

Marry Ex's Uncle After Divorcement

Chapter 451-500

Chapter 451

Rose answered firmly, "Yes! I have thought through this. No matter how uncle opposes or suppresses him, I will always be by his side."

Pat sat aside and gazed at his daughter who was giving him a headache.

Eugene said, "Rose." He felt that Rose was too irrational.

Rose continued, "Uncle Charlie has someone he likes, so he protects her at every turn. I have someone I like as well! I'm not cold-hearted! You may not like Jimmy, but I love him and I will be with him. I've thought about it. He's not welcome in this family, then I will go back to the Watsons with him after this."

Charlie looked at Pat, "What do you think, brother?"

About Rose and Jimmy's marriage, Charlie and Pat shared the same view. Neither of them was convinced that Jimmy was a reliable man. They want Rose to get out of this quagmire sooner rather than later.

Pat glanced at Rose and committed himself, "If you have decided, then it's up to you.

However...you need to understand one thing. There's no way I'm letting Jimmy back to the company. Also, I don't think we'll have him around the Calsises' house again! If you follow him, are not able to take care of you."

we

Some people just don't turn back until they reach the dead end. She would not believe and learn. until she tried by herself.

Rose insisted unswervingly, "I understand." This time the conflict being so severe and Charlie being so angry, it was already not easy for Jimmy to save his own life. As for the rest, she didn't bother to think about it.

Pat reluctantly sighed inside as he looked at her and her look of determination.

Theresa stared at Rose. She felt her fingers pinched together.

After Rose finished speaking, she left the restaurant and went upstairs.

Charlie glanced at Theresa and asked, "What's wrong?"

"Nothing." Theresa relaxed while hearing Charlie's question. Just watching what Rose was doing reminded her of her stupidity in the past. Why hadn't she realized the things that everyone could see clearly? Rose walked upstairs, casually packed up some stuff, and then came out.

When she stepped out, she saw Theresa standing at the door, as if waiting for her. She initiated the conversation. "Aunt Theresa."

Theresa cast her a look. "You are really going back to the Watsons with Jimmy?"

Rose queried her, "What does aunt mean by saying this after all this time? You are not planning. to sow discord between Jim and me again, are you?"

Theresa realized that before she even spoke, her intention had already been defined as sowing discord. What she originally wanted to say could not be articulated in the face of Rose now. Speaking of which, Rose was more like an enemy to her. Whether she was doing well or not had not much to do with her.

Just then, the servant helped Jimmy out of the room. He had already been neatly dressed, and when he saw Theresa, his eyes darkened. "What are you doing here?"

Theresa looked straight at Jimmy, twitched the corner of her lips, and taunted him. "I'm here to observe your comeuppance. How does it feel to be beaten up?"

Jimmy peeped out a sneer when he heard this, "Don't stay complacent for too long. Theresa, Charlie has already stood up, and now it's not me but you who should be worried! He used to like you because he was in a wheelchair. Now, will he still like you?"

Don't tell me you are naive enough to believe that a woman like you can be the wife of Charlie Calsis? You'll suffer the consequences sooner or later."

Jimmy's warning made Theresa's expression freeze. How could she not understand what Jimmy said? She had thought about it over and over long before today. Once Charlie stood up, they would no longer be the same as before.

Chapter 452

Chapter 452

Once he integrates into the new life, he will gradually lose interest in her.

Rose walked over to Jimmy's side, and softly said, "Let's go home!"

Jimmy stared at Rose. "They let me go?"

Rose nodded, "Yes."

The servant helped her carry Jimmy down the stairs and sent him to the car. She took a look at Jimmy and reached out to help him button up his clothes, then she said, "I'll get you a doctor as soon as we go back."

Jimmy didn't want her to be worried, so he comforted her. "Don't worry, I'm not gonna die."

Charlie had beaten him and the injuries were not minor, but none of them were fatal.

Having been suffering from the pain all night he now had come round!

Theresa returned to the room of Leonard and Ben. She cleaned up the room of the two little ones.

when Charlie appeared at the door in a wheelchair.

He watched Theresa cleaning up and later coughed to remind her of his existence.

Theresa turned back and saw him sitting in the wheelchair.

'Sure enough, she thought to herself, I feel a bit more at ease when he is still in a wheelchair."

She said, "We haven't done our acupuncture today, have we? Let's go back to the room."

Charlie rejected the proposal. "Let your senior apprentice come over."

Theresa heard his words and raised her eyebrows disapprovingly. "Why, you don't trust my skills. nowadays?"

Charlie said, "Aren't you feeling sick? I'm afraid you're tired."

"Don't worry, I'm fine." Theresa assured him, "I'm just having a sore throat, it doesn't affect me acupuncture."

She followed Charlie back to the room and gave him acupuncture treatments. The way he suddenly had stood up yesterday startled her. His muscles could be relaxed right through this. kind of treatment. Charlie sat beside her, staring at her face. Obviously, he was not touching her, but just his staring eyes made Theresa very uncomfortable.

She looked up at him, "Do you mind closing your eyes?"

With his beautiful eyes wide open, Charlie asked, "Why?" His tone was somewhat innocent.

"Close your eyes. Do as you're told." She felt uneasy being watched by him.

Charlie grinned when he heard it. He realized that she was shy from being stared at by him, so he closed his eyes cooperatively.

After finishing the treatment, Theresa raised her head to scrutinize the face of this man. She found that he was unbelievably good-looking with his eyes closed. She resisted the throb in her heart and went away to drink water. Before she finished her work, Brenda came, "Theresa, your parents have arrived."

Theresa said, "Let them stay in the living room, I'll be right down."

She finished the closing and turned to Charlie and asked, "Are you just going to stay here, or should we go down together?"

"Together."

Johnson sat next to them, drinking water while Leah chatted with Brenda.

Sarah sat in her corner, her expression was not very good, as she had not intended to come here. She was importuned by her mother.

Leah insisted that Charlie had stood up and asked her to come to see it, so she had no choice. but to come over. She wanted to see how that crippled could possibly get up from his wheelchair! Just then, someone came out of the elevator, Sarah raised her head, thinking it was Charlie, but it was Eugene.

"Eugene!" She stood up excitedly. She didn't expect this surprise after having been importuned by her mother and come here unwillingly.

Chapter 453

Chapter 453

Having noticed Sarah, Eugene lost the luster in his eyes, "Why did you come here?"

"I heard that my sister was injured. I came to see her. How is she? Is she okay?"
Although she hated Theresa to death, in front of Eugene, she had always been a gentle and lovely girl. She was trying to behave.

Eugene glanced at Leah and Johnson on the couch, supposing they should be Theresa's family.

He said, "I still have something to do!" Then he pushed Sarah away and left directly.

Sarah watched him stride out, wishing to keep up with his pace, but he didn't even turn his head back, not giving her attention.

It made her so depressed! What was he? A cold fish!

Leah uttered, "Who is that?"

"My boyfriend." A future boyfriend, that doesn't count as a lie!

"..." Leah asked in surprise, "Since when you got a boyfriend?" She even had a boyfriend!

Sarah said confidently, "He is not my boyfriend yet, but he will be in the future."

Leah glared at her she had been totally taken aback.

At the same moment, Charlie and Theresa came downstairs. Charlie sat in a wheelchair, and Theresa followed him.

Seeing that Charlie was still sitting in a wheelchair, Sarah sneered inwardly, knowing that her mother had lied to her. Like she said, how could Charlie get back on his feet?

"Dad." Theresa walked up to Johnson and greeted him, in a hoarse voice that was not at all like her own.

Charlie reached the couch, and Theresa helped him sit down on the sofa. She now wanted

Charlie to rest well instead of overusing his muscles. Charlie had been sitting in a wheelchair for almost two years. Even if he can stand up on his own, he should take it slow so as not to strain and hurt himself Johnson looked at Theresa and said, "Are you alright?"

Theresa said, "I'm fine, you don't have to worry too much. What truly matters is that you take good care of your body." Theresa said and sat down beside Charlie.

"Where is Jimmy Watson?" Johnson was quite concerned about Jimmy's whereabouts.

Seeing that it was really hard for Theresa to talk, Brenda replied for her from the side, "He was beaten up by Mr. Calsis and has now gone back to his own home."

Theresa nodded, "Right."

Leah sighed. "the Watsons have really gone too far. They have bullied us a lot in the past few years. Every time they visit, they humiliate our Old Johnson, yesterday too. Who knows whether they will start trouble in future after we let go of him like this?"

"What is the point of being afraid of him?" said Sarah, "If I have been there yesterday, I wouldn't have let him get away with it."

Theresa watched Sarah talking with bravado. She stayed quiet.

Leah said, "But Charlie, with you around, we can rest assured. Jimmy seems to be quite afraid of you." Thinking of how Charlie managed to overpower Jimmy yesterday, Leah secretly felt impressed. It's just a pity that...such an excellent man had been occupied by Theresa.

Charlie listened to them and said, "How you are doing has nothing to do with me. All I care about is Theresa."

Chapter 454

Chapter 454

Charlie glanced at Theresa with a gentle look in his eyes.

Leah stiffened. 'Is Charlie really in love with Theresa?'

Upon hearing Charlie's words, Sarah grinned. "Theresa, I'm so jealous of you! You have such a good husband."

Theresa replied, "Thank you for the compliment."

Leah glanced helplessly at Sarah, not knowing what to say.

Charlie stared at Sarah.

Sarah asked, "Charlie, why are you staring at me?" The last thing she wanted to do now was to see Charlie. She was afraid that he would dump Theresa and ask her to marry him! Therefore, she wondered if he liked her whenever he looked at her.

Charlie asked Johnson, "Is it true that Sarah is now in charge of Cameron's Group?"

Sarah froze and wondered why Charlie mentioned this. "What does it have to do with you? My dad is not well. It's only right that I share his burden." She was annoyed by his question.

Charlie said, "You're right, but you shouldn't cause problems. Cameron's Group is now in a critical period. It can't compete with other local brands even if I don't do anything. It was the industrial leader before, but it's a fact that it's fading. Mr. Cameron, I know you're not well, but do you really think it's appropriate to leave your company in the hands of a girl with no experience?"

Charlie's words embarrassed Johnson. He had to admit that Charlie was right. Cameron's group was indeed fading. He could only glance at Sarah.

Leah defended Sarah quickly, "Sarah is now organized. Theresa is too busy with the children to help with the company. Sarah will help her father with the company. We can only rely on Sarah now."

She was the one who put Sarah into the company. She had to defend Sarah. She had thought that as long as Johnson kept silent, no one would dare to say anything, including Theresa, but to her surprise, Charlie intervened. "Theresa must have said something bad about us to Charlie! Shame on her! Her divorce from Jimmy has damaged the company's image. How dare she come back and steal her father's company? In her dreams! I'll never let it happen!"

Charlie asked, "Sarah is not Mr. Cameron's biological daughter, nor does she have a degree. -She wasn't even a good student. Are you sure she can manage such a big company?"

Leah answered, "Sarah is studying now. As for whether she's Johnson's biological daughter, she has come to the Cameron family with me and she's a Cameron. Johnson has always treated her as his biological daughter. Mr. Calsis, is it appropriate for you to say such things as a son-in-law? It's a family matter. I wouldn't say anything if the company was failing, but it's getting better since Sarah joined, isn't it, Sarah?"

Sarah nodded proudly. "Yes, it is." She turned to Theresa. "Theresa, why don't you just concentrate on getting better? I'll take care of the company. I'm not a child anymore. I can share Dad's burden."

Chapter 455

Chapter 455

In fact, the company was getting better mostly because of Charlie's investment. It would get better no matter who managed it. After all, Charlie's investment was a very good thing for the company. However, Charlie was right. The company would go bankrupt sooner or later if they only relied on investment and didn't look for a change.

you think so Charlie looked at Johnson, who remained silent. "Well, Mr. Cameron, it looks like too. Sorry I overstepped, but if the company is still like this in two months, I'll withdraw my investment. I don't want to waste my money Sarah, I'm looking forward to hearing from you." He glanced provocatively at Sarah.

Sarah shouted, "Charlie, you're taking it personally, aren't you?" She didn't think he would have said that if she hadn't joined the company. She believed he was giving her a hard time because he was jealous of her.

Charlie raised an eyebrow. "You can spin it that way."

Sarah snorted. "You're so naive! You gave me the agreement and said you wouldn't pester me anymore, didn't you? You still want me to marry you, right?"

Charlie was speechless.

Johnson glanced at Sarah.

Sarah sneered, "Save your breath. I won't compromise no matter what you do. It's easy to run a company. I just didn't have the opportunity to present myself before. I'll make a difference! Just wait and see!" She stood up and walked out.

Leah felt a chill down her spine. She wasn't sure the company would be back on track in two months. She had thought Charlie wouldn't watch the company go bankrupt. She was completely stunned when Sarah boasted.

When Sarah walked out, Leah apologized to Charlie, "I'm sorry. She's too willful. I'm going to check on her."

Charlie didn't say anything.

Johnson stayed behind.

Theresa glanced at Johnson and said to Charlie, "Charlie, you can go. I want to talk to my dad."

Charlie gave her a look, moved to his wheelchair, and left.

Johnson already knew that Charlie could stand up. Looking at Charlie's back, he found it a bit funny. "Isn't Charlie able to stand up? Why is he still in a wheelchair?"

Theresa said, "He can indeed stand up, but he's not fully recovered. I told him to recuperate so he doesn't get hurt."

Johnson nodded. "That's right."

Theresa offered, "Dad, why don't you stay for dinner? Leonard and Ben are back. You can spend some time with them."

Johnson refused, "Don't bother. Charlie doesn't like me. I don't want to cause you any trouble."

Theresa chuckled. "What makes you think that? Charlie is nice."

Hearing Theresa compliment Charlie, Johnson was worried. "Do you like him?"

Theresa didn't deny it as she had done last time but nodded. "Yes, dad, I like Charlie very much. I want to be with him all the time."

Johnson sighed. "I think he's nice too, but now he can stand up. He's not the same as when he was in a wheelchair. Aren't you afraid he'll change his mind?"

Chapter 456

Chapter 456

It was the second time Theresa had heard that. She gave a smile. "I don't think so." She had had this thought before, but what happened yesterday made her feel that Charlie was quite good to her. She was happy and didn't want to bother thinking that much for now.

Johnson said, "Men are fickle. I know Charlie is nice, but are you sure he won't mind what happened with you and Jimmy? Alas... I do hope you get along. I don't want you to get hurt again."

He was sad to think of what had happened to Theresa. She had always been obedient and sensitive, but she had married Jimmy and ended up being hurt badly. It was so frustrating! Sometimes he even blamed God.

Seeing Johnson on the verge of tears, Theresa laughed. "Come on, it's part of growing up. I'm doing well now!" She had learned that Pat had fired Jimmy. She got hurt this time, but it ended well. Johnson said, "I'm leaving."

"I'll walk you out." Theresa stood up and walked Johnson out the door.

In the car, Leah asked Sarah, "How could you talk to Charlie like that?"

Sarah asked rhetorically, "How do you want me to talk to him? Mom, if you want me to please the cripple like Theresa, I'd rather die. I'll never please him!"

Leah shouted, "You have to be polite to him! Don't you know our company relies on him now?"

"Didn't he invest because Theresa married him? What are you afraid of with Theresa around? Don't worry. I'll get the company back on track on my own. We'll never have to please him. again." She clenched her fists. She had studied business to impress Charlie. She couldn't believe she couldn't even manage a company.

Leah sighed and was about to say something else when she saw Theresa and Johnson coming out.

The door opened. Johnson got in the car and said to Theresa, "Go back."

Theresa nodded. "Get home safe."

"Hmm," Johnson replied.

Sarah stared at Theresa and suddenly giggled.

Theresa looked at her. "What are you laughing at?"

"Nothing. You and Charlie are so close. I'm really happy for you." Sarah averted her eyes and ordered the driver, "Drive!"

After they left, Theresa went back upstairs and saw Charlie reading a book. She sat down next to him and looked at him. "Don't take Sarah's words to heart."

"What words?" Charlie turned the page.

Theresa answered, "The things she said to you."

Charlie didn't care about it at all. "Why should I be angry with an idiot?" He thought it was ridiculous when Sarah thought he threatened her with the company because he wanted to marry her.

Chapter 457

Chapter 457

Theresa looked up and gave Charlie a kiss on the cheek. "You're cute when you curse."

Charlie looked at her lips with deep eyes. He couldn't resist leaning in to kiss her and saying, "Reward."

Theresa looked at him with a smile. She had been so frightened by Jimmy yesterday that she felt very happy with Charlie today. She wanted to be with him every day!

Sarah and Leah sent Johnson home first and then went to the office together.

On the way, Leah said to Sarah, "Cameron's Group is now supported by Charlie. Other companies work with us for his sake. You have to be polite to him!"

"Why?" Sarah looked indifferent. "I'm not Theresa who can't live without a man. Don't worry! I know what to do."

Leah asked her, "What are your plans?"

Sarah answered, "This is the Internet age. Everyone likes to shop online. Dad's too old-fashioned and rejects the Internet. I had the staff start an online shop the other day and it's working out great.

Leah said, "There are so many online shops. What's our advantage?" She had thought about it, but she didn't think it would be very profitable. The problem was that their company's design was too old-fashioned for the market and far behind other companies!

At that moment, the assistant came in. "Ms. Cameron, Mrs. Cameron, there is a sudden snowstorm in the south. Other companies are going to donate. Are we in?"

Leah said impatiently, "Why bother? They have so much money. It's only right for them to donate! No one will care if we donate or not."

The assistant nodded and turned to leave.

Sarah suddenly shouted, "Wait."

"Ms. Cameron." The assistant looked at her.

"We're in."

"How much?"

"How much did Blue Tower donate?" Sarah asked.

Blue Tower was a leader in the apparel industry and had the highest sales every day.

The assistant answered, "I heard they donated 80 million. It's nothing to them. They made billions last year." They could only envy.

Leah suggested, "How about two million?"

"No," Sarah said, "we'll donate eight million too."

Leah was shocked. "Are you crazy? We lost hundreds of millions last year and are still losing money now! Charlie and Theresa are keeping a close eye on you and trying to get you out of the company. Your dad won't let you!"

"Mom, please! I'm doing it for the good of the company. I'll go beg Theresa if something goes wrong. I just want to take a gamble this time."

"But we don't have that kind of money!"

"We don't have to donate it all at once. We can do it in installments!"

"What's the point?"

"Trust me." Sarah turned to the assistant. "Get the accountants and executives in here for a meeting."

Leah looked at her in disbelief!

At Calsis's Residence, Theresa and Charlie were chatting when Jonathan walked in and handed Charlie an agreement. "Mr. Calsis, there is a snowstorm in the south. This is a donation agreement to the disaster area."

Chapter 458

Chapter 458

Charlie took it, scanned it, and signed it.

As one of the largest groups in the country, Calsis's Group donated hundreds of millions every time there was a natural disaster.

Jonathan had drawn up the agreement and Charlie just needed to sign it.

Jonathan said as Charlie handed the signed agreement back to him, "By the Group also donated money."

Charlie glanced at him. "Sarah? I didn't think she was so kind."

way,

Cameron's

Sarah had always been very stingy. Every time Calsis's Group donated, she would say it wasn't necessary. Therefore, Charlie had always despised her.

Jonathan replied, "Yes. Mr. Cameron is at home. Sarah and Leah are now in charge of Cameron's Group."

"Whatever! At least it's a good thing," Charlie was mad at Sarah, but he didn't have to get involved in this.

Jonathan added, "She donated 80 million!"

It was normal to donate money, but Cameron's Group couldn't afford 80 million at all.

Stunned, Charlie asked Jonathan, "Are you kidding me?"

Jonathan handed him a phone. "Here's what they posted on Twitter. I don't know what she's thinking. The company doesn't have that much money." Blue Tower also donated 80 million, but it was nothing to them. He thought Sarah was out of her mind!

Charlie narrowed his eyes and said to Jonathan, "Get back to work."

Jonathan nodded, walked out, and closed the door.

Charlie glanced at Theresa. "What do you think?"

Theresa was browsing Twitter on her phone.

It was so shocking that Cameron's Group donated 80 million, so many people left comments and it became a trending topic.

[OMG, didn't they lose so much money last year? They're so kind! Other companies are so stingy!]

[I'll go buy a pair of shoes from Cameron's Group later.]

Theresa handed her phone to Charlie. "She's efficient."

Sarah was the first to post the news on Twitter. Even Blue Tower hadn't reacted. Cameron's Group had managed to steal focus.

Because of the trending topic, millions of people watched the live stream of Cameron's Group's online shop in the evening and sales went through the roof.

At the dinner table, Theresa was peeling shrimp for the two children when Jonathan came over and reported it.

Charlie's lip curled. "Not surprised."

Jonathan said, "She's really something. Other companies hate her so much!"

"Why?" Theresa gave Jonathan a look.

Chapter 459

Chapter 459

Jonathan replied, "She donated so much that other companies are scolded no matter how much they donate."

It was a good thing no matter how much those companies donated, but some unreasonable Internet users would criticize them.

"They're all crazy!" At Watson's Residence, Gentry Palmer, Luna's husband, shouted as he came Luna asked, "What happened?"

Gentry yelled, "The Cameron family is crazy!"

Gentry was also in the apparel business. He donated 20 million, but he was criticized. The streamers of his online shop cried during the live stream. Some Internet users called them ungrateful. He wondered why he was scolded after donating so much!

Luna shouted, "Isn't Cameron's Group going bankrupt? How dare they?"

Gentry looked at her, "Where's Jim? How's he?"

"He's in his room."

"I'll go check on him." Gentry asked Jimmy for advice every time something happened to the company. Now he could only ask Jimmy for help!

Luna said, "He's hurt badly. Charlie almost killed him."

"Charlie did go too far, but Jim shouldn't have offended him!" If it were anyone else, he would have avenged Jimmy, but it was Charlie! He told others that he and Charlie were relatives and they respected him as soon as they heard Charlie's name. He didn't lie since Jimmy and Rose were married and Charlie was Rose's uncle. While walking, he mumbled, "Why is Charlie so mad at him? I have to go apologize to Charlie. We can't offend the Calsis family."

"What are you talking about?" Luna was sad for Jimmy and was furious when she heard Gentry's words.

Gentry ignored her and went straight to Jimmy's room.

Jimmy was sitting on the bed and Rose was sitting next to him feeding him water.

"Jim." Gentry walked in.

Jimmy looked very haggard. His face was bruised but still handsome. "Gentry, you're back."-He coughed as he moved a little.

Gentry said, "Don't move! I just came to see you. Sorry I'm late. I was busy today."

"I'll leave you guys to talk." Rose picked up the glass and walked out.

Gentry sat down, asked Jimmy if he was all right, and told him about Cameron's Group.

Jimmy said, "They're so cunning to hype their donation. We all know what's going on but we can't do anything about it. It must have been Charlie's idea!" He was sure Charlie had given the idea to the Cameron family for Theresa because Johnson wasn't that smart.

Gentry asked, "What are we going to do? Should I donate more money?"

"What's the point? They'll just call you hypocritical no matter how much you donate. Just focus on your own brand," Jimmy advised.

Chapter 460

Chapter 460

Gentry nodded. "You're right, but I'm so angry."

Jimmy reassured him, "They'll forget about it in a few days. Cameron's Group will go bankrupt sooner or later if the quality of their products is poor."

Gentry said, "That's a relief. I knew I could count on you!"

Jimmy lowered his head and pursed his lips silently. He knew he was capable and had worked on many projects in Nandlall's Group over the years, but Charlie could ruin him at any time if he made a mistake. He couldn't take it.

Gentry told him to get some rest and went out.

Jimmy subconsciously clenched his fists.

Ten days later, it was Johnson's birthday. Charlie had thrown him a birthday party before, but he had just wanted to piss off Jimmy's father Eric Watson. Johnson just planned to have dinner with his family this time. At the entrance of the hotel, Eugene was stopped by Sarah as soon as he came out. He was tired of being pestered by her. "Have you no pride?"

Sarah sneered, "Why are you so angry? You should be grateful that I like you."

"Thank you, but I'm not interested in you. I like someone!"

Sarah blinked for a moment and asked incredulously, "Who is it?"

"None of your business." Eugene couldn't help but smile at the thought of Cristina.

Sarah caught a glimpse of a hickey on his neck and grabbed him by the collar. "What is this?"

Eugene pushed her away with a frown. "Get a hold of yourself."

Sarah laughed out loud. "Eugene Oneill, who do you think you are? You're just a bastard!" She couldn't restrain her anger at the thought of him having sex with another woman! "Don't get cocky. Charlie was a lot better than you before he broke his legs. You're nothing compared to him!"

She thought Eugene was blind! She had thought she would get him sooner or later. She hadn't expected him to be so ungrateful. She had recently increased sales and made hundreds of millions for the company. She thought she was an investment genius. However, Eugene still despised her!

At the mention of Charlie, Eugene sneered, "Do you have any kind of relationship with Charlie? If I remember correctly, his wife is Theresa!" He didn't understand why Sarah mentioned Charlie. He even suspected that she was crazy.

Sarah's face darkened. "Of course! I'm not with him because I don't want to! I can go back to him whenever I want." She believed she was much better than Theresa!

Chapter 461

Chapter 461

Eugene pursed his lips. "Really? I'd love to see that."

Sarah glared at him. "Just you wait, bastard!" In a rage, she walked to the car parked in front of the hotel, got in, and ordered the driver, "Drive." She never wanted to talk to Eugene again!

Because it was Johnson's birthday, Sarah went straight home.

Leah saw her when she got off at the gate. "You're back."

Because of Sarah, the company had been doing well lately. Leah was happy and not as worried about Sarah as she used to be.

"Where's my dad?" Sarah asked.

"In the living room!"

Johnson was sitting on the couch in his suit in high spirits. After a few days of rest, he was much better.

"Dad," Sarah walked in and greeted him.

Johnson gave her a look. "You're back."

Sarah sat down. "Isn't Theresa back yet?" She could feel that Johnson was treating her much better since the company was back on track. She was looking forward to how Theresa and Charlie would react when they saw her! She had proven that she was capable! These days, millions of people shopped at their shops. The old brand became a big hit and sales went through the roof. She had never been so proud in front of Johnson. Johnson said, "They're on their way. There's a lot going on at work lately. Don't wear yourself out." Sarah replied, "I'm fine. It's my job to share your burden."

Johnson looked at her and said with relief, "Sarah, you've finally grown up."

Sarah grinned.

Just then, they heard a car stop at the gate.

Johnson said, "It must be Theresa and Charlie!" He stood up and went out to meet them.

Sarah followed him out, eager to see Theresa's reaction.

The car pulled up at the gate. Theresa got out of the car first and then carried Leonard and Ben down.

Charlie had given Theresa permission to bring Leonard and Ben. They had never been to Johnson's birthday party, and Theresa was sorry about that.

Leah also came out and stood beside Sarah. Seeing the two children, she exclaimed, "Why do these two children look so much like Charlie?"

Sarah explained, "Charlie had them with another woman."

Leah breathed a sigh of relief. "I thought it was those two bastards." Theresa's two children couldn't look so much like Charlie. It turned out that their mother was someone else.

Sarah said, "It's a good thing I didn't marry Charlie, or I would have been annoyed by them." She found it ridiculous that she hadn't known Charlie had children with another woman before.

Theresa brought the two children over and said to them, "This is Grandpa."

Chapter 462

Chapter 462

"Grandpa," Ben spoke up.

"Leonard," Theresa reminded Leonard, who kept silent.

"Grandpa," Leonard muttered.

Theresa frowned at him. He was too indifferent!

Sarah was surprised Theresa didn't bring her own children. Speaking of which, Theresa had never shown up with her children. 'Is she afraid to let Charlie see her children? How ridiculous! Why should she please the cripple like that?'

Johnson asked, "Where's Charlie?"

Theresa glanced back at Charlie in the car. "I'll go get him."

She walked back to the car and glanced at Charlie. "What are you doing?"

Charlie glanced at her unhappily, "You didn't wait for me."

Theresa was speechless. He had been normal and nice to her when her throat hurt before. Why was he giving her a hard time now? He was so narrow-minded! "Get out. Everyone is waiting for you! Give me the cake." She hadn't known what to get Johnson and had made a cake for him at home with the children. Charlie picked up the cake and got out of the car. After such a long rest, he didn't need a wheelchair anymore. Sarah was about to mock Theresa when she saw Charlie get out of the car by himself! He even carried the cake in one hand and held Theresa's hand tenderly in the other. Leah had told her that Charlie was able to stand up, but she didn't take it seriously. The last time they met, he was in a wheelchair at Calsis's Residence. It was shocking that he could actually stand up!

She stiffened. She hated Charlie and felt he was a cripple and unworthy of her, but the moment she watched him stand up, she was suddenly jealous. Charlie was better than Eugene in appearance, family background, ability, and height, but he was now Theresa's husband! 'It's not fair!' She clenched her fists.

Johnson offered, "Let's go inside."

In the living room, Leah took the cake from Charlie and laughed. "That's so kind of you!"

Theresa said, "The children and I made this cake together. Happy birthday, dad!"

The Watson family had ruined the last birthday party. Today they were going to celebrate properly.

seats!"

Johnson gave a happy smile. "Thanks. Take your Ben and Leonard sat down on the couch.

Theresa and Charlie also came over and sat down.

Charlie took off his trench coat. He was wearing only a black suit without a tie, but he shone like a star. Staring at him, Sarah thought he was dazzling. She hadn't seen him like this in a long time. She felt herself falling in love with him and wanting to get his attention again. However, he was now holding Theresa's hand like he was afraid she would run away.

Chapter 463

Chapter 463

Sarah asked stiffly, "Charlie, you can stand up?"

Charlie glanced at her and nodded. "Why? Are you disappointed? After all, I'm a cripple in your eyes, aren't I?" Embarrassed, Sarah turned scarlet and then white.

Leah explained quickly, "Charlie, Sarah used to be childish. She didn't mean it. It's all in the past! We're all so happy for you.

Charlie replied, "It's okay, Ms. Cameron, if you hadn't spurred me on, I probably wouldn't have stood up!" Sarah couldn't help but clench her fists.

To break the awkwardness. Leah offered to make dinner.

They sat together and lit candles. The two children sang a birthday song for Johnson.

Sarah watched Charlie pour water for Theresa and feed her. She had never seen him so gentle with a woman. It was like he was doing it on purpose in front of her. She admitted she was irritated. She had been with him for so long but he had never been so gentle with her. Theresa had only been with him for a short time. 'She doesn't deserve it!' Jealousy welled up in her heart. She couldn't help but stand up and leave the dining room.

In the room upstairs, Sarah sat down on the couch, her hands lightly clasped, her face pale, and her lips quivering. 'What am I going to do? I can't go on like this! Is Theresa being so nice to him because she knew he'd be able to stand up? She's so mean!' She had just achieved something at work. Now Charlie could stand

She was afraid she would be left far behind by Theresa again! She wouldn't allow it!

Theresa and Charlie had dinner with Johnson downstairs. They were just about to leave with the children when Sarah came downstairs. "Theresa."

Theresa glanced up at her. "Yes?"

"I have something to tell you. Let's talk."

Theresa glanced at Charlie. "Take the children and wait for me in the car."

Charlie nodded, glanced at the two children, and took them out. The three of them looked great together.

Theresa followed Sarah upstairs and asked by the window, "What do you want to say?"

Sarah bowed her head in front of her, her hair almost blocking her face. In a low voice, she questioned, "Did you know Charlie could stand up?"

Theresa wasn't surprised. "What's the point of you asking me that now?"

Chapter 464

Chapter 464

Sarah sneered at Theresa. "Tsk, ts, you knew Charlie could stand up so you ingratiated yourself with him.

That explains it."

"If it makes you feel better to think that." Theresa was not surprised by Sarah's reaction. She knew Sarah was angry at this point because she hadn't smiled all night. She was embarrassed every time Sarah taunted Charlie. They guessed correctly. Sarah regretted it when she learned that Charlie could stand up! Sarah complained, "Why didn't you tell me earlier? Did you steal Charlie from me on purpose?" "What are you talking about?" Theresa stared at Sarah in disbelief. 'I stole Charlie from her? How ridiculous!" "Yes! You didn't get along with Jimmy so you grabbed the opportunity to marry Charlie. I knew you were not that good! You must move out of Calsis's Residence! Dad said he'd let me marry Charlie as soon as I got back. I was childish before. Now I'm going to marry him. You don't have to replace me!" Sarah shouted in a commanding tone.

Theresa was stunned. "Are you out of your mind?" Sarah should at least ask Charlie if he wanted to marry shouldn't she?

her,

Sarah sneered, "Stop lying to yourself! Do you really think Charlie likes you? He's only being nice to you to piss me off. I know he loves me. He was very nice to me when we were together. I admit I was wrong before. He'll definitely forgive me if I make it right again!"

"You're so confident." Theresa laughed. She hadn't expected Sarah to be so cheeky.

Sarah snorted. "Of course. Anyway, I'm cleaner than you, a mother of two. Charlie is a neat freak. He won't touch a woman who isn't clean. If I'm right, he hasn't touched you, right?"

Theresa was completely shocked by Sarah's words. She knew Sarah was mean, but she was still irritated! She denied it, "Who said that? Do we need to report to you?" Charlie couldn't move his legs before, so it was normal that they didn't sleep together, but it didn't mean they would never do that. She believed that Charlie was not like Sarah said he was. She could feel that he loved her!

Sarah said sarcastically, "Theresa, you're lying. You rarely lie so I can see right through you. There's no shame in it. After all, Charlie has turned down so many better women than you. It's just that he's too picky. You'd better leave on your own. You'd be embarrassed if he kicked you out."

Theresa clenched her fists to resist the urge to hit her and forced a smile. "You don't have to say that to me. After all, there's no way Charlie will ever forgive you." She turned away, went downstairs, and walked out. It was raining outside. Without an umbrella, she had to run to the car.

Charlie was watching Leonard and Ben talking intently. Seeing that her hair was wet, he handed her a towel and asked softly, "Is it raining?"

Theresa took the towel. "A little."

"What did Sarah say to you?" Charlie was curious about what they had talked about.

Chapter 465

Chapter 465

Theresa's lips curled. "She asked me if I had known you could stand up and blamed me for not telling her earlier."

"She's insane. Don't take it to heart!" Charlie was in a good mood at the thought that Sarah was now very angry. Theresa wiped the water off her hair and Charlie took the towel naturally. He was very sweet and loving toward her.

Theresa stared at his handsome face. "Charlie."

"Huh?" Charlie looked at her with a concerned look in his eyes.

Theresa asked, "Did you ever like Sarah?"

Charlie frowned and glared at her in disgust. "Ow! It's disgusting!"

"I'm curious about it. You were together, after all. Don't tell me if you don't want."

"Of course not. I never liked her," Charlie said firmly.

"Then why were you with her?" Theresa asked curiously.

"Because of Grandpa. He wanted me to marry a woman from the Cameron family! I thought it would be the same to marry anyone so I might as well grant his wish." He just hadn't expected Sarah to run away from the wedding. He was resentful at the thought of Grandpa getting dementia because of her. Fortunately, now he could stand up. He only hoped that Grandpa would get better soon.

Theresa was satisfied with his answer. She sat up straight and looked out the window. It was raining and the car was moving slowly. It suddenly occurred to her that Charlie had married her partly because of Grandpa. 'Does he like me?' The question was pointless. She had known what love was. It made no difference whether he liked her or not.

Soon they returned home. The two children went in first.

Old Mr. Calsis was still awake and Leticia was talking with him on the couch. Seeing Theresa, he waved with a smile. "Sarah, let's play chess."

Charlie reminded him, "Grandpa, this is Theresa." He was frustrated that Grandpa had been calling Theresa by the wrong name lately. He knew Grandpa was confused and mistook Theresa for Sarah, but he still wanted to correct him.

"Sarah, come here!" Old Mr. Calsis ignored him and just stared at Theresa.

Leticia said to Theresa with a smile, "He can't stop talking about you! Just play with him for at while or he won't go to sleep."

Theresa nodded. "Sure. Grandpa, let's go play chess."

Old Mr. Calsis stood up excitedly. "Great."

Theresa and the two children went with him to play chess.

Charlie stared after them and sat down.

The butler helped set up the pieces. Theresa and Old Mr. Calsis sat down.

Theresa spoke up, "Grandpa."

"Huh?" Old Mr. Calsis placed the pieces on the board carefully.

Theresa continued, "Will you call me Tess instead of Sarah?"

"Why?" Old Mr. Calsis gave her a puzzled look. "You're Sarah."

Theresa was frustrated. I'm not Sarah. Sarah has come back. Do you like her that much?" She knew Old Mr. Calsis was confused, but she minded being called Sarah and wanted him to correct himself! Old Mr. Calsis grinned. "I like you."

Theresa's lips curled into a smile.

Chapter 466

Chapter 466

Theresa admitted that she was a little narrow-minded. She was a little afraid and wondered who Grandpa would like when Sarah showed up. After all, Sarah was the one he had been talking about.

After a while, Leonard yawned, but he watched very carefully. It seemed that he was very interested in chess. As for Ben, he had fallen asleep on Theresa's lap. The butler came over and said to Old Mr. Calsis, "Let's go to sleep! Mrs. Calsis is going to put the children to bed."

Old Mr. Calsis glanced at his great-grandchildren with a smile. "All right." He was already very happy. The butler smiled at Theresa. "Good night, madam."

Theresa nodded, picked up Ben, and said to Leonard, "Come on, honey, let's go to bed."

"Mom," Leonard asked as he followed Theresa, "is Ben heavy?"

Theresa replied, "No."

"Then why did you say I was heavy when you held me last time?"

Theresa was speechless. She hadn't expected Leonard to remember this.

Leonard asked, "Will you sleep with me at night?"

"I don't know." Theresa hadn't slept with Leonard in a long time. She was afraid Charlie would be suspicious.

Suddenly, she had the urge to tell Charlie the story of the children. She took them to their room for a bath and put them to bed before returning to the bedroom next door.

Charlie was taking a bath. He leaned on the side of the tub topless and looked up at her. His wet hair made him look very sexy.

Theresa's heart pounded. She looked away subconsciously.

Charlie asked, "Do you want to join me?"

"No. I'm tired," Theresa refused.

"Come here," Charlie invited her in a gentle voice.

Theresa looked at him and refused again, "I'm really tired." She was afraid she would get a nosebleed if she took a bath with him. She could barely contain herself and could only go out.

Charlie stared after her and sighed. They had been married for so long, but she still didn't see him as her husband! He could sense that she was a very alert person. They had been together for so long and he had been so good to her, but she had never said she liked him.

Theresa went to the cloakroom to get her pajamas. Soon Charlie came out and she went into the bathroom to take a shower. When she used body wash, she remembered Sarah's words, "Charlie hasn't touched you, right?"

They had been married for a long time. At first, it had only been an agreed marriage, but Charlie had asked her the other day to stay with him all the time. 'He's not going to divorce me again, is he? Should I let down my guard? Theresa took a deep breath as if she had made up her mind before walking out of the bathing room.

Chapter 467

Chapter 467

When Theresa came out of the bathroom, Charlie was leaning on the pillow with his phone between his long fingers as if he was waiting for her. She sat down on the edge of the bed and looked at him.

Charlie put the phone down and looked at her. "Let's sleep."

Theresa nodded and got into bed. Charlie got close to her quickly.

It was winter. Although there was heat in the room, Charlie still liked to sleep with Theresa in his arms. He had gotten used to it. He felt at ease only when she was in his arms. He couldn't resist kissing her tenderly on the face.

Theresa clutched his sleeve nervously. She had just made up her mind in the bathroom, but she was still a little nervous. She had been married to Jimmy and was now the mother of two, but she had little sexual experience. because Jimmy was impotent!

Charlie kissed her for a while. As a normal man, he had a lot on his mind and couldn't resist caressing her, but mind?"

he felt her stiffen. "What's on your

Theresa blinked for a moment. "Nothing."

Charlie smiled at her and kissed her on the forehead. "Let's sleep."

Theresa had expected him to continue. After all, his hands... To her surprise, he suddenly stopped. "Don't you want to continue?"

"Didn't you say you were tired?" Charlie remembered what she had just said. He knew she had done a lot today.

Theresa murmured, "Actually I... I can..." Now that she had decided to stay with him, she had to let him know what she was thinking, but she was still embarrassed when she said that.

Charlie just said, "Sleep." He knew she didn't like him that much. He was not in a hurry. He could wait. He felt sorry for her once he thought about Jimmy beating her. It was normal for a woman who had been through that to hate men. He wanted her to accept him in her heart instead of pleasing him with her body. Theresa wanted to say something else, but Charlie lay back down and closed his eyes. In his arms, she stared at his handsome face and felt his reaction, wondering why he had stopped.

Unable to sleep, she stared at the ceiling with wide eyes. Sarah's words still rang in her ears. 'Does Charlie think I'm dirty?' Charlie was the son of the Calsis family and had always been clean, but what about her? Both her body and heart were a mess.

The next morning, Theresa got up early.

Chapter 468

Chapter 468

It was winter and Theresa didn't have that much to do after marrying Charlie, so she had been sleeping in a lot lately. Sometimes the Calsis family even had to take the children to school. She went to the gym and ran on the treadmill for a while. She hadn't slept well last night. She thought it was because she had been so idle lately and that exercise would help her relax and calm down.

Leticia walked over. "Theresa."

Theresa slowed down the treadmill, wiped the sweat off her face, and looked over at her. "Mom."

"Dad is going to the hospital today for a checkup. Robert, Charlie, and I all have things to do. Will you go with him?" It was clear that she had made Theresa a member of the family and had begun to give her tasks.

Theresa nodded. "Sure."

Leticia sighed. "I'm so worried about him. He was so angry and upset that he fell ill when Charlie had his accident. It would be great if he could get better!"

Theresa reassured her, "Grandpa will get better. Don't worry. I'll go with him to the hospital."

Charlie's legs were getting better and she didn't need to give him acupuncture every day. She was free today.

Leticia smiled with relief. "Thank you."

Theresa nodded. "It's the least I can do."

When Theresa came back from the gym, Charlie was sitting by the window on the phone with his laptop in front of him. She glanced at him and went to the bathroom to take a shower.

Charlie had finished his call when she came out. "Why are you up so early?"

Theresa wiped the water off her hair. "I haven't exercised in too long so I went to the gym."

Charlie offered, "Bring me next time."

Theresa looked over at him. "Okay." She dried her hair, went to the cloakroom to change, and sat down on the couch. "Mom asked me to go with Grandpa to the hospital for a checkup." "Thank you." Charlie handed her a glass of water.

Theresa took it. "No problem."

Charlie stared at her with a smile. He even thought she was glowing. "I have a meeting in the morning. We can have lunch together if it goes well."

"Don't bother. It's the end of the year. You must have a lot to deal with. Are you having your annual meeting this year?" Theresa asked.

"Yes." Calsis's Group was involved in many industries besides film and real estate. Charlie had been invited by all the branches to attend their annual meetings. He had been very busy lately. "Go ahead. Winter break is coming up. I'll spend time with Leonard and Ben."

Charlie nodded. "You're so sweet." He was touched that she was being so nice to his children.

Under his grateful gaze, Theresa wanted to tell him the truth, but she didn't say anything in the end. She had hidden the secret for too long. It was difficult for her to confess to him.

After breakfast at home, Theresa accompanied Old Mr. Calsis to the hospital. Roderick was in charge of the hospital and came to see them.

Theresa and Roderick stood outside while Old Mr. Calsis was being examined.

"Have you told Charlie about the children?"

"Not yet."

"When are you going to tell him?" Roderick turned to look at Theresa.

Chapter 469

Chapter 469

Theresa asked, confused, "Do I have to tell him? I like where we are."

"You'd better tell him sooner if you want to be with him. Charlie can stand up now. What are you worried about? You should be honest with each other, right?" Roderick was worried about them.

Theresa bowed her head. "Since Charlie is getting better, I don't think I should pester him."

Roderick froze. "Why?"

"He used to be nice to me because he couldn't stand up and he didn't have anyone else around. He always thought he could stand up because of me, but you know I was just lucky." Theresa felt that any acupuncturist would have cured Charlie but he credited her and took care of her.

Roderick explained, "Charlie likes you."

Theresa chuckled. "You're both from big families! Would you like a woman like me?"

Roderick was mesmerized by her smile. He blinked for a moment and averted his gaze. "I don't know."

"Is it true that Charlie has always been picky?"

"Yes," Roderick said, "he's had a lot of suitors since he was a kid, but they say he doesn't like women because he's too picky."

"So why did he choose me?" Theresa muttered, staring at the billboard on the wall.

Roderick didn't say anything. He wasn't Charlie and couldn't say anything on his behalf.

Soon Old Mr. Calsis came out. The two of them stopped talking and took him to another examination room.

At noon, Charlie finished his meeting and came out of the elevator just in time to see Sarah standing outside.

Both he and Jonathan were surprised.

Seeing him, Sarah didn't walk away as she had done before. "Charlie."

Charlie looked at her with one hand in his pocket. "Yes?"

"Guess what I'm doing here?" Sarah bit her lip and looked at him with sparkling eyes.

Charlie glanced at Jonathan.

Jonathan understood what he meant. "Ms. Cameron, you're not welcome here. Please leave."

Sarah ignored Jonathan and teased Charlie, "Do you think I'm here to see you? I'm here to talk about work. My company has been doing well lately. I've decided to pick an artist in your company to be the spokesperson. It's a rare opportunity for your artists, right?"

Cameron's Group was hot right now. People were still snapping up their products. If they announced a spokesperson at this point, it would be a win-win situation.

Charlie turned to Jonathan. "Why should we work with such a terrible company?"

Jonathan nodded. "I'll deal with it."

Sarah could tell that Charlie despised her. "Charlie, are you still angry? I know I was wrong. Look, I'm here now. You're a shareholder in my company. It's in your interest that I pick a spokesperson from your company.

Come on, if you're still angry because of what happened before, I apologize to you. How about I buy you dinner?"

Many people gathered around while they were talking.

"Isn't that Sarah?"

Chapter 470

Chapter 470

"Why's she here?"

"Didn't she run away from the wedding? How dare she come back to Mr. Calsis?"

Everyone was stunned. After all, Sarah had posted the agreement from Charlie on WhatsApp Moments the other day and announced that she and Charlie no longer had any relationship. Now Charlie could stand she came to see him. She was so cheeky!

up and

Sarah turned a deaf ear to them. She just stared at Charlie. She might as well please Charlie than Eugene. Charlie was better than Eugene. She had made mistakes before, but she believed that Charlie would forgive her as long as she apologized! After all, she had been his fiancée. She was confident that she was much better than Theresa!

Charlie sneered at her and walked straight away.

Sarah followed him. "Charlie, Mr. Calsis, please forgive me! Please! Give me a chance to apologize to you, okay?"

Jonathan stopped her. "Mr. Calsis let you go because Mrs. Calsis. Stay away from him or no one can save you!" He was shocked by how cheeky Sarah was.

Sarah snorted. "Mrs. Calsis? You mean Theresa? Charlie, don't you want to know who the father of Theresa's children is?"

Charlie stopped at the door.

Sarah pushed Jonathan's hand aside, walked toward Charlie, and stared into his eyes. "She cheated on Jimmy and had children with another man. Don't you want to know who it is?"

"Do you want to die?" Charlie looked at her. "Theresa didn't cheat. Watch your mouth!" He had always believed that the Watson family had slandered Theresa and that she had never done such a thing.

Sarah laughed out loud. "She told you that? She's a really good actress! Unfortunately, it's true. You must be dying to know who the man is. Do you think I'll tell you? No way!" She wagged her tongue at him and walked straight out. She even hummed proudly.

Charlie got into the car with a gloomy face.

Jonathan gave him a look. "Mr. Calsis." He understood why Charlie was so angry. The rumors of Theresa's cheating were all over the place. They both felt that the Watson family had slandered her. After all, he knew she was a good person. However, she did have two children. She had been with the Calsis family for a long time, but she kept her children hidden even though Charlie asked her to bring them back. He had no idea why she was hiding them.

Chapter 471

Chapter 471

When Charlie arrived at the restaurant, Theresa was sitting by the window with her coat on the back of the chair. In a sweater, she fed Old Mr. Calsis sitting across the table and he ate very carefully. Charlie came over, pulled out a chair, and sat down next to her.

Seeing him, Theresa gave a bright smile. "Charlie."

Charlie replied, "Hmm."

Theresa called the waiter and picked up the menu, "Look at the menu."

Charlie scanned the menu, ordered two random dishes, and kept staring at her.

Theresa was a little uncomfortable. "Why are you staring at me? Do I have something on my face?"

Charlie chuckled. He shouldn't have taken Sarah's words to heart, but he was curious about Theresa. He wished she would tell him everything honestly. After all, he really wanted to be with her.

Charlie asked as Theresa sipped her soup, "How is Grandpa?"

"The doctor said he is much better now."

Charlie glanced at Old Mr. Calsis and said with a smile, "He's gotten more sober and rarely made a scene since you've been here."

Old Mr. Calsis had really been yelling and making a scene.

Theresa smiled back. "I'm lucky." She thought it was just a coincidence and that she was so lucky.

Charlie asked, "By the way, when are you bringing your children home? You said they were at your dad's, but I didn't see them there yesterday." He had just realized that he really hadn't seen her children at Cameron's Residence. 'Why didn't she bring them out on her dad's birthday? Was she afraid I'd see them?'

Theresa choked on her soup and coughed. "Why do you bring this up all of a sudden?"

"I just think children should be around their mothers. You've been focusing on Leonard and Ben lately. You should care about your own children! I told you I would treat them as my own children no matter who their father was. You don't have to hide them," Charlie said sincerely.

It reminded Theresa of the lies she had told him. He had rarely mentioned it and she had almost forgotten. Now she got so nervous that she felt her heart pounding. In fact, she had wanted to tell him about it recently. She didn't want to hide the secret anymore. It was so exhausting. However, she hesitated. She was afraid Charlie would hate her and lose interest in her. She didn't think he would fall completely in love with her. Even Roderick, who had always wanted her to be with Charlie, sounded unsure today. She looked at Charlie, lost for words momentarily.

Chapter 472

Chapter 472

Theresa gave a smile to calm herself down. "They're at my aunt's. They're having a good time there. I'm not going to pick them up anytime soon since I've been busy."

Charlie glanced down at his soup and put down his spoon with a grim face.

Theresa was a little scared. "Charlie..."

Charlie sighed in disappointment. "Am I not trustworthy at all in your eyes? Am I not qualified to see your children? I just want to see them. I mean no harm. You've been so good to Leonard and Ben and they love you. I wish I could do something for your children. Why won't you even let me see them?"

Theresa felt aggrieved. How could she tell him that Leonard and Ben were her children?

Charlie remembered Sarah's words and asked, "Are you hiding something from me?"

Under his questioning gaze, Theresa swallowed nervously. "Charlie, just give me some time, okay? I'll tell you everything when I figure things out." She needed to figure out if she wanted to stay with him.

Charlie asked, "So you really are hiding something from me, aren't you?" He was curious about what kind of secrets her children had.

Theresa lowered her head to avoid his eyes. His eyes were so sharp like he could see right through her. She bit her lip and muttered, "I don't know how to tell you right now. Just give me some time."

Charlie stared at her. He knew she had suffered a lot and Jimmy had been a big influence on her, so he tried to understand her as best he could, but now he hesitated since she wouldn't be honest with him. He wondered if the woman in front of him was real and if she was really innocent in her marriage to Jimmy. Perhaps because of Sarah, he no longer trusted women completely and sometimes doubted himself. "Let's eat." He didn't push her anymore.

After lunch, Charlie left without offering to give Theresa a ride. He was usually very gentle with her but today he was cold.

Theresa knew he was unhappy. She was used to it. She and Old Mr. Calsis took the elevator downstairs. The Calsis family's driver was waiting for them. She told Old Mr. Calsis, "Grandpa, go back first. I have something to do." She wanted to go out for a walk.

Old Mr. Calsis reached out and stroked her hair. "Sarah, don't be sad. I'll teach Charlie a lesson." He thought Theresa had been bullied by Charlie and he wanted to protect her.

Theresa giggled. "Thanks, Grandpa." She just felt so tired and wanted to go for a walk. Maybe this way she could figure out if she wanted to stay with Charlie. After helping Old Mr. Calsis to the car, she took a taxi to Cristina's office.

Chapter 473

Chapter 473

Cristina came downstairs and saw Theresa sitting in the cafe. "What's wrong, honey? Did Charlie bully you again?" She could sense that Theresa and Charlie were getting along well lately, but Theresa's surprise visit still made her nervous.

Theresa looked up at her and gave a wry smile. "Would I become what I was if Jimmy disappeared from this world?"

Cristina froze, wondering why she had such a terrible thought. "Do you want to kill him? No, no, no, it's not worth breaking the law for that bastard. Calm down! You have two sons and Charlie loves you so much. What makes you think that?"

"When do you get off work? Let's go for a drink," Theresa offered. She always felt that Jimmy caused everything. She never wanted to see him again!

Cristina said, "I can go right now. Just a minute. I'll go tell my boss." Her boss had been very nice to her lately and had allowed her to take time off whenever she asked. Maybe it was because the Calsis family had come to see her.

Soon Cristina went upstairs to ask for leave and took Theresa to a place that was a bar at night and a barbecue restaurant during the day where all the waiters were handsome.

Cristina stared at the handsome guy who was roasting meat for them with sparkling eyes.

The waiters in this restaurant wore nothing but aprons on their top half.

As the handsome guy walked away, Cristina grabbed Theresa's hand and said excitedly, "Do you like it? I read about this restaurant on the Internet a long time ago. I've always wanted to bring you here, but you've been with Charlie lately. The waiter was handsome, wasn't he?"

"He's nowhere near as good as Eugene." That waiter just had a good body. He was not even close to Eugene.

Cristina rolled her eyes at Theresa. "Come on! Why did you bring him up? Now, tell me. Why does it make you want to kill Jimmy? Hasn't Charlie been with you lately?"

Theresa said, "I think Charlie minds my marriage to Jimmy. He won't even touch me." She didn't want to think about it too much, but it was true. If she were Charlie, she would probably mind.

too. After all, he could have married a better woman. They were just in an agreed marriage and they weren't responsible for each other.

Cristina's eyes widened. "Why? How could he do that? He defended you when Jimmy hit you and I thought he was brave. I overestimated him! You'd better break up with him soon! You deserve a better man. Seriously, you didn't do anything wrong. It was Jimmy's fault. If Charlie doesn't feel sad for you, I really hope you break up with him. You wouldn't be happy with such a narrow-minded man."

She really wanted Theresa to be with a very nice man. At least he couldn't be like Jimmy. 'Charlie has gone too far! Theresa cured him but he turned against her! Shame on him! Charlie deserves better!' Theresa looked at her. "Do you really want me to break up with him?" She was hesitant, but Cristina's words swayed her.

Chapter 474

Chapter 474

Theresa thought she was right to feel uneasy.

Cristina replied, "Of course. You married him and cured him. How could he turn against you?"

Does he think you can't leave him? No way!"

Theresa sighed. "It's my job to cure him. I didn't expect him to accept me." If it had been anyone else, she would have done the same. Besides, Charlie had paid for it and helped his father's company.

Cristina said, "Then break up with him right now. I'm telling you, men will get in your way. I used to want you to stay with him, but now he's unreliable. Don't be stupid. It will only get worse." Theresa had expected Cristina to comfort her, but she got even more depressed. Maybe she really should leave Charlie. They had agreed that she would divorce him as soon as he got better. It was just that she was touched when he defended her in front of Jimmy. 'How ridiculous.' She picked up a glass of beer and drank it in one gulp.

Cristina reassured her, "Don't worry. You can find a better man. Don't feel bad for him."

Theresa nodded. "Hmm."

At that moment, Cristina's phone rang. She glanced at it and saw that it was a message from Eugene. [You're not at the office?]

[None of your business. I'm eating out.]

[Where are you?]

[Why should I tell you?]

Cristina was now annoyed with Eugene. She had been threatened by him because she was afraid that he would reveal Theresa's secret. She didn't have to be afraid of him anymore since Theresa was breaking up with Charlie. Of course, it could also be because of liquid courage. It was afternoon when Eugene arrived. It had been more than three hours since Theresa and Cristina entered the restaurant. Cristina had posted the restaurant's address and pictures of some handsome waiters on WhatsApp Moments.

Eugene looked around and noticed that the customers were all women. He walked over and shouted at Cristina, "Cristina!"

Cristina heard him and looked up, her face red and her look lost. "Hi, handsome!" She stood up, put her hand on his chest, and stroked it. "Pecs... I love pecs..."

Eugene was speechless!

Theresa was asleep on the table. She was completely drunk.

Eugene could only settle the bill. He had never thought he would spend money in such a place one day. He got the two women into the car and decided to send Theresa back to Calsis's Residence first.

Chapter 475

Chapter 475

Eugene called Brenda out and pushed Theresa to her. "Theresa is drunk. Take her to rest."

"I'm not drunk. Let go of me." Theresa struggled, obviously drunk.

Brenda called a maid over and helped Theresa into the house.

Charlie was in the study. Jonathan came out just in time to see Brenda and a maid helping Theresa out of the elevator.

Jonathan asked, "What happened to Mrs. Calsis?"

Brenda said, "She's drunk. Mr. Oneill brought her back. I don't know what happened. I'm taking her to rest." She had no idea why Theresa had drunk during the daytime! It had never happened!

Jonathan went back to the study and looked at Charlie. He knew Charlie was upset because of what Sarah had said so he and Theresa had ended up parting ways after lunch, but he also knew Charlie liked Theresa and wanted them to untangle the knots. "Mr. Calsis, Mrs. Calsis is back drunk."

Charlie looked up at him. "She drank?"

"She's completely drunk. Eugene sent her back."

Charlie frowned in confusion. "Why were they together?"

"I don't know."

Charlie stood up and went to the bedroom next door, where Brenda had gotten Theresa into bed. Theresa sat up as soon as she lay down. "I'm uncomfortable."

Brenda asked, "Do you want some water?"

"I want to throw up." Theresa frowned.

Brenda had to help her into the bathroom.

When they came back, Theresa lay back down. Brenda tucked her in and saw Charlie as she looked up. "Mr. Calsis."

"How is she?" Charlie walked over.

Brenda replied, "Mrs. Calsis is drunk."

Unlike Cristina, Theresa was quiet when she was drunk. She just lay still in bed sleeping with her eyes closed.

Brenda stood up and was about to leave when her hand was grabbed. "Mrs. Calsis."

"Mom..." Theresa mumbled.

Brenda smiled. "Looks like she's really drunk. Mr. Calsis, if there's nothing else, I'm going out." She thought Charlie had something to say to Theresa, so she put Theresa's hand down and walked out. There was just Theresa and Charlie left in the room. Charlie walked over to the bed and looked grimly at Theresa. She had never been drunk. It was still daytime! "Why did you drink?" He was upset that she was drunk. He felt aggrieved that she didn't care about him at all! Theresa didn't answer. She slept very quietly.

Charlie found her cute when she slept. He sat up and pulled her up. "Theresa."

Theresa didn't struggle but took his hand. "Mom, I miss you..." She acted like a child'

Charlie frowned slightly. His heart softened at once. He knew Theresa's mom died early. "Talk to me. Don't play dumb. You're a mother. What will your children think when they see you like this?"

Chapter 476

Chapter 476

"So noisy." Theresa frowned in disgust.

Charlie looked at her face pressed against his hand, trying his best to hold back his anger. He thought it was useless to blame her at this time and surely she was not sober, so he simply put her back on the bed and covered her with the quilt, deciding to wait until she woke up. However, he covered the quilt and was ready to leave when she tugged on his hand, "Mom, don't go."

Theresa grabbed him so hard that he had to sit back on the edge of the bed and just looked at her, wondering why he was deeply attracted by her, even though she was a divorced woman with two children. "Bad girl." He mumbled and his heartbeat accelerated uncontrollably while watching her. He wondered if she had put a spell on him.

"Water." She slept for a while and started calling him. Charlie was watching her intently and didn't move. Theresa asked again, "Mom, I want some water." Without any response, she puckered up with a grievance. But at this time, Charlie actually felt she was cute and he also couldn't understand why he was obviously angry, but now he was still accompanying her. Charlie was confused at the thought, but he stood up and went to get Theresa a glass of water and came back. He fed her water and she immediately fell asleep again. He didn't expect her to treat him as a servant, but he didn't have the heart to wake her up, just reaching out and giving her a little pinch. It was Jonathan who finally came to call him and he left.

In the study, Jonathan looked at Charlie and asked, "Mr. Calsis, have you made up with Ms. Cameron?" Hearing this, Charlie gave a dismissive laugh, "Why would I want to make up with her?" Since she didn't care about him, and he didn't want to talk to her as well! He felt it was not worthwhile to help her, even wanted to kill Jimmy for her as she didn't pay attention to him.

Jonathan said, "So, are you going to divorce her?"

Charlie glared at him with extreme discontent.

he couldn't

Jonathan felt that he had said something wrong and explained, "Earlier, when you were still sitting in the wheelchair, you told her that you would divorce her when you recover. Both of you had signed an agreement. that you have the right to divorce at any time..." "I'm just reminding you." Jonathan added and make it clear whether Charlie would like to divorce Theresa or not. Charlie sat aside and said to Jonathan, "Do you think she still wants to divorce me all the time?" Otherwise, why would she not let him see the two children? Charlie thought about it all afternoon and could only come up with this answer.

Jonathan said, "I don't think so, right? You have recovered now and treat her so well that if she still insists to divorce you, she must be a fool."

"Do you think she is smart enough?" Charlie sneered, "I used to think the same as you." He even worried that Theresa might haunt him, but it turned out that she just wanted a divorce. She was different from Sarah because Sarah was unaware that he was able to stand up, so she wanted to stay away from him. But Theresa had known he would recover, yet she still chose to flee away without flattering him.

Chapter 477

Chapter 477

Jonathan listened to Charlie's words, feeling that Theresa was a fool. For a moment, he didn't know how to continue. He also would like to blame her but he didn't dare to do so.

Charlie signed the contract and handed it to Jonathan, "Go ahead."

Leaning back in his chair, Charlie suddenly frowned when he checked his phone.

It was not until night that Theresa was awakened by Leonard and Ben.

Leonard got on top of her and was kissing her on the cheeks.

Ben said, "It's my turn!"

Leonard ignored him and continued to kiss her.

Theresa leaned back on the pillow and gazed at Leonard lovingly, who had taken advantage of her drunkenness to do whatever he wanted. "Leonard."

Leonard sat on the bed and looked at her with resentful eyes, "You didn't pick me up today."

Ben looked at Theresa, "Mom, are you drunken?"

Theresa recalled that she and Cristina had gone out and drunk heavily. She sat up and held Ben away from her, "I'm going to the bathroom."

Ben said, "Oh, I'll go to call my Dad." He got out of bed and ran off in a huff.

Theresa also wanted to ask why he needed to call Charlie but Ben had left. Since they lived here, Ben got along with Charlie splendidly.

Leonard sat aside and asked her, "Why did you go drinking?" He was only four years old, but his face was extra serious.

After Theresa washed up, she walked out to see Charlie standing in front of her, asking with the same tone and expression as Leonard, "Why are you going for a drink?"

She was speechless and answered casually, "Just a few drinks."

Ben had called Leonard out, and now there were only Theresa and Charlie in the room. Charlie deduced that it was Charlie that asked the two babies out and he was ready to give her a lesson.

Charlie said, "Do you know how did you come back?"

"How did I get back?" She sat on the bed and looked over at him. She couldn't remember at all and wondered if Charlie picked her up. She recalled that Cristina had taken her to a special bar, then... Thinking for a while, she said, "Thank you for picking me up."

Charlie stared at her and sneered, "Enough!" She didn't even know how she got back, and she dared to go out and drink like that!

Theresa was a little embarrassed by his gaze, "I'm an adult, and it is normal even if I drink some wine, right?"

Mr. Calsis, you make me feel scared." She thought he shouldn't blame her because he had left alone at noon. Charlie said, "You shouldn't get drunk like that in the future." He was meant to teach her a lesson, but he felt helpless because it seemed Theresa didn't want to argue or quarrel with him.

Theresa nodded indifferently and didn't say anything.

Chapter 478

Chapter 478

After meeting Cristina today, Theresa was much firmer to divorce him.

Charlie was about to go out when Theresa called out to him, "Charlie, I need to talk to you."

He looked back at her and said, "Are you ready to explain to me about the babies?" He was waiting for her explanation and he thought both of them needed to be honest and sincere with each other, otherwise he wouldn't let her go..

Theresa was speechless by his words.

Just then, Leonard led Old Mr. Calsis over. Old Mr. Calsis stood in the doorway, looked at Charlie, and abused, "Charlie, did you bully Theresa again?"

Leonard stood aside, staring at Charlie with defensiveness. It was he that invited Old Mr. Calsis here because he was smart enough to know who Charlie's nemesis was in this family.

Charlie saw Old Mr. Calsis and walked over to him, "Why are you here?" He lowered his head and looked aside. at Leonard, "You called him?"

"Don't bully my mom." Leonard glared at him as if he were a bad man.

Feeling his resistance, Charlie turned to Theresa and said, "Leonard seems..."

"What's wrong with him?"

"Same as you." He felt Leonard was influenced by Theresa and not only Theresa was unsure of him, but also Leonard thought he was a bad guy.

Theresa was almost amused at Charlie's words, "Same as what?"

"Hate me all the same." Charlie said, "Theresa, you're the one who taught him that."

"Whatever you think," Theresa said and she thought it was all his fault that he treated Leonard badly, causing Leonard didn't love him. She walked out and said, "Leonard, let's go out to eat. I'm hungry." She was afraid the little guy would fight with his dad! After all, they were really too annoying each other.

When Theresa came downstairs with Leonard and Ben and Old Mr. Calsis, Leticia had dinner ready, and when she saw Theresa coming down, Leticia said, "I was just about to find you!"

Theresa apologized in shame, "I'm sorry I slept until now."

Sitting down in the restaurant, Leticia looked at Theresa, "I heard you came back drunk. Who did you drink with?"

"A Friend of mine." Theresa didn't want to mention Cristina because the Calsis family did not have a particularly good impression of Cristina and they felt that Cristina had not cared about her children. Leticia was not angry about this because it was not a big deal. Charlie came down along with Pat.

Rose followed Jimmy to the Watson family since he was injured last time and had not returned. Pat was alone at home so he came over this afternoon to have a meal with his family.

Charlie took a seat next to Theresa and the two didn't speak because neither was very happy.

Pat saw the couple didn't talk to each other and asked, "Did you fight again?" He seemed to enjoy watching the two fight.

Theresa didn't answer him.

Old Mr. Calsis glared at Charlie and said, "Charlie is bullying Theresa." He swore he would come back to teach Charlie a lesson for Theresa, and he really did. Theresa was dumb at Old Mr. Calsis' words, noticed Leticia and Robert looking over as well, and explained,

"Nothing."

Robert said, "You don't have to hide it for him. We believe in Old Mr. Calsis' words."

Chapter 479

Chapter 479

Owing to Theresa's care and help, Charlie could recover and stand up, so several elders of the Calsis family treated her very well, especially when the two were in conflict, everyone was blaming on Charlie. Theresa was helpless when everyone was misunderstanding Charlie.

Leticia said, "Charlie, we all know how good Theresa is to you. You should not imitate Jimmy, otherwise, we would definitely not let you go."

Charlie was speechless, "Are you still my real mom and dad?" He now couldn't help but wonder about his own birth.

Leticia said, "You're just a foundling."

Ben sat aside and heard the joke and looked at him with sympathy. He gave Charlie a piece of cucumber on his plate and said, "Daddy, don't cry."

Charlie glared at him, then looked at Theresa and said somewhat grimly, "I didn't bully her, and by the way, she wasn't nice to me." He was so nice to her, but she didn't even think of him, forgetting what he had done to her.

Leticia said, "Then what do you have to do to be good to you? Like Sarah? I heard that Sarah went to the company to look for you today, right? I know what she was calculating! I'm warning you, even if your father and I die, we won't allow you to marry her!"

Theresa, sitting on the sidelines, glanced at Charlie with some surprise when she heard this. If Leticia didn't mention it, she would not know Sarah was so bold to find Charlie.

Charlie heard Leticia's words and knowing what she cared about, and then he said, "It has nothing to do with Sarah."

Robert said, "Neither any other women."

Charlie, "Why do you think of me like a bad guy?"

"A man who treats his wife badly is a scumbag." Leticia said, "Your father and I have thought of getting you and Theresa married as soon as possible since you have recovered, otherwise other women like Sarah would disturb you."

Pat sat aside, looked at his parents, and said, "There's no need to be in such a hurry! Chandler hasn't been available lately, so let's wait until he is back! Otherwise, he should be very sorry to miss Charlie's wedding." "Don't worry, Chandler said he was able to come back for the holidays this year, and when he heard Charlie.

was getting better, he wanted to come back for a visit." Robert said.

Pat was a little surprised, "Awesome!"

Chandler was in the military so he rarely returned home. Leticia heard that Chandler was coming back, and she was very relieved, "He hasn't been back for a long time, and he's not married yet!"

Theresa sat aside, listening to they talk about topics she had no way of participating in, and just ate quietly.

Cristina and Eugene were also having dinner and the dinner was cooked by Eugene. Cristina sat down, wearing his T-shirt, and asked, "Where's Theresa?"

"At home." Eugene said, "You were both drunk when I arrived, so I sent her back."

Chapter 480

Chapter 480

Cristina said anxiously, "Who told you to send her back?"

Eugene heard Cristina's words and said, "Do you mean that I should take her home?"

Cristina said, "Of course, you should have just brought her back. Since she was drunk, I need to take care of her."

Speaking of this, Cristina clenched her fist and couldn't help but curse, "Charlie is a bastard!"

Eugene could not even understand her but he comforted her, "Cristina, calm down! I know Theresa is your best friend, but you shouldn't interfere with her marriage too much, otherwise you would be caught in the middle. "

"You don't know what happened at all!" Cristina sneered, "Theresa should just stay away from Charlie." "Why do you hate Charlie so much?" Eugene said, "I remember when Theresa was bullied by Jimmy, it was

Charlie who had helped her."

"So what?" Cristina said, "Theresa had even helped him stand up again!"

"Then they are in a good relationship, so you don't have to care about them." Eugene felt it was not suitable to interfere.

Cristina said, "If Charlie was good to Theresa, what could I say? However, he's a scumbag. Just like you! I don't want to talk to you anymore, I'm going back."

She finished and was about to stand up when Eugene said, "We rarely have the opportunity for a meal together. Do you have to do this?"

Cristina said, "Ugh, men. Leave me alone!"

"Why are you throwing tantrums at me?" Eugene looked at her in disbelief He tried to talk scene into her,

"Tell me, what has Charlie done that makes you so angry?"

"Humph," Cristina couldn't wait to pour out her troubles, "He resents the fact that Theresa was married to Jimmy before and has two children, don't you think that counts?" Every time when she thought about this, she really got angry.

Eugene was quiet for a moment after he heard Cristina's words. He originally thought there were only some minor conflicts between Charlie and Theresa, but it seemed... He looked at Cristina, who had stood up, and said, "Sit down."

"I'm going back." Cristina said, "I don't want to be here with you!"

"It is cold outside." Eugene coaxed her, "Cristina, stop it, you must be drunk, so just have a good rest." He felt it was much more difficult to comfort her after taking her home. She not only had vomited on his coat but also lost her temper after waking up. He said, "I'll go to see Theresa after dinner, okay? It is useless if you go back now, isn't it?"

Cristina heard his words, finally sat back, and said, "When you meet Charlie later, just scold him for me, got it?"

Eugene was speechless, although he and Charlie had known each other for a long time, he didn't dare to scold him, let alone Charlie was his leader. In anticipation of Cristina, he nodded anyway.

After accompanying Cristina to dinner, Eugene was pushed out the door by her. He stood in the doorway, looked at her, and asked, "Is it okay if I go to see her the next morning?"

"No, go now and see how Theresa is going." Cristina demanded, "She's in a bad mood and I'm worried about her."

#Chapter 481

Chapter 481

Chapter 481

Hearing this, Eugene sighed helplessly, "Then wait for me to come back." He was acutely aware that Theresa was much more important than him in her heart, but he was the one who had failed her at first, and he couldn't complain.

Since Eugene promised to visit Theresa, Cristina agreed to stay at his home. After Eugene watched her nod, he left.

Theresa had already finished her meal. She had little appetite after the alcohol, and she took Leonard and Ben upstairs to take a shower after dinner. Charlie followed her up and she asked, "Did Sarah go to find you today?"

Charlie asked, "What's up?"

Theresa said, "What did she talk to you?"

"What do you think?" Charlie looked at her with sharp eyes.

Theresa was stunned for a moment, remembering Charlie's reaction today, and realized Sarah might tell him something about Leonard and Ben. She really admired Sarah's talent in breaking people's marriage. She answered, "She is good at lying, so don't believe her words."

Charlie asked with a suspicious gaze, "Is that so?"

Uncomfortable by his stare, Theresa felt Charlie was unfriendly to her. She sheepishly averted her eyes and went into Leonard and Ben's room to bathe the two babies.

Leonard and Ben were only wearing shorts in the restroom, and seeing Theresa standing aside, Leonard said,

"Mom, you're not going out?"

Theresa said, "Can't I watch your bathing?"

"I have grown up now." He now had known what the difference between men and women.

Noticing Ben on the side looking at herself the same way, she said, "OK, I'll wait for you outside."

She stood in the doorway and didn't leave, listening to the two children chatting inside. Ben said, "Leonard, you think Dad was adopted?"

Theresa hadn't expected that they were still concerned about this topic. Leonard said, "I guess so." Or he wished, as he didn't like his father at all. "Daddy is so pathetic." Ben was concerned. Theresa remembered his words at dinner and nearly burst into laughter.

Charlie went back to his room, and received a message from Sarah after a shower. [Charlie, what are you doing?]

do

She was using a new cell phone number, but Charlie could recognize her at first glance. He didn't say anything and was about to blacklist her when Sarah sent another one, [Do you want to know who Leonard and Ben's dad is?]

She had thought that she had left suspense and Charlie would surely ask her, but he didn't even call, and now he was replying, [Not interested.]

Chapter 482

Chapter 482

Sarah said, [You really don't want to know, don't you?]

[Do you think I'll forgive you for what you did before if you say this?] Charlie replied, [Do you want to die?]

Eugene and [I don't want to die, I want you.] Sarah sent a cute emoji. [Eugene is their dad. Theresa used to be friends in college and they had known each other a long time ago. Eugene had been loving Theresa for many years.] Afraid that she would not be able to say it, she hurriedly told the truth.

The next second, Charlie directly blacklisted her, but Eugene had been deeply impressed in his mind. He didn't expect it was he but somehow he recalled that Theresa was sent back by him in the afternoon. He thought Eugene might not know what happened to Theresa since he was abroad, otherwise he would come back to help her.

"Mr. Calsis, Mr. Oneill is coming over." Jonathan knocked on the door and stood in the doorway. to inform him.

Hearing his name, Charlie was stunned. He stood up and went downstairs to see Eugene sitting on the couch, asking Brenda about Theresa, "Is Theresa awake yet?"

Brenda said, "She's already awake. She went back to her bedroom after dinner and should be with the two young masters at this moment."

Eugene nodded.

Charlie frowned, originally thinking that Sarah's words were outrageous, but at the moment, looking at Eugene's reaction, he couldn't help but think it was true. Eugene and Theresa both graduated from Serameton University. Now once he came back, he was so concerned about Theresa's affairs...

Charlie walked over and Eugene greeted him, "Good evening, Mr. Calsis."

Charlie sat down and asked indifferently, "Why are you coming here?"

Eugene himself didn't want to come over either, but he was forced by Cristina. He said, "Theresa was drunk this afternoon, so I came over to check on her. I just heard from Brenda that she had woken up, so I was relieved." Cristina would be relieved as well.

"Relieved?" Charlie stared at Eugene in front of him. He originally thought that his rival was Roderick, but he didn't expect that there was such a man waiting for him.

Thinking about it, Charlie was in a bad mood.

Eugene saw Charlie looking at himself, remembering what Cristina said, and asked, "Charlie, do you like Theresa?"

Charlie smiled drily when he heard him ask such a question, "Does it matter to you whether I like her or not?"

Eugene helplessly shrugged, sincerely advised, "Indeed, it has nothing to do with me. If you like Theresa, then treat her a little better. She had suffered a lot before and can not afford any hurt.

you don't like her, please set her free!" The reason why he said this was not only because of Cristina but also because he had known Theresa for a long time and worried about her, so he just advised Charlie could pay a little more attention to her. After all, Theresa was a pretty good friend and had a good relationship with Cristina, and he didn't bear to see her get hurt.

However, Charlie sneered at his words. His smile was a bit strange and scary, even Jonathan, who was standing on the sidelines, couldn't help but be startled when he heard his laughter. Eugene looked at Charlie and asked, "What's wrong with you?"

Charlie looked at Eugene, "Do you like Theresa?"

Eugene froze for a moment and said, "What are you talking about? How could I possibly like her?"

"Why you came over to see her in the middle of the night? Why did you ask me to set her free? Eugene, I really didn't expect that Theresa's lover is you!"

Chapter 483

Chapter 483

Pat came down from upstairs just in time to hear his words and was stunned for a moment. He heard about before Eugene went abroad he already had a girlfriend, but he didn't expect it to be Theresa. He was doubt that last time Theresa betrayed Jimmy was to get married to Eugene. Everyone in the living room was dumbfounded for a moment, all looking at Eugene surprisingly. Eugene saw everyone, including Brenda, staring at himself, asking, "Charlie, I don't know what you're talking about, you're thinking too much."

Charlie looked over at Eugene and was about to say something else when Pat came over, "What are you talking about?"

It was something related to Theresa, and Pat always hated Theresa, so in front of him, Charlie did not continue the topic, but just coldly said, "Nothing."

Pat said, "I just talked to Dad for a while and I'm ready to go back. Eugene, what about you?" Eugene glanced at Charlie and said, "I'm going back too. I'll talk to you later, Charlie." He finished and walked out the door with Pat.

Charlie looked at his back and sat down with mixed feelings. Although Eugene denied his relationship with Theresa, he was not convinced. He thought Eugene wouldn't admit it when he was still Theresa's husband. He kept suspecting that Eugene was the father of Theresa's children. Otherwise, what else would he have come here today to say this. If he and Theresa are just ordinary friends, his words had gone too far.

Theresa helped the two children finish bathing and dressing, and after the two little ones laid down in their beds, she looked at them and said, "Then you two go to sleep, I'm going out."

Leonard and Ben nodded.

Theresa finished greeting them and was about to go out when she saw Charlie standing in the doorway.

He looked at her with an icy look that startled Theresa.

Theresa took a look at the two children, walked out, closed the door to the room behind her, and saw Charlie's unfathomable eyes staring at her, wondering what he was thinking. She asked, "What are you doing?"

Charlie said somberly, "You've been refusing to let me see those two kids, is it because their father is Eugene?"

"What did you say?" Hearing Charlie's words, Theresa was shocked.

Charlie pursued the question, "Isn't that right?"

Theresa said, "Sarah went to see you today and told you this? And you believed it?"

She didn't expect Eugene was involved.

Chapter 484

Chapter 484

Charlie said, "I just want you to tell me the truth. Is it that hard?"

Theresa said, "You want the truth, but Sarah was lying. I wasn't in a relationship with Eugene and never had children with him."

With that, Theresa looked at Charlie. "Well, Charlie, what do you mean? Are you now saying that you believe I cheated when I was with Jimmy? You think I cheated with Eugene back then and that I was pregnant with his children?"

"So, how did you get those two kids?" Charlie looked over at her with a disappointed look on his face. "I would love to believe you, but I don't really know what kind of person you are right now and how much you are hiding from me. You were drunk in the afternoon, and Eugene took you back. If you weren't close, how could you have been drinking with him? He came back to you at night and asked me to be nice to you. And now you're telling me that you weren't in a relationship with him?"

Eugene had taken her back?

Theresa was a bit surprised, but she had gone for a drink with Cristina, so maybe Eugene and Cristina had taken her back.

But even so, that didn't justify him suspecting and insulting her like this.

Theresa looked over at Charlie, smiled, and simply stopped beating around the bush with him. "Charlie, let's break up."

She was really tired!

They weren't right for each other in the first place, so they would both feel tired if they stayed together.

She was different from him. She had such an unpleasant past while he was suitable for an innocent woman. Her past was bound to be a barrier between her and him.

He had believed that the Watson family was lying about her cheating!

Now, he started to believe them.

She loved him because he always trusted her. No matter how Jimmy tried to discredit her, he believed her.. However, it turned out that all people would change.

Just like Jimmy, even the most affectionate person would change at some point.

The more she trusted him, the more she would be hurt.

Hearing that she wanted to break up with him, Charlie was stunned and then laughed, "You've wanted to break up for a long time, right? So, you wouldn't tell me when I asked you about your children. Now that things have fallen through, you'll simply stop pretending!"

"Whatever you think."

After that, Theresa walked back to the bedroom.

Fortunately, she knew that they would have to break up sooner or later. She had always been sober. It was only during this recent period that she had a small extravagant hope in her heart. Now that she had realized what a bad idea it was, she was not very sad.

She wasn't a greedy woman, never!

Theresa walked into the door. Charlie followed her, asking behind her, "Do you really want to break up with me?"

Theresa stood by the bed and straightened the sheets. "Yes."

Charlie said, "You're a real piece of work! Do you know how many women want to marry me? They want a chance, but they can't get it. Theresa, you're the only one... You are the only one in this world! I've been so nice to you, but you still want to leave me."

"Then you can give them a chance," Theresa said. "Thank you for your kindness, but I'm not the one who can take it. Our marriage is a joke. Fortunately, we signed an agreement, so we can follow it."

She spoke calmly, but the calmer she was, the angrier Charlie got.

He found it incredible.

It turned out that she had lied to him!

She really had another man out there when she was with Jimmy. She had been lying to him while he trusted her! She was just a bitch, who was not as innocent as she appeared to be.

He should have divorced her and stayed away from her. However, his heart was broken when he saw how calm she was.

He loved her!

Did she even know it?

Maybe she didn't know at all!

Eugene was more her type than he was.

He looked at Theresa and asked, "Is it such a simple thing in your eyes for us to get married?"

Chapter 485

Chapter 485

"This whole thing wasn't supposed to be complicated." Theresa turned back to Charlie. "I promised to get Sarah back for you and I did it. Besides, for what my family owed you, I helped you with your legs and got you on your feet. Now, all you have to do is sign the divorce agreement and never give the Cameron family a hard time again... It's a good idea. Don't you think so, Mr. Calsis?"

She thought, "I'm so humble."

She had done everything, and now she was here to beg him!

She was afraid that he would give her family a hard time if he didn't like it.

He was so freaking powerful!

Charlie sneered when he heard her words. "Yes. Why not? You want it so much. Why should I not make it possible for you? Only, I have a condition for divorce..."

He didn't say what his condition was, so Theresa looked at him and said, "What condition?"

He walked up without answering her. By the time Theresa realized it, she was already pushed down on the bed by him.

Charlie looked at this heartless woman and found that he didn't deserve it.

He had always loved and respected her. He didn't want her to get hurt, so he had always stood in her shoes, afraid he would be too abrupt and scare her.

As it turned out, she didn't even know how hard it was to for him hold himself back from touching her when he slept with her every day.

He felt he was just cheap. Even when things were like this, he still wasn't happy to hear her talk about breaking up!

His first kiss was with her, and she was the one who teased him in the first place...

She did so many things like that to him that he had long taken her to his heart.

She had him in her grasp, and now she wanted to leave so easily. How was that possible?

Theresa was stunned as she looked at the man in front of her, feeling that her heart was pounding because he was so close to her.

Charlie's dark eyes were filled with something repressed that she couldn't understand.

When she reacted, the man had already lowered his head to kiss her.

He was not as gentle as usual. At this moment, his movements were even a little rough. She was kissed by him so much that it hurt, and felt his hand on her chest.

Theresa was somewhat shocked. She couldn't believe it. What was he doing? Was he out of his mind?

Feeling the warmth from his fingers, she was startled and started to push him away.
"Charlie!"

Shit!

What the hell was he trying to do?

Charlie was acting more boldly and aggressively than he had ever kissed her before!

It was not like he loved her. It was more like he was trying to insult her....

He thought she had cheated, so he treated her like a woman who was so easy?

He even wanted to insult her like this before the divorce?

Theresa tried to push him away several times, but the man on top of her didn't stop. Her hands were held down by him at the sides of her body because she was struggling.

Now that he was on his feet, he could bully her?

She found it ridiculous to the point that she couldn't hold back her tears after all...

Seeing her tears, Charlie paused and came to his senses all of a sudden.

He looked at her, only to feel a sharp pain in his chest. Was it so tough for her to be with him? Hehe...

After all, he was not worthy!

When he let go of her, Theresa struggled away and slapped him.

The slap left some marks on his handsome face.

She looked at him and said, "Are all men in the world like this, thinking that they are taller than women, so they can just bully women as they like? Charlie, you are disgusting!"

She thought he was different from Jimmy, but to her surprise, they were all the same!

Charlie stood up. He already had only a shirt left on him, which was undone except for the last two buttons.

Chapter 486

Chapter 486

He stood there and saw how angry she was... Then, he turned around, walked out, and slammed the door behind him.

Outside the door, he reached out his hands and covered his face. Was he crazy?

What was he doing?

He almost raped her just now...

If so, what was the difference between him and someone like Jimmy?

Theresa looked at the closed door, got up from the bed, and went into the bathroom where she washed her face.

When he came over, Jonathan saw Charlie sitting right there, and said, "Mr. Calsis."

Uh... What was going on here?

Even Jonathan, who knew nothing about it, sensed how serious it was when he saw what Charlie was like. So,

Charlie was kicked out by Theresa?

Charlie did not say anything. He went straight downstairs, with a terrible look on his face. Jonathan was so worried that he followed Charlie.

This night, Charlie did not come back.

Theresa was also up all night. She sat at the head of the bed in the light from above her head, lost in thought.

When she came back to her senses, she found that it was already dawn.

Leonard and Ben were getting their holiday soon. She got out of bed, planning to eat breakfast with them and take them to the kindergarten.

Leticia said, "Well, Charlie's not up yet?"

Usually, he would eat with Theresa.

Theresa heard Leticia's words and said, "He's not home."

Brenda said, "Mr. Calsis went out last night."

"Where did he go?" Leticia asked curiously.

The question stumped Theresa. "I don't know."

"Theresa, did Charlie bully you?" Leticia saw that there was no one else, so she said to Theresa, "I can see that he's usually quite nice to you. Did you two have a fight about Sarah? Don't worry. I'm telling you, we only accept you as a daughter-in-law in our family."

With that, Leticia glanced at Leonard and Ben next to her. The two children were eating well and obediently. Leticia thought that Leonard and Ben would not love any other woman so much. So, she really wanted Theresa to be with Charlie.

Theresa saw how Leticia trusted her and said, "I'm sorry, Leticia."

Even if the family was nice, she... was going to leave!

After all, if she stayed here, it was Charlie that she would have to live with for the rest of her life, not his family.

Now she just had to wait until Leonard and Ben were on holiday. Then, she would leave with them.

She would talk to the Calsis family about the children when she left.

She was the children's mother. The Calsis family had no right to say anything about it.

The children had stayed with the Calsis family for so long these days. She thought it was enough.

After all, she had raised these two little ones. The Calsis family hadn't done anything for the kids, so they had no right to ask for the kids from her, right?

Besides, Charlie didn't really like the two kids, and he even disliked Leonard!

When Leticia heard Theresa apologize so seriously, she raised the corners of her mouth. "What are you talking about? What's wrong? In the past, I was indeed harsh to you sometimes because of the kids, but now I see you as my own daughter."

Theresa said, "Thank you. I'll take Leonard and Ben to the kindergarten today."

Leticia now trusted her. "Okay! I can see that they want you to drop them off too. You have a bond with these two kids."

Chapter 487

Chapter 487

Theresa looked at the two little ones and raised the corners of her mouth.

Of course, she had a bond with them.

If not, she wouldn't have given birth to them after ten months of pregnancy.

As they were eating, Pat came over. He saw Leticia and said, "Mom."

Leticia saw him and found it strange. "Why are you here so early in the morning?"

Pat sat down across the table, gazed at Theresa, and asked, "Charlie is not home?"

"He went out last night. Maybe it's something urgent. You're just in time. Ask him what he's been up to." Leticia had asked Theresa, and Theresa wasn't sure. Pat was close to Charlie, so Leticia told him to ask Charlie.

Pat did not call Charlie. He looked at Theresa and said meaningfully, "I think you might as well ask Theresa about this."

"Theresa doesn't know where he's gone either."

Pat said, "It's no surprise. If I were Charlie and I knew my wife had two kids with Eugene, I wouldn't be able to handle it, would I, Ms. Cameron?"

He had wanted them to break up, but he had thought that it might take some time.

Unexpectedly, the chance came so soon.

Although Theresa had helped Charlie with his legs, Pat didn't think she was good enough for Charlie.

It was good for them to break up.

Charlie should be grateful to Theresa, but he didn't have to marry her.

He could give her something else to compensate.

Pat wasn't sure if Theresa would accept this!

Leticia was surprised to hear Pat's words. "What did you say?"

Pat hadn't said much, but Leticia understood. Theresa had two children with Eugene!

What the hell was going on?

Pat said, "You didn't know it, Mom? Theresa had another man outside when she was with Jimmy, and it was Eugene. They have two children!"

Theresa watched Pat talking with conviction, and her face darkened. "Mr. Nandlall, please watch your mouth!"

Holy shit!

Charlie had said that yesterday. She was so angry with that man!

Why did Pat come here today and say the same thing?

She had children with Eugene?

What a story.

Pat said, "It's not a big deal. It's all in your past. We don't have the right to discredit you, Ms. Cameron, no matter what kind of person you are. You helped Charlie, and for that, our whole family is grateful. Only... I hope you know that you and Charlie are not from the same world. He's very good, and you don't deserve him!"

-Theresa's lips twitched. She felt that she and Charlie were not right for each other, too. However, when she heard Pat say it, she still wanted to whack him so badly!

After all, when Pat said that, it was the same as humiliating her to her face.

It would be outrageous if she didn't get angry when someone pointed at her nose and humiliated her!

Theresa said, "Whether I deserve Charlie or not is no reason for you to discredit me here. Besides, did you ask Eugene about it before you said I had been with him?"

"Of course,

I did," Pat said. "Why else would I be here talking about this?"

"What are you talking about?"

Eugene was out of his mind?

He didn't have a grudge against her, did he?

Why did he have to slander her like that?

Theresa found it strange!

Chapter 488

Chapter 488

Pat looked at Theresa and said, "As I said, these are things from your past, and I'm not going to accuse you of them. It's just that now I feel the need to make it clear to you."

Theresa tried to say something and stopped when she saw that Leonard and Ben were staring at her. She didn't want to say it in front of the kids. Theresa stood up, looked at Leticia, and said, "I'll take the kids to the kindergarten, Leticia!"

After that, she took Leonard and Ben out of their chairs and got out of the dining room with them.

Theresa drove the car herself today. In the car, Ben asked, "Mom, are we really Uncle Eugene's kids?"

The corners of her mouth twitched as Theresa heard Ben's question. She said, "Of course not." How could they be Eugene's children when they both looked exactly like Charlie?

Theresa wondered why she was hearing these ridiculous things early in the morning.

Then again, Pat had always been mean to her.

Theresa didn't even know what to say when she heard it.

It was outrageous!

They were like a bunch of retards!

In the end, those who believed her would know it was a lie if they used their brains to think about something bad about her.

Those who wouldn't believe her would naturally hope that it was the truth when others said.

They would love to take the opportunity and discredit her!

Leonard said, "That's a pity. I think Uncle Eugene is much better than Badass Charlie."

Theresa was shocked when she heard what Leonard said. Especially, Leonard was saying that with a face exactly like Charlie's, and even his expression looked like Charlie's...

She found it ridiculous.

Theresa said, "Don't think too much! Be good for the next couple of days and don't say anything that you shouldn't say at home. We'll leave the Calsis family when I'm done with my business." Hearing this, Ben asked, "We're leaving?"

Theresa nodded. "Yes. This place is not our home after all! Why? You don't want to come with me, Ben?"

Ben said, "Of course. I'll go wherever Mom goes."

Theresa parked the car in front of the kindergarten and looked at Ben. Ben seemed a little sad. He didn't want to leave Charlie.

Finally, he had a father after all these years!

In the past, he didn't have a father while everyone else had one, so he didn't know what to say when they talked about their fathers at the kindergarten.

Now, when others talked about their fathers, he was able to join the conversation and proudly tell them, "My dad is handsome."

Theresa unbuckled her seatbelt, reached her hand over the backrest to touch Ben's little face, and said, "Good boy, go to class. Mom will come to pick you up this afternoon."

Ben nodded. "Bye, Mom."

Unlike Ben, Leonard looked a bit "heartless".

He thought it was great that he didn't have to be with Badass Charlie anymore! Anyway, Badass Charlie didn't care for him at all, and he didn't like heartless at all! Theresa watched Leonard and Ben enter the kindergarten before driving away. Thinking about Eugene, she decided to go and ask him, so she called Cristina. Cristina was still at Eugene's and asked Theresa to come over.

Theresa parked her car outside the building, got out of it, and went into the elevator.

A car that followed her pulled up behind her car. Someone in the car took a picture of her with his phone and sent it to Charlie.

Charlie was in his office, where he had slept last night. He received the picture from someone. "Mr. Calsis, Mrs. Calsis went to Mr. Oneill's place."

Charlie had the place arranged for Eugene, so he naturally knew where Eugene lived.

He hadn't expected that Theresa would really go to Eugene's place!

Theresa went upstairs, arrived at Eugene's door, and knocked. Cristina answered the door, wearing slippers and Eugene's clothes.

Chapter 489

Chapter 489

Theresa asked, "Is Eugene here?"

"He's gone to work."

"You don't have to work today?"

Cristina covered her belly and sat on the couch. Theresa followed her and gave her a look. "What? Eugene was so good last night that you can't get out of bed today?"

Hearing Theresa tease her, Cristina glared at Theresa. "No! I'm having my period, my belly is upset, and I have a bit of a cold, so he told me to stay in and have a rest." "Then why are you blushing?" Theresa said. "If it weren't for your period, I don't think I'd be able to see you today."

"You're so annoying!" Cristina was so angry that she jumped over and punched Theresa twice.

Cristina looked aggressive, but she didn't hit Theresa hard.

Cristina asked, "Why are you in such a hurry to see me?"

"I'm here to see Eugene." Theresa took a look at Eugene's home. He was really rich. His place was so spacious.

Cristina said, "Tess, you've changed. Why do you want to see him? Just because he took you back yesterday? No, you can't do that."

Theresa looked at her, blushed with shame, and said, "Just because he took me back yesterday and came back to me at night, Charlie now thinks that I had cheated with Eugene back then." "Huh?" Cristina was stunned to hear this. "That happened? How could he think you cheated? Is he out of his mind? He believed you before! Men are so unreliable."

Theresa said, "I just want to know what Eugene said to Charlie. By the way, Pat thought so too. He said he had asked Eugene about it."

"That can't be true, right?" Cristina said. "Did Eugene lose his mind? How could he say that?"

Theresa looked at Cristina and said, "Well, you can ask him when he comes back."

Although she was going to leave, Theresa wanted to ask Eugene about these things.

Cristina said, "I'll call him now. It's too much!"

She picked up her phone and called Eugene.

Eugene didn't answer.

Cristina had no choice but to send him a message.

Eugene had already arrived at the company. He had just come upstairs and gotten to his office when he was called to Charlie's office.

Charlie hadn't slept well last night and looked a little haggard.

Eugene said, "Mr. Calsis, what do you want from me?"

In the company, Eugene addressed Charlie politely. He did not call Charlie by his first name as he usually did.

Charlie looked at Eugene and said, "Have a seat."

Eugene sat down. Charlie just stared at him without saying anything, which made him feel nervous.

Eugene was smart enough to know why Charlie looked at him like that. He said, "Do you really think I had an affair with Theresa?"

"No?" Charlie looked at him as if he had really done it!

Eugene said, "It's ridiculous, Charlie. I'm a man, so it doesn't matter if you wrong me, but if you wrong Theresa, you'll regret it. She was still with Jimmy when I left. Do you mean that she cheated by saying I have children with her? How can you believe what the Watson family said to slander her?"

"All I know is that you have two children with her. What can you tell me about the children? And why did you come back to her yesterday?"

Eugene frowned.

Seeing that he didn't speak anymore, Charlie sneered, "You don't know what to say?"

Eugene had been helping Theresa and Cristina keep their secret, trying not to say anything in front of Charlie, but now that Charlie had wronged him so much, he really could not stand it. He simply gave up...

Chapter 490

Chapter 490

"You want to know? I can tell you! Theresa and Cristina were out drinking yesterday. I went over there after I saw Cristina's post on WhatsApp Moments. They were very drunk, so I took Theresa back."

"What does Cristina have to do with it? Don't make up such a flimsy excuse!"

"They're friends," Eugene said. "As for Cristina and me... she was my girlfriend before I left the country, and we were together before that!"

Cristina had told him not to let Charlie know this, so he hadn't mentioned it. After all, it was his personal matter. However, Charlie was now so suspicious that he couldn't stand it!

Why should he suffer this kind of aggravation?

If this went on, he wouldn't be able to get rid of the blame.

It was no good for Theresa and him.

Charlie looked at Eugene. "You and Cristina were in a relationship? She was your girlfriend?"

What a joke.

Eugene said, "What do you think?"

He pulled his phone out, found some pictures, and sent them to Charlie. "Look for yourself. They are the pictures we took before. Now, you can believe it?"

Charlie stared at the pictures on his phone and found that they did look like a couple. Besides, both Cristina and Eugene looked very young in the pictures, which must have been taken years ago.

Charlie stared at the pictures and remembered what Cristina had said about her children....

Cristina said she and her ex-boyfriend wanted a child, but her ex-boyfriend was infertile, so they went to the hospital for help and she conceived.

Thinking of this, Charlie looked at Eugene....

So, Eugene was the ex-boyfriend that Cristina talked about?

Charlie hadn't expected that Eugene, who looked like a normal person, could not have children.

He had a lot of sympathy for Eugene now.

Charlie felt guilty for embarrassing his old friend here. No wonder Eugene was so angry. He must feel terrible.

in his heart.

However, thinking about Eugene's relationship with Cristina... Charlie suddenly put on a long face and said to Eugene, "Did you really have no relationship with Theresa?"

"Of course not!" Eugene said. "I met her when she was Jimmy's girlfriend. Later, I went to the wedding when they got married. What? In your eyes, I'm the kind of man who would even take another man's wife? What's wrong with you?"

Actually, Charlie had nearly been convinced!

Seeing how sure Eugene was, Charlie completely believed him.

He looked at Eugene and his tone softened a bit. It was good that Eugene had no relationship with Theresa.

"Then why did you come to her yesterday?"

If Eugene hadn't come and talked to him about all that nonsense, Charlie wouldn't have misunderstood. Eugene looked at Charlie. "Why did I come? Theresa was upset because you bullied her. Cristina was worried and asked me to come over and check on her! Oh, my!"

Eugene sat back in his chair, feeling depressed. He had wanted to help, only to be blamed!

Charlie looked at him. "Cristina and Theresa are so close?"

Eugene said, "They have known each other for many years. Of course, they're close."

Eugene was so angry that he didn't hide it anymore. He just told the truth about Theresa and Cristina.

Charlie said, "I'm sorry! I got it wrong. But... Leonard and Ben are my children, so I'll never give them back to you."

Hearing what Charlie said, Eugene looked over at him. "Huh? What are you talking about?"

What was wrong with Charlie?

What children?

Charlie explained, "Cristina said that you two went to the hospital for help because she wanted to have kids.

with you back then. As it turned out, the hospital made a mistake! So, what I'm saying is, I won't agree even if you regret it and want to get the kids back. You can just ask her to give you another two."

Chapter 491

Chapter 491

The corners of Eugene's mouth twitched. For some reason, Eugene could feel that Charlie was looking at him with sympathy in his eyes when he said that.

Damn Cristina!

What the hell had she said behind his back?

He hadn't thought much about it at the time, but now he realized that this woman had told the Calsis family that he was infertile to convince them that the children were hers!

He said to Charlie with a sullen face, "No need!"

He needed to go to the hospital for help?

Shit!

He was pissed off!

Eugene stood up and said, "Excuse me."

He had been thinking about telling Charlie the truth about the kids, but Charlie laughed at him. He was so angry that he dismissed the idea.

He didn't need to go to the hospital to get Cristina pregnant, but as a man, he felt inexplicably unhappy when Charlie laughed at him like that.

Eugene saw the message from Cristina when he walked out of the office.

He called her directly.

Theresa and Cristina were both at Eugene's place now.

Cristina answered the phone and said, "What took you so long?"

"I was just talking to Charlie," Eugene said.

Cristina said, "Oh, are you okay? Is everything all right?"

There was a rare note of concern in her tone..

"You're expecting me in trouble?" Eugene said unhappily.

Cristina explained, "I heard from Theresa that Charlie now thinks she has two children with you. Charlie must be mad at you. Did he beat you up?"

Eugene remembered when Cristina mentioned it. "He seemed to want to beat me up,

After all, the atmosphere was so terrible when he went in.

Cristina said, "So are you okay?"

Eugene grunted. "I'm not stupid. Those two kids aren't even mine. Why would I let him beat me up?"

Eugene's voice came over the phone..

Cristina glanced at Theresa. She was on speakerphone, so Theresa heard it too.

Theresa got nervous all of a sudden and asked, "You didn't tell Charlie everything, did you?"

"Yes."

Theresa was stunned.

Cristina said anxiously, "How could you tell him?"

Eugene said, "I told Charlie about Cristina and me. About the kids, I wanted to tell him the truth and gave it up on second thought. Now Charlie has learned about my relationship with Cristina, but he didn't think much of Cristina, what have you said in front of the Calsis family? Is something wrong with you?"

Cristina was relieved to hear that he didn't say anything to Charlie about the kids.

Hearing Eugene scold her, she was a bit baffled. "What have I said?"

Eugene gritted his teeth and said, "Wait until I get back."

Theresa asked, "Eugene, did you tell Pat that I had a relationship with you?"

That was what Theresa was concerned about.

If he really talked nonsense, she would look down on him!

Hearing this, Eugene was puzzled. "No. Do you think I'm that stupid?"

"No?"

"Of course not," Eugene said. "I just told him about Cristina and me. I didn't say anything about you! Well, I'm not so stupid. I don't want people to get the wrong idea that I had a relationship with you.

After all, he would have a hard time if Cristina got angry.

Theresa heard Eugene's explanation and said, "That's good."

So, Pat had misunderstood!

Theresa thought it was funny. Now, she felt that the more she tried to explain, the harder it would be to clarify.

Chapter 492

Chapter 492

Charlie sat in his office. After Eugene went out, he kept thinking about things.

Eugene said that he had no relationship with Theresa, which made him feel a little better.

Otherwise, he would be mad if Eugene did have children with Theresa.

On top of that, he and Eugene knew each other.

However, Eugene's words made him think twice. Eugene had just said that Theresa and Cristina had been friends for a long time...

For a long time?

Didn't they meet only because of Leonard and Ben?

How come they had been friends for a long time?

Could it be that they had known each other before that?

But when Cristina came over for dinner, she didn't look familiar with Theresa at all.

So, these two women were lying to him?

Jonathan walked in. "Mr. Calsis."

Charlie looked at him. "Do you think Theresa is close to Cristina?"

Jonathan said, "No, I don't think so. But maybe because Mrs. Calsis is nice to Leonard and Ben, she's been getting close to Cristina lately."

"You don't think so either?"

However, the two women who weren't so close went out for drinks alone in private.

It was actually not a big deal!

But for some reason, Charlie just found it weird.

He remembered that when he was with Theresa a long time ago, she received a phone call from someone who was called Crisy.

He didn't believe it could be that coincidental.

But then Theresa said that the caller was her friend, denying that it was Cristina.

She lied to him?

These two women had been lying to him all along!

However, he didn't know why they had to hide their relationship.

Charlie looked at Jonathan. "Find out Theresa's relationship with Cristina and see if they knew each other before."

Jonathan heard Charlie's words and said, "Okay."

Theresa went back to the Cameron family after getting out of Eugene's place.

When she arrived, Sarah was still home. She was working at the office now, but sometimes she went late.

It was getting colder and she liked to stay in bed.

Moreover, she had managed the company well lately, so no one would say anything about it.

She was sitting there to change her shoes and getting ready to go out when she saw Theresa walk in.

Theresa stood in the foyer and looked over at Sarah.

Sarah said, "What are you doing here?"

"I heard you went to see Charlie." Theresa was curious to see what reaction Sarah would have now.

Sarah didn't show any sign of sheepishness when she heard this.

She said, "Yes! Why? I can't go to him? I wanted to find an endorser from his company. It's for business. Alas, I don't think a lady like you would understand how hard I work in the company every day." "When did our company need to hire an endorser?" Their father never hired anyone from the world of entertainment for endorsements.

Sarah snorted when she heard Theresa's words. "It's a fan economy now. Look at Blue Tower, their sales and popularity have gone up after hiring some endorsers. What do you know?" She was quite capable of sophistry.

Theresa laughed. "Did you go there for the endorser or Charlie?"

"What's wrong with me going to Charlie?" Sarah said lightly. "I'm not allowed to go to him? I've known him for so long, and you are questioning me just because I've spoken to him. Do you really think you are Mrs. Calsis? You're even trying to interfere with Charlie's affairs!"

Sarah said, "Charlie doesn't like women who don't know what they're doing. If you take too much control, you'll only make him unhappy. I'm warning you! Don't ask for trouble!"

Theresa said, "You don't have to worry about whether he's happy or not. I'm just wondering why you can be so thick-skinned. Don't you remember what you have done to Charlie before? How do you have the face to go to him now?"

Chapter 493

Chapter 493

Sarah said, "What have I done to Charlie? What have I done to him? I just felt that I had gone too far in the past, so I went and apologized to him. What? Even a criminal can have a chance to turn a new leaf, but when it comes to me, you just give me a death sentence?"

Theresa was speechless.

Great!

Now she saw what a shameless person was like.

Sarah looked at Theresa and suddenly said curiously, "You came here early this morning to preach at me. Why? You have a sense of crisis, afraid that Charlie will leave you? That's why you've come to trouble me? Well, I can do nothing about it. Charlie doesn't like you, so it won't change anything even if you scold me. I told you he doesn't like you, but you won't believe me? I've known him for a long time, and I know better than you how high his taste is."

Charlie hadn't even fallen for her when she had been with him for so long, let alone Theresa!

Theresa was like this now. It was even less likely that Charlie would like her!

So, Sarah was very confident in herself.

Theresa looked at Sarah, whose words made her angry.

However, she didn't come here to ask about that.

She said, "I can't stop you from seeing Charlie, but why did you tell Charlie that I have children with Eugene?"

Sarah was such a liar!

Theresa really wanted to rip her mouth off!

Sarah said, "Your children's father is Eugene, isn't he? Was I wrong? Charlie has the right to know the truth since he's with you!"

She didn't want him to be fooled by Theresa!

He was kept in the dark about the truth.

Theresa said, "The truth?"

Sarah said, "Don't think you can hide everything from me! Last time when I had dinner with Eugene, he kept staring at you. I can tell from the way he looked at you! It's obvious that he has a crush on you. And you and he were classmates! Who else but him could make you cheat on Jimmy? I admit that Eugene is also very handsome. Since you like him, you should stay with him! I told you, I don't need you to marry Charlie instead of me anymore. I will be with Charlie from now on!"

She didn't want to marry Charlie back then. That was why she let Theresa marry him instead of her.

But now she regretted it, so she had to ask Theresa to give Charlie back to her! Theresa heard Sarah's words and understood why Sarah would say that to Charlie. It wasn't that Sarah had lied to sow discord. She mistakenly thought that the one Eugene loved was Theresa?

Sarah had never met Cristina before, and it was no surprise that she didn't know Cristina.

Sarah must have misunderstood it when Theresa was out with Cristina.

Theresa looked at Sarah. "You're ridiculous now, you know."

"I'm ridiculous?" Sarah said. "Because I told you to leave Charlie? You're trying to get ahead with Charlie as a remarried woman with two kids, and that's not ridiculous? It doesn't matter if you don't agree. I'm asking you to leave Charlie now just to save your face. Sooner or later, I'm going back into the Calsis family anyway!"

Theresa said, "Wait until you get back!"

Leah came out. "Sarah, why are you still here?"

Seeing that Theresa and Sarah were both there, she deliberately put on a gentle face and said, "Theresa, you're back? What are you two talking about? I heard your voices before I came out." Theresa said, "Your daughter told me to leave Charlie and said she wants to be with Charlie

now!"

That was the kind of daughter Leah had raised!

Hearing that, Leah lowered her head and looked at Sarah. "You really talked to your sister like that?"

Sarah said, "Why? Can't I? It's for her own good!"

After that, Sarah stood up and walked directly out of the door.

As she passed by Theresa, she even hit Theresa, looking arrogant as hell.

Leah watched Sarah from behind, shook her head, and said to Theresa, "Come on in. Your dad is having breakfast."

Chapter 494

Chapter 494

Theresa walked in and was about to change her shoes when she heard Leah ask, "Theresa, how are you and Charlie getting along these days?" "Pretty well."

"He doesn't dislike you, does he?" Leah asked.

Theresa looked up and gave her a look. "Why?"

Leah sounded like she was sure that Charlie would dislike Theresa!

That was how they thought of Theresa now!

Leah said, "Charlie was still in the wheelchair when I told you to marry him. I didn't expect him to be able to stand up! Charlie is not an ordinary person. I'm just wondering if he would mind that you were divorced and what they said about your cheating on your husband. After all, he is also a man!" Hearing Leah's words, Theresa raised the corners of her mouth and said, "Thank you for your concern. Charlie and I are fine!"

Although Leah sounded concerned, Theresa could tell that Leah was expecting her and Charlie to have a bad time.

It had always been like that!

When she was having a bad time, Leah would just gloat.

They were a family, but sometimes she would just look at Leah and feel disappointed.

Leah said, "I'm glad to hear that! If you have any problems with Charlie, just let me know. In fact, I've been thinking lately that it's not a good idea to have married you to Charlie. I didn't consider your position. You must have a tough time in the Calsis family."

Heh!

Hearing Leah's words, Theresa felt like bursting into laughter!

When Charlie couldn't walk, Leah didn't consider her position and forced her to marry into the Calsis family even if she would die. When she tried to refuse, Leah made her agree by both coaxing and threatening!

Now, Charlie could walk and Leah started acting like a nice person!

Leah even said that she was considering Theresa's position.

Theresa looked at Leah and said, "Thank you for your concern. You don't need to worry about me in the Calsis family."

Whether Theresa broke up with Charlie or not, it was almost impossible for Sarah to be with Charlie.

Theresa was now at odds with Charlie for some reason, but she still had this confidence in

Charlie.

Theresa went to the dining room, said hello to her father, and talked with him for a while.

In the afternoon, she picked up Leonard and Ben and went back to the Calsis family. Before she got out of the car, she heard Sarah's voice.

She got out of the car. So did Leonard and Ben.

Seeing the two kids, Sarah put on a big smile. "Leonard, and Ben."

"What's wrong with you?" Theresa looked at Sarah, wondering what she was doing here.

Sarah said, "I came over to see Leonard and Ben."

Her eyes fell on the two children.

She thought about it and decided to make a good show of herself in front of Charlie since she wanted to get back together with him."

Now, what the Calsis family valued most were these two children...

If she could please the kids, maybe they would like her and forgive her for what she had done.

After all, Theresa had made it because of the kids, hadn't she?

Rose had told Sarah all about it before!

Sarah knew everything about Theresa and Charlie.

She didn't want to get involved because she wasn't interested in Charlie, but that doesn't mean she couldn't do anything about Theresa.

She was not like Cristina, who had two children in the Calsis family and let Theresa take advantage of them for nothing.

Chapter 495

Chapter 495

Leonard and Ben stood there, looking at Sarah and then at Theresa, who said, "You two go to your room."

Ben nodded and headed inside.

Sarah saw that and followed them, "Leonard and Ben, wait for me."

It looked as if she knew the two kids well.

She was about to go inside when Theresa reached out and grabbed her by the back of her clothes, stopping her from going inside. "Enough. Hurry up and get out of here. You'll get into trouble if Charlie sees you."

Sarah pushed her hand away. "Theresa, why are you stopping me? What's wrong with me. wanting to talk to the kids? Do you think that the kids are yours because Charlie let take you care of them? You are a woman with ulterior motives. I can see that you're trying to take advantage of the kids. You don't love them at all. You're just using them as a tool for you to get in Charlie's good graces."

Theresa heard the accusation and glanced at Sarah. "So what? I just think that you will disturb the kids. They have to study. They're not here to play with you. Sarah, you're really annoying, you know." Sarah said Theresa was just using the kids, but Theresa believed that Sarah was trying to use the kids!

Theresa found it ridiculous when she saw what Sarah was like now.

Sarah said, "Let go of me!"

Theresa pulled back her hand and let go of Sarah,

Sarah gave Theresa an angry stare and went after the kids.

Sarah was so shameless that Theresa didn't know what to say!

Brenda came over and stood next to Theresa, asking, "What should we do?"

Sarah had come over here and Brenda was panicking.

Theresa asked, "Why did she come here?"

"She said you told her to come! Those at the entrance didn't know what was going on, so they let her in."

When Theresa heard this, the corners of her mouth twitched and she said to Brenda, "Tell them that in the future, don't let her in if she comes saying that again."

"So what now?" Brenda said. "She's interested in the kids!"

Seeing that Sarah had already gone upstairs, Theresa said, "just let her be! She's such a person, who won't stop until she hits the wall." Sarah wanted to please Leonard and Ben?

She was asking for trouble!

Sarah managed to get to Leonard and Ben's room. The two little ones put down their bags, and Ben was ready to work.

Just then, Sarah came in. "Leonard and Ben."

She was smiling.

Ben looked at the woman, "What are you doing here?"

Sarah said, "I brought you a gift."

With that, she opened her bag and took out the gift she bought for them. It was Lego, which she thought the kids would love.

However, the two little ones didn't even look at it when Sarah took it out.

Leonard didn't like talking to people he wasn't familiar with.

As for Ben, he directly said, "Please go out. We're going to work."

"Work?" Hearing what Ben said Sarah chuckled. "You're so young and you have to work, huh?"

"What kind of work do you do? Let Auntie see!"

Ben looked at the woman and wondered what was wrong with her.

"Is there something wrong with you?"

"What did you say?" Sarah was stunned, not expecting Ben to abuse her like that!

She froze and tried to put on a gentle smile, telling herself she couldn't be angry or upset...

She smiled and said, "Leonard, how can you talk to Auntie like that?"

Ben was more talkative, so Sarah thought he was the older one!

The two little ones were twins and they looked exactly the same, so Sarah actually couldn't quite tell them apart.

She mistook Ben for Leonard.

As a result, her words were met with Ben's contempt. "I'm Ben. Please get out. You're not welcome here."

Leonard and Ben were not stupid.

Chapter 496

Chapter 496

Just now, Sarah had been talking to Theresa in a very unfriendly manner out there.

Since she was not Mom's friend, there was no need to be polite to her.

Sarah said, "So, Auntie was mistaken then. Ben, let auntie play with you guys, okay? Auntie really wants to be friends with you!"

"But we don't want to be friends with you." Ben looked at the woman with disgust.

He didn't like Sarah!

He even hated her.

Sarah said, "I'm very close to your dad, and I've known him since long ago. If not for the accident, you two would be calling me Mom!"

If she hadn't left and had married Charlie...

Charlie's kids would be calling her Mom, wouldn't they?

Sarah had been quite upset at the thought of Charlie having two children.

After all, it would be impossible for her to be at home with the children every day like Theresa.

However, when she thought about it, these two little ones had already grown up, so she could just pretend to care about them. It wouldn't take much for her to do so.

Leonard heard Sarah's words and said, "You're trying to go after my dad?"

"Uh..." Sarah didn't expect Leonard to be so direct about what she was up to.

This little thing was too precocious, wasn't he?

She smiled, "Your dad is so handsome. Of course, I like him! So do you want me to be your mom, Leonard?"

Hearing Sarah's words, Leonard sneered, "No, you're too ugly!"

The corners of Sarah's mouth twitched.

What a brat!

Did he really think that because he was in the Calsis family, he could be rude to her?

If they hadn't been brought back in time, they would have been nothing more than two bastards.

However, she had to put up with it now if she wanted to use the two children and marry into the Calsis family.

She smiled and said in a pitiful tone, "Leonard, Auntie is sad when you talk like that."

"My dad won't even like you!" Ben looked at Sarah and said. "He loves my mom, not you! Don't try to seduce him."

The two little ones didn't sound like little kids at all.

They usually went online and learned a lot of things.

Sarah was a little angry when she heard that. "Who told you to say that? Was it Theresa?"

How dare Teresa teach the kids that behind her back!

It was really too much!

Theresa had a glass of water downstairs. It wasn't long before Charlie came in.

When she saw him, she froze and put down the glass in her hand.

Charlie stopped in his tracks when he saw her.

After what had happened between them in the bedroom last night, they found it really awkward to see each other now.

Charlie had just left like that back then!

Brenda saw Charlie and politely said, "Welcome back, Mr. Calsis."

Charlie walked up to Theresa and said, "I have something to ask you."

"Whatever you have to say, say it here!" Theresa didn't even move her butt.

She would usually have stood up and welcomed him warmly when she saw him come back.

But now, she wouldn't!

Charlie had to sit down and tell Brenda, who was standing there, to leave them alone in the living room.

Seeing what he did, Theresa guessed he had something serious to say. She looked at him and asked, "What do you want to say, Mr. Calsis?" Charlie said, "Why did you lie to me?"

Chapter 497

Chapter 497

He looked very serious, with displeasure in his dark eyes after having been deceived.

Theresa was stunned and looked at the man in front of her. What was he talking about?

Did he know... about the kids?

Theresa felt her heart thumping as the secret that she had been so intent on keeping was now uncovered by him.

He found it out!

Charlie knew that Leonard and Ben were his biological children?

Didn't Eugene say he hadn't told Charlie?

Theresa was thinking about how she should react when Charlie saw her hesitation and said,

"Don't think that playing dumb will help! I've had it investigated. You and Cristina have known each other for a long time! Even when Eugene was dating her, you were the one who set them up. So, why did you say that you didn't know Cristina well when she came to the Calsis family?"

Theresa, who had been so flustered, paused when she heard Charlie's words. She looked at

Charlie and breathed a sigh of relief. "So, that's what you have to say?"

Charlie stared at her intently. "What else do you think I have to say?"

Seeing that he only knew about her relationship with Cristina, Theresa felt a lot more relaxed at once.

She explained, "Cristina and I did meet a long time ago, but later, we didn't have much contact after some unhappy things. So, when we met again, we would naturally pretend that we didn't know each other!"

"Really?" Charlie said. "But you two are close now. You even went out drinking together yesterday."

"The past is all in the past. When we thought about it, we didn't find it necessary to go on like that, so we made up." After that, Theresa looked at Charlie and saw him sitting on the couch, looking at her with a cold face.

He said, "What a story."

Theresa looked at Charlie and said helplessly, "You're not happy with it? So, what exactly do you want to hear?"

"I just want to hear if my dear wife can tell me something true."

Theresa looked at Charlie and the corners of her mouth twitched. Shit, what was she supposed to say?

She looked at Charlie and said, "Well, since you want to hear it so much, then I'll tell you the truth. Cristina and I have known each other for a long time, so I have already known about Leonard and Ben. After all, she and I were close. It's no surprise that I've met the boys. When I first met you, I was surprised that you looked exactly like the two children, and at that time I thought that you must be their father." Charlie stared at her closely. Theresa was pressured to continue, "When you tried to take them back, I disagreed because Cristina had raised them herself. You might think that you could just take them back because they were born with your genes, but it wasn't so easy for a mother to give birth to them and raise them. I am also a mother, so it was only natural for me to disagree..."

At this point, Theresa's eyes were red.

She was the mother. Of course, she would be emotional,

She told Charlie that it was Cristina, but in fact, she was talking about herself.

Seeing her eyes red, Charlie had to believe her words.

Theresa tried to continue to justify her relationship with Cristina when Charlie's phone suddenly rang. Ben's voice came over the phone. "Dad, are you back yet?"

Charlie hadn't been home last night after the fight with Theresa. When he heard his baby son's voice, his heart naturally softened.

He said, "Yes, I'm back!"

"A nasty woman is disturbing us while we are doing homework in my room. Can you help us get rid of her?"

"A nasty woman?" Charlie frowned when he heard this.

Sarah was still in the room. Her face darkened when she heard Ben talking on the phone. So, she was just a nasty woman in Ben's eyes!

Okay, fine. Just wait until she got Charlie. She would teach these two kids a lesson!

It was obvious that these two brats had been spoiled and never suffered.

Charlie went upstairs just as Sarah was coming out of the two kids' room.

She came out, saw Charlie, and said softly, "You're back, Charlie?" "What are you doing here?" Charlie looked at Sarah.

Chapter 498

Chapter 498

Sarah said, "I'm here to check on Leonard and Ben, and I bought them a gift."

"A gift?" Charlie gave her a look.

Jonathan had gone into the room and taken out her gift. He shoved it back into her hand.

They didn't like anything from her!

Sarah said, "It's for the kids, not for you, so why should you refuse?"

Ben and Leonard had already walked out.

The two little ones looked at her and said, "We don't want anything from you."

"You hear that?" Charlie looked at the woman. "Sarah, since when are you allowed to come into my house? Who let her in?"

"Theresa," Sarah said. "She's my sister. Can't I come over and see her? Besides, Theresa and Eugene were truly in love, and they even have children. Charlie, just let them go!"

She looked like she was thinking of Theresa.

Charlie looked at her. He would have believed it if he hadn't already heard the truth from Eugene today.

He said, "Come on. Get the hell out of here!"

Hearing his words, Jonathan quickly called for someone to come and kick Sarah out.

Just then, however, Old Mr. Calsis' voice came from behind them. "Charlie!"

He came over and grinned. "Where are the boys?"

He missed Leonard and Ben, so he came over to see them, only to find that Charlie was home.

Charlie said, "Please go back now."

Sarah was here. Charlie was really afraid that the old man would be overwhelmed.

All these years, the old man had been thinking of Sarah as his granddaughter-in-law...

Charlie was afraid that he would recognize Sarah as soon as he saw her.

Just then, Theresa came up from downstairs.

She was up here to see what was going on.

As soon as she came out of the elevator, Old Mr. Calsis saw her and said smilingly, "Sarah, come here."

Theresa saw Old Mr. Calsis looking at her with a smile. He was talking to her, right?

Uncertainly, she walked over to Old Mr. Calsis.

Old Mr. Calsis asked, "Sarah, do you want to play chess?"

Theresa glanced at Sarah, who was about to be driven away, and heard Charlie say, "Please take Grandpa back."

She knew what Charlie was worried about. He was afraid that Old Mr. Calsis would be affected by Sarah's presence, so she said to Old Mr. Calsis, "Let's go and play chess!"

Sarah saw Theresa trying to take Old Mr. Calsis away, and hurriedly said, "Grandpa."

She heard from Rose that the reason why Charlie married Theresa, who had been divorced, was pure that Old Mr. Calsis had mistaken Theresa for her.

It proved that Old Mr. Calsis wanted her to be his granddaughter-in-law.

She remembered that when she was with Charlie, Charlie didn't like her very much, but Old Mr.

Calsis had been supporting her.

Thinking of this, Sarah seemed to see the hope of marrying into the Calsis family. She trotted over, but Charlie stopped her directly.

He wouldn't allow her to get in front of Old Mr. Calsis!

Old Mr. Calsis heard someone call him, and he said, "Who is it?"

Chapter 499

Chapter 499

Theresa tried to take him away, but he turned around and saw Sarah.

Sarah saw Old Mr. Calsis looking at her. She knew that Charlie had to listen to the old man.

In front of Old Mr. Calsis, he wouldn't dare to be too harsh on her

She hurried over to Old Mr. Calsis and grabbed the old man's arm. "Grandpa, it's been a long time since I saw you last time. I missed you so much!"

Theresa had shamelessly married Charlie instead of her and now tried to impersonate her to gain favor with Old Mr. Calsis.

"Jonathan," Charlie said.

Jonathan walked to Sarah with the bodyguards who had just come up from downstairs.

Sarah looked at Charlie and said, "Charlie, I just want to talk to Grandpa. Don't you do that!"

"He wouldn't want to talk to you!" Charlie said with a cold face. "If not for you, he wouldn't have been like this today. If he gets worse because of you, I won't let you get away with it!" Sarah was afraid that Charlie would kick her out, so she clung to Old Mr. Calsis' arm and said, "Grandpa, I'm Sarah. Do you remember me? You used to be the best to Sarah! I'm sorry I should have come back earlier."

Her eyes welled up with tears as she spoke.

Theresa stood there and had to admit that Sarah was a good actress.

Sarah should try to get an award for her acting skills.

She knew that Old Mr. Calsis was sick, so she wanted to turn Old Mr. Calsis into her supporter?

She wanted to use both the children and the sick old man...

Theresa found that the woman was really heartless!

Just as everyone thought about how to keep Old Mr. Calsis from falling for it, Sarah was.

suddenly slapped in the face.

The one who slapped her was none other than Old Mr. Calsis.

Old Mr. Calsis slapped her so hard that Sarah, who had been trying to get some sympathy, lost her balance and fell to the floor.

Charlie and Jonathan were stunned to see it.

Theresa, who was closest, was even more shocked.

Sarah looked at Old Mr. Calsis in disbelief and said, "Grandpa, you...

Although she was slapped by Old Mr. Calsis, she didn't dare to get angry, so she could only pretend to be sad.

Old Mr. Calsis looked at Theresa and said, "Sarah, this woman is so annoying! Let's go and play chess!"

As it turned out, it was not the name Sarah that he recognized, but the person Theresa.

Theresa froze for a second and looked at Old Mr. Calsis, not expecting that he would hate the real Sarah so much when he saw her.

Theresa had just thought Old Mr. Calsis would be nice to Sarah!

After all, he had been saying that name all these days, hadn't he?

He even called Theresa "Sarah" every time.

Sarah said, "Grandpa, I am Sarah. That woman beside you is a liar. Don't be fooled by her."

Shit, what was going on here?

She was considered the fake one when Theresa pretended to be her?

Sarah was so displeased with it!

She wouldn't give up!

She believed that Old Mr. Calsis was just fooled by Theresa for now.

Old Mr. Calsis gave her a disgusted look, looked at Charlie again, and said, "Charlie."

"Yes, Grandpa."

Charlie walked over.

Chapter 500

Chapter 500

Old Mr. Calsis saw Charlie come over, grabbed Charlie by the sleeve, lifted his hand, and hit Charlie several times. "Brat, your wife is at home every day to take care of your children, and you are out there fooling around with someone else. Tell me, where did you find this woman? Kick her out!"

Charlie didn't know what to say.

He was so wronged!

Seeing that Old Mr. Calsis wouldn't let Sarah stay, he looked at the woman and said to Jonathan, "Take her away"

Sarah wanted to take advantage of Old Mr. Calsis and get the old man to help her. However, Old Mr. Calsis wouldn't listen to her.

Sarah was taken out. Theresa looked at her and found it interesting.

Charlie had let her go and she could have been a decent person. Instead, she had to make a fool of herself like this.

It was cold outside. Sarah was thrown straight out the door, along with the Lego she had bought.

Sarah stood up. She was pissed off, not expecting them to do this to her.

She wouldn't give up!

No, she wouldn't!

A car pulled up next to her. Leticia sat in the car and looked at Sarah. When the window was down, Leticia asked, "What are you doing here?"

Sarah stood there, looked at Leticia, and said, "Auntie Leticia."

She looked like a good girl. Instead of being arrogant as she had been just now, she seemed to be the same compliant girl she used to be in front of the Calsis family.

Leticia looked at her and said, "Don't call me that."

Leticia didn't forget what Sarah's attitude toward her had been like before. Instead, she remembered it clearly.

Sarah said, "Auntie Leticia, I'm sorry for what I have done. Please forgive me!"

Leticia said, "Let's go."

While Leticia spoke to the driver, Sarah said, "You can even accept Theresa, but you can't accept me? I'm the one who got engaged to Charlie in the beginning. Theresa is just a substitute." When she heard Theresa's name, Leticia looked at Sarah, "She's your sister, but you're no better than her in any way. At least, she didn't hurt Charlie as you did when he couldn't walk."

The entire Calsis family was disappointed by Sarah.

Sarah argued, "Theresa pretends to be nice to Charlie because she knew he would be able to walk! Do you really think she cares about Charlie? In order to stay with Charlie, she ingratiates herself with Leonard and Ben and then tries to please Grandpa by pretending to be me... In the end, she is just a vain woman."

Leticia looked at Sarah and said, "The way you denigrate her only makes you look ridiculous."

Sarah said, "She has children with Eugene. You know about that, right?"

Sarah had thought about it. Even if she couldn't be with Charlie, she would never let Theresa be with Charlie.

Theresa didn't deserve it!

She had lived in the shadow of Theresa since she was a child. Now that she was finally getting better, why should she allow Theresa to take advantage of this and overshadow her again?

In her eyes, Theresa was just a divorced woman and she was much better than Theresa.

Leticia had heard it from Pat this morning.

However, she still felt shocked when she heard what Sarah said.

Seeing the look on Leticia's face, Sarah continued, "She cheated and has children with Eugene. Now, she even left her own children in order to get in Charlie's good graces. Look, has she ever taken care of her children?"

Leticia said, "Let's go."

The driver pulled the car in and Sarah was shut out.

Theresa and Old Mr. Calsis were playing chess, and Charlie was sitting next to them. Jonathan said, "Mr. Calsis, I think she'll come again. She has been trying to get back with you ever since you could walk. I've never seen such a shameless person! She didn't expect this when she cursed and disliked you, did she?"

Theresa put a piece on the board. She didn't say anything when she heard them talking. Charlie looked at Theresa, who was not concerned. "Did you tell Sarah to come?"
