from Jimmy, he wouldn't hold back, "It's him I'm slapping. I married my daughter to him, but what did he do? My daughter got pregnant for him, but he wanted my daughter to abort her seven-month-old child. He was not human!"

Hearing this, Eric sneered, "Get pregnant for Jimmy? You've got it wrong! Your daughter was pregnant with another man outside, and for the sake of those two children, she would rather leave the house without anything. Everyone knows about this matter, but now you are here to make a sophistry?"

"That's right!"

The onlookers joyfully followed and agreed.

This was a matter known to everyone at the beginning, but why could Johnson still say such things now? Johnson stood aside and looked at Jimmy, "Do you think you treat Theresa well?"

From Johnson's expression, Jimmy knew that Johnson had known about what happened between him and Theresa.

Before Johnson did not believe what Theresa said, and now, he believed it.

So just that slap...

Jimmy unclenched his fist, looked at Johnson, and said, "Uncle, you are after all my former father-in-law, so in my heart, you have always been like my father. I deserve this slap today."

"Jim," Eric looked at his son.

Seeing Jimmy say such things, he was a little worried....

If others heard this, they would think he had done something wrong to Theresa.

After hearing what Jimmy said, Johnson said, "You admit it?"

Hearing Johnson's words, Jimmy lowered his head and said, "It was my fault that when I was with Theresa, I didn't keep an eye on her, and as her husband, I didn't stop her from making that mistake. Over the years, I also feel ashamed, and I can understand why you are now distressed. So, I deserve this slap."

When Jimmy said this, the onlookers looked at him with admiration.

What kind of reasoning was this?

When his ex-wife cheated on him, his ex-father-in-law came to the door and directly slapped him without saying a word.

Not only did he not get into trouble with his ex-father-in-law, but he also took the mistake on himself. He was really a good man.

No wonder Ms. Nandlall would take a fancy to him!

The crowd looked at him with admiration.

Johnson looked at Jimmy, who was pretending. And he had thought Jimmy was introspecting himself, but he didn't expect him to be fishing in troubled waters.

"You're really good at acting. No wonder I fell for your tricks before."

Chapter 418

Chapter 418

Jimmy was so good at acting that he actually believed his daughter would cheat on him at first without suspecting Jimmy at all.

If Johnson hadn't heard those recordings last time, he probably would never have known the truth in his life. Jimmy said, "I don't know what you mean."

Rose was in the banquet hall with Luna, taking care of Luna's son Jake, and when she heard the noise outside, she came out and saw that the outside looked very crowded. Seeing Jimmy and Eric standing together, she went to Jimmy's side. And looking at Johnson and Leah, she asked, "What's going on?" Seeing her, Jimmy said, "Why are you out? Go inside, and nothing's wrong."

Rose looked over at him, a little worried, "I heard you got beat up?"

As she walked over, she heard people talking.

Someone said Jimmy was beaten up.

Before he had a chance to speak, he saw that Eric standing aside argued with Johnson, "I don't know what you're talking about. But today, our family is having a birthday here. You are really going too far to come over here and hit my son when we didn't invite you."

Rose asked, "Who is he?"

Luna, who followed Rose out, glanced at Johnson and introduced him, "Theresa's father. We didn't invite them either, and I don't know why they're here."

Theresa and Charlie next door also heard the loud noise from outside and then Jonathan walked in. Theresa asked, "What's wrong?"

Jonathan said, "Mr. Cameron is coming over, but he just had a confrontation with the Watson family outside."

When Theresa heard this, she stood up, "I'll go see what's going on."

She walked out the door and saw a crowd gathered at the entrance of the banquet hall where Jimmy was hosting a birthday party for his father.

Johnson and Leah were surrounded by many people.

Everyone pointed at Johnson, "You are too unreasonable to slap Jimmy, and you must apologize to him." Jimmy looked at Johnson in a superior manner and said, "Uncle, I'll let that slap go, But today is my father's birthday, and we didn't invite you, so I hope you can leave."

"Leave?" Johnson said, "Jimmy, I'm here to teach you a lesson today. Especially to wake you up in front of your father!"

It was too kind to slap him just once!

Jimmy was unrepentant and blamed Theresa for the mistake, making him even angrier.

"Mr. Cameron, you are so arrogant." Eric could not stand to see his son who was polite being rejected by Johnson, so he sneered, "I showed respect to you, but you slap my son in front of me? Do you really think you are something when Jim is polite to you? Originally on such a festive day, the visitor is our guest, but you're going too far, so I have to drive you away."

After saying that, Eric said, "Somebody, get him out of here!"

Leah said, "Old Johnson, let's go first."

Johnson was already in poor health.

What he was doing made Leah a little worried.

She didn't want Johnson to confront people like that for Theresa.

Anyway, Theresa had been scolded for so long, and it didn't matter when she got scolded a couple more times. "Don't stop me." Johnson stopped Leah and turned to Jimmy, "Jimmy, do you only dare to hide behind your father now? In front of so many people today, do you dare to tell the truth about you and Theresa? Did she cheat on you or not? Or was it your family who wrongly accused her!"

Chapter 419

Chapter 419

Thinking about all this, Johnson was so angry that his body was trembling.

He did not ask anyone else, but he only stared at Jimmy.

Judging from Johnson's attitude, Jimmy felt that Johnson was bent on asking for the truth.

Rose stood aside, looking at Jimmy as well.

With her watching, Jimmy couldn't possibly admit it.

For the rest of his life, he would never admit it willingly!

Jimmy forced himself to say, "Uncle, I don't know whom you're hearing this from. I didn't do anything wrong to Theresa."

Anyway, everyone knew that Theresa cheated on him.

And his life couldn't be ruined.

Theresa stood outside the crowd and pulled the corners of her mouth when she heard Jimmy's words.

He was lying!

She had thought that after she had taught his mother a lesson last time, they would behave themselves, but unexpectedly, Jimmy was still as shameless as before.

Jimmy called the bodyguard aside and said, "Take Mr. Cameron back."

He didn't know why Johnson suddenly came here.

It's bad luck that Johnson found trouble with him here in front of so many people!

Jimmy now was powerful and had a lot of bodyguards around him.

Some were to protect Rose.

Hearing his words, the bodyguards all came over and wanted to drive Johnson away.

Johnson said, "Let go of me! Jimmy, isn't it because you feel guilty that you're in such a hurry to kick me out?"

The hotel wasn't owned by his family, so Jimmy didn't have the right to drive him away!

"You guys let him go!" Seeing Johnson struggling, and Jimmy's people being very strong, Leah was afraid that something wrong would happen to him.

However, a woman and a patient could not be a match for those bodyguards of Jimmy.

They were very rough, so Johnson fell to the ground in a struggle...

Seeing this, Theresa finally could not bear it and hurried over, "Dad."

She pushed her way through the crowd.

Seeing her father fall to the ground while these people were still trying to hit him, Theresa went to her father's side and helped him up.

Jimmy was a little astonished to see her here...

And Rose also did not expect Theresa to be here.

Jimmy said, "Why are you here?"

"This hotel is owned by your family?" Theresa was really angry.

She looked at Jimmy with a cold face, "This is the hotel. What? You're already so arrogant that you even want to dominate the hotel?"

Jimmy said, "You know I'm here today for my father's birthday party, so you specially asked your dad to come over to look for trouble?"

Good lord!

It turned out that it was Theresa who asked Johnson to come over.

Hearing Jimmy's words, Theresa sneered, "Do you mean that only you can come to this hotel and we can't come?"

Jimmy sneered, "Aunt Theresa, I know you are capable to have hooked up with Rose's Uncle Charlie/I can't afford to mess with you, so I have been avoiding you lately, but don't you think you've gone too far? And you even came to my father's birthday party looking for trouble."

Chapter 420

Chapter 420

Rose stood aside and looked at Theresa saying, "Theresa, does my Uncle Charlie know what you are doing? If it weren't for my Uncle Charlie's disabled legs, it's impossible for you, a cheating and divorced woman, to marry him. It must be because my husband owed you in his last life, so he was bullied by you like this, and now your father even comes to beat him up."

She really couldn't stand to see it anymore.

In the Calsis Family, Charlie defended Theresa, so they were tolerant of her.

But she didn't expect that Theresa would be so arrogant now.

It was obvious that she did something wrong to Jimmy, and now even her father was arrogant and tried to blame Jimmy for the divorce.

When the crowd heard Rose's words, they all looked at Theresa.

"Isn't it Sarah who is engaged to Charlie? Why did she marry Charlie?"

"Because Sarah ran away from the marriage, Johnson had no choice but to let his divorced daughter marry Charlie instead."

"My God. Charlie is a member of the Calsis Family, so why does he have to marry a loose woman?" Hearing the words "loose woman", Johnson looked over, "What did you say?" When the man who just said Theresa was a loose woman was glared at, he wasn't angry, but he smiled and said, "I didn't mean anything else, and besides, I wasn't wrong. Your daughter is indeed..."

When he got to the end, he didn't say anything further, but only raised an eyebrow. Anyway, everyone understood what he wanted to say.

you

Eric looked at Theresa from the side and sneered, "Huh, you still have the face to come out! Theresa, when did such a disgraceful thing, we let you go because you were willing to get a divorce with nothing. But I didn't expect you to be so arrogant when you married into the Calsis Family! You're not afraid that the Calsis Family would drive you away?"

Theresa looked at Eric, who used to be her father-in-law and to whom she had been filially obedient.

She didn't expect that when his son became successful now, he would shamelessly try to humiliate her father at any opportunity.

Hearing Eric's words, Theresa said, "You've reminded me of that. Isn't it time for you to give me back the dowry my father gave me when I married Jimmy?"

"You still want the dowry?" Eric looked at her and said, "You dragged Jim down and made him suffer so much humiliation. Those are the things you should make up to him!"

"Is that so?" Theresa looked at Jimmy, "Jimmy, you don't think I should make it up to you, like your father, do you?"

She just wanted to see what this man could say.

Jimmy said, "You can take those things if you want them, and it's just a pain in the ass for me and Rose to keep them there. But if you want to deny what you did in the first place because of that, it's not that easy." Now, she wanted to clear her name, and he wasn't going to give her the chance.

He just wanted to see how long she could stay with Charlie with such a notorious reputation.

"What did I do in the first place?" Theresa lifted her head. After saying that, she glanced at Luna who was standing aside.

Luna had been to her home last time and had listened to those recordings.

It just looked like that when they went back, they didn't remind Jimmy to be more restrained. When Luna was looked at by Theresa, she remembered that Theresa still had the credentials to blackmail Jimmy, so she hurried over and said to Jimmy, "Jim, it's Dad's birthday today, so let's forget about it. Since you have divorced Theresa, we just return the dowry to her. And, you should apologize to Uncle Cameron because you just pushed him."

Jimmy had been with Rose lately and hadn't been home much, so she hadn't had a chance to tell him.

She didn't expect Jimmy to mess with Theresa here so soon.

She was really afraid that Theresa would take out the recording in front of so many people.

Once she took it out and played it for others to hear, Jimmy's reputation would be ruined. So, she now wanted to ease the atmosphere quickly, lest things end badly.

Eric took a look at Luna, "Are you sick? Did you not see that it was him who started it?"

Luna also disliked the Cameron family.

What's wrong with her now?

She was even here to put in a good word for Theresa and her father.

Chapter 421

Chapter 421

Luna looked at her father but didn't know how to explain.

She said, "Dad, today is your birthday, and it is unnecessary for us to mention those unhappy things." "Why don't we mention it?" Eric sneered, "Since they are shameless, why do we show respect to them? His daughter is a loose woman..."

When Luna heard this, she felt herself break into a cold sweat.

She glanced at Theresa with a guilty conscience, only to see Theresa standing beside Johnson, with an obscure look on her face.

Seeing that she couldn't stop her father, she could only say to Theresa, "Theresa, I'm sorry. I see that uncle doesn't seem to be in good health, so you hurriedly take him to rest."

She tried hard to please Theresa, trying to ease the atmosphere.

Because she was afraid that her father would say something else too much to anger Theresa.

But Eric wasn't going to let them go, "They can't go. Johnson slapped Jim and messed up my birthday party. So, if they don't make up for it, I'll call the police."

"Call the police?" Theresa spoke coldly.

He was such a tough man!

Eric scolded, "It is polite to you for us to call the police. If you were my daughter, I will directly kill you, do you believe? It's only your father who is so stupid to condone you. Your family culture is really bad!"

"Dad." Seeing her father getting more and more agitated, Luna hurriedly stopped him, "Let's go inside. The guests are here, so stop it."

Her mother had been busy and wasn't here, so Luna was so anxious that she was really afraid that something bad would happen.

"What are you madding about?" Eric was really angry with Luna, "Are you sick in the head today? Can't your see that they're bullying us? And you're still speaking for them?"

"Jim," Luna had to look at Jimmy for help.

Did he know that she was worried about him?

Jimmy didn't understand why Luna was defending Theresa.

He supported what Eric said, "Call the police, and I also think it's a good idea."

Today it was Theresa's father who caused the trouble, and he didn't hit her father from the beginning.

Johnson not only strongly insisted that Jimmy had done something wrong to Theresa but also slapped him....

He wanted to see if Johnson, who had beaten him could be so arrogant in front of the police.

Leah said, "Jimmy, your uncle is not well. Please don't call the police."

It's not that she thought they were wrong, but she just thought it was too much trouble.

Jimmy said, "I just told you guys to leave, and it was you who didn't. I've been very polite to you.

Rose stood aside, "I also think it's good to call the police."

She wasn't afraid that her Uncle Charlie would be angry....

What's more, she knew that Uncle Charlie and Johnson had always been at odds.

Even if he defended Theresa, it is unlikely that he would care about Theresa's father.

Since Theresa had bullied them, they should teach her a lesson.

Theresa said, "Call the police? I don't have that much time."

Jimmy let out a laugh, "What, you felt guilty? You dared to let your father find trouble and ruin my dad's birthday party, but you don't have the guts to take the consequences. It's okay for us not to call the police, but you must apologize for your father here. Then I can forgive you for the sake of ever being a couple!" "Consequences?" Theresa simply admired his confidence, "I do fear that you cannot afford the conséquences."

"Theresa," Luna walked over and took her hand, "You just go. Today's my dad's birthday, and I apologize to you for Jim, who didn't know any better. Let's talk about this matter in private."

"Why would I talk to you in private?" Theresa said, "He just said that I cheated on him and that my father found trouble with him... And what did your guest say I was? I'm a loose woman? If I'm a loose woman, what is your brother? Scum? Social scum?"

Luna knew that Theresa really went angry.

Chapter 422

Chapter 422

She lowered her voice and said, "I'm sorry, and it's all our fault. I'll let him apologize to you afterward and I'm sure he'll be taught a good lesson."

"You ever had plenty of chances." Theresa looked at Luna, "Before that, you could have made it clear to him, but you didn't. What's the point of you saying that now?"

Luna looked at her, "What do you want to do?"

"I just want to get justice." Theresa glanced at Jimmy and Rose, especially Rose standing next to Jimmy, defending him. She probably didn't even know what kind of person she was defending.

With that, Theresa took her phone out and was about to play the recording.

Anyway, there were quite a few people today, and she was willing to make Jimmy famous.

Just then, Rosales came out from inside.

She had just been so busy that she finally had time to pay attention to the noise outside.

When she walked out, she saw that Jimmy, Theresa, and Johnson were there, so she said, "What brings you.

here? We are all family, so come in and have a seat."

With that, she walked over and was about to take Theresa inside....

Theresa shook off her hand, "Who is a family to you?"

Rosales stumbled backward and Jimmy hurriedly held his mother in place, "Mom."

He glared at Theresa, "Theresa, you want to die?"

Rosales gave him a look, "You shut up!"

She did not get angry, but looked ingratiatingly at Johnson and said, "Mr. Cameron, you don't look well, so go inside and rest."

With that, she swept a glance at the crowd of onlookers and said, "It's a misunderstanding. Please don't mind and just go in for dinner."

She led everyone into the banquet hall.

Seeing this, Luna also cooperated with her mother to lead everyone in....

As the guests went inside, Jimmy looked at his mother and said, "Mom."

Why did his mother have the same attitude as Luna?

He was going to give Theresa a good lesson in front of the crowd.

But he didn't expect his mother to treat Theresa like a daughter once she arrived.

Rosales looked at Jimmy, "That's how you entertain guests coming to your dad's birthday party? And you... Rosales glared at Eric, "You've been friends with Old Johnson for so many years. When he came, why didn't you invite him in for a seat?"

Eric looked at his wife and felt that she was crazy.

Obviously, she was the one who scolded Theresa and Johnson in front of him every day before...

And now she's here to speak for Theresa and Johnson?

And she also blamed him for not entertaining them properly?

Eric said, "He just slapped Jim, your sweet son."

He knew that Rosales was the one who cared most about Jimmy,

If she knew Jimmy was slapped, she would certainly be very angry.

Rosales glanced at Jimmy and said, "Anyway, Jim should call Mr. Cameron uncle. Since he doesn't behave, he should take it even if Mr. Cameron beats him."

Eric,

Along with his father, Jimmy was stunned to hear what Rosales said.

She was his mother.

Chapter 423

Chapter 423

His mother used to say that Theresa cheated on him when Jimmy felt very guilty and told her not to say it outside, but Rosales did not listen to him at all.

She humiliated and abused Theresa in various ways...

He didn't expect his mother's attitude to change completely now.

It was so strange!

Jimmy looked at his mother and asked, "What's going on?"

Rosales said, "It's okay. Your Uncle Cameron helped us a lot when our family was having a hard time, so, in the future, you should be nice to them. Theresa, take your father in for a meal."

Rosales seemed to be completely taking Theresa as one of their family.

Looking at Rosales who was ingratiating, Theresa said, "Do you think I can eat this meal?"

She wasn't planning on eating.

If Rosales hadn't come out to mess up and call everyone away, she would have had to teach Jimmy a lesson.

today.

In the past, he always bullied her because he was taller.

But she didn't expect him to bully her father today!

She looked at Rosales and said, "Since you can't teach your son well, I'll do it for you. Because he still doesn't know how to behave after so many years of living."

It's okay not to reveal the truth in front of them now. Because she would post it on the Internet in the future, and it would be enough to make him lose face!

Jimmy said, "You better talk properly."

What did she mean?

She's warning his mother in front of him?

Did she pretend he wasn't there?

Rosales stopped Jimmy because she was afraid that he would anger Theresa.

Luckily, at that moment, someone approached, "Mr. Watson."

Several people came together, all directors of Nandlall's Group.

Jimmy also invited them to his father's birthday party, but for some reason, they all refused.

At this moment, Jimmy was a little surprised when he looked at these leaders of Nandlall's Group. Without being able to pursue why his mother's attitude had changed, he walked up to these people and said, "Mr. Miller, Mr. Lewis, why are you here?"

He didn't expect them to show up again after they had all rejected him.

It looked like they were still showing him respect.

Rose also walked up to Jimmy and looked at these directors of her father's company, "Uncle Miller, Uncle

Lewis, are you here for my father-in-law's birthday party too? Thank you.'

Rose's words made them a little embarrassed.

They looked at each other and actually didn't expect Jimmy's father's birthday party to be held here too... It was a coincidence that they would run into Jimmy here after they had declined his invitation earlier. "They are my guests."

When the directors were thinking about how to explain, Charlie's voice came from behind Jimmy and Rose. So, everyone looked back, and then they saw Charlie sitting in a wheelchair being pushed out by Jonathan.

Seeing Charlie, Rose walked up to him and said, "Uncle Charlie, so you invited them here. No wonder they would come. Didn't you say you weren't coming before? Why did you come?"

"What are you talking about?" Charlie glanced at Rose coldly.

Rose was stunned for a moment...

Jonathan opened his mouth and said to the directors, "This way, please."

He pointed to the banquet hall on the other side.

When the directors saw Jonathan, they hurried over...

Watching that they did not go into Jimmy's father's banquet hall, but went next door, Rose was puzzled. Charlie said, "It's my father-in-law's birthday today, so I'm having a birthday party for him here and hav invited a few guests over. That is quite a coincidence that you guys are here too."

Jimmy,

CL

11

Charlie's father-in-law was...

Johnson.

Chapter 424

Chapter 424

Because of Sarah, Charlie had always had a bad impression of Johnson.

But he now even... helped Johnson celebrate his birthday?

In addition to this, Charlie also invited all the directors that Jimmy originally wanted to invite over. It was too big, right?

Charlie's father was just an ordinary businessman, and could he afford it?

Sitting in his wheelchair, Charlie glanced at Johnson and said, "Dad."

He called Johnson very respectfully and politely as if there was no conflict between them at all.

As he looked at the scene, Jimmy's face darkened.

Johnson was still a little frozen.

Hearing Charlie calling him, Johnson glanced at Jimmy's darkened face. To make Jimmy angrier, he answered in a cooperative manner.

Charlie said, "Let's go to rest first."

Seeing this, Leah hurriedly helped Johnson to go over.

When Theresa saw her father follow Charlie, she took a look at the Watson family and left ignoring them. Jimmy stood aside and watched what happened. He didn't expect Charlie to treat Theresa so well. Charlie really spared a lot of time and effort for her to throw a birthday party for her father...

It's just that Charlie held the birthday party here, right next door to them. Was Charlie doing this on purpose.

to piss him off?

Eric stood aside and asked Rose, "Rose, is that your Uncle Charlie?"

Rose was still a little confused, and when she heard Eric's question, she said, "Yes, Dad."

She was a little depressed because she had invited her Uncle Charlie to Jimmy's father's birthday party, but he said he had something to do. So, he was going to celebrate Theresa's father's birthday?

But who was Johnson?

Her Uncle Charlie clearly disliked him so much before...

Now the directors of the company were all called over by him, making Rose feel very depressed.

Those people didn't give her and Jimmy any face at all.

Eric said angrily, "Theresa is just a loose woman. Why does Charlie fancy her so much?"

Charlie's leg was disabled, and his brain was broken along with it.

When Rosales heard Eric's words, she tugged at him.

Eric looked at her and said, "And you. Why do you defend their family? Do you know what they did today?" Eric's words brought Jimmy back to his senses as well. Looking at his mother, he always felt that his mother and Luna's reaction was strange.

In front of Rose, Rosales could not say these things.

Rose always hated evil like an enemy. If she knew what Jimmy had done, she and Jimmy might be divorced.

Rosales covered up, "I just think there are so many people today, so we'd better not go too far, lest others gossip about us."

"When were you so afraid of people gossiping?"

Eric couldn't understand what she said at all.

He'd lived with Rosales for decades and knew she was shrewish. Will wonders never cease?

"Let's go in first." At the moment, Rosales just wanted to try to settle things down.

They went into the banquet hall.

Originally, some people had sat down to eat.

When the Watson family just entered the door, they saw those people stand up.

Hearing that Charlie was next door, many people stood up. It was more important to please Charlie than to please Jimmy...

After saying hello to Eric, they went next door.

Soon, there were only a few guests left in the lively banquet hall.

Originally, Jimmy wanted to make his father's 60th birthday party a big event, and lively.

He never expected that it would become so cold and cheerless.

Charlie...

Chapter 425

Chapter 425

This cripple always got him in trouble for Theresa.

He was just born into a good family.

It was nothing great.

Theresa saw that many more people came from next door.

Those who originally mocked her father now came over to greet him politely when they saw him.

They did not know what Charlie's attitude towards Johnson was before.

All they knew was that the Calsis Family nearly drove Johnson into bankruptcy.

But unexpectedly....

Charlie even personally threw a birthday party for Jolinson, so, they must seize this opportunity to repair the relationship with Johnson....

Johnson sat aside and looked at the people who came to say hello to him. He still remembered that he had been contempt in the past few years, and he did not expect that at this moment, all these people would come over to greet him, very politely.

"Mr. Cameron, happy birthday. It's been a long time since I saw you. Please take care of yourself..."

Theresa sat next to Charlie and watched the people complimenting her father. She must admit that because of Charlie, her father had a very respectable birthday.

Even the directors of Nandlall's Group were also respectful to Johnson.

Eric next door was furious.

He didn't have an appetite for the big meal prepared by the hotel.

He couldn't believe that his 60th birthday party was just outclassed by Johnson.

He sat aside, with his face dark.

Rose and Jimmy toasted him together, but he couldn't be happier.

Just then, Jonathan came over, "Ms. Nandlall."

Rose looked up and said, "Uncle Jonathan."

Jonathan said, "Mr. Calsis said that if you and Mr. Watson are done here, go over there for a while." When Jimmy heard this, he looked at Jonathan, "Why did he ask us to go over there?" Nothing good happened every time Charlie looked for him.

Hearing this, Rosales said, "Got it."

She said to Jimmy, "Go over there to see what's going on, and, be nice to your Uncle Cameron."

"H

Watching Rosales' reaction, Jimmy was completely confused.

What the hell did his mother mean?

But since it was Jonathan himself who came to invite them, Jimmy and Rose stood up anyway and went next door.

In the next banquet hall, Johnson was sitting with Leah, Charlie, and Theresa, just waiting for him to come over.

He walked over, and when he saw Charlie, he said, "Uncle Charlie."

Rose said, "Uncle Charlie."

Charlie looked at them and asked Jimmy, "Is your father's birthday party over yet?"

Jimmy,

Thanks to Charlie, his father's birthday party was ruined.

Jimmy said, "They're still eating."

Charlie pointed to Johnson at the side and said, "I asked you and Rose to come over because I want to introduce you to my father-in-law. Today is his birthday, and you two should come over to say hello as the younger generation."

Jimmy, ""

He really felt that Charlie was aiming at him.

Leah was really upset with the Watson family, and now that she saw Jimmy was so afraid of Charlie, she had to take her anger out. So, she said coldly, "No need to say hello. Old Johnson almost got chased away by his people today. I don't know when you've been so arrogant?"

Chapter 426

Chapter 426

Anyway, Leah used to be Jimmy's mother-in-law. And until today, she realized how arrogant he was, Hearing Leah's words, Jimmy remembered his mother's instructions. And under pressure from Charlie, he said, "Sorry, I didn't know it was Uncle Cameron's birthday party. It was just a misunderstanding and I thought they were here to make a mess."

Rose said, "We didn't know you were having a birthday party here."

Charlie stared at Jimmy, "What did you just call my father-in-law? Uncle? Isn't it a bit messy with the seniority?"

Jimmy, "..."

What did he mean?

Was Charlie going to make him conform to the Calsis Family's seniority? In that case, would he have to call Johnson... grandpa?

Charlie had asked someone to pour the wine and put it in front of Jimmy.

He said to Jimmy, "It was a misunderstanding before, and I didn't want to blame you for it. And my father-in-law who is magnanimous should not be angry with you. But, since you are a junior, you should drink this glass of wine?"

"Theresa sat on the sidelines and watched that.

Jimmy was angry....

For some reason, Jimmy was always deferential in front of Charlie, which made Theresa feel good.

Jimmy looked at Charlie and knew that Charlie was deliberately making trouble for him.

How humiliating would it be for him to call his former father-in-law grandpa?

But Charlie sat staring at him, seemingly bound to make him call Johnson Grandpa today.

Jimmy lifted his cup, looked at Johnson, and said, "G... Grandpa, let me propose a toast to you. I hope you can forgive me for the offense I just took"

He said like he was squeezing it out of his teeth.

Leah sat aside and couldn't help but raise the corners of her mouth when she heard this address from Jimmy. Johnson looked at Jimmy, not expecting that Jimmy would have this day. He said, "For Charlie's sake, I'll let it go."

Jimmy finished his drink and felt that everyone in the banquet hall was laughing at him.

And many people here knew that he used to be Johnson's son-in-law.

He had never felt so humiliated before.

After drinking, he looked at Charlie, "Uncle Charlie, are you satisfied?"

He used to want to please Charlie, but at this moment... he only had anger in his heart. Why, why?

Why was everything he had in the hands of this man?

Charlie said, "That's fine."

Jimmy put down his cup, turned around, and walked out of the banquet hall.

Rose followed behind him, "Jimmy."

She could feel that Jimmy was greatly humiliated,

"Don't follow me." Jimmy pushed her away and left.

When he married Rose, he had thought that he would be on his way to greatness and prosperity, that he would be Pat's son-in-law, and that he would be able to hook up with Charlie...

But the fact was that once he married Rose, Theresa appeared next to Charlie. Because of Rose, he became junior to Charlie and Theresa.

Instead of enjoying the benefits of this marriage, he was left with nothing but humiliation...

Although Charlie promised to let him return to Nandlall's Group...

But after what happened today, how could he work in the company in the future?

He who usually coaxed Rose couldn't care much at the moment.

Rose looked at him who was in anger. This was the first time for Jimmy to be angry with her.

She didn't dare to follow him and stood still, dumbfounded for a while.

She also knew that Jimmy had suffered, but after getting married to him, she did not live a peaceful life. Her Uncle Charlie, who used to care for her, was like a bad king, and always found them in trouble. After the meal, the guests who were in a hurry to leave left.

Theresa sitting next to Charlie saw Rosales appear in the doorway... When Rosales saw Theresa, she waved at Theresa. But Theresa ignored her and just pretended she didn't exist, so, Rosales had to walk in, "Theresa."

Chapter 427

Chapter 427

When Jonathan saw her, he immediately guarded against her, fearing that she was looking for trouble with

Theresa, "What are you doing here?"

Rosales glanced at Theresa and explained to Jonathan, "I'm looking for Theresa for something."

"What things can you have?" Jonathan said, looking at Mrs. Calsis.

Rosales said helpfully, "Theresa..."

Theresa gave her a look and said, "What do you want with me?"

Rosales pleaded, "Let's go outside and talk."

Charlie sitting aside glanced at Rosales and unexpectedly noticed that Rosales was being nice to Theresa.

She was completely different from the time when she was always trying to provoke Theresa in the Calsis Family.

It's because he was protecting Theresa, so she didn't dare to go too far, but even so, Rosales still wanted to pick a fight with Theresa.

And at this moment, she seemed to be really afraid of Theresa and looked like a different person.

Theresa said to Charlie, "I'm going out for a minute."

She stood up when she finished and followed Rosales out the door.

When they got outside, Theresa looked at Rosales and said, "Mrs. Watson, what are you doing?"

She couldn't even have a proper meal.

Seeing that Theresa was cold and unwilling to talk to her, Rosales said ingratiatingly, "Give me an address, and I'll have someone send you all the dowries that you brought when you married Jim."

"..." If it was in the past, Rosales would not possibly return the dowry to her.

Theresa didn't think she was just casually mentioning it today, but Rosales had already taken the initiative to come to her.

Theresa laughed, "When did you become so kind?"

Rosales said, "You deserve all these things. Jim did do something wrong to you, and it's his fault. I apologize to you for what happened today. Theresa, you're a good kid, so don't be so serious with him. The two of you have known each other for so long, anyway. Even if you don't have feelings now, you did in the past, so please forgive him for once."

"Forgive him?" Theresa sneered, "And who's going to forgive me? So, in your eyes, I deserve to take the blame for your son?"

She was a good child?

That's not what she used to say!

If she hadn't been afraid that Charlie would know about the children, Theresa would have played the records. Rosales said, "Aren't you and Charlie getting along quite well now? Why do you have to destroy Jimmy? As long as you let Jimmy go, not exposing him... I can do whatever you want me to do in the future, okay?" She looked at Theresa sincerely, trying to persuade Theresa.

Hearing her words, Theresa coldly refused, "No!"

Rosales said, "What exactly do you want me to do?"

Theresa smiled crookedly. Now she knew to beg her? Unfortunately...

It's too late!

She looked at Rosales, "Did you ever think this day would come when you were talking about me cheating, cursing my dad, saying he didn't teach me well? I don't want to do anything, but your son had to suffer all the same that I suffered."

Jimmy should also experience that he was disliked by everyone and his parents couldn't hold up their heads.

because of him.....

It's okay that his parents said bad things about her without knowing the truth, but what about him?

That bitchy man knew all the facts as well as she did, and instead of helping her clarify, he also followed to slander her.

Today he even had her father mocked in front of everyone.

His people even made a move on her father.

She must have done something wrong in her last life, so she married this man in this life and was now treated like an enemy by him?

Was it because she knew he was impotent but still stayed with him without divorcing him?

Or was it because she had conceived those two children at his suggestion regardless of her physical condition? It's okay that his family misunderstood her, but she really couldn't understand why he denigrated her.

Chapter 428

Chapter 428

If it were possible, she would really want him to die!

Rosales said, "Theresa, we were really wrong. You forgive him, please."

"Don't even think about it!" Theresa said, "You'll see the news of what your son did on the Internet tonight."

Just wait."

After saying that, Theresa was about to turn around and go back when Rosales saw this and she hurriedly grabbed Theresa's hand.

Theresa looked at her coldly, "What? You still want to hit me?"

Charlie's people were all here!

She didn't believe that Rosales had the guts to do that.

Seeing that Theresa could not listen to anything, Rosales knelt with a "thud", "Theresa, I beg you, and I kneel for you. It was all my fault... Please forgive me..."

Hearing that Theresa was going to expose Jimmy on the Internet at night, Rosales couldn't care about anything else.

Theresa said, "What are you doing? Do you think I'll let him go if you kneel for me?"

She was ridiculous.

Rosales cried out, "Please, please let him go."

Her son's life couldn't be ruined!

Once it was made public, Jimmy would really be ruined.

She was so anxious that she even started slapping herself, "I was the one who was mean and made the rumors outside and it's all my fault! Theresa, I'm sorry. Please let him go,

She said it with tears in her eyes.

As a mother at the moment, she did care for her son.

But... Jimmy's life couldn't be ruined, so hers could?

okay?"

Standing aside with her hands in her arms, and looking at this woman, Theresa only felt she was ridiculous. Even if Rosales knelt and slapped herself, she wouldn't have sympathy for Rosales, but would just think that Rosales deserved it!

If an apology would do, then what would the police do in this world?

Seeing that Theresa wasn't going to let Jimmy go, Rosales kept slapping herself.

Someone saw the scene and curiously looked around...

When Jimmy returned, he was just in time to see the scene, so, he ran over to Rosales, "Mom."

He took Rosales' hand and tried to pull her up.

Rosales said, "You leave me alone."

She continued to slap herself as if she wouldn't stop if Theresa didn't say yes. Looking at this scene, Jimmy glared at Theresa, "Theresa, have you gone crazy?"

With Charlie backing her up, she could do whatever she wanted?

Theresa said coldly, "What did I do? Your mother is the one who wants to kneel."

Jimmy had previously suspected that Theresa had done something to his mother, and now he was certain of it. He stood up and grabbed Theresa's arm, "What have you done to my mother? Even with Charlie backing you up, don't go so far."

"What did I do? You want to hear?" Theresa looked at him and raised an eyebrow, "I wouldn't mind telling you."

Rosales stood up in shock when she heard this and was busy tugging at Jimmy, "Jim, let her go."

She was so anxious because she had come to beg Theresa for Jimmy's future, and now Jimmy was here to make trouble!

Jimmy glanced at his mother and wondered what was going on with her. Looking at Theresa, who was incredibly arrogant, he realized that she was really a bully.

It's only because of Charlie that she could be so arrogant and make her mother so afraid of her, right?

Heh...

Did she think that she was something with Charlie?

Chapter 429

Chapter 429

Jimmy looked at Theresa, "Do you really think I'm afraid of you? Everyone has a bottom line and even a worm will turn!"

He had suffered enough from Charlie today.

And unexpectedly, when he returned, he saw Theresa humiliating his mother like this.

He roughly yanked Theresa's hand and dragged her straight away from the crowd-"Jim!" Rosales followed him and tried to stop him, but it was no use at all.

Next to them was the bathroom, and Jimmy pushed her in.

When the person inside saw this scene, they ran out in fear.

He closed the door and looked at her, "Since you want to die, I can make it happen for you!"

He was really fed up with her. Because of this woman, his life wasn't going the way he expected it to at all.

Theresa stood aside and watched that he blocked the door as if he was ready to lock her inside the bathroom.

She said, "Do you want to hit me?"

"Do you think I don't dare?" Jimmy was so angry that he pinned her to the wall and put his hands around her neck, "If I want to kill you, do you think Charlie can save you? Hmm? Can a cripple like him protect you? I kill you as easily as killing an ant. Do you think I can't do anything about you when you try to ruin my life and bully my family? And, did you tell your father about the kids?

Do you think people will believe you if you tell them? It's been so many years and everyone knows that you are a cheating woman? All know that those two kids are bastards?"

As he spoke, his grip on her neck grew harder.

Theresa was pinned to the door and could not struggle against him.

She was almost unable to breathe as he held her by the neck.

She looked at the man and was not willing to show weakness in front of him.

She squeezed out a smile and provoked, "Just strangle me. Jimmy, do you think I'm afraid of death? You'd better strangle me or I'll look down on you."

She's not afraid of anything.

Her two kids still have Charlie who would take care of them!

Although Charlie wasn't exactly a competent father, he shouldn't let them tramp the streets!

Even if she died here now, she had nothing to fear.

At least she could drag this man to hell, show the world what kind of man he was and make his parents lose their son....

There's nothing bad about it!

Anyway, she died once already four years ago!

In those days, she was like living in hell, no different from death.

She sneered and continued, "Even if I die, I still have two children. And you... you are a waste! You never have children, which is your karma! I was kind of expecting you to die with me." Jimmy gritted his teeth and said, "You still dare to say that?"

He was obviously angry, but she still pissed him off?

She's been pinched like this, but she still deliberately touched a nerve with him.

Theresa said, without showing any weakness, "I want to say. What can you do with me?"

Her words were squeezed out with force.

Jimmy's strength was so strong that she was almost unable to breathe from his choking, and she felt a lack of oxygen in her brain...

The feeling of death rushed to her mind and looking at the man in front of her, she was slow in a trance...

She thought of Leonard and Ben, of Charlie...

Huh...

She just kind of regretted that she hadn't even said she fancied him.

Outside the door, Rosales knocked on the door, afraid Jimmy would do something wrong.

The noise slowly faded away in Theresa's ears, and she gradually heard nothing...

Just when she thought she was going to die, the bathroom door was suddenly kicked open from the outside.

Someone walked in from the outside.

Chapter 430

Chapter 430

Jonathan walked in first, followed by Charlie. Terrified, Jimmy let go of Theresa when he saw the two of them. Theresa slipped down along the wall like a corpse and squatted on the floor. Finally able to breathe after Jimmy let her go, she coughed and gasped for air.

Charlie walked into the room. As he saw Jimmy who was standing in front of Theresa, he picked up the metal rod at the corner on his way and swung it directly at Jimmy!

The moment Jimmy saw Charlie, he was confused for a second and thought he was hallucinating. 'Charlie Calsis? How did he manage to stand up?'

Charlie's eyes were red as he stared at Jimmy terrifyingly. Although Theresa had told him that Jimmy was going to target her, he had never expected Jimmy to be this unbelievably imperious. After all, he was still right here, not to mention all the other people around.

He did not hold back his strength at all when swinging the metal rod. When Jimmy attempted to dodge it, he gave him another smack. "Hitting a woman? What kind of monster are you? Is this what your parents raised you to be?"

One of Charlie's attacks landed on Jimmy's head. Bleeding heavily above his head, Jimmy cowered on the floor and looked up at Charlie. Filled with fear, he found Charlie seemed even taller than usual. As he sensed the power of the metal rod landing everywhere over his body, it occurred to Jimmy-Charlie really wanted to kill him. For some reason, the thought that this was the end of him appeared in Jimmy's mind. Jonathan stood on the side and watched Charlie beat up Jimmy. From the look on Charlie's face, Jonathan could tell this time he was really enraged-Mr. Calsis was not one to raise his hands at people in the past. After all, he had other people to be his muscles. Today, however, it was evident that Mr. Calsis was furious.

Jonathan walked towards Theresa, held her and said, "Madame, are you alright?"

Theresa was aware that Charlie had been training lately and could already stand up. Seeing Charlie beat up Jimmy for her, she was deeply touched.

As a girl, she was much smaller in size compared to Jimmy, so she could barely defend herself. The man had been looking for her trouble, but this was the first time someone had stood up and protected her. Thumped multiple times by Charlie's metal rod, Jimmy lost the courage to fight back and cowered on the ground, blood dripping from above his head onto the floor. At this moment, Rose and Rosales Watson walked in. Immediately noticing her son was heavily injured and was still being beaten up Rosales sprinted towards Jimmy and stood between him and Charlie. "Stop beating my son!"

Rose quickly arrived as well and said, "Uncle Charlie, calm down."

Charlie looked at Rose and said with a stern tone, "Out of the way!"

"You're going to kill him!" Rose yelled.

"He deserves it!" Charlie replied.

Rose turned around and looked at Jimmy. She had no idea how things turned out this way, but she did not want to see anyone die. She said, "Uncle Charlie, he's learned his lesson."

Jimmy seemed like he was on the brink of dying at this point. However, Charlie still didn't let go.

"He asked for it!"

Jimmy could have lived with it in the past because he never saw it happen, but today he witnessed Jimmy using violence with his own eyes. He could not imagine what would have happened if he had come just a bit later...

"Charlie." Having come to her senses under Jonathan's care, Theresa spoke with a hoarse voice.

Chapter 431

Chapter 431

As if her throat was damaged, Theresa found it challenging to even speak normally. When Charlie heard her voice, his cold eyes finally had some emotions in them. He turned around and quickly walked towards Theresa. Jonathan immediately stood up and gave way to Charlie.

Charlie squatted down and looked at Theresa. Seeing Theresa had come to her senses, he asked, "You okay?"

The care and concern in his eyes were almost pouring out. Theresa looked at this man and suddenly felt like crying. She decided to follow her heart, leaned over and into Charlie's arms. Suddenly, Charlie felt like his heart was fulfilled somehow. He held her in his arms, carried her up, and walked out the door.

It was not long ago that Charlie could walk again, so walking was already a difficult enough task. for him. He should be resting and recovering right now, but what happened today was too important for him to care about that.

Jonathan looked at Jimmy, who was squatting on the floor, bleeding. Rose and Rosales were checking his injuries.

"Mr. Calsis, what about him?"

With Theresa in his arms, Charles stood at the door, looked at Jimmy who was guarded by two women, and ordered, "Take him away!"

Then, Charlie carried Theresa out of the washroom.

Leah and Johnson Cameron just arrived as well. Seeing Charlie and Theresa, Johnson asked, "Is Theresa okay?"

Charlie replied, "You guys go home first." He had no time for the two of them since Theresa was in a bad state, so he told them to go home for now before he left.

Theresa looked at Charlie, who was carrying her, and said, "Charlie, put me down."

Her mind was a little fuzzy earlier, only now did she realize the situation she was in. She wanted to speak to her father, but she had no time to do so.

Charlie pursed his lips and continued walking without saying anything. Theresa then added, "Your legs can't take it."

"Is he crazy? Doesn't he know his legs won't last like this?' She thought.

"Keep still. Charlie glanced at her and continued carrying her out the gate. Jonathan already called the driver, who was waiting at the gate with the car. Charlie gently placed Theresa in the

Car

In the washroom, Rosales was watching her injured son. She wanted to send him to the hospital, but Jonathan did not give her the chance to. Instead, he brought Jimmy right out the gate and threw him into the car.

On their way home, Charlie sat beside Theresa with a towel in his hands, wiping her face, and then her hands. It was as if everywhere Jimmy had touched Theresa was filthy, and Charlie wanted to wipe that filth away.

In the past, Theresa had always taken care of Charlie. Now, it was the other way around. Theresa felt worthless. Having just narrowly escaped death, she looked at the man beside her. His face was cold and he did not say a word, yet she could sense the concern he had for her from every move he made. She did not want him to be so worried, so she coughed and said with a raspy voice, "I'm okay." Charlie did not reply.

Theresa said again, "Mr. Calsis."

She really had thought she was going to die back in that washroom, she never expected to see Charlie's face again. After having survived a life-threatening situation, surprisingly, she felt a slight sense of warmth.

Charlie said solemnly, "Don't speak."

He was in a really bad mood as he had no idea where to vent this burning fury inside him, even more so when he heard how rough her voice was.

Chapter 432

Chapter 432

Charlie sincerely wanted Jimmy to die. 'Why didn't I kill Jimmy just now?' He thought.

Even Theresa thought the state Charlie was in now was scary, but she was not scared of him, she was worried instead. 'Was he really going to kill Jimmy because of me?' She wondered. If she had not stopped him earlier in the washroom, she had no doubts he would do exactly that. Theresa placed her hand on Charlie's face, caressed it and said, "I thought I'll never see you again." Although the whole thing only lasted a few minutes, she thought about a lot of things. Like seeing her entire life flashing in front of her, a lot of images appeared in her mind. At that instant, the person she thought about most was surprising this man, Charlie Calsis, the man who was giving her all his care and concern right now.

Charlie said with a deep voice, "If that's the case, I would kill Jimmy and then come to be with you."

Theresa chuckled.

The finger marks from Jimmy grabbing her neck were still visible, and Theresa's throat was hurting when she spoke too, but when she looked at this man she still wanted to laugh for some reason.

Charlie spent most of his life in a wheelchair, now he just had to do some rehabilitation exercises and he would finally be able to lead a normal life. One could say Charlie's life had just begun. Yet, he wanted to become a murderer for a woman like her. Theresa felt this man was completely insane.

Charlie looked at her and said, "What are you laughing about?"

'Why is she laughing? Does she not know how worried I am? Charlie thought.

"I didn't think you'd be so worried for me," Theresa said.

Charlie glared at her and said, "Nonsense."

Theresa said, "Charlie, hug me, will you?" Her voice was soft, almost sounding like begging.

For reasons unknown to even herself, Theresa longed to be in Charlie's arms, as if she would feel better that way.

With the same cold expression, Charlie looked at her, moved over and hugged her.

She took off her coat when she got in the car and was covered in a blanket. Charlie held her in his arms and asked, "Scared?"

"No, I'm just cold, Theresa replied. Charlie did not reply and hugged her tighter. In Charlie's arms, Theresa could vividly see his face, feel his heartbeat, and hear his breathing.

She felt safe.

Both of them did not speak till they arrived at the Calsis'. Charlie opened the car door and got out.

With a blanket covering her, Theresa followed. She did not let Charlie carry her but held his hand instead. Charlie looked at her and asked, "Don't want me to carry you?"

Still worried, Theresa looked at him and said, "Your legs... are they okay?" Though Charlie could finally stand up, he was still in rehabilitation, yet he carried her today! She was worried it would hinder his recovery.

"They're fine," Charlie responded.

"You're always so careless." Theresa glanced at him. She disliked how little concern Charlie had for himself. After all, she spent so much effort to help him stand up, what if something were to happen to his legs because he was so careless all the time?

"Alright, I'll be careful," Charlie said.

He originally planned to rest a few more days, but what that scumbag Jimmy did today was intolerable.

Theresa followed him inside the house. Leticia Calsis was sitting on the sofa calling someone. At first, she did not bother much with who walked in, but when she saw it was Theresa and a man, she gave it another look to see who the man was.

To her complete shock, it was Charlie.

Chapter 433

Chapter 433

'What is going on?' Mrs. Calsis stared blankly at the two of them and thought.

Charlie held Theresa's hands and brought her upstairs. He then told her to lie down in bed, gave her a pillow, and said, "Rest." He sat beside the bed and looked at her as if she would disappear the moment he looked away.

Theresa did not want him to be so worried and said, "Charlie, I'm fine." She already felt much better on the way here.

Charlie looked at her with the word worry written all over his face.

"Mom." It was Leonard and Ben Cameron who had just walked in. Ben walked to the bedside and said, "I prepared a present for you." It was his drawing of his father, mother, himself, and Leonard.

It was a drawing of their family.

Although Charlie was still here, she could not help but feel touched when she saw Leonard and Ben. Back in the washroom, she was really afraid she might never see them again. Being together with them like now was a blessing.

Mrs. Calsis was still shocked by seeing Charlie able to stand up. Just as she was about to go.

upstairs, she saw Jonathan walk in together with Jimmy, who was badly injured.

His bleeding had slowed down on the way here, but his coat was open and the shirt inside was covered in blood stains.

Jonathan and another person brought Jimmy in. Rose and Rosales were following behind.

Rosales looked at Jimmy and was worried he might die at any moment. She did not know what to do.

Mrs. Calsis asked, "What happened?"

Jonathan explained, "Jimmy laid his hands on Theresa today."

As he said that, he glared at Jimmy. For a man to lay his hands on a woman, was shameless.

Mrs. Calsis was shocked to hear this. She looked at Jonathan and asked, "Really?"

"Yes." Jonathan replied, "He's a bastard! Mr. Calsis was furious. He beat him up and told me to bring him here."

Mrs. Calsis looked at Jimmy with disbelief and asked, "Charlie did this?"

"What? Did Charlie beat him up this badly?"

Jonathan said, "Don't worry, Mrs. Calsis, he deserved it for laying his hands on a woman. Mr. Calsis is merciful enough not to kill him."

"You said he laid his hands on Theresa?" Mrs. Calsis looked at Jimmy with disbelief.

Although Mrs. Calsis never liked Jimmy Watson and felt there was something not right about him, she never thought he would do that.

Jimmy coughed, apparently, he was still alive.

Jimmy did not say anything earlier. However, now that Mrs. Calsis was here, Jimmy defended himself. "I did not hit her."

Chapter 434

Chapter 434

Jimmy really lost control in front of Theresa earlier. When he was reminded of what he went through lately, his emotions accumulated and exploded, so he wanted to teach her a lesson. Now that he got beat up by Charlie, he came to his senses and remembered to explain himself.

"You didn't?" Jonathan sneered. "Yeah you didn't hit her, you only just killed her. If we were to arrive later, would you have snapped her neck?"

Mrs. Calsis sat down on the sofa and looked at Jimmy. She never expected him to be such a bastard. It was no wonder both Charlie and Theresa had such long faces when they returned.

She asked Jonathan, "He's quite badly injured, you sure he's fine? Did Charlie say what to do with him?" Mrs. Calsis could not look at Jimmy directly. Although she knew he deserved it, she was still worried seeing how badly hurt he was.

Jonathan replied, "Mr. Calsis did not say. He was worried about Theresa, so he sent her home first and only told me to bring Jimmy here."

"Send him upstairs first then." Mrs. Calsis said. She did not want to speak for Jimmy, as she knew Charlie definitely brought Jimmy back with a plan in mind.

Rosales walked over and said, "Mrs. Calsis, Jim knows he's wrong. What happened today is all my fault, Jim just acted out. How could he want to kill someone? It's impossible. He's always been a good kid, he'd never do something like that. It's just too much happened today and he lost control. He already got beaten up bad enough, isn't that enough?"

Charlie was furious today, not to mention he was always on Theresa's side, so there was seemingly no chance Charlie could forgive Jimmy.

Rosales only hoped Mrs. Calsis would say some nice things for Jimmy.

Seeing Rosales move close, Mrs. Calsis moved away and said, "Don't touch me. Why are you still speaking for your son after what he's done? You really taught him well, congrats on raising a son who hits women! This makes me think, when Rose gets together with him in the future and things are not going his way, is he going to beat her too?"

Having said that, Mrs. Calsis glanced at Rose, who had just walked in.

Rose stood behind Jimmy and followed him all this time. She was worried seeing him so severely injured. Rose did not know what to do. After all, what happened today was too serious.

Seeing Rose was still standing beside Jimmy even after what happened, Mrs. Calsis said, "Rose, come here." Rose glanced at Jimmy before walking over and sitting beside Mrs. Calsis, "Grandma." Jonathan said to Mrs. Calsis, "I'll bring Jimmy up then."

"Go," Mrs. Calsis nodded and said.

Jonathan gave the two bodyguards a sign and the two of them brought Jimmy away right away. Seeing this, Rosales became heated. She walked over and yelled, "Let go of my son!" She was hoping she could save Jimmy, but of course, the bodyguards only listened to Jonathan and ignored her.

Rose sat beside Mrs. Calsis. Seeing Jimmy getting brought upstairs, Rose was worried if he was going to be okay, Charlie really did not hold back from hitting him. If not because Charlie was only able to stand up recently, Jimmy would probably not even be able to speak now.

Mrs Calsis looked at Rose and said, "You've seen what Jimmy can do, leave him. When your father returns, I'll tell him about it." As a woman herself, Mrs. Calsis hated men who beat women. In the Calsis family, men beating women was not to be tolerated. She knew for certain no matter what, her sons would never beat a woman.

Rose explained, "Jim just lost control because he was too angry today. Mr. Clasis and Theresa started it, Theresa's dad beat up Jim too!"

"You call that a reason for him to beat Theresa? Theresa is a woman! I know you have feelings for him, but he's not worth it. Being with a violent man like him would only make your life worse."

"Grandma, I know you're saying this for my sake," Rose said.

"Good." Mrs. Calsis did not want to say more, her decision to separate the two of them was already made.

Rose then added, "But Theresa is fine now isn't she? Plus, Jim is badly hurt, Uncle Charlie can't possibly kill him, right?"

Chapter 435

Chapter 435

Although Rose was hurt by the fact that Jimmy was angry at her and did not want to speak to Jimmy, she did not want to see him end up like this. If even Leticia did not help Jimmy, god knows what Charlie would do to Jimmy. Rose really liked Jimmy and did not want him to be hurt..

Hearing Rose's words, Mrs. Calsis secretly rolled her eyes. "He's really got you in the ropes."

Rose changed the topic and said, "Grandma, Uncle Charlie stood up, right? Didn't the doctor say he won't be able to stand again? How?" Rose was very confused, she never thought Charlie would be able to stand again. She was not the only one who felt this way, everyone present today did.

Rose's intention to change the topic was quite successful. Mrs. Calsis' attention was diverted and replied, "I have no idea too,"

Pat had mentioned something about Charlie being able to stand again under Theresa's care. Leticia was looking forward to it, but it was still shocking when she saw Charlie walk in with her own eyes. Her son finally no longer needed a wheelchair time to keep thinking about wind, stood up, and walked upstairs. "I'll take a look." Now was not the happened with Jimmy, she had something more important to attend to.

Leticia glanced at Rose, put Jimmy

Rose was about to follow Leticia upstairs when Rosales held her hand and said, "Rose." Rose looked at her. Rosales was panicking and knelt before her saying, "Please save Jim and let them send him to the hospital!

He's going to bleed out like this, I'm begging you."

Rose did not fully comprehend the situation as well. She looked at Rosales and asked, "What happened? Has -Jim gone mad? Why did he touch Theresa?" Even Rose, who Charlie always cared for since young, did not dare.

to lay her hands on Theresa. No matter how unhappy Jimmy was, this was not the solution.

Rose said, "I went to talk to Theresa about returning the bride price, Jim saw it and argued with Theresa. You know Theresa's tone, he got angry and."

"But how could he lay hands on her?" Rose said, "Uncle Charlie was right there! Doing that basically shows he has absolutely no respect for Uncle Charlie. I've never seen Uncle Charlie like this, it's like he really wanted to beat him to death." If Theresa did not stop Charlie, Rose could not imagine what would have happened. She could not understand what Jimmy was thinking. Jimmy already drank with Uncle Charlie earlier, why did.

he lose his temper like that?

Rose was baffled. However, now that she thought about it, from the way Jimmy left her and walked away, he was really on edge earlier. Therefore when Theresa annoyed him, it would not be impossible that he completely lost it.

Rose looked at Rosales. Seeing the tears in her eyes, she could recognize what a difficult situation Rosales was in as Jimmy's mother. She said to Rosales, "Go upstairs and take a look at him, I'll go talk to Uncle Charlie and see if I can soften him."

Though she had no idea what she could do, she could not just let Jimmy die.

Theresa sat on the bed and chatted with her two children. Ben looked at Theresa and asked, "Mom, are you not feeling well?"

"No, why?" Of course, she was not going to tell her two babies what happened today, they would be furious

Charlie glanced at Theresa and said to the two kids, "Alright, go play, she needs to rest."

Ben said, "But I want to stay here."

"Go play," Theresa said.

Chapter 436

Chapter 436

She patted her two children on their heads. They listened to her and left right after. Charlie looked at the two children as they left and asked, "Why are they so obedient to you?"

"They ignored him completely but did whatever she asked them to do! What happened to 'Blood is thicker than water'?"

If not because they looked almost exactly like him, he would probably do a DNA test!

Theresa did not know what to tell him. To her, they were her kids too...

"Charlie!" Mrs. Calsis walked in.

"Mom," Charlie responded.

Leticia stopped in front of him, grabbed his hand and sized him up. "You, can stand again?" She asked.

"I could a few days again," Charlie answered.

"Your brother mentioned it before but I thought he was joking, so it's true."

Charlie looked at his mother, hugged her, and said, "Sorry for making you worry all this time."

Yes, he could stand again. For the past two years, not only was his life horrible, his parents were always.

worried for him too. Charlie hated himself for making them worry so much. Now that he could stand again, everything became better.

"Good, good. you can stand again," Leticia said with tears in her eyes.

Theresa sat on the side. Seeing how excited the two of them were, her eyes became wet too.

Theresa smiled and lowered her head. She was happy for Charlie, she knew he had been waiting for this day for a very long time. Noticing Theresa's expression, Charlie let go of his mother and said to her, "Mom, sit."

Mrs. Calsis sat down, looked at Theresa and said, "Theresa, are you okay? I heard what happened from Jonathan, what a bastard that Jimmy is. How dare he do something like this? He shall never be allowed into our home ever again!"

Hearing Jimmy's name, a tint of fury flashed past Charlie's eyes as he sat down on the side. His legs had yet to fully recover so he could not stand for an extended period of time.

With a raspy voice, Theresa said, "I'm fine, but Charlie." He seemed even more nervous than her, so much so that he insisted on letting her rest like she was ill!

"What happened to your voice?" Leticia asked.

She then noticed the finger marks on Theresa's neck. Clearly what Jonathan said about Jimmy almost suffocating her was true. 'That bastard'. Even Leticia wanted to beat up Jimmy now.

Rose walked in, looked at Theresa, and said, "Aunt Theresa, are you okay?" Seeing it was Rose, Theresa did not respond. Leticia glanced at Rose, knowing Theresa's throat was not feeling well, she answered for her, "She's fine."

Rose said, "Aunt Theresa, I'm sorry about Jimmy. He was too rash, I'll make sure to scold him when I get back. Aunt Theresa, please calm down."

"Are you here to plea for him?" With a cold expression, Theresa said.

Rose's intention was clear. Ever since Theresa came to the Calsis family and Rose found out about her past with Jimmy, Rose had always been extra hostile towards her. Rose had never spoken this nicely towards Theresa before.

Chapter 437

Chapter 437

"We're a family, all families fight sometimes. What happened is all Jim's fault, I apologize for him. He wasn't thinking straight, if Aunt Theresa can forgive him this time, I promise something like this will never happen again." Rose said.

"Leave." Theresa did not even want to see her face. She coughed, laid down in bed and wrapped herself up in the blanket, clearly expressing she did not want Rose here.

She was not kind enough to accept Rose's apology. In fact, she hoped for Jimmy to die. After all, Jimmy wanted to kill her, how could she forgive him? Preposterous! .

"Aunt Theresa," Rose said again.

Leticia looked at her and said, "Can't you see even speaking is difficult for Aunt Theresa? She needs quiet!" Rose looked at Charlie and said, "Uncle Charlie." "She said leave," Sitting on the side, Charlie said.

"Jimmy is really badly injured now, can we at least get him a doctor? Please? What if he dies?" Rose said. No one replied.

"Aunt Theresa, I'm begging you, not just for Jim, but for Uncle Charlie too. Uncle Charlie just got better, you don't want to see him go to jail because of this, right?"

"Didn't you hear? I said get out!" Charlie said, "Someone, bring her out." He was still furious at Jimmy, and every word Rose said made it worse.

Rose was chased out. She realized Theresa and Charlie were made for each other, both were merciless. "What should I do?" She panicked.

She went to the room Jimmy was in and saw him laying in bed, taken care of by Rosales. "Jim, are you okay? Look at you, why did you have to mess with them? Why not just avoid them?" Jimmy was in pain and coughed. Rose stood on the side. Her heart was hurting too watching him like this. She clenched her fists, not knowing what she could do to help.

She called her father again, hoping there would be hope once her father returns. Pat Nandlall picked up the call and Rose asked, "Dad, when are you coming back?"

"I'm on the way, we'll talk when I'm there," Pat Nandlall said before hanging up. Not long after, he arrived. Along with him were Roderick and another doctor Roderick brought to help.

Rose saw Roderick and said, "Uncle Roderick, you're here. Please take a look at Jim, he's badly hurt and almost dying, I'm worried."

Seeing the expression on Rose's face, Roderick told the other doctor to check up on Theresa first. They were here because Charlie called them to take a look at Theresa. Theresa was hurt and needed to be looked at. "Go there first, I'll be there in a minute," Roderick said. The doctor nodded and went to Theresa's room with Brenda. Roderick then looked at Rose and followed her to the door, where Jonathan was at.

"Dr. Hill," Jonathan said.

"Let me take a look at Jimmy," Roderick Hill said.

"Mr. Calsis did not say to treat him," Jonathan said.

"I just want to see when he'll die, I'm not going to treat him," Roderick said as he walked in the door. Jonathan watched Roderick from the side.

When Rosales saw Roderick, her eyes lit up. Roderick walked over and stood beside Jimmy. He cut open Jimmy's shirt, examined him, and pressed on his wounds with his gloved fingers. Jimmy breathed heavily from the pain.

Chapter 438

Chapter 438

Jimmy and Roderick did not see each other much, this was their first official encounter. Jimmy's red eyes stared at Roderick and complained, "Dr. Hill, did you do that on purpose?"

It hurt so much!

'Is he here to treat me or torture me?' Jimmy doubted.

Roderick did not deny it and said, "You got that right." He heard Jimmy almost killed Theresa today, it was unbelievable. As an outsider, things between Jimmy and Theresa never bothered him before. However, when he heard about what happened today, even he felt Jimmy was a prick.

Jonathan's eyes twitched having heard what Roderick said. Leave it to Dr. Hill to never disappoint.

Rosales looked at Roderick and said, "Aren't you a doctor? How could you?"

Roderick did not care and said, "Problem?" He never had a good impression of the Watsons. After all, he knew all about the things between Theresa and Jimmy, he just did not bother talking about them. Roderick took off his gloves, threw them in the trash and said, "Mr. Watson should be fine for a while, leave him be." Then, he walked out the door. Rose looked at him and said, "Uncle Roderick."

She thought he was here to treat Jimmy, why did he leave after taking a brief look?

"Don't worry, he won't die," Roderick said. He just came to see how hurt Jimmy was so he would have a rough. idea.

"Aren't you going to prescribe him some medicine?" Rose asked.

"He needs to be taught a lesson for hitting a woman. It's for your sake too, after all, you're the one who'll be spending the rest of your life with him." As Roderick said that, he left to see Charlie and Theresa. Seeing that he had left, Rose walked to Pat and stopped him from leaving with Roderick. "Dad, please say something to Uncle Charlie and let Jim go! Jim knows what he did was wrong, he's badly hurt enough." Pat Nandlall looked at her and said, "I agree with what Roderick said." A man who lays his hands on a woman needs to be taught a lesson. Even Pat himself would never do something like that. What Pat was more concerned about at the moment was Charlie. He heard Charlie beat up Jimmy. Charlie could not even stand before, yet now he could beat up someone, what a piece of good news! Pat left and went straight to Charlie's room. Rose was left speechless. Theresa was only slightly hurt and everyone was worried about her. Jim was almost dying yet no one cared. It was heartbreaking. In Charlie's room, Theresa's mouth was open and the doctor was doing a check-up. When Pat and Roderick came, the room suddenly became quite crowded. Pat walked to Charlie and said, "Charlie, I heard you can beat up people now? Come on, stand up and let me see." He was very concerned for Charlie.

Charlie looked at him and said, "What, you think I'm a zoo animal or what? I'm exhausted! I don't want to stand up." His legs were extremely sore at the moment.

Roderick looked at Charlie with a poker face and said, "I suppose you don't really need your legs, do you? To get into a fight right after just being able to stand up, bravo, Mr. Calsis!" His tone was clearly sarcastic. Knowing he did not have the moral high ground, Charlie's tone was mild as he looked at Roderick and said, "Alright, Theresa already scolded me enough. I'm fine, I know my legs."

Chapter 439

Chapter 439

In that situation, Charlie would be a piece of garbage if he did not help his wife!

Roderick said, "You need to rest, don't be so impulsive next time! There's finally hope, don't get yourself in at wheelchair again and burden Theresa."

After scolding Charlie, Roderick looked at Theresa and asked the doctor who had just finished checking up on Theresa, "How is she?"

"She's fine, don't worry," The doctor assured.

"Are you okay?" Roderick asked Theresa. Theresa nodded and said with a hoarse voice, "I'm fine, take a look at Charlie. He kept saying he was fine when I asked him about it today, are his legs okay?"

Roderick glanced at Charlie and said to Theresa, "Should be fine, he doesn't mind it anyways, so leave him be."

Charlie was speechless.

Pat already sat down beside Charlie and was staring at him like he was an exhibition animal.

Everyone was happy about Charlie being able to stand again.

At this time of the day, Leah and Johnson Cameron had returned home. Johnson sat on the sofa silently. Leah said, "You should rest, you've been running around all day."

"I wonder how's Theresa," Johnson replied. He originally wanted to go with them, but Charlie had people send him back. He did not want to trouble them so he came home.

Leah did not care about Theresa so she felt he was worrying for nothing. "She's fine! What can happen to him? Charlie is there! Stop worrying."

Johnson clenched his fists and said, "Jimmy, that bastard!" Leah glanced at him, and seeing he was not going to rest, she left him be. She went upstairs and called Sarah.

"Where are you?" Leah asked.

"I'm outside, Mom, what is it?" Sarah was sitting at the corner table of a restaurant and staring at Eugene Oneill who was chatting with someone. She did not give up even after what happened last time, so she followed Eugene here. Eugene was talking to someone and she was looking at him from the side when she got a call from her mother.

Leah sounded worried as she said, "Quickly come home, I have something to tell you."

Sarah said, "I'm eating! I'll come home later, are you guys home?" Sarah knew today was Johnson's birthday. Charlie hosted a birthday party for Johnson, but she did not go because she did not want to see Charlie and Theresa. Not to mention today was not the date Johnson usually celebrated his birthday, it was basically Charlie's ridiculous idea, so she did not care for it.

Leah said, "Come home now! I need to talk to you about something important."

"What?" Sarah was confused.

"Charlie stood up!" Leah said. Leah was completely baffled when she saw it today!

'Isn't Charlie a cripple? How can he possibly stand up?'

Leah knew she definitely was not dreaming, she saw him carry Theresa out with her own eyes earlier. Sarah thought she heard her mother wrong and asked, "What? Mom, have you been drinking? What nonsense are you talking about?"

'Charlie standing up? How? Impossible!'

Leah said, "Why would I lie? He really stood up today, I saw it with my own eyes. Where are you? Come back now."

Chapter 440

Chapter 440

"Fine, fine, I'll come home once I'm done here," Sarah said. Seeing Eugene stand up, she quickly hung up and stood up as well.

'Why did her mother suddenly call her and lie to her about something like that?' Sarah wondered.

She walked over and grabbed Eugene's hand, who was just about to leave. Eugene turned around, saw it was Sarah, and said, "What are you doing?" He had already made things very clear after he found out who Sarah was. He did not want anything to do with her. This woman left Charlie as soon as something happened to Charlie and even rubbed salt in the Calsis family's wound. He despised her.

Sarah said, "Eugene, you're not really going to ignore me like this, are you? I know I was wrong for doing that to Charlie, I was too young to know what was right. Plus, he's in love with my sister now, you saw how love-dovey they are, he doesn't need me! Don't stay mad at me, please?"

She hugged Eugene's arm tighter as she said. No matter what, she had to get this man to fall in love with her! Women chasing men always works! It was not like she was hideous or something, how could Eugene reject her?

'It's all that cripple Charlie's fault, why did he have to cause me trouble even after he got married?' Eugene was absolutely disgusted hearing her talk. He did not hold back and shoved Sarah away onto the floor. "Stop annoying me, got it? I have nothing to do with you, and neither do I know who you are." Then, Eugene walked right out. Cristina Lagarde should get off work very soon, he had to go pick her up! Sarah fell onto the ground. Eugene walked away and everyone around saw how embarrassed she was. She was boiling. She stood up and said angrily, "Eugene Oneill you jerk! You should feel honoured I like you! What a non-gentleman!" She was raging!

Sarah left the restaurant and drove home. She became more irritated the more she thought about it on her way home. She parked the car in front of her house, got out and walked in. Leah was waiting. "You finally came back."

"Mom," Sarah said, "I'm super mad."

"About what?" Leah asked, "Keep it down, your dad is angry."

"What is he mad about? I didn't do anything wrong. Hasn't Charlie been good to him lately?" After Sarah's father's relationship with Charlie got better, she was no longer as hated by her father as much as before. Leah said, "Jimmy and Theresa got into a conflict today, Jimmy laid his hands on Theresa, your dad is furious."

Hearing that, Sarah's eyes widened with disbelief, "Jimmy hit Theresa?"

'How did that happen? Theresa totally deserved it!'

Leah said, "That Jimmy is a prick, his men even shoved your dad onto the floor today, I was so angry. Luckily Charlie was there and taught him a lesson, he did not dare to even speak." Leah respected Charlie she felt that there was nothing she was afraid of as long as Charlie was there. After all, everyone respected his status and called him Mr. Calsis.

Talking about Charlie, Leah remembered what she wanted to say, looked at Sarah and said, "Charlie really stood up. Didn't you say the doctor said he can never stand again? What's going on?"

Sarah placed her hand on her mother's forehead and said, "You're not having a fever, right? How can Charlie possibly stand? Don't lie."

"Why would I lie?" Leah was speechless. "When have I ever lied to you? He really can stand now. I've always wondered why Theresa treated that cripple so well and helped him so much, so that's why."

Chapter 441

Chapter 441

Leah did not want her daughter to marry Charlie before, but now that Charlie stood up, Leah was filled with regrets. Charlie had always been distant and never like them much. He was always cold towards Sarah. No matter how hard Sarah tried, his attitude never changed. If Leah had known Charlie would be able to stand again, she would not have told Sarah to escape the marriage.

After all, Charlie was so kind towards Theresa, who was a divorced woman. If Sarah did not leave but had taken care of him instead, they would be much closer. Sarah was annoyed just hearing about Charlie. "Why do I still have to hear that name even after I cut all ties with him?"

She took out her phone and sent a message to Eugene.

[Eugene, mua, love you!]

Eugene blocked her on her other account, this was another account.

Leah looked at her daughter, poked her and said, "Sarah Cameron, are you listening?"

"Mom, in the future, I don't want to hear anything related to Charlie! Also, stop joking about him being able to stand again. If he really can stand, pigs can fly! I'm exhausted and going to sleep," Sarah replied. She then went straight upstairs.

Leah stood still and looked at her. Sarah should be the concerned one, but instead, Leah was more concerned than she was.

It was a windy night. Cristina left her office building with her shoulders raised trying to keep herself warm. Just as she was thinking about getting a cab, she saw Eugene's car parked on the side and Eugene standing by it. He was tall and wearing a windbreaker. Cristina pretended to not see him and was about to leave, but

Eugene stopped her and said, "Cristina."

Cristina turned around but did not respond.

"Get in the car," Eugene said.

'Trying to run? Really? Come on.' Eugene thought.

Cristina played dumb and said, "What are you doing here? What a coincidence." She did not want to talk to him at all, but it was too cold so she had no choice but to walk to him. After all, he would probably threaten her later if he came to fetch her and she refused. Why would she turn down a free ride? Eugene said, "Stop it, you know I'm here to pick you up. Touched?"

Speechless, Cristina entered the car. It had the AC on and was warm. She loosened her scarf and said, "Even if you come to pick me up every single day, I won't forgive you." Eugene had been coming to see her very often lately. So much so that it even made her suspect that he was trying to chase her. However, as they say, things are not forgivable.

She was not going to forgive him. She wanted to focus on her career above all things else.

Eugene looked at her and said monotonously, "Whatever you say."

Cristina turned around and said, "Is this how you chase someone?"

"When did I say I'm chasing you?"

Cristina snorted and did not reply. Eugene entered the driver's seat and drove away. His phone rang and he said, "Take a look at the message for me, will you."

Cristina was stunned for a moment. 'He wanted her to look at his phone?'

People are usually sensitive about their phone as it almost always has secrets they don't want others to see. Apparently, if it was her, Eugene did not mind at all!

Chapter 442

Chapter 442

Cristina did not want to distract Eugene while he was driving, so she looked at his phone for him. Seeing the message, she sneered and read the message he received, "Eugene, mua, love you!"

Eugene was at a loss for words. Cristina looked at him with despise and said, "Mr. Designer Oneill, what's your deal? Why do you keep harassing me when you're with another woman?" Most importantly, he always threatened her with the secret between her and Theresa whenever he harassed her. She only pretended to listen to him so he would not say anything to Charlie..

However, she still was annoyed when she saw he received a message like this. This man was clearly a playboy, god knows how many girls' numbers he had on his phone. Eugene explained, "I don't know who that is." "You don't know?" Cristina scoffed and said, "Sure I believe you! After all, even a woman like Sarah Cameron is your type, not to mention others! Wait, for a playboy like you, there's no such thing as a type for you right? As long as it's a woman!" Eugene listened to her insulting him, and raised his eyebrows but did not respond. Cristina looked outside and suddenly realized something. "Hmm? This isn't the way to my home, what are you doing?"

Eugene said, "Aren't you going to see Theresa?"

"Theresa? Isn't she with Charlie?" Cristina was confused.

"She's hurt," Eugene said sarcastically, "I thought you'd want to see her as soon as possible, given how close you two are. Well, I guess you sisters aren't really that close, huh."

"Theresa is hurt?' Cristina was shocked. "What happened? You're not lying to me, are you? She didn't tell me."

"That girl!"

Cristina sent a message to Theresa.

[Are you hurt?]

Before Theresa replied, Eugene said, "I heard from Rose, she said Jimmy hit her."

"Jimmy Watson?" Cristina clenched her teeth. "That prick, he hit Theresa? What a monster!"

"Wasn't he already a monster even before laying hands on Theresa?" What Jimmy had done to Theresa already showed he was beneath humans, they just did not point it out.

Cristina looked at Eugene and said, "Now that's something I like hearing." It was rare they shared the same opinion.

Cristina said, "Eugene, you're a jerk, but I still think you're a teeny bit better than Jimmy." Eugene's eyebrows twitched.

'Is that an insult? Or a compliment?" He had no idea.

The two of them arrived at the Calsis'. Eugene parked the car and entered the house. Rose came and said,

"Uncle."

She held Eugene's hand and saw Cristina. Surprised, she asked, "Why is Cristina here?"

"I'm going upstairs to take a look," Cristina said and went upstairs.

Eugene looked at Rose and said, "What happened to you? Did someone bully you?"

"You came at the right time," Rose said, "Uncle, please go take a look at Jim! You guys are old classmates, right? He's almost dying. Can you talk for him to Uncle Charlie, please?"

Eugene was hurriedly dragged upstairs by Rose to see Jimmy. Jimmy was lying in bed covered in wounds, he did not even change his clothes. Jimmy was left here all this time. Without Charlie's orders, they could not even get a doctor to do a check-up for him. Even Dr. Hill did not want to help.

Rose was out of ideas. As a young member of the family, her words had no power, so she had been thinking of other ways. At first, she wanted to ask her father to help, but now she relied on Eugene. Eugene looked at her and said, "Sorry, there's nothing I can do."

Rose looked at him with disbelief. "Why are you all so cold-blooded? I'm begging you!"

Chapter 443

Chapter 443

"I'm going to take a look at Charlie." Eugene did not know what to say to Rose, so he went to see Charlie. Rose stood there and looked at Jimmy. Rosales was still taking care of him. As his mother, Rosales' swollen from crying out of worry. It was tragic to look at.

eyes were

The entire Calsis family was circling around Charlie and Theresa, the two of them were the only ones caring about Jimmy Watson.

Theresa was lying in bed. Everyone else left after her check-up was completed because they did not want to disturb her rest. Charlie left too and was in the study beside, along with Pat and others.

She was the only one in the room. Her throat was still not feeling well. She rested in bed and played with her phone.

The door opened and a voice came in.

"Theresa." It was Cristina.

Theresa looked up at her and said, "You're here!" She only just saw the message from Cristina.

Cristina walked towards her with a long face and said, "What 'you're here'! Why didn't you tell me? I wouldn't even know you're hurt if not for Eugene."

Theresa said, "Too many things happened today so I kinda forgot you."

"How can you say that?" Cristina scoffed and said, "You're really the most cold-blooded woman I've ever seen."

All these years being nice to you gone to waste."

Theresa pursed her lips and said with a raspy voice, "Sorry."

Cristina sat on the bedside. Hearing her voice and seeing the finger marks on her neck, she asked, "Jimmy did this to you?" Theresa nodded.

"He's dead," Cristina said angrily.

Theresa grabbed her hand and stopped her from taking justice into her own hands. "Forget it, Charlie already beat him up, he's still in bed now. It's enough. Violence isn't the only solution." This was the difference between her and Jimmy. Only incapable people used violence.

Of course, she had ways to make Jimmy suffer much more than death.

Cristina was surprised by what Theresa said and asked, "Charlie had people beat him up?"

"No, he did it himself." The image of Charlie sitting in a wheelchair appeared in Cristina's mind.

'Charlie beat up Jimmy? Could he even win?"

Cristina asked, "Are you sure?"

Theresa and Cristina had been friends for many years, so she knew what Cristina was thinking. She explained, "Charlie stood up."

"What!" Cristina's eyes widened. "Really? Charlie must really love you!"

Theresa was perplexed. 'How did she come to the conclusion Charlie must really love me from that?"

Cristina said, "Even the doctor said he won't be able to stand again, but he stood up when he saw you get hit, it's a miracle!"

Theresa strongly suspected Cristina had been watching too many love dramas. Theresa sighed and said, "He could already stand up before, only he has been rehabilitating, so he still used a wheelchair when he went out."

"You've known this?" Cristina realized Theresa did not seem surprised.

"Yes, I believed it the moment I met him."

"Sister, you didn't tell me about it again, now I want to kill you too!" Cristina pressed her on the bed, stared at her and said, "You're horrible. Ever since you got together with Charlie, there have been too many secrets.

between us, and I'm always the last one to find out.

Theresa smiled and said, "Sorry, it's just that I can't say much about things related to him. You know you're a big mouth and can't keep secrets right?"

"Me, big mouth?" Cristina felt hurt.

"Have you already forgotten how Leonard and Ben returned?"

It was all thanks to her! She carried out that DNA test too.

Chapter 444

Chapter 444

Cristina said, "I did that on purpose because I want Leonard and Ben to be with their father. Although Charlie is a bit of a jerk, I meant well."

"Crisy." Theresa's expression suddenly became serious. Cristina let go of her, sat up and said cautiously, "It's scary how serious you're looking at me."

Theresa smirked. Although what happened with Jimmy hurt her severely, her eyes seemed to be glowing.

"I like him." Theresa's eyes were extremely gentle as she said that.

Stunned for an instant, Cristina finally got it. "Charlie Calsis?"

"Yes." Theresa nodded. If not for what happened today, Theresa might not have seriously considered her feelings. She liked him. She did not want to ignore her emotions anymore. Life is short. If she could spend it with someone she liked, how amazing would that be?

"He's a jerk!" Cristina said.

"But I like him," Theresa said.

Cristina smiled and said, "You know, I've not seen that look on you for a very long time." On the way here, she was quite worried for Theresa. Now that she saw Theresa finally willing to recognize her feelings for Charlie and face her heart, Cristina was relieved.

Although Theresa was hurt today, her relationship with Charlie took a giant step forward.

Cristina looked at Theresa blissfully and said, "If you like him, forget that jerk Jimmy and go lead a happy life." Jimmy gave Theresa too many scars in her life, even making her not as confident as she was before. Theresa had always seen herself as a shining diamond, but Jimmy destroyed her and dimmed her light. Sometimes a woman's life can really be ruined by marrying the wrong guy.

Gladly, she got past that now!

Next door in the study, it was lively. All the men were including Pat, Eugene, and Roderick. Everyone was glad Charlie could stand again, so they wanted to chat with him. Having chatted for some time, Roderick looked at the time, stood up, and said, "It's getting late, we should get going. I'm sure Mr. Calsis has been waiting for us to leave."

Charlie had probably already cussed at them in his head for taking away the time he could spend being alone with Theresa.

Pat disagreed and said, "Charlie isn't like that!"

Charlie was handicapped before, but things were different now.

'Now that he can stand again, what woman can he not get?' Pat thought.

There was absolutely no reason for Charlie to be with a divorced woman like Theresa.

Charlie had better options. However, Theresa was to be thanked for Charlie being able to stand again, and she was hurt today, so Pat was not going to say these things. If he were to tell Charlie to leave Theresa, others.

would talk too.

However, right after Pat said that, Charlie said with a serious tone, "I am!" Pat was speechless.

'So Charlie is blaming us for disturbing him and Theresa's alone time?'

Pat looked at his younger brother, sighed and said, "Fine, I'm leaving." 'Whatever!'

Once Charlie returns to a normal person's life, he would understand.

Chapter 445

Chapter 445

Theresa was not going to be Charlie's final choice.

Pat stood up and left the study. Eugene stood up as well.

Rose was still waiting outside the door.

"Dad, Uncle." She had been waiting outside when they were chatting, hoping they could help Jimmy. She probably would not be able to sleep tonight if Jimmy's wounds were untreated.

Pat saw Rose and said, "It's late, go to sleep."

"Dad!" Rose pulled Pat's arm and said, "Help Jim please, I'm begging you!" Pat always disliked Jimmy very much, and what happened today made him realize even more how unreliable Jimmy was.

"Why are you talking for him? I've thought it through. I'll get a lawyer tomorrow and have you two divorced,"

Pat said.

Rose looked at Pat with disbelief, "Dad, why?"

"Why? He doesn't deserve you! And don't go talk to Charlie, he's still mad."

Rose would only be asking to be scolded if she attempted to talk to Charlie about sparing Jimmy. Pat looked at the servant on the side and said, "Send the lady to rest," and left.

Rose looked at Pat as he walked away and said angrily, "Why is he like this?"

"I agree with him," Eugene said, "Rose, be a good girl and listen, it's for your sake." As men, they all clearly saw what kind of man Jimmy was, but Rose did not. She was too young, after all. To be merciful to her now would be cruel to her future.

Rose was speechless having heard what Eugene said.

'Everyone's the same!'

The servant walked over and said, "Miss, I shall send you to rest." The servant did not dare to disobey Pat's orders. Annoyed, Rose had no choice but to go back to her room.

In the study, Roderick looked at Charlie and said, "What do we do with Jimmy?"

"Leave him be," Charlie said.

"You really didn't hold back did you," Roderick said, "It's best to at least treat his wounds, in case he dies." Roderick felt Jimmy had suffered enough being left there for so long. Charlie glanced at Roderick and did not speak.

"I'm going," Roderick said. He knew Charlie was still enraged but Jimmy was quite badly injured, and Charlie would be responsible if something were to happen to him. No matter how powerful the Calsis Family was, they had to take the life of a person seriously in today's society. Not to mention that girl Rose had been waiting outside for the entire night. After Roderick left, Charlie sat on the sofa for a while, then stood up and left the study too.

Arriving outside Theresa's room, Charlie stood at the door and noticed Cristine was in Theresa's room.

Theresa looked at Charlie and said, "Charlie."

Cristina turned around and looked at him. Even seeing Charlie standing there with her own eyes, she still could not believe it. Cristine felt Charlie was like an entirely different person now that he was standing! He was tall, so he looked even better looking than before. Plus, he gave off a vibe of someone who was above all things. Realizing Cristina was staring at him, Charlie was a little unhappy and said, "What are you doing here?" "To see Theresa." Cristina stood up and said to Theresa, "Babe, I'll be going." She then walked out. She originally wanted to accompany Theresa a while more but she decided not to, in case Charlie thinks she liked him.

Chapter 446

Chapter 446

Charlie closed the door after Cristina and then sat down beside Theresa. Theresa asked, "They've all gone home?"

Charlie nodded and said, "Yes, are you feeling better?" He looked at her. Although it had been some time, he still looked extremely worried. Theresa nodded, "A lot better, Jimmy, he-"

"Roderick went," Charlie said, "He won't die."

Theresa held his hand and said, "Alright then." She was worried Charlie might really lose his cool. It would not be worth it if something were to happen to Jimmy.

Charlie held Theresa's hand, lowered his hand and placed his face on the back of her hand. He looked at her. His fingers caressed her face gently and said, "Are you so close to Cristina that she came all the way to see you?" "We're friends," Theresa answered. They had known each other for quite a long time, it would not be weird if they were friends.

Charlie looked at her and said, "You've really got a big heart."

Theresa said, "What, I can't make friends? You know, friendships between women are the simplest.

Sometimes, women are much more reliable than you men."

"I'm unreliable?" Charlie was not happy about what she said. He sat beside the bed, hands placed beside her. Now that everyone else left and the two of them were the only ones in the room, it was quiet. Charlie looked at Theresa and suddenly the thought of kissing her popped up in his mind.

As he thought of that, he went ahead and did it. He lowered his head and kissed her, his hands were moving around her as well. Theresa looked at this man and said, "What, you've not even fully recovered yet and you're already thinking about doing things to me?"

Charlie looked a bit comfortable hearing what she said. He looked at her and said, "Only today did I just notice. how much I'm afraid of losing you. Theresa, I love you very much. Stay with me and don't go anywhere, will you?" Theresa was surprised to hear this. Charlie was a foul mouth most of the time, it was rare to hear him say something so sentimental.

She nodded and said, "Okay." She was thinking the same! She had made up her mind! She liked him, so she was going to stay with him and not go anywhere.

Charlie looked at her with surprise. "Why are you so nice today?"

"Why did she not laugh at me for saying something so gentle?' In the past, whenever Charlie said something nice to Theresa, she always laughed at him.

Theresa felt a bit awkward being asked that, she coughed to divert his attention and said, "My throat hurts." Although the doctor gave her medicine, she chatted a lot with Cristina earlier and her throat was still not feeling well.

"Take a bath and go to sleep," Charlie then stood up and said, "I'll fill the tub."

Theresa pulled his hand and said, "Sit."

Forced to sit down, Charlie looked at her and joked, "What, you don't want me to leave your side?" "You're really cheeky today aren't you!" Theresa glared at him and said, "You really think you're all recovered. now? Sit down, I can bathe myself." Only her neck was hurting so she was fine. She got out of bed, looked for slippers barefooted and went to bathe.

Charlie sat on the edge of the bed, looked at her fierce but adorable expression and thought, 'Tsk, this woman really got me by the palm of her hands, what will happen to my family status in the future?"

After Theresa entered the bath, Charlie sat on the bed and received a call. It was from Johnson.

"What is it?" Charlie asked.

Johnson sounded concerned. "Charlie, is Theresa feeling better? I've been worried." Johnson did not dare to go to sleep since he went home. After thinking for some time, he decided to call and ask about it.

"Don't worry," Charlie said. Johnson was finally relieved and said, "Charlie, I was not very nice to you in the past, but Theresa, she married that jerk Jimmy and suffered a lot, don't hurt her."

Charlie said sarcastically, "What, now that you saw me stand again, you think I'd dump her?"

Chapter 447

Chapter 447

How could Charlie not have understood what Johnson was saying between the lines?

Jonathan always felt Charlie was a burden and did not want him to be with Theresa. What, did this father-in-law of his change his mind now?

Charlie admitted he was being a bit petty to think that, but after all that had happened, he did not have a good impression on the entire Cameron Family except for Theresa.

Johnson did not reply. Charlie was not the patient type, he said, "She's fine, taking care of yourself and not causing her trouble is the best thing you can do, bye."

Charlie was about to hang up when Johnson said, "Wait."

What else?" Charlie was getting impatient. He was already not in a good mood, this call from Johnson made it worse. Charlie was quite well-mannered towards Johnson during the birthday party today, but of course, that was only in public. His attitude towards Johnson was still the same.

Johnson said, "We'd like to take a look at Theresa tomorrow, is that okay?"

"Whatever." Charlie sent Johnson home earlier today because the situation was chaotic and he did not want to worry Theresa further if something happened to Johnson. He had no reason to not, let Johnson see Theresa now.

"Thanks," Johnson said and hung up. Putting down his phone, Johnson's brows were tightly squeezed together. He was indeed very worried. Since the last time he talked to Theresa, he roughly figured Theresa had feelings for Charlie. His daughter fell for this man.

However, Charlie was in a wheelchair back then. Johnson did not think Charlie would leave Theresa. Theresa was once divorced, and Charlie was handicapped, so it was kinda even. When he saw Charlie stand up today, he suddenly got worried.

'Would he abandon Theresa?'

Johnson felt it seemed like a possibility hearing Charlie's tone earlier. He did not care much about the Calsis. Family's power, only. not many people treated Theresa so kindly nowadays. Not to mention how much that jerk Jimmy had hurt Theresa. He could not bare watching his daughter get hurt again. Theresa finished her bath, walked out and said to Charlie, "I'm done, your turn.

Charlie sat on the bed, looked at her and said, "Your dad just called."

"Oh? What did he say? Is he worried about me?" Theresa asked.

Of course, a father would worry about her daughter after something like this happened. Theresa sighed. Her feelings were mixed. Although she would love for everyone to see what kind of person that jerk Jimmy was, he did not want her father to see it.

"I'm really a useless daughter for letting my father worry so much," She said.

Charlie said to her, "He'd probably come to see you tomorrow." Theresa nodded and laid down in bed.

Charlie finished taking a bath and returned. Theresa was laying in bed with her eyes closed, seemingly asleep.

Charlie laid down and said, "Asleep?"

She opened her eyes, looked at her, reached out and hugged hira.

TO!

Her sudden change in attitude made Charlie smile. He kissed her cheeks and asked with disbelief, "What's gotten into you today? Why are you suddenly so nice?" Theresa did not speak. Her throat was burning and she did not want to say a single word.

Charlie hugged her. The two of them slept.

Chapter 448

This was a harsh winter. The wind was howling outside, but inside the house, it was extraordinarily warm. Charlie cuddled the woman. Looking at her near himself, he wanted nothing but to keep her by his side all the time and never let anyone bully her.

In the morning, Charlie got up early and went over to see Jimmy in his wheelchair.

Rosales had been taking care of Jimmy last night. Roderick also briefly treated his wound.

Seeing Charlie coming in, Rosales looked at him defensively, fearing that he would beat Jimmy again like yesterday if he got angry. She asked. "What do you want?"

Charlie looked at Jimmy on the bed, and sneered, "You're dead?"

Jimmy rose, coughed a few times, "Uncle Charlie."

Charlie watched him and said, "So you're not dead. What a pity."

Over the whole night, Jimmy had quite sobered up. He had been indeed too impulsive yesterday. No matter what, he shouldn't have tried to escalate the issue and blow up at Theresa in that kind of situation.

He shouldn't have done it! He had a life with an infinite future ahead. He had been choking down his anger with Charlie very well, but he hadn't held back yesterday, much to his regret.

He said, "I was being impulsive yesterday, I hope you can forgive me this time. I have truly learned my lesson." Charlie looked at Jimmy and uttered, "What kind of enmity is there between you and Theresa that you want to treat her like this? Huh? She married you because she owed you in her previous life or what?"

Jimmy raised his head, glanced at Charlie, and clenched his fists forcefully, "I used to treat her very well, but she did not cherish it."

"Oh? What else could she do to 'cherish' it?"

"She cheated."

"Jimmy Watson!" Charlie looked at this man drily of course, he wouldn't believe his words. He just had not expected that Jimmy would still try to fool him, "I think you still want to be beaten to death." Jimmy gazed at Charlie. "She is just a compulsive liar. What makes you think she won't do that? Uncle Charlie, you don't know Theresa at all."

Standing aside and listening to Jimmy's words, Rosales was breaking out in a cold sweat.

Theresa had the evidence in her hand. Charlie should have been told about this. For Jimmy to bring this up at this time is simply to court death!

She persuaded, "Jim, stop it. Apologize to your uncle, now! Yesterday it was your fault. No matter what, you can't treat Theresa like that!"

Charlie looked into Jimmy's eyes and commanded, "You will divorce Rose and leave the Calsises. I don't want to ever see you again. What's more... From now on, if I hear anyone of your family speak ill of Theresa any more I will make you, the Watsons, pay."

"Divorce?" Rosales beside them couldn't believe what she had heard. "But Jim and Rose are doing great with each other. They just got married. How can you make them divorce?"

"Rose is not a tool for your son to manipulate." Charlie said, "Have you ever looked at them closely? Does he deserve to be with Rose?"

The disputes between Rose and Theresa were all provoked by Jimmy Watson. All Charlie wanted now was an immediate separation of the two. Of course, this was also what everyone in the family wanted.

Jimmy heard Charlie's words, and he said, "Uncle Charlie you're so capricious that you even mess with my relationship with Rose."

This guy had merely been born with a silver spoon in his mouth and acted as if he was really something. Now he felt annoyed whenever he saw Charlie. He seriously didn't understand what was better about Charlie than himself.

Charlie noticed Jimmy's recalcitrant expression. He responded, "Not ready to give in? Be my guest."

No matter how reluctant Jimmy was, what could he do?

After Charlie finished speaking, he came out of the room directly.

Having witnessed it, Rosales cast her eyes at Jimmy. "Jim, what should we do? Are you really going to divorce Rose?"

Chapter 449

Jimmy frowned, "Do you think I could stay married when Charlie talks?"

Rosales said, "Rose has been so good to you, how can you divorce her now?"

The point was, without Rose, it was impossible to find such a good spouse once more. As long as Jimmy had Rose backing him up, his job or whatever, with Rose's help, would never be too disappointing. Now everyone knew that her son had married Ms. Nandlall, and the Watsons had always been proud of it. Their divorce would only make them a joke.

Jimmy didn't make a sound, but Rose walked in.

She stood by the door, and glanced at Jimmy, "You want me to get a divorce?"

Jimmy stared at her, a little embarrassed by her glare, "Rose."

Rose went, "To you, I mean nothing at all, is that so? Especially yesterday, he had even been rude to her. Rose had thought about it all night. The more she thought about it, the angrier she became.

Jimmy said, "No, it's just... You have seen Uncle Charlie's attitude. I have no power or influence, how do I resist him?"

"When you punched Theresa yesterday, were you thinking about our future? Rose's eyes.

gleamed with disappointment.

Jimmy explained, "That was Theresa who went too far. She forced mother to kneel before her, you can't imagine how arrogant she was. I'm a human being not without temper. I usually grin and bear it when she backbites me in front of Uncle Charlie and makes him hold me down, but when she pushed mother around... Do you still want me to turn a blind eye to it?"

Rose recalled Theresa's attitude. She didn't like Theresa either. She assured Jimmy. "Don't worry, I'm not divorcing you."

Originally Theresa was to blame for this incident. Jimmy was the one being bullied. Rose now only felt that Uncle Charlie was unreasonable. However, everyone was taking her uncle's side, about which she could do nothing.

Jimmy was a little surprised when he heard her, "Really?"

Rosales stared at Rose with a look of surprise. She said, "Rose, it's so nice of you. Nowadays there's only you being so nice to my Jim."

Rose turned to Rosales. "Mom, you should go home, you haven't rested all night. I can handle it here. After we settle the issue, Jim and I will go back."

"Alright," Rosales said. After a night, Jimmy seemed to be out of danger, so Rosales was not so worried at present. She packed up and left the Calsises' first. At lunchtime, Theresa went downstairs to eat.

Everyone was there. Charlie had stood up, so Mrs. Calsis had made specially a full table of dishes in celebration. Roderick and Eugene were also there. Theresa sat on the side. Mrs. Calsis knew that she was not feeling well, so she had made her some soup.

She drank the soup and listened to them talk.

Rose sat beside her with a complicated expression on her face. Everyone was delighted, only she looked sullen.

But... She still took the initiative to toast Charlie, "Uncle Charlie, congratulations on finally getting back on your feet."

Although since Charlie had Theresa, he had not attended to her anymore, the fact that Charlie was on his feet still cheered up the whole family. Rose was also truly glad for her uncle. Mrs. Calsis looked at her and smiled. "Rose, your uncle sometimes is rather stern, but he still cares about you a lot. We're all family, so don't be too hard on him. Ok?"

Rose heard Mrs. Calsis and faked a wry grin, "Mm, I know."

Mrs. Calsis looked at Charlie and said, "Charlie, as an elder, don't always be so harsh on Rose."

Chapter 450

Chapter 450

Charlie said yes. He sat on the side, putting food into Theresa's bowl.

Mrs. Calsis asked, "Theresa, would you like some rice?" It gratified Mrs. Calsis to look at

Theresa.

Theresa answered, "Yes, please."

Brenda hurried over to add some rice for her.

Mrs. Calsis went on, "I am grateful to Theresa. Charlie's recovery owes to her hard work. Let's drink a toast."

After hearing the words of Mrs. Calsis, everyone raised their glasses.

Even Pat was extraordinarily cooperative. He looked at Theresa. "About your father, it was my fault before, and I apologize."

66

.." Theresa flicked a look at him. God knew during these days she hated this man like poison, and she had never expected him to apologize so easily now.

She said nothing. On this kind of occasion, she didn't want to say anything that would ruin others' high spirits. After all, Pat, as a father, was defending Rose at that time. All of them toasted together.

As the head of the family, Robert glimpsed Charlie and asked, "Right, Charlie, what do you plan to do about Jimmy?"

Robert heard that he was beaten last night and was still upstairs. He was very concerned about it. He was afraid that Charlie was too naive and impetuous to handle it properly, thus it might lead to trouble.

Charlie said, "Don't worry, I've calmed down now. I told him this morning to divorce Rose and go back home. As long as his family doesn't speak ill of Theresa out there anymore, I can let him. get away with this once."

When Robert heard this, he said, "It's good that you've calmed down."

Hitting people can be anywhere from minor to significant. The Watsons hadn't reported it to the police just because of the consideration of their relationship involving Rose. Things after all could not go too far. Rose heard Charlie's words and said, "Uncle Charlie, I don't want a divorce."

After Rose's voice came out, at the dining table people fell silent.

Mrs. Calsis put down her chopsticks, and turned to Rose, "Rose, I agree with your uncle on this issue. I hope you divorce Jimmy."

Pat also agreed with Mrs. Calsis. "Me too. You won't see a good future with him." He disdained Jimmy Watson.

"Dad," Rose uttered, "I never had a bad time with him." speaking of this, she peeked at Theresa, "You can't put full blame on Jimmy simply because it did not work out between Aunt Theresa and him! It takes two to tango. Since they had ended up in such an embarrassing situation, Aunt Theresa should also think about whether there's something wrong with her."

"..." Theresa heard what Rose said and looked at her, "so do you think it's all my fault?" Rose replied, "Is it not? Jim and I haven't come here recently - we don't want any trouble. Yesterday at his father's birthday party, you went there yourselves, drove all the guests away, and deliberately embarrassed him. What's more, aunt, you even forced his mother to kneel... If I were him, I wouldn't be able to bear this kind of insult, either. Certainly, as a man, he really shouldn't hit you, but there is no way that you put full blame on him."

Mrs. Calsis tried to stop her. "Rose."

But Rose would not listen, "Grandma, you weren't there, and you don't know how aggrieved Jim was. I really can't stand it - why on earth does Uncle Charlie target him like this? Anyway, this divorce thing is not going to happen. I am not eight, I make my own decisions about my marriage."

"..." Theresa did not make a sound.

Jimmy now had Rose on his side. It seemed that she could not be persuaded by anyone.

Charlie looked into Rose's eyes, "You have made up your mind?"
