

Marry Ex's Uncle After Divorcement

Chapter 501 -550

Chapter 501

"Do you believe that?" Theresa looked up, her beautiful eyes shining.

She looked at Charlie as if he were a retard.

Seeing how indifferent she was, Charlie felt bored, so he simply stood up and walked out the door.

He went back to his bedroom and took a shower. He hadn't slept well last night, so it was a good time to get some sleep.

Theresa kept playing chess with Old Mr. Calsis in the room. Before long, Brenda appeared at the door, "Madam, please come out for a minute."

Hearing this, Theresa said, "Now?"

She hadn't finished the game yet.

Brenda said, "Leticia is back!"

Moreover, Leticia looked quite unhappy.

Theresa remembered that she had left halfway through a conversation with Leticia in the morning...

She wondered what Pat had said in front of Leticia.

Alas...

She had a feeling of helplessness.

Leticia had been nice to her in the morning, but these rumors were so serious that if they were true, Leticia would not be able to handle them.

Leticia had said that she would treat Theresa as her daughter in the morning, but now Theresa didn't think she could take it seriously!

Theresa told Old Mr. Calsis that she would be back. When she arrived downstairs, she saw Leticia waiting for her on the couch.

Leticia had a long face. Because of what Sarah had said, she looked incredibly serious at the moment.

"Leticia."

Hearing Theresa's voice, she raised her head and looked at her. "Sit down. I have something to ask you."

Theresa heard Leticia's words and took a seat next to her.

Leticia looked at Theresa and thought about it before she asked, "Theresa, did you have a relationship with Eugene?"

Theresa said, "No, I didn't."

Leticia looked at her. "You're not lying to me?"

Theresa said, "No. Why would I lie to you? I just went to the same college as he did and met him before."

She hadn't been trying to keep it a secret.

Leticia said, "But... Pat said that he asked Eugene and proved that you two had a relationship."

"You can ask Eugene directly. As for Pat... he's always hated me and it's normal for him to say anything about me."

Pat just couldn't wait for her to have a bad time!

Leticia looked at Theresa who was serious, Leticia sighed and said, "Of course, I would like to believe you. It's just that when I came back today, I met Sarah, and she said the same thing, which made me full of suspicion.

"Why don't you... bring those two kids of yours back?"

"We are reasonable. Since you are married to Charlie and are willing to accept Charlie's two kids, we can also accept your kids. You can bring them home and there is no need to keep them outside..." Theresa looked at Leticia unexpectedly, "It's..."

She had thought that it would be fine as long as she made the matter of Eugene clear.

And she hadn't expected Leticia to talk about the two kids again.

Leticia stared at her closely, "Do you have a problem with that?"

Theresa said, "I've already made arrangements for the two kids, so there's no need for bringing them back home to cause trouble for everyone."

Leonard and Ben had finished their exams, and Theresa planned to take them away when they got their results.

At this point, it was impossible for her to promise Leticia to bring them home.

Leticia looked over at Theresa, "The Spring Festival is around the corner. If you bring them home, they will be happy and Leonard and Ben will have playmates. It's no trouble."

Theresa, "There is really no need."

"So, the kids really have something to do with Eugene?" Leticia said, "Otherwise, I can't understand why you won't bring the kids to see us. What are you afraid of? If you are like this, not only me, even Charlie can't help but think more about it. I heard that you and Charlie quarreled last night... We're a family and there's no need for us to get into this mess."

Theresa listened to Leticia's words and didn't know how to answer her.

She went upstairs and stood in the doorway, watching Leonard and Ben being on the air. Seeing Theresa appear in the doorway, Leonard ran out at once and stood in front of her.

Chapter 502

Chapter 502

When Theresa lowered her head, Leonard reached out to touch her head, "You're upset?"

Theresa was stunned for a moment, not expecting Leonard to be so perceptive.

She laughed, "Why are you saying that?"

"That woman said today that she's going to be our mother, so is Badass Charlie really going to marry her?"

Theresa said, "No. Don't think nonsense!"

Leonard looked at Theresa and said, "Mom."

"Hmm?"

"If they treat you badly, let me marry you when I grow up!"

Listening to the little one's innocent words, Theresa couldn't help but laugh out loud, "It would be nice if you could make me worry less when you grow up."

Leonard said, "I wouldn't. I'm not like Badass Charlie!"

When he thought of Charlie, he felt disgusted in his heart.

Not only did Charlie not care for him, but Charlie always made his mom sad!

Theresa didn't go anywhere else either. After she went into the two kids' rooms, she had Ben turn, off the Livestream and come over to do his homework.

She sat for a while before her cell phone rang, and when she opened it and looked at it, she found it was her father calling, "Theresa."

Theresa answered, "Dad, what's up?"

"The Watson family sent back all those dowries from your previous marriage." Johnson said,

"Some of them got broken, and they paid for new ones. They are crazy?"

They had such a bad attitude before, but now they gave those things back.

Theresa said, "It's pretty good."

Even if she didn't want them now, she didn't want to let them take advantage of her.

She said, "It's up to you to deal with them."

Johnson said, "OK. The two kids are with you, right?"

"Yes." Theresa smiled and said, "Want to see them?"

Johnson nodded, "Yeah."

Last time Leonard and Ben were there to celebrate his birthday, and Johnson really loved those two kids!

Raising the corners of her mouth, Theresa turned on the video and let the two little ones say hello to Johnson.

Johnson couldn't stop smiling when he saw the two grandchildren.

Across the screen, looking at her father's graying hair. Theresa sighed helplessly.

He's not that old, but he looked really old it's all because of the disease.

At the house of the Watson family, Rose and Jimmy were having dinner. Rosales had sent the things they owed Theresa to the Cameron family today Jimmy had been recuperating during this time, and it was only now that she freed her mind from her son and took care of this matter.

Rose said, "Mom, you gave Theresa's dowry back to her?"

Rosales said, "At your father's birthday banquet, she said she wanted them, so I gave them back to her"

"Why?" Jimmy looked up at his mother.

He didn't expect his mother to be so active in dealing with these things.

It was completely different from the way his mother used to handle things!

If it was before, his mother would not have agreed so easily to return the things to Theresa!

Rosales said, "Oops, those things are not worth anything. Give them all back to her so she won't say anything bad. Anyway, you also have a better life now with Rose!" Jimmy said, "She's getting a big advantage!"

He was so reluctant!

Thinking that his mother had given everything back to Theresa, Jimmy felt very unhappy because he thought he would have less connection with this woman

Chapter 503

Chapter 503

After taking a look at Jimmy, Rosales realized that he still had a big problem with Theresa. It's not that Rosales wanted to be nice to Theresa now, but that she knew Theresa had the evidence that could destroy Jimmy.

Rosales glanced at Rose, who was sitting on the sidelines, and said, "Jim, don't take it personally the next time you see Theresa. You're divorced, so just let her go!"

Jimmy said, "Mom, it's not that I don't want to let her go and it's that she doesn't want to let me go."

She should be responsible for what's happened!

He'll be waiting for the time when she'll be unlucky!

When the time came, he would not just let her go.

Looking at Jimmy, Rosales felt very worried and at that moment, Rose spoke up, "I heard today that those two kids of Theresa's are my uncle Eugene's."

Rosales looked to Rose, "Who said that?"

Rose said, "I don't know, but now everyone knows that And, Sarah wants to marry my Uncle Calsis! My family is in a mess right now.

After she and Jimmy came out, the Calsis family was now a mess.

Hearing Rose's words, Jimmy looked at Rose and asked, "Her kids are Eugene's?"

Of course, that was impossible!

Jimmy knew where Theresa's two kids came from.

He just didn't think that the story would spread like this.

It couldn't be that Eugene donated his genes at the hospital at the time...

Rose said, "I heard that my Uncle Charlie is very mindful of this matter, and if there is no accident, they would break up."

Jimmy calmed down.

Whether it's true or not, it's okay as long as Charlie believed it!

Rosales said, "How could Theresa's kids be Eugene's?"

Didn't she go to the hospital for the IUI?

She heard the recording last time, and Jimmy said the same thing.

Rose said, "I was also unexpected to hear about this."

Theresa couldn't be with her Uncle Charlie and now she's going to be with her Uncle Eugene instead!

However, this confirmed the fact that Theresa cheated on Jimmy.

She just didn't expect Theresa to have an affair with her Uncle Eugene.

Her Uncle Eugene was such a nice person... How could he do such a thing?

IT

Rosales sat aside and looked at Jimmy, wanting to say something, but not saying it in front of

Rose,

She opened her mouth and changed the subject, Jim, since you are feeling better, when do you plan to go back to work?"

Hearing this, Rose glanced at Jimmy and said, "Honey, why don't you take a few more days off? You needn't be in such a hurry to work."

"I'm fine now" Jimmy said, "I haven't worked for a long time and I'm ready to go back to the office tomorrow."

Hearing this, Rose clasped her fingers together. In order to let Jimmy recuperate at ease, she hadn't said anything else to him these days.

So, Jimmy now still thought he could go back to the company.

She had to tell him the current situation, "My dad said you needn't go back to the office in the future."

Jimmy heard this and looked at Rose, "What did you say?"

Chapter 504

Chapter 504

"Grandpa, Ben spoke up.

"Leonard," Theresa reminded Leonard, who kept silent.

"Grandpa, Leonard muttered.

Theresa frowned at him. He was too indifferent!

Sarah was surprised Theresa didn't bring her own children. Speaking of which, Theresa had never shown up with her children. 'Is she afraid to let Charlie see her children? How ridiculous! Why should she please the cripple like that?'

Johnson asked, "Where's Charlie?"

Theresa glanced back at Charlie in the car. "I'll go get him."

She walked back to the car and glanced at Charlie. "What are you doing?"

Charlie glanced at her unhappily, "You didn't wait for me."

Theresa was speechless. He had been normal and nice to her when her throat hurt before. Why was he giving her a hard time now? He was so narrow-minded! "Get out. Everyone is waiting for you! Give me the cake." She hadn't known what to get Johnson and had made a cake for him at home with the children.

Charlie picked up the cake and got out of the car. After such a long rest, he didn't need a wheelchair anymore.

Sarah was about to mock Theresa when she saw Charlie get out of the car by himself! He even carried the cake in one hand and held Theresa's hand tenderly in the other. Leah had told her that Charlie was able to stand up, but she didn't take it seriously. The last time they met, he was in a wheelchair at Calsis's Residence. It was shocking that he could actually stand up!

She stiffened. She hated Charlie and felt he was a cripple and unworthy of her, but the moment.

she watched him stand up, she was suddenly jealous. Charlie was better than Eugene in appearance, family background, ability, and height, but he was now Theresa's husband! 'It's not fair!' She clenched her fists.

Johnson offered, "Let's go inside."

In the living room, Leah took the cake from Charlie and laughed. "That's so kind of you!"

Theresa said, "The children and I made this cake together. Happy birthday, dad!"

The Watson family had ruined the last birthday party. Today they were going to celebrate properly.

Johnson gave a happy smile. "Thanks. Take your seats!"

Ben and Leonard sat down on the couch.

Theresa and Charlie also came over and sat down.

Charlie took off his trench coat. He was wearing only a black suit without a tie, but he shone like a star.

Staring at him, Sarah thought he was dazzling. She hadn't seen him like this in a long time. She felt herself falling in love with him and wanting to get his attention again. However, he was now holding Theresa's hand like he was afraid she would run away.

Chapter 505

Chapter 505

Sarah asked stiffly, "Charlie, you can stand up?"

Charlie glanced at her and nodded. "Why? Are you disappointed? After all, I'm a cripple in your eyes, aren't I?"

Embarrassed, Sarah turned scarlet and then white.

Leah explained quickly, "Charlie, Sarah used to be childish. She didn't mean it. It's all in the past! We're all so happy for you."

Charlie replied, "It's okay, Ms. Cameron, if you hadn't spurred me on, I probably wouldn't have stood up!"

Sarah couldn't help but clench her fists.

To break the awkwardness, Leah offered to make dinner.

They sat together and lit candles. The two children sang a birthday song for Johnson.

Sarah watched Charlie pour water for Theresa and feed her. She had never seen him so gentle with a woman. It was like he was doing it on purpose in front of her. She admitted she was irritated. She had been with him for so long but he had never been so gentle with her. Theresa had only been with him for a short time. 'She doesn't deserve it! Jealousy welled up in her heart. She couldn't help but stand up and leave the dining room.

In the room upstairs, Sarah sat down on the couch, her hands lightly clasped, her face pale, and her lips quivering. 'What am I going to do? I can't go on like this! Is Theresa being so nice to him because she knew he'd be able to stand up? She's so mean!' She had just achieved something at work. Now Charlie could stand up. She was afraid she would be left far behind by Theresa again! She wouldn't allow it! Theresa and Charlie had dinner with Johnson downstairs. They were just about to leave with the children when Sarah came downstairs. "Theresa."

Theresa glanced up at her. "Yes?"

"I have something to tell you. Let's talk."

Theresa glanced at Charlie. "Take the children and wait for me in the car."

Charlie nodded, glanced at the two children, and took them out. The three of them looked great together.

Theresa followed Sarah upstairs and asked by the window, "What do you want to say?" Sarah bowed her head in front of her, her hair almost blocking her face. In a low voice, she questioned, "Did you know Charlie could stand up?"

Theresa wasn't surprised. "What's the point of you asking me that now?"

Chapter 506

Chapter 506

Sarah sneered at Theresa. "Tsk, ts, you knew Charlie could stand up so you ingratiated yourself with him. That explains it."

"If it makes you feel better to think that." Theresa was not surprised by Sarah's reaction. She knew Sarah was angry at this point because she hadn't smiled all night. She was embarrassed every time Sarah taunted Charlie. They guessed correctly. Sarah regretted it when she learned that Charlie could stand up!

Sarah complained, "Why didn't you tell me earlier? Did you steal Charlie from me on purpose?"

"What are you talking about?" Theresa stared at Sarah in disbelief. 'I stole Charlie from her? How ridiculous!'

"Yes! You didn't get along with Jimmy so you grabbed the opportunity to marry Charlie. I knew you were not that good! You must move out of Calsis's Residence! Dad said he'd let me marry Charlie as soon as I got back. I was childish before. Now I'm going to marry him. You don't have to replace me!" Sarah shouted in a commanding tone.

Theresa was stunned. "Are you out of your mind?" Sarah should at least ask Charlie if he wanted to marry her, shouldn't she?

Sarah sneered, "Stop lying to yourself! Do you really think Charlie likes you? He's only being nice. to you to piss me off. I know he loves me. He was very nice to me when we were together. I admit I was wrong before. He'll definitely forgive me if I make it right again!"

"You're so confident." Theresa laughed. She hadn't expected Sarah to be so cheeky.

Sarah snorted. "Of course. Anyway, I'm cleaner than you, a mother of two. Charlie is a neat freak. He won't touch a woman who isn't clean. If I'm right, he hasn't touched you, right?"

Theresa was completely shocked by Sarah's words. She knew Sarah was mean, but she was still irritated! She denied it, "Who said that? Do we need to report to you?" Charlie couldn't move his legs before, so it was normal that they didn't sleep together, but it didn't mean they would never do that. She believed that Charlie was not like Sarah said he was. She could feel that he loved her!

Sarah said sarcastically, "Theresa, you're lying. You rarely lie so I can see right through you. There's no shame in it. After all, Charlie has turned down so many better women than you. It's just that he's too picky. You'd better leave on your own. You'd be embarrassed if he kicked you out."

Theresa clenched her fists to resist the urge to hit her and forced a smile. "You don't have to say that to me. After all, there's no way Charlie will ever forgive you." She turned away, went downstairs, and walked out. It was raining outside. Without an umbrella, she had to run to the car.

Charlie was watching Leonard and Ben talking intently. Seeing that her hair was wet, he handed her a towel and asked softly, "Is it raining?"

Theresa took the towel. "A little."

"What did Sarah say to you?" Charlie was curious about what they had talked about.

Chapter 507

Chapter 507

Theresa's lips curled. "She asked me if I had known you could stand up and blamed me for not telling her earlier."

"She's insane. Don't take it to heart!" Charlie was in a good mood at the thought that Sarah was now very angry.

Theresa wiped the water off her hair and Charlie took the towel naturally. He was very sweet and loving toward her.

Theresa stared at his handsome face. "Charlie."

"Huh?" Charlie looked at her with a concerned look in his eyes.

Theresa asked, "Did you ever like Sarah?"

Charlie frowned and glared at her in disgust. "Ow! It's disgusting!"

"I'm curious about it. You were together, after all. Don't tell me if you don't want."

"Of course not. I never liked her," Charlie said firmly.

"Then why were you with her?" Theresa asked curiously.

"Because of Grandpa. He wanted me to marry a woman from the Cameron family! I thought it would be the same to marry anyone so I might as well grant his wish." He just hadn't expected Sarah to run away from the wedding. He was resentful at the thought of Grandpa getting dementia because of her. Fortunately, now he could stand up. He only hoped that Grandpa would get better soon.

Theresa was satisfied with his answer. She sat up straight and looked out the window. It was raining and the car was moving slowly. It suddenly occurred to her that Charlie had married her partly because of Grandpa. 'Does he like me?' The question was pointless. She had known what love was. It made no difference whether he liked her or not.

Soon they returned home. The two children went in first.

Old Mr. Calsis was still awake and Leticia was talking with him on the couch. Seeing Theresa, he waved with a smile. "Sarah, let's play chess."

Charlie reminded him, "Grandpa, this is Theresa." He was frustrated that Grandpa had been calling Theresa by the wrong name lately. He knew Grandpa was confused and mistook Theresa for Sarah, but he still wanted to correct him.

"Sarah, come here!" Old Mr. Calsis ignored him and just stared at Theresa.

Leticia said to Theresa with a smile, "He can't stop talking about you! Just play with him for a while or he won't go to sleep."

Theresa nodded. "Sure. Grandpa, let's go play chess."

Old Mr. Calsis stood up excitedly. "Great."

Theresa and the two children went with him to play chess.

Charlie stared after them and sat down.

The butler helped set up the pieces. Theresa and Old Mr. Calsis sat down.

Theresa spoke up, "Grandpa."

"Huh?" Old Mr. Calsis placed the pieces on the board carefully.

Theresa continued, "Will you call me Tess instead of Sarah?"

"Why?" Old Mr. Calsis gave her a puzzled look. "You're Sarah."

Theresa was frustrated. "I'm not Sarah. Sarah has come back. Do you like her that much?" She knew Old Mr. Calsis was confused, but she minded being called Sarah and wanted him to correct himself!

Old Mr. Calsis grinned. "I like you."

Theresa's lips curled into a smile.

Chapter 508

Chapter 508

Theresa admitted that she was a little narrow-minded. She was a little afraid and wondered who Grandpa would like when Sarah showed up. After all, Sarah was the one he had been talking about.

After a while, Leonard yawned, but he watched very carefully. It seemed that he was very interested in chess.

As for Ben, he had fallen asleep on Theresa's lap.

The butler came over and said to Old Mr. Calsis, "Let's go to sleep! Mrs. Calsis is going to put the children to bed."

Old Mr. Calsis glanced at his great-grandchildren with a smile. "All right." He was already very happy.

The butler smiled at Theresa. "Good night, madam."

Theresa nodded, picked up Ben, and said to Leonard, "Come on, honey, let's go to bed."

"Mom," Leonard asked as he followed Theresa, "is Ben heavy?"

Theresa replied, "No."

"Then why did you say I was heavy when you held me last time?"

Theresa was speechless. She hadn't expected Leonard to remember this.

Leonard asked, "Will you sleep with me at night?"

"I don't know." Theresa hadn't slept with Leonard in a long time. She was afraid Charlie would be suspicious. Suddenly, she had the urge to tell Charlie the story of the children. She took them to their room for a bath and put them to bed before returning to the bedroom next door.

Charlie was taking a bath. He leaned on the side of the tub topless and looked up at her. His wet hair made him look very sexy.

Theresa's heart pounded. She looked away subconsciously.

Charlie asked, "Do you want to join me?"

"No. I'm tired," Theresa refused.

"Come here," Charlie invited her in a gentle voice.

Theresa looked at him and refused again, "I'm really tired." She was afraid she would get a nosebleed if she took a bath with him. She could barely contain herself and could only go out. Charlie stared after her and sighed. They had been married for so long, but she still didn't see him as her husband! He could sense that she was a very alert person. They had been together for so long and he had been so good to her, but she had never said she liked him.

Theresa went to the cloakroom to get her pajamas. Soon Charlie came out and she went into the bathroom to take a shower. When she used body wash, she remembered Sarah's words, "Charlie hasn't touched you, right?"

ey had been married for a long time. At first, it had only been an agreed marriage, but Charlie had asked her the other day to stay with him all the time. 'He's not going to divorce me again, is he? Should I let down my guard?' Theresa took a deep breath as if she had made up her mind before walking out of the bathing room.

Chapter 509

Chapter 509

"Charlie's not that kind of guy." Theresa looked at Dick and realized that this man really talked quite a lot.

Dick heard her words and sneered in defiance, "Are you women all like this? You will still speak.

up for the man who dumped you?"

Theresa looked at him and asked, "Can we start the treatment now?"

Looking at her in a calm manner, Dick was inexplicably subdued and quieted by her.

Standing behind Dick, Theresa began to give him acupuncture, while Mr. Garson stood by and cautiously stared at the scene.

It was like the way Jonathan looked at her when Theresa went to treat Charlie...

Treating insomnia was not a difficult task for Theresa, but it required some patience.

After the acupuncture, Theresa looked at Dick and asked, "Mr. White, how do you feel now?"

Dick said, "I have no feeling. Can you really heal me?"

Theresa,

When it was about time, she took the needle out and said to Dick, "I'll be coming over in the next few days. Insomnia can't be cured in a hurry. Please be patient."

Dick said, "I'm a man with everything, but no patience!"

Theresa glanced at him and said politely, "I'll go back first."

"Wait." Seeing that she was about to leave, Dick called out to her.

Theresa stopped and asked, "Mr. White, what else do you want?"

"Have you ever slept with Charlie?" Dick asked a very bold question.

Theresa was stunned for a moment and looked at the man in front of her, "That should be considered sexual harassment, right?"

"I'm just wondering?" Dick said with a look of entitlement.

Theresa looked over at him, "You fancy Charlie?"

"..." Dick's face darkened with a disgusted expression like he had eaten a fly, "What did you say? Do you want to die?"

He fancied Charlie?

Shit!

There was no way! He felt like he was going to die of disgust just thinking about it!

Theresa said, "I thought you fancied him because you were so concerned about his personal affairs! It's good that you don't and I'll go back first. See you tomorrow."

When she finished, Theresa walked out the door.

Mr. Garson walked her out and said, "Could you cure Mr. White?"

Unlike Dick's arrogance, his assistant was quite polite.

Theresa said, "I will do my best to cure him."

Mr. Garson said, "I'm relieved to hear you say that."

After Theresa cured Charlie, everyone now felt she was like God. So, Rawlins didn't doubt what she said.

Looking at Theresa, he felt a little strange, "You haven't said how much it will cost for you to cure

Mr. White."

Theresa looked at him, "I don't want money."

Mr. Garson froze for a moment, "So what do you want?"

If she didn't want money, that would be a problem...

Theresa looked at him and said, "I heard that Mr. White has been losing sleep for a long time and people around him are suffering. If I cure him, Mr. Garson should not get rid of me with a little money? Wouldn't I be paid what I wanted?"

Rawlins felt embarrassed, "That's true. If you can cure him, we'd appreciate it. But you can't ask for everything. For example, if you want to marry Mr. White, I can't help it."

Now people outside all suspected that Charlie married Theresa because she promised to cure him!

Maybe this woman was trying to use the treatment to get married to Mr. White.

Even if they divorced later, she could still get a good share of the property.

Chapter 510

Chapter 510

Theresa, "..."

Choking on Rawlins' words, she laughed, "Don't worry! I can't stand Mr. White's temper and I just want him to invest in my father's company."

Rawlins was surprised, "Why? I heard that Mr. Calsis has invested in your father's company. With his ability, do you still need to find outside investment?" Theresa said, "I have my own reasons. Let's talk about this matter after I cure Mr. White and I believe you will keep your word."

She thought it over. If she took Leonard and Ben away, Charlie might do something against her father's company...

She couldn't ignore the company just because of her decision.

And in SERAMETON, there were few people who were able to bail her father's company out from Charlie.

After getting out of Dick's house, Theresa didn't rush back to the Calsis family. She planned to go over to see the house her father had bought for her, and when she got out of the Calsis family, she would move there directly.

However, Theresa was only halfway there when she received a call from her father, Johnson,

"Theresa, Charlie's coming over. Just come back."

Charlie went to her house?

Theresa thought it was strange, "What's he doing?"

Johnson's voice sounded a little frightened, "I don't know."

Charlie had always been unpredictable, and no one knew what he had in mind. Johnson did not dare to offend this son-in-law now.

While he was talking to Theresa, Charlie was sitting at home on the couch, with a somber face and a complicated-looking expression.

Johnson thought, "Did he come over to talk about the divorce?"

He's finally going to show his true colors!

After Johnson called Theresa, he sat back, looked at Charlie, and said, "Theresa is still out there.

What are you doing here?"

He usually came here to find Theresa.

Otherwise, Charlie wouldn't come to their house.

Charlie looked at Johnson, without his usual arrogant look, and said, "I'm here to see you."

He was rarely polite, making Johnson even more nervous, "What do you want from me?"

The way Charlie looked made Johnson panic.

Could he be more normal?

Leah didn't come into the living room but just hid in the doorway. Wanting to know what Charlie was doing over here today, she was eavesdropping at the door. Charlie looked at Johnson and said, "Theresa wants to divorce me, so, I want you to persuade her."

There was really nothing he could do about it. It seemed that in this world, Theresa only listened.

to what her father said.

So, Charlie decided to come to Johnson and ask him to persuade Theresa.

Ever since Charlie's leg got better, Johnson was worried every day that Charlie would dump

Theresa.

Because he was worried Theresa would be sad.

He felt that this day would definitely come. At this moment, when he heard Charlie mention the word divorce, he instinctively felt that it was Charlie who wanted a divorce.

So, he stood up in anger and said loudly, "Fine. Charlie, I knew it! You are a member of the Calsis family. Since you want to divorce Theresa, I can't force you not to do it. My daughter must have been blind to marry you.

Scumbag!

Theresa's life was really too hard, before meeting Jimmy, and now meeting Charlie.

That was not enough and Charlie even came to their house now. From Charlie's appearance, he must want Johnson to persuade Theresa to divorce quickly and not to pester him.

Standing aside to hear Johnson yell out, Leah froze for a moment. What? Charlie wanted to divorce Theresa?

She knew it!

When Theresa came over, she said she and Charlie get along well.

Look...

Charlie was already planning to dump her, and he had come straight to the house to talk about the divorce.

Chapter 511

Chapter 511

Leah lifted the corner of her mouth. Ever since Charlie got better, she had been waiting for this news every day.

As long as Charlie divorced Theresa and became single again, no one could gossip even if Sarah went to him.

As for Charlie, he and Sarah were engaged before, and Sarah was his only admitted fiancée.

Before he ever spent so much effort to force Sarah to come back to marry him.

It's normal for couples to be will-they-won't-they.

As long as Sarah behaved a little better in the future, Charlie would definitely fall in love with her again.

After all,

Sarah's condition was better than Theresa's!

Thinking of this, Leah turned around excitedly and ran to call Sarah.

Charlie sat on the couch looking at Johnson. When Johnson called him the day he first stood up, did have a bad attitude.

But at that time, he did not have the idea of divorcing Theresa.

At this moment, seeing that Johnson was very emotional, he patiently explained, "It's not that I want to divorce her and it's that she is determined to divorce me. I came here to ask you to help me persuade her."

Looking at Charlie, Johnson almost thought he had misheard.

Theresa wanted to divorce Charlie?

Charlie came to the house to let him persuade Theresa?

It's...

He didn't know what to say.

Johnson stared at Charlie closely, feeling that he was joking.

Seeing that he didn't say anything, Charlie said, "Didn't you look down on me and want her to divorce me because I was a cripple? Now that I'm on my feet, I'm still not qualified to be your son-in-law?"

He thought he had been polite enough to them.

Suffering a great deal of humiliation from their family before, he did want revenge at the time, but he still spared their family because Theresa pleaded with him.

He even helped them to save their face from the Watson family.

Everything he did was just for her.

She gave him hope to get back on his feet, and he fancied her

Even so, he still didn't get approval from Theresa.

Huh. After so many years of living, it was the first time he found himself so bad in the eyes of a woman.

He was on the verge of being made unconfident by her.

Johnson looked at Charlie who was sincere. He also didn't know what Theresa was thinking.

Didn't she fancy Charlie?

Why did she want a divorce?

The two kids were also Charlie's.

Johnson said, "When Theresa comes back, I'll ask her what's going on."

He did not dare to decide for Theresa.

Hearing her words, Charlie said, "Well. She always listens to you the most. If you persuade her, she should listen."

Looking at Charlie, Johnson refreshed his view of Charlie for the first time and he felt that Charlie seemed different from what he thought Charlie was.

Charlie said, "There is one more thing that I want to ask."

Johnson said, "What is it?"

"Do you know where those two kids of Theresa are?"

Hearing Charlie's words, Johnson blinked in confusion and looked at Charlie...

Weren't the two kids... at his house?

Why did he ask this?

For a moment, Johnson did not know how to answer him.

Seeing Johnson looking at himself, Charlie suddenly remembered that Johnson and Theresa were a family. So, he sighed and stood up, "Let it go. Since she doesn't want to tell me, I guess. you won't tell me either."

They were a family but he was just an outsider. There was no way Johnson would tell him.

Chapter 512

Chapter 512

Theresa drove home and found her father sitting on the couch, with Leah and Sarah in tow. After she walked in the door, she looked at her father, and asked, "Where's Charlie?"

"He's already gone back." Johnson sat here for a long time with a lot of doubt.

Theresa was concerned, "Did Charlie get you in trouble?"

In the past two days, she and Charlie would quarrel whenever they were talking to each other and she was now worried he would blame it on her father.

Johnson said seriously, "Come to the study, and I have something to ask you."

Looking at Johnson worried about Theresa, Leah and Sarah were extraordinarily happy.

Sarah rushed back the first time she knew Charlie was coming over, but Charlie had already gone back by the time she returned.

She was still wondering in her mind if Charlie really wanted a divorce.

At this moment, after looking at her stepfather's reaction, Sarah could already be sure that her mother was not lying to her!

Well, as long as Theresa and Charlie divorced, she would have a chance to marry Charlie!

As Theresa followed her father to the study, Johnson said, "Close the door."

Looking at him with a nervous look, Theresa reached out and closed the door behind her.

They all sat down before Theresa looked at Johnson and asked, "What's going on? If Charlie looked for trouble with you, I'll go get him. Well, I'll call him right now."

She had treated him well enough!

But he was even looking for trouble with her father?

If so, the last bit of affection she had for him was going to be gone.

Johnson waved his hand and said, "Sit down. Charlie didn't look for trouble with me."

"That's good." Theresa breathed a sigh of relief.

Johnson looked at Theresa. Remembering the way Charlie looked today, he was in a particularly mixed mood, "I heard Charlie say you were divorcing him?" "He told you about it?" In order to keep her father from worrying, Theresa hadn't told him.

She had planned to heal Dick before she told him.

Johnson said, "He came over today to tell me that you want a divorce, and he wants me to persuade you not to divorce him."

Hearing her father's words, Theresa froze.

She sat in her chair, gripping the sleeve of her clothes uncomfortably. She couldn't even imagine that Charlie would come to beg her father.

After all, Charlie was always condescending in front of her father.

Seeing that she didn't say anything, Johnson asked, "Didn't you love him? Why do you want to divorce him?"

"He and I weren't right for each other." Theresa didn't know why Charlie did that...

Since he didn't have any feelings for her, why did he force himself to be with her?

Johnson said, "Why? You two get along pretty well on my birthday."

Theresa looked over at her father with concern on his face. He knew she fancied Charlie, so he wanted her to be with Charlie all the time.

But...

There were some things that Theresa really didn't know how to tell her father.

10

She laughed and tried to act like she didn't care, "Dad, since I was a kid, you taught me never to take anything that doesn't belong to me. Do you think it's right for me to be with Charlie? Even if he's in a wheelchair, people think I'm not good enough for him, let alone the fact that he's already standing up."

Charlie owned hundreds of millions of dollars in assets...

Born from a rich and powerful family.

But she...

Who was she?

She's just an ordinary woman trying to make a living!

No! Ordinary women at least wouldn't have had such a bad past as she did.

Greed would only cost her even more.

She was now trying to adjust her state.

#Chapter 513

Chapter 513

Chapter 513

Theresa said, "I'm not a kid anymore, and I know what I'm doing. Charlie is grateful to me now, so he wants to keep me with him..."

"But he is not the kind of person who values feelings that are dispensable to him. He just wants to return the favor to me.

"At first, I could stay with him using his gratitude, but will we still do so over time? Can two people really stay together for the rest of their lives out of gratitude? I've seen it through. Love is just a lie. And I don't want to waste my energy on these things anymore."

After she said that, Johnson understood it.

He looked at Theresa and didn't say anything for a while.

As someone who had been there, he also felt that Theresa had a point.

Feelings were the most unreliable thing in this world. When two people who were not right for each other were together over time, it would only produce more conflicts.

He said, "But what about the two kids? You don't want them? Charlie also asked me today if I knew where your two kids were. I was shocked but, luckily, I reacted quickly enough. You haven't told him about the two kids yet?"

Theresa said, "Since I want to get a divorce, I don't want to tell him for now. You know, it will be harder to get a divorce after telling him. After some days, I'll move to the house you bought for me, bringing the kids there as well, to completely clear the relationship with Charlie."

"Then the company..." Before he could finish, Johnson closed his mouth and changed the subject, "I mean if you take the kids away, Charlie won't be angry?"

He wanted to ask if the company would be the object that Charlie would vent. But then he thought, even if it really affected the company, it had nothing to do with Theresa.

He didn't want the company's affairs to affect Theresa's happiness.

She had already had a hard time all these years.

Theresa said, "Don't worry. I'll take care of all this before I leave, and the company will be fine. It took you many years of hard work to build it up, and I wouldn't let it go bankrupt just like that.

"You have to take a lot of trouble with Sarah's work. Now she's managing the company, and there's no telling what will happen. I heard she's planning to spend a fortune to hire an online celebrity to be the endorser for our company.

"She got the benefit of the online celebrity after this donation, but the real problem of our company has not been solved now."

With their backward design, they took the low-end affordable route, never keeping up with other brands... It's not okay to do business this way... This simply could not last, and it also might have the opposite result.

"I heard her say it. And I'm very much against what she's doing." Johnson said, "Ugh, she's just too young and has her mother to guard her." Before he could say anything now, Leah would say, "My daughter is so awesome. If it weren't for her, the company wouldn't be as good as it is now?"

It's like Sarah was right and he was wrong.

Theresa said, "It's OK for you to know that. Since she was so self-indulgent, let her be! She will suffer the consequences later."

Her father was still not well, so he did not return to the office.

Johnson heard her words and nodded, "I will go back to the company in a few days."

After talking with her father in the study, Theresa stood up and went out.

As soon as she opened the door, Leah and Sarah stumbled in inertia.

Theresa looked at the two and frowned. What were the two of them doing here when she was talking to her father?

Seeing Theresa looking at herself, Leah smiled with an embarrassed look on her face, "Tess, are you done talking? I would have asked if you guys wanted something to drink?" "No." When Theresa walked out the door with a sober face, Sarah and Leah came to her.

Leah said, "Are you ready to go back?"

She was trying to hear what Theresa and her father were saying.

Chapter 514

Chapter 514

But the study was so well soundproofed that she didn't hear anything.

Theresa said, "Yes."

"I heard you and Charlie are getting a divorce?"

Theresa gave her a look, "You look like you're looking forward to it?"

Sarah came over and stood next to her mother looking at Theresa, "Tsk. Didn't you say you and Charlie were close? Theresa, I ever told you that you two wouldn't last. What a pity! You're so nice to Charlie, but he still didn't fancy you."

Theresa pulled the corner of her mouth and said, "As long as I don't divorce him, you can't marry him. What? You, who was so proud want to be the mistress?"

Sarah froze and stared at Theresa.

Theresa said, "Yes, I am getting a divorce. Don't be a bitch in front of me, or if I regret and don't divorce him, it will be you who will be sad. Of course, even if I divorce, you still can't marry Charlie, so I advise you to stop fantasizing like this and you might as well do something meaningful for yourself!" Sarah looked at Theresa with her face darkened, "Then you will see!"

When she got divorced, she would have a hard time.

And she would definitely be back to her old life with such an unappealing personality.

Sarah was just waiting to laugh at her.

Just as she finished talking to Theresa, her cell phone rang and she went to answer it. Returning from the phone call, Sarah turned to Leah and said, "Mom, I'm going to work."

"Who are you having dinner with today?"

"Lloyd Heard. I'm going to hire him as an endorser for our company?"

"It shouldn't be cheap?" Leah said.

Sarah said, "It's within the range of reasonable investment anyway. He has many fans, comes back from abroad, and is the endorser for many high-end luxury products. Even if I wanted to ask him to be the endorser for our company, he might not agree to it."

She said and was about to walk out the door when Theresa reached out to stop her, "You want Lloyd as an endorser? Do you know how much dirt is on him?"

"That's all his rivals slandering him. He just has a few relationships, which can't be called dirt. It's normal for him to fall in love in his twenties. Besides, he dresses so well and has been so popular. If we get him as an endorser, we are sure to make a steady profit."

Theresa said, "Are you pretending to be blind? If you spent so much money to hire him, you might as well hire some reliable designers. Sarah, you are really crazy!"

She had previously thought that it was unreliable for Sarah to hire an online celebrity.

As a result, ...

She even wanted to hire Lloyd!

Sarah sneered, "So, the leaders of those foreign high-end luxury companies are not as discerning as you are? Theresa, did you become silly at home with the kids every day? Leave the company's affairs alone. You can't imagine what our company's performance is this month in your life."

After she finished, she pushed Theresa away and went out.

Looking at Sarah who was opinionated, Theresa was very speechless..

Theresa got out of the house and drove back to the Calsis family.

When she just arrived home, she received a message from Dick's assistant Rawlins, "Dr. Cameron, Mr. White has just slept for three hours. It's unbelievable."

Chapter 515

Chapter 515

Theresa didn't understand his words, "Isn't it normal to sleep for three hours?"

Mr. Garson, however, looked extraordinarily excited, as if this was some great thing.

Rawlins said, "It's normal for normal people, but... Mr. White is a very poor sleeper, and he can only sleep for an hour at a time. Today, for the first time, he slept for three hours. You are really awesome. When will you come over tomorrow? I'll send someone to pick you up."

Mr. Garson, who had been suspicious of her before, now very trusted her.

Theresa said, "No, I'll go over myself."

When Theresa entered, she saw that Rose was there. Rose still came in after hesitating for a while in the morning, and then she was left by Leticia to have dinner. At this moment, Rose was making dumplings with Leticia.

After all, Leticia had watched her grow up, and for the first time, she didn't come back for so long since she went to the Watson family.

At this moment, seeing Rose back, Leticia was softhearted, so she kept Rose at home for dinner.

When Theresa came in, Rose gave her a look. Seeing Theresa, Leticia said, "You're back?" Although Leticia heard Theresa say in the morning that she was going to divorce Charlie, Leticia was not hostile to her but still very polite.

Because...

Without Theresa, Charlie might not have stood up at all.

Even if Theresa wanted to divorce Charlie, it wouldn't change the fact that she cured Charlie's leg.

So, Leticia was very nice to her.

Theresa nodded, "Hmm. Rose is here too?"

Theresa just thought they were family, so she said hello to Rose and didn't think much of it. However, when Rose heard Theresa's words, she felt that Theresa had an ulterior motive.

She looked at Theresa and answered.

Theresa went upstairs, and she was really a bit tired after a long day outside.

The two kids were still in music class at this moment, and the music teacher was teaching them to play instruments. Seeing Leonard and Ben standing aside playing violin, she smiled, didn't bother them, and went to change her clothes.

Seeing that Charlie was not there, Theresa went into the dressing room, took off her clothes, and was ready to change into her pajamas when Charlie came from the bathroom. He had just finished his shower and was standing in the doorway. Seeing Theresa who had just undressed, he froze for a moment.

Almost the moment he saw her, the muscles of his body became tense...

When he thought about what happened the night before last, his expression was a bit complicated.

He adjusted his mood for a moment before saying, "You're back?"

Theresa had thought the room was empty, so she didn't even close the door.

Hearing his voice, Theresa froze and hurriedly put her clothes on before looking back at him,

"What are you doing here? I thought you'd gone out."

Charlie said, "I was just in the bathroom taking a bath."

Theresa responded, "Oh."

Charlie walked in and stood aside, taking his clothes off the hanger.

He had a bath towel around his waist, exposing the upper half of his body...

The dressing room wasn't particularly spacious, and being alone with him like this always made her feel a little awkward.

After all, they were getting divorced.

Theresa hurriedly put on her clothes and walked out the door.

As Charlie watched her still avoiding him, some loss flashed in his eyes....

She seemed to be still angry about what happened that night.

He admitted he was a little impulsive at the time, which was what made her so resistant to him now.

Chapter 516

Chapter 516

After going out, Theresa felt a little thirsty, so she took a bottle of water out of the fridge. After she took a sip, Charlie came out and said, "Let's have a chat." Theresa was also thinking about the same thing.

Seeing Charlie sitting on the couch, she went and sat down across from him.

The bottle of unfinished water was placed on the table by her, and Charlie looked at her. And she sat across the table but did not look up directly at him....

He said, "I should apologize to you for what happened the night before last. It was my fault, and I was too impulsive. Theresa, I didn't mean to hurt you. I just..."

Theresa said, "It's okay, and I didn't take it to heart."

She knew he must have been too angry at the time.

He didn't really want to hurt her.

If he really wanted to hurt her, he had plenty of opportunities earlier...

"Anyway, I feel pretty sorry."

Theresa opened her mouth to change the subject, "About the divorce..."

Charlie said, "I wanted to talk to you about that too."

He looked at Theresa and said, "After communicating with you this morning, I already know your determination."

"Then why did you go to my house today to see my dad?" Theresa felt a little confused about what he did.

Charlie sat on the couch, and pursed his lips with a serious look, "I still hope you can change your mind about that. So, I went to your father because I thought you would listen to what he said." He went there with hope, but now, it seemed that it did not help.

Theresa said, "I have talked to my dad, and he's now supporting my divorce. Charlie, marriage is a two-person affair, and it's useless for anyone to say anything. Like your parents can't interfere with our affairs Don't go to my dad anymore!"

Charlie didn't expect that even Johnson couldn't change her mind.

He asked, "You want to get a divorce because you have someone you like? As far as I know, Eugene loves Cristina... You and Jimmy are also not possible to be together. What are your plans after the divorce?"

Listening to Charlie's words, Theresa said, "It's my own business, and I don't think I need to tell you about it."

The expression on Charlie's face kept changing before he nodded, "Theresa, I was able to stand up because of you. You saved me, so I've planned to give you everything I have in this life. Even if you want a divorce now, I also..." He slowed down for a moment before saying the last two words, "Promise you."

After all, the marriage between the two of them started with an agreement...

He wasn't the kind of man who was ungraceful and had to use the marriage license to force her to stay with him.

Since she didn't love him, she deserved to have her freedom.

Hearing his words, Theresa breathed a sigh of relief, "Thank you."

She knew he would say yes, because he really didn't have to keep pestering her, and he would have a better choice.

Seeing that he seemed not too happy, with a sober face, Theresa said comfortingly, "Do not worry. After the divorce, I will make it clear to everyone that I divorced you voluntarily and that it's not your problem. This way, no one will criticize you!"

Hearing her words, Charlie froze for a moment, looked up at her, and said, "I..."

He had never considered this.

He didn't care what people thought of him, and he just didn't want to let her go!

Forgot it.

There was no point for him to say this when things had come to this point.

Seeing that he opened his mouth but didn't say anything further, Theresa turned to Charlie and said, "When are we going to get a divorce? Is it okay in half a month?"

Then, Dick should be almost well enough.

"That should be okay, and I'll tell Jonathan to have the information ready."

With that said, he glanced at Theresa, "Before the divorce, can we still get along as we did before???"

Chapter 517

Chapter 517

He wanted to talk to her.

Wanted to stay with her...

Although they were only a nominal couple with a signed agreement, he was happy with every day he spent with her.

Theresa looked at him and said, "... Of course."

They weren't enemies either.

And they didn't owe each other anything.

So, they didn't have to be so tit-for-tat.

The only thing he had done wrong was forcibly assault her the night before, but he had just apologized for that.

Theresa still had some unfinished business and had to stay here to take care of the two kids recently, so she didn't want to make it look like she had a grudge against Charlie. Charlie said, "So can I hug you?"

"..." Theresa looked at this man and felt very speechless!

Both of them had been preparing for divorce, so was it appropriate for him to say this?

He wasn't teasing her?

She gave him a serious look and said, "No."

Charlie gave her a somewhat disappointed look, "Well."

He sat down on the couch and stopped talking looking sad.

Theresa Felt a little embarrassed and looked at the time. Thinking Leonard and Ben's instrument lesson should have finished, she stood up and said to Charlie, "I'll go out first."

After saying that, she walked out the door.

Leonard was sitting at his computer working on something.

Theresa asked, "Who prepared the computers for you?"

She hadn't put a computer in the room before because she thought the two little ones were too young.

Leonard said, "Grandma."

Theresa was helpless, "What do you need a computer for?"

It's good for them to have an iPad to play with normally.

Of course, Theresa usually controlled the time in order to keep them from getting too addicted to playing

After all, they were still kids.

Leonard shook his head, clearly not wanting to tell her.

He even deliberately turned off the computer as Theresa walked over to him.

Theresa stood next to him and looked at him, "Tsk, Leonard, it breaks my heart that you don't tell me any secrets you have now."

Looking at her, Leonard wanted to say something to comfort her but was tongue-tied, so, he just grabbed her hand and shook his head, "Mum, I love you." Theresa looked at the little one. Well, she forgave him!

Because he was so cute.

Ben asked, "Mom, where did you go today?"

"I'm off to work."

Ben said, "You have a new patient?"

Theresa nodded, "Yeah. Your dad has gotten better, so I took a new job."

"Dad told me today that you don't want him anymore!"

"Huh?" Theresa looked at Ben.

Not only did Charlie tell her father, but he also told Ben this.

Ben grabbed Theresa's hand, "I feel Dad is pretty pitiful. Mom, do we have to move away from here? Can we take dad with us?"

Looking at her son's naive eyes, Theresa didn't know what to say to him for a moment.

Even if a child was intelligent, it would be impossible for him to fully understand what adults were doing.

She sighed helplessly.

Ben looked at Theresa and knew that when she didn't say anything, it meant she didn't say yes.

Chapter 518

Chapter 518

He repeated somewhat sadly, "I really feel that Dad is pretty pitiful."

"

He's not pitiful," Leonard interjected.

"Pretty pitiful."

"Not pitiful."

"Pretty pitiful."

"Mom..." Leonard said, "Don't take him and I don't like him."

When they came out of the room and prepared to go downstairs to eat dumplings, the two little ones were still arguing about it.

Theresa said, "No more talk. If they know I'm taking you away, then you'll have to stay here."

When the two kids heard Theresa's words, they immediately shut up.

Theresa didn't want this to happen, but she was now more afraid that everything she had done would be in vain.

Once something went wrong, she would lose her two favorite kids.

In the restaurant, everyone came down.

Rose sat next to Pat and said, "Dad."

Pat said, "What is it?"

He didn't stop his daughter.

After all, she was his child.

Since she was willing to come back, they wouldn't kick her out.

Seeing that Rose didn't continue, Pat gave her a look.

Rose didn't use to be like this.

As the little princess of the family, she always said whatever she wanted to say, but now... she was even cautious about saying something.

Pat asked, "What's the matter with you? Are you unhappy at Watson's house? Are they bullying you?"

Rose shook her head, "Of course not. I just wanted to ask... if you could let Jim back into the company. Dad, Jim has been working in the company for so many years and has never made a mistake. Wouldn't it be okay to let him come back to the company? If it's Aunt Theresa and Uncle Charlie who disagree, I can go to apologize to them."

As long as Jimmy could return to the company, it was okay for her to suffer a little.

She was worried that Jimmy would be depressed if he wasn't allowed back into the office.

It was confirmed later that Theresa did cheat on him.

She cheated and gave birth to a child, but also deadly denied... which made Jimmy so miserable.

Now Charlie and Theresa were getting divorced, and why shouldn't Jimmy be allowed back?

"No way." Just as Rose finished speaking, Pat rejected her flatly.

Theresa didn't expect Pat would refuse Rose's request!

After all, Jimmy was his son-in-law.

Theresa also didn't think that Pat would kick Jimmy out for long.

She thought as soon as Rose came to plead with Pat, he would definitely allow Jimmy back to the company, but she didn't expect that he would refuse Rose's request now.

Huh, wasn't he the one who doted on his daughter the most?

Rose looked at her father with some disappointment.

Rose managed to muster up the courage to plead with her father, only to be rebuffed.

She said in confusion, "Why? It's been so long since that thing happened and my Aunt Theresa is fine, but why do you still refuse to let Jim go? He has already been punished. It's true that he shouldn't have done that to Aunt Theresa that day, but it's always true that Aunt Theresa cheated on him while she was with him!"

Pat looked at Rose and realized that Rose didn't understand his good intentions until now. Without explaining to her, he just said, "Anyway, your Aunt Theresa saved your Uncle Charlie. Without her, your Uncle Charlie wouldn't have been able to stand up. I won't let Jimmy go back to the company no matter what you say now."

"Dad..."

Rose said, "I am your only daughter, and only love him in this life. Isn't it enough that I've moved out of the house? Did Jimmy do a bad job at the company? I don't think Roger does a better job than Jimmy does and Roger isn't close to our family. But Jimmy is your own son-in-law... You really let me down too much by treating him like this."

Pat looked at Rose, who had been very obedient since she was a child. Even when she was in adolescence, she had always been very well-behaved and didn't mess with him.

But now, they were in conflict over Jimmy.

Chapter 519

Chapter 519

Pat looked at her and said, "We had our minds made up about Jimmy when you left the family. If you're naive enough to think that we'll change our minds when time goes on and you come back, that's not going to happen."

He had to make it clear to Rose.

He didn't really want to talk about Jimmy.

Hearing what Pat said, Rose didn't say anything more. She sat there with her head down, feeling that she couldn't see any hope at all now, with no one to depend on....

She found that her life was meaningless.

Leticia came out and said, "Charlie is not down yet?"

Pat said, "I sent him a message."

They had a family group, in which they would usually send a message when the meal was ready. Only when someone didn't come down would they ask the maid to get him.

Leticia put the dumplings down, looked at Rose who sat there with a sad face, and said, "What's wrong with Rose? Did you scold her?"

Leticia glared at Pat. After spending a day with Rose today, Leticia felt sorry for the girl. Now Rose was like this when she met with Pat, so Leticia naturally couldn't help but speak up for her.

Pat said, "She asked me to get Jimmy back to the company, but I refused."

Leticia had already sat down. After hearing Pat's words, she paused for a moment and didn't say anything more to Pat.

Leticia looked at Rose and said, "Rose, it's the men's business. You don't have to worry about Jimmy. He'll get a job if he's really capable. We just told him to leave the company. We didn't do anything to stop him from finding a new job."

It could have been worse for him.

Rose had thought that Leticia would speak up for her, only to find that even Leticia was on Pat's side when it came to Jimmy.

Rose bit her lip with mixed feelings, lowered her head in a low mood, and stopped talking.

Soon, Charlie came down and everyone started to eat.

Rose wanted Jimmy to go back to the company, but surprisingly, everyone else was against the idea.

Rose had spent much time helping with the dumplings, but she didn't eat many of them before she left.

Brenda walked her out and told the Calsis family's driver to drive her home. "Take care, Rose. Please call when you get home, Now it was cold outside in winter. The temperature was even lower at night. Rose stood in the cold wind, looked at Brenda, and said with her eyes red, "Brenda, do you think that my father and grandma will never

love me again?"

Brenda sighed and reassured her. "How could it be? You're thinking too much! They both love you very much."

Brenda really didn't know what else to say to Rose, so she just handed her a box of dumplings. "Here are some of the dumplings we made today. You can take them back and cook them for yourself.

11

They had made the dumplings because Rose had said she wanted to eat them.

However, she hadn't eaten many of them.

Rose took a look at the box that Brenda handed her and refused. "No, thanks. You can keep them. I don't want them."

After that, she lowered her head and got into the car.

Brenda watched Rose from behind and sighed, not knowing what to tell her.

Everyone could see what kind of person Jimmy was, except Rose. She was still too young to know better after all.

Chapter 520

Chapter 520

Jimmy was such a scumbag that he didn't deserve a good girl like Rose!

Rose returned to the Watson family. She entered the door, took off her coat, and saw the family eating.

Seeing Rose back, Rosales hurriedly stood up, walked over to her, and said, "Welcome back."

Rose forced a smile. "Thanks."

She had a bad time with the Calsis family, but after all, she didn't want to bring her negative emotions back to the Watson family.

"Have you eaten yet?" Rosales asked.

Rose said, "Yes, I had some dumplings."

"Are you still hungry? Come over and have some more food."

Rosales was so nice that Rose couldn't refuse and had to sit down.

Jimmy had been waiting for her at home today. Seeing her come back, he said, "How was it?"

Rose took a sip of water from her glass. Facing Jimmy's expectant eyes, she was a little unsure of what to say. Should she tell him that her father had rejected her request? Rosales also sat down and said to Rose, "Rose, have you talked to your father about Jim? What did they say?"

Actually, we also feel quite bad about what happened, so if it's okay, Jim can go and apologize."

Rose had just taken a sip of water, and questions were coming at her. The Watson family all looked at her with great expectations, knowing that she was the princess of the Calsis family. They thought that the Calsis family would definitely agree if she asked.

Seeing that everyone was looking at her, Rose had to tell the truth in order to keep them from having pointless expectations. "They didn't agree."

Rose felt that no one was happy to hear her say this.

Eric, who was eating, immediately put down his fork and said in a strange way, "They didn't agree? Then why didn't you come back earlier? I saw that you hadn't returned all day and thought they would say yes." Rose hadn't come back all day, so the Watson family had thought that Jimmy would surely get the job. That was why they had prepared a big dinner in the evening to celebrate. However, they had never expected that...

Rose came back with bad news..

Rose was shocked by Eric's words and she could clearly feel that her father-in-law was not happy. Rosales elbowed Eric and said to Rose, "Are they still mad at Jimmy? Why don't you go over there with Jim tomorrow so that he can apologize to your father? We also feel sorry for Theresa in this matter. You can tell them that we will take care of it. I've given her dowry back, so she won't be angry anymore, right?" Rose said helplessly, "They won't agree."

After seeing her father today, she could tell that there was no way the Calsis family would allow Jimmy to go back.

She looked at Jimmy, who sat there without speaking, and said, "Honey, I think you can go somewhere else even if you can't go back to the company. There are many other good companies in Serameton now. With your ability, you can do a good job anywhere. Don't you think so?"

Eric hurriedly said, "How can any other company be as good as your father's? Besides, Jim is your husband. If he goes to another company, people might gossip about him, and he wouldn't get a good job, right?" Eric was very concerned about his son's future.

Jimmy had done so well in the Nandlall's Group for the past couple of years. Now he just lost his job like that and Rose couldn't do anything to help him. Eric was quite unhappy.

Jimmy said, "Dad, that's enough. Please stop. I'm going to look for a job tomorrow. Just forget about Nandlall's. It would be embarrassing even if I could go back there. Rose is right. With my ability, I can go anywhere."

Chapter 521

Chapter 521

Since the Calsis family wouldn't let him go to the company, he could go to their rival company.

It just so happened that a senior had hopped from the company to White's Group before and was doing well there.

When drinking with the senior last night, the senior told Jimmy that Dick was Charlie's arch rival. If he worked for Dick, even Charlie couldn't do anything to him.

He also thought it was good because then he wouldn't have to go to Nandlall's to take Charlie's wrath. Yes, he was Rose's husband and Pat's son-in-law, but Charlie and Pat were brothers growing up together. Eric was about to say something else when Jimmy said, "That's it!"

Rosales glanced at her son, Jimmy. Since he had made up his mind, she didn't want to say more, and they just accept the fact.

When they finished eating, everyone stood up. Seeing Rosales ready to put away the bowls, Rose followed her and stood up, saying, "Mom, let me help you!"

Usually, Rosales would never let her do this, always saying that her hands should not do this kind of rough work.

But today, Rosales didn't refuse Rose's offer.

Rose washed the dishes before returning to the room.

Jimmy took his suit out. Looking at the wrinkled suit, he walked out the door and said, "Mom, my suit is wrinkled. Please help me iron it."

Rose said, "Let me help you. Mom must be tired from a long day's work."

Jimmy looked at her and said, "Then I'll go to bed first."

He had a job interview tomorrow and was tired, so he wanted to rest early.

Rose went to iron Jimmy's suit...

Actually, she never did this.

Rosales already smelled the burning smell when she came over, so she hurriedly picked up the iron and looked at Rose, "You've ruined the suit, and this outfit is Jim's favorite. What's wrong with you?"

Rose had never seen Rosales so serious. She looked at Rosales and said, "Mom, I'm sorry... I'm so dumb." "Forget it. You go out!" Rosales gave her a disappointed look and became more and more impatient with this daughter-in-law.

Seriously, Rose has lived in the Watson family for a long time, and in all that time, she never let Rose do any work. Rose couldn't do anything including cooking. When washing dishes, she dropped two, and when ironing the suit, she ruined it directly...

Rose was even dumber than Theresa.

When Theresa was with Jimmy before, Theresa could do everything, so, sometimes she could help Rosales with some household chores.

Rose's family was well off, and she had her family to back her up, so even if she couldn't do anything, Rosales didn't think anything was wrong before.

But now it's different!

The Calsis family had nothing to do with Rose, and even her father didn't care about her. It was too much of a loss for their family to marry such a useless daughter-in-law.

When she thought that they could not get any benefit from the Calsis family and the Nandlall family in the future, but also had to wait on Rose, Rosales' mood was bad all of a sudden.

In the morning, when Jimmy got up, his suit was already hanging aside, but it was another set that Rosales had ironed for him.

He looked at the suit hanging here and asked Rose, who was still sleeping, "Where's the suit I took out yesterday?"

Rose slept late last night because she had something on her mind, and now it was just after seven when she heard Jimmy's words. She said, "I don't know."

Jimmy came over and yanked her up off the bed, "I mean that suit I had you iron."

She looked at him and remembered the suit that she had ruined by ironing.

Rose said, "I didn't know how to iron and this is the first time I've done it, so I ruined it accidentally. Mom ironed this set for you, so you can wear this one.

Hearing Rose's words, Jimmy felt speechless, "Why do you do it if you don't know how to do it?"

Early in the morning, when Rose heard this, she was actually a bit confused.

Chapter 522

Chapter 522

She looked at Jimmy and said, "I just..."

"Just what?" Jimmy stared at her closely.

She suddenly felt a little aggrieved, "I've never done it, and thought it was easy. And I didn't expect it to end up like this either."

"Forget it!" Jimmy got angry when he looked at her like that, "Do you have any idea how important that suit is to me? I really like it."

Rose said, "I'll go buy you a new one.

11

"How?" Jimmy said, "That suit has a special meaning to me and when I had my first interview, I wore it. Every time I wear that suit, it will make me good luck."

Speaking of that, Jimmy froze for a moment, remembering that it was Theresa who had bought him.

She had a good eye. And knowing he was going to the interview, she gifted him with that outfit.

He already thought he couldn't be hired by that company at that time, because the competition was great, but she said he could definitely do it, and he really did.

Now when Jimmy thought about it again... he suddenly found that with Theresa, nothing bad ever happened to him.

On the contrary, after getting married to Rose, he never had a good day from day one.,

Even their child was gone... because Rose was too stupid and fell down the stairs.

Yes!

When Theresa was pregnant with those two children, nothing happened at all. And when it came to her, she was so weak that she lost the baby in one fall.

It was said that Rose would bring bad luck because her mother had passed away shortly after she was born. He did not believe it at that time, but now he thought it was true.

Otherwise, she could have married a man in a better condition with her in such a good condition.

Glancing at Rose, Jimmy didn't say anything else. He stood up and said, "I'm going to work."

Rose was a little shocked by Jimmy. After seeing him go out, she was inexplicably relieved.

She was sleepy, but now she didn't want to sleep. She picked up her phone and searched Amazon to see if there was a suit of the same style.

But she didn't find that style.

In the morning, Theresa woke up early because she was going to meet Dick.

When she had just gotten up, she received a message, "I have something to ask you."

It was a message from Jimmy.

Jimmy said, "Do you remember where you bought the outfit you gifted me for the interview before?" Theresa,

This man must be crazy!

Seriously, Jimmy's question took Theresa by surprise.

She even wondered if he had been beaten silly by Charlie last time.

Of course, she ignored him and sat up.

Just as she got up, Charlie woke up and gave her a look, "You're up so early?"

Theresa looked at him and said, "Well, I'm going to work."

"Where are you going? Let me drive you." Charlie wasn't quite awake yet, but he wanted to go out with her. Theresa said, "No need."

Just as she finished her words, Charlie behind her came over and wrapped her into his arms from behind, looking very intimate, "If we get divorced in half a month, then we'll only have half a month together. So, just let me drive you."

Chapter 523

Chapter 523

Charlie probably had just woken up, so he sounded pretty clingy.

Theresa was baffled and felt her eyes watery.

She was actually not quite sure herself. Was this what a couple about to get divorced should look like? Theresa looked down at his hands around her waist. Charlie had very nice hands with well-defined slender fingers and perfectly trimmed nails, which were her favorite type.

She lowered her head. Since she had promised him yesterday, she had no choice and said, "I'm going to wash up now."

She got out of his arms, stood up, and went into the bathroom.

Charlie watched her back and sighed helplessly.

He was quite sad, thinking that he had only a short time left with her.

The two of them finished washing up and went downstairs for breakfast. The two kids were still sleeping, so it was exceptionally quiet at the breakfast table.

Theresa was eating when Charlie handed her an egg, which was partly shelled so that she could hold it easily. Theresa couldn't refuse his kindness and took it. "Thank you.

Charlie gave her a look and said, "I used to think it wasn't a good idea to have breakfast with others. I thought it was a waste of time. But for some reason, I feel happy when I have it with you."

Charlie's words left Theresa staring at him dumbfounded. She had wanted to take the egg yolk out and put it down, but when she heard his words, she was so shocked that she swallowed the whole egg yolk and choked. Charlie sat beside her, patted her on the back, and handed her water. "Be careful."

Theresa coughed for a while and finally got better. Despite her embarrassment, she turned to Charlie and said, "That's enough. Stop talking."

11

She wondered what he was up to.

Was he trying to pursue a girl, so now he was practicing in advance?

Or did he think that he was free to flirt with her because they were getting divorced anyway?

He was not like this before!

He used to be sharp-tongued as hell.

She didn't know what to do when he was like this now.

Charlie had to shut up when she wouldn't let him talk. Well...

It was wrong for him to say anything when he wasn't liked.

After breakfast, the two of them got ready to leave. Charlie's car was already waiting outside. With her stuff, Theresa was about to get into the car when Charlie came over with her jacket. "It's getting colder today and it might snow. You need to wear more."

She looked up at the man beside her, and before she could see his expression, he had already gotten into the car.

Theresa followed him in and remembered that she had driven herself for the past couple of days without taking his car.

In the car, the two of them were very quiet. Theresa looked out the window at the city shrouded in fog, feeling she was still a little sleepy.

A hand reached over and took hold of her fingers.

She turned around and looked at the man. Charlie didn't look at her, like it was something perfectly normal in his eyes.

He just looked ahead and said, "You promised me."

She had promised him that they could get along as before and holding hands was something they had often done before.

Theresa was at a loss for words at the moment.

She didn't know what to say.

He held her hand all the way. Finally, the car stopped.

The driver pulled up outside the building of the White's Group. Charlie looked out and said, "Your patient is over here?"

Charlie rarely came around here.

Theresa said, "Well, he is behind there. It's not easy to park there, so I'll walk over."

Chapter 524

Chapter 524

Of course, she wouldn't tell him that her patient was Dick, his nemesis. It would be difficult to explain to him.

Charlie frowned at this explanation. She thought he found out that she was lying, but the next second she heard him say, "You don't have to do this next time. You can ask the driver to make more detours, so you don't have to walk over there."

She simply didn't want to cause him any trouble.

However, he would like to do anything for her.

After all, he wouldn't have the chance to do that in the future!

Hearing his words, Theresa nodded her head. "Okay."

Theresa walked into the building of the White's Group when she saw Charlie leave in his car.

She had gone to Dick's home yesterday, but Rawlins told her that Dick had slept at the office last night and asked her to come directly to the office today. That was why she was here. Theresa entered. They had already started working at this hour. She saw Jimmy sitting in a chair in the lobby with a cup of coffee in his hand. It looked like he was waiting for someone.

He was bruised and battered when she saw him last time, but now his injuries were healed.

He looked neat and proper...

So, why was he here?

He was here for a job?

Theresa didn't think much about it and went straight to the elevator. She pressed the Up button, ready to go where Rawlins told her to go. Before long, Jimmy came over.

He stopped beside Theresa, took a look at her, paused for a moment, and asked, "What are you doing here?"

He didn't know when Theresa came in. He had just been thinking about her, so he didn't notice.

When that idea came to him in the morning, it was getting stronger and stronger in his mind.

When he had been with Theresa, everything had been getting better.

Charlie, who was supposedly impossible to walk again, had even stood up after Theresa had married the man.

He knew that some people were born lucky and those around them would get lucky as well. It seemed like Theresa was that kind of person.

So, he couldn't help but wonder if he had been wrong back then.

If he had stayed with her, he wouldn't have had so much trouble, would he?

Theresa said coldly, "Work."

With that, she walked into the elevator.

Jimmy followed her in. The elevator was full of people. He was pushed to her side and looked at her. "You haven't answered my question." "What question?"

"Where did you buy the clothes for my interview?"

The corners of Theresa's mouth twitched. She didn't expect him to ask her this now after texting her about it...

She said, "What the hell do you mean? Why are you asking such a strange question all of a sudden?"

It had been a long time since their divorce and he was asking this.

How long ago was it that she bought him clothes?

How could she remember that?

Besides, if she remembered correctly, this man had yelled at her last time and tried to kill her.

Jimmy said, "I just love that outfit, but Rose burned it last night. She is too stupid to do anything."

Theresa heard Jimmy's words. For some reason, she didn't like the couple, but she still got angry when she heard Jimmy say that about Rose.

Rose had eaten with the Calsis family last night and she was upset when she left because she couldn't help Jimmy.

Now, Jimmy was here blaming her.

Theresa looked at Jimmy and said, "Just be grateful. She didn't have to do any chores before she married you and now, she tries to help you iron your clothes. Why didn't you do it yourself if you are not happy with it? Your hands were lost or broken last time?"

Chapter 525

Chapter 525

Jimmy watched how indignant she was and heard her mention how he was beaten last time. "I didn't say anything about you. Why are you so angry when I said that about her? She wouldn't speak up for you."

Theresa didn't bother to talk to this scumbag anymore.

The elevator stopped and someone stepped out. Jimmy took a look at the floor number and stepped out too.

When he got out, he thought Theresa would follow him out, only to find that he was wrong.

Theresa was still in the elevator. She closed it and went straight to the floor where Dick's office was.

Rawlins met her at the door.

He was excited to see her. "Dr. Cameron, I've been waiting for you. It's so cold in the morning. Thank you for coming."

Theresa was a little embarrassed. "You're welcome. It's my job."

He had a completely different attitude from what he did last night.

Theresa didn't think it was necessary at all.

When Rawlins guided her in the door, Theresa saw Dick sitting at his desk. Dick had a very artificially intelligent kind of office with a stylish design. It was so warm that he only had a shirt on. He looked very languid and relaxed, not even realizing that he needed a shave. Noticing her enter, he looked up with dark circles under his eyes. "Hello."

Theresa said, "You didn't sleep last night?"

Dick said, "I couldn't sleep anymore after I slept for three hours during the day yesterday. What the hell? Come over and check on me."

He was very agitated because he couldn't sleep well.

He had managed to get a sound sleep for three hours yesterday. It was so rare that it seemed like the best day of his life. In retrospect, he still found it quite wonderful. Theresa looked at the man and the corners of her mouth twitched. Dick was impatient, so she didn't say anything else and started to work straight away.

Dick walked away from his desk and went to sit on the couch, which was adjustable. He laid down on it. "Is this okay?"

"Yeah."

Compared to yesterday, Dick looked a lot more cooperative today.

When the acupuncture was done, Theresa looked at him. "Are you feeling better?"

Dick said, "Yes. Why do you think I am in this state? It's hard to get a good night's sleep."

Hearing his words, Theresa said, "Maybe you're thinking too much about Charlie?"

"What do you mean?" Dick glared at her.

Rawlins wiped his cold sweat silently. "Mr. White, Dr. Cameron is joking."

He was so afraid that Dick would get angry and piss Theresa off.

After all, Dick was counting on Theresa to help him sleep, wasn't he?

Dick looked at Theresa and said, "You're divorcing Charlie. Will he give you anything?"

Theresa found that he was interested in things about her and Charlie.

She said, "It's my private business."

"I'm sure he won't give you anything. What a stingy guy."

Theresa didn't say anything. She went to the bathroom where she washed her hands.

When she came back, she saw that Dick had fallen asleep on the couch.

Rawlins stood at the side. Seeing Theresa about to speak, he gave her a look and the two of them came out of Dick's office.

Rawlins looked at Theresa. "Thank you, Dr. Cameron."

Theresa said, "My pleasure."

Dick's problem was nothing compared to the others.

They just chose her because she had cured Charlie. Theresa found it amazing.

If it weren't for the fact that she was divorcing Charlie, it would be a good chance for her to make a fortune.

Chapter 526

Chapter 526

Coming down from upstairs, Theresa was ready to leave. She had only stepped out the door when she was stopped. "Theresa."

She looked up and saw Jimmy standing right there. This guy... Was there something wrong with him?

She looked at him warily. "Yes?"

Jimmy walked over. "I got a new job."

Theresa wanted to laugh at his words. "So what?"

Damn it. Had he forgotten about her relationship with him now?

They were enemies who hated each other and wanted to put each other to death.

Jimmy said, "What I can get here is no worse than what I got at the Nandlall's Group. Even if Charlie kicked me out, there are still plenty of people who want me."

"Then you're really good," Theresa said in a scornful voice.

She could see that Jimmy was here to show off.

This man was odd. Whenever he had anything good, he had to show it off in front of her to make himself happy!

He looked at her. "What about you? I heard you and Charlie are getting a divorce? Tsk, I thought he would stay with you for the rest of his life." Jimmy's words hit her heart like a knife.

"It's none of your business."

It seemed like everyone was concerned when she was getting a divorce.

There were so many divorced people in the world. How come it was like the end of the world.

when it came to her?

Jimmy said, "How time flies! You're getting divorced again! You'll be a woman who has been divorced twice. I wonder who will want you in the future!

Theresa gave him a look. "Yeah, I'm getting divorced again. The thing I regret most in my life is that I married an idiot like you."

He had been waiting here, just to laugh at her.

Who he thought he was?

Jimmy laughed. "What? Are you angry?"

"Angry?" Theresa looked at Jimmy. "Even if I divorce Charlie, you can't go back to the Nandlall's Group. I'm so happy about that."

The corners of Jimmy's mouth twitched and he said defiantly, "I can get by just as well without the Nandlall's Group. And you... I'm wondering what kind of life you're going to have when you leave Charlie! A woman who lives off a man is really pathetic. You wouldn't have gotten into this situation if you had listened to me and divorced Charlie earlier."

Theresa listened to Jimmy's words and laughed. "It's really strange. I haven't divorced Charlie yet! What makes you so sure that we will divorce?"

"Charlie is too good for you. He'll never fall in love with you. What? You really think you're worthy of him?"

Actually, Jimmy didn't want to humiliate her.

He had waited for her here just to talk to her.

However, he couldn't help but say that when he saw how she treated him as an enemy.

She shouldn't have done that to him before with Charlie!

He was angry when he thought of what had happened before.

"It looks like you weren't beaten up enough by him last time. Why don't I call him now and ask him to come over?" With that, Theresa pulled out her phone.

Jimmy's face darkened. "Just go ahead and see if he dares to come here. Look at what you are!"

"Where am I?"

"Dick and Charlie are nemeses, and you're at Dick's company." At this point, Jimmy looked at Theresa. He found it strange to meet her here. "What are you doing here?"

"You're here for work and so am I, of course."

"You're fooling someone again?" Jimmy didn't believe she knew anything about acupuncture at all. He always thought she was a fraud who had just cured Charlie by chance. Just then, some people came out. One of them was Rawlins, who was with two other people from the company.

Seeing Theresa here, he was surprised and said, "Huh, Dr. Cameron, you are still here?"

Chapter 527

Chapter 527

Jimmy had met Rawlins before and knew that he was Dick's assistant. He heard that Dick had grown up without his parents around and it was this assistant who had brought Dick up. Therefore, Dick was close to his assistant.

Seeing Rawlins now, Jimmy stopped his sarcasm.

Rawlins had walked over. He looked at Theresa and said, "Why don't I get someone to drive you?"

Jimmy looked at Theresa. She actually knew Rawlins?

Theresa said, "No, thanks. I hailed a taxi online. It's already on the way."

She had come here in Charlie's car and now... she had to take a taxi back on her own.

Rawlins was gracious. "I'll have someone drive you."

After that, he called his secretary to come over and arrange a car for Theresa.

While they waited for the car, Jimmy looked at Rawlins and said, "Hello, Mr. Garson. I'm Jimmy Watson. I just joined the company today."

His friend had recommended him, so the interview went well. They were especially happy to take him on when they heard he was from the Nandlall's Group.

His friend had planned to take him to meet Dick, but they didn't get to see Dick, who was busy, so he came down here.

Rawlins glanced at Jimmy and his eyes fell on Theresa. "Dr. Cameron, your friend?"

"Yes, we've known each other for a long time," Jimmy said.

He was not stupid. Rawlins was friendly to Theresa. It would be great if he could use her to get in with Rawlins.

He didn't think that Theresa would tell the truth about him in front of Rawlins!

However, Theresa took a look at Jimmy and said directly to Rawlins, "This is my ex-husband. He had nothing when I was married to him. Then, he joined the Nandlall's Group and met Ms. Nandlall. As a result, he dumped me and got married to Ms. Nandlall."

Jimmy's face darkened. "What are you talking about? I didn't know Rose when we got divorced, okay? It was you who wanted the divorce..."

Theresa looked shocked and hid behind Rawlins, without looking at him.

Having completely bought Theresa's words, Rawlins turned to Jimmy and said, "Mr. Watson, bullying a woman is not what a gentleman should do."

Jimmy was speechless.

Shit!

He suddenly regretted saying hello to Rawlins!

He didn't expect Theresa to say that about him!

He knew that she was trying to make it hard for him!

She had always been against him in the Calsis family and now she wouldn't even give him a break when he was here.

Soon, the car arrived and Rawlins walked Theresa to the car.

Sitting in the car, Theresa glanced at Jimmy through the window and saw that he was as black as thunder, looking quite scary.

He deserved it!

He wanted to use her?

In his dreams!

She would never allow this scum to take advantage of her.

When Theresa left, Jimmy looked at Rawlins and said, "Mr. Garson, I am not like that with Theresa. She was joking. Please don't take it seriously. I was recommended by Kole. He is my friend. We used to work together."

Kole was quite a prominent person in the company and he was close to Rawlins.

Rawlins looked at Jimmy and said, "I thought you worked at the Nandlall's Group. As Pat's son-in-law, why are you here in our company?"

Many people in their company were poached from the Calsis's and the Nandlall's Group because their boss had a penchant for that, but Rawlins couldn't help but pay a little more attention when it came to Jimmy.

Jimmy said, "I don't get along with Charlie. Theresa is my ex-wife. She is now married to Charlie and keeps causing trouble behind the scenes..."

Chapter 528

Chapter 528

"Why would she do that? If you hadn't done anything wrong to her, why would she have a problem with you? As they say, you can't dump a woman who married you when you had nothing. You left a woman who had shared the hardships with you, so how can I believe that you'll stay when the company goes wrong in the future?"

Thinking how pitiful Theresa looked just now, Rawlins had already deemed Jimmy as a scum.

Jimmy explained, "She was just talking nonsense! I divorced her because she cheated on me and had children with someone else. Later, I refused when she tried to get back together with me, so she holds a grudge against me. After marrying Charlie, she targeted me at every turn. You know what Charlie was like before. He was lucky to get a wife. Now that Charlie is well, he wants to dump her, so she tries to be with me again. I am a married man. How can I say yes to her? As a result, she got angry and said those things just now. If you don't believe me, you can have someone investigate it."

Many people knew that Theresa had cheated on Jimmy. Rawlins would find it out if he had it investigated, so Jimmy wasn't afraid at all.

Rawlins gave him a look and went in the door without saying anything.

Jimmy followed him and asked, "When can I meet Mr. White? I'm a newcomer, so I would like to say hello to him."

He heard that Dick preferred people who Charlie hated!

Therefore, he was looking forward to meeting Dick. If he had Dick as a backer, it would be much easier for him to do things in the future.

Rawlins said, "I'm not sure. I'll let you know when he has time."

Dick was sleeping!

Rawlins didn't know when Dick would wake up and when he would be in good enough shape to see anyone. It was a mystery!

Jimmy said, "Thank you."

When Rawlins left, Jimmy immediately called Theresa.

Theresa was in the car when she got his call. "Hello."

"You're going home?" Jimmy sounded a bit exasperated...

Theresa said, "Why not? I should wait for you to beat me up?"

She could imagine how angry Jimmy was!

Tsk, for some reason, the thought of him being angry made her feel inexplicably good.

Jimmy said, "Theresa, are you trying to destroy me? I'm already out of the Nandlall's Group. Now

I finally got a new job, and you want to ruin it for me?"

Theresa said, "That's what your family did to me before, remember?"

Jimmy said, "Yes, it was my fault before. But from now on, we don't owe each other anymore. My mother has sent your dowry to your home! Don't make any more trouble, okay?"

He was really scared of her!

If he hadn't remedied the situation, Rawlins would have believed her. It would have been a disaster.

Theresa said, "Jimmy, who gave you the confidence to think that you can negotiate with me now?"

He probably didn't know that she had something in her hand that could destroy him at any time.

It could make him lose not only his job but also his wife...

However, Theresa didn't want to do that now because she didn't want to expose the secret about her children.

After saying that, she hung up the phone directly.

Jimmy looked at his phone furiously.

Bitch!

He would teach her a good lesson when she divorced Charlie.

Sitting in the car, Theresa checked her phone and saw on Twitter that Sarah had posted about signing with Lloyd.

She had told Sarah not to sign with Lloyd, but Sarah ended up doing it so quickly...

When she got home, Theresa called her father. "Sarah signed with Lloyd."

Johnson said, "She just called me about it."

Theresa said, "She is so wilful."

Chapter 529

Chapter 529

The more Sarah was not allowed to do something, the more she would do it. Theresa had a feeling... If Sarah kept running the company, she would ruin it sooner or later!

Johnson said, "I've talked to her, too. She wouldn't listen to me either. I'll go back to the company in a couple of days."

"Okay."

Theresa had just finished talking to her father on the phone when Sarah sent her a message.

After the official announcement of their cooperation with Lloyd, the Cameron's Group's brands were associated with Lloyd at once.

Lloyd was one of the most popular stars right now. His fans were so enthusiastic that the company's brands became a trending topic as well.

Sarah bragged, "Didn't you say Lloyd couldn't do it? Do you know how many fans he has? After the official announcement, our sales have started to go up and our followers have increased."

Seeing how smug she was, Theresa didn't say anything.

Sarah was now on a roll. She would not listen to Theresa.

However, they say a tall tree catches the wind. The more she was like this, the more people would be watching and picking on her.

Jimmy sat in his new office and turned on his computer. Then, he got a call from his brother-in-law Gentry. "The Cameron family signed Lloyd. Damn it, they ignored me when I approached Lloyd last time, and now they've signed with the Cameron family! This is too much, isn't it? Aren't I better than Johnson's shitty company?"

Theresa was getting better and better after she got married to Charlie. Now she was even stealing all the limelight. If things went on like this, there would be no way for him to do business. Thinking that, Gentry was furious.

Therefore, he called Jimmy to ask for some advice.

Jimmy said, "What's so great about signing Lloyd? It's expensive and there's nothing good about it."

"He's popular! Nowadays, people love young stars like him and Lloyd has a lot of female fans.

Look how popular Cameron's is now."

Jimmy checked his Twitter on the computer and found the hot topic about Lloyd and the Cameron's Group.

The Cameron's Group had used public service to gain attention and now they spent a lot of money to sign Lloyd. Was this really something that Charlie did?

Jimmy was full of doubts about Charlie's competence.

Or the Cameron's Group had nothing to do with Charlie now that he was planning to divorce Theresa?

Was that why he was so indulgent?

Jimmy took a look at it and asked Gentry, "They have signed?"

"Yes."

"Don't worry. I'll talk to you about it when I get back tonight."

Jimmy finished speaking and hung up the phone.

Looking at the hot topic online, he raised the corners of his mouth into a smile... It was as if he had already seen the Cameron's Group collapse.

No one would help Theresa when she divorced Charlie!

In the afternoon, Theresa changed her clothes and went downstairs. Leonard and Ben sat at the table, waiting for Theresa's pasta. Theresa remembered that she hadn't cooked for a long time. She hadn't needed to do that at all since she came to the Calsis family.

Leonard and Ben's holiday finally came, so she naturally agreed to cook for them.

She was cooking noodles in the kitchen when Ben came over with her phone. "Mom, your phone is ringing."

Theresa glanced at it. "Who's calling?"

"It's Dad."

The caller was marked as Charlie on the phone.

Theresa had her hands full, so she said to Ben, "Ask him what's up."

Ben held the phone and answered it, saying, "Dad."

Charlie heard his son's voice and asked, "Where's your mom?"

"She's cooking noodles."

"Put her on the phone."

Chapter 530

Chapter 530

"She's too busy." Ben stood at the door. The short little boy talked fluently to Charlie. "Dad, what are you doing? Are you at work?" "Yes."

"I want to see your office." The two kids were usually at home when they didn't go to kindergarten. They had never been to Charlie's office.

Charlie listened to his son's voice and said, "Well, I'll show you in the video."

He opened the video and saw the little face that looked extremely similar to his appearance on the screen.

Charlie looked at his son, smiled, and turned the camera around to show him his office.

"Wow, it's huge!" Ben exclaimed. "It's even bigger than my classroom."

Charlie heard him and said, "Do you want to come and see it?"

"Uh-huh."

Leonard was eating grapes in his chair. Hearing Ben's words, he stopped chewing and looked at Ben who was holding the phone.

Well, he actually wanted to see it as well, but he would not admit it.

Leonard lowered his eyes and continued to eat, telling himself secretly that he didn't want to see it!

Anyway, he thought Charlie only liked Ben, not him at all.

He was just an unwelcome boy!

On the video call, Charlie said, "Have your mom bring you and Leonard over to see it together.

Then, we'll go to dinner tonight."

He called to ask Theresa to go to dinner with him.

However, Theresa did not answer the phone.

Now looking at Ben, Charlie suddenly thought that she might refuse if he asked her.

However, she might say yes if he invited the kids as well.

Thinking that, Charlie felt sorry for himself in his heart. He looked so much like the two kids, but he found that he was not treated as well as them. Ben said, "Then I'll ask Mom."

With that, he turned to Theresa. "Mom, Dad asked you to take me to his company."

"Why?" Theresa said. "It's almost the end of the day."

He would have done with his work when they got there.

Theresa had already gotten the noodles ready. She stood in front of the stove and asked Charlie, "Why do you want us to go over?"

"Ben said he wants to see my office. You can bring him over for a tour. By the way, Daphne is treating me to dinner tonight and I would like you to come along." Although the two of them were divorcing, he still wanted to bring her along when he went out to dinner.

Ben looked at Theresa. Afraid that she would refuse, he hurriedly pouted. "Mom, I want to go and see Dad's office."

Theresa looked at Ben and said, "Okay, we'll go over. Jonathan is there, right? Tell him to get the divorce stuff ready. I'll sign it when I'm over there."

With that, she put the noodles onto the plates. After quite a while, she heard Charlie's voice on the phone. "Okay."

Soon, Charlie hung up. Ben took the phone and said to Theresa, "Mom, Dad hung up."

He had wanted to talk to his dad...

Theresa brought out the pasta, looked at the two boys, and said, "Let's eat, and then we'll go out."

It was cold, so Leonard and Ben had been taking classes at home for the past couple of days after their holiday started. It was a good idea to take them out for some fresh air. Theresa placed the plates in front of Leonard and Ben. They had equal servings on the same plates. Leonard had started eating with his fork.

Theresa watched them both eating with sauce around their mouths and smiled. "Is it good?" Leonard nodded. He put so much into his mouth that his cheeks bulged. The boy was showing that he really liked it!

Ben said, "Mom's cooking is the best!"

Chapter 531

Chapter 531

These two little ones were always her biggest fans. Theresa felt that her cooking skills were average and far inferior to Brenda's, but the kids thought her cooking was the best. When Theresa got to Charlie's company with the two kids, it was already six o'clock, right after working hours.

Theresa took the two children to his office upstairs in the non-stop elevator. It only stopped at the floor where Charlie's office was, so there were few people in it.

They saw Jonathan coming to meet them personally as soon as they stepped out of the elevator.

"Mrs. Calsis, Leonard, and Ben."

Theresa nodded. "Thank you for waiting till this hour, Jonathan."

As Charlie's assistant, Jonathan had a very busy schedule.

Theresa was impressed.

"My pleasure."

Jonathan raised the corners of his mouth in a smile. He took Leonard and Ben to Charlie's office. Theresa didn't go with them but stayed outside to talk with Jonathan about the divorce agreement.

Before Theresa came over, Jonathan had already drawn up the divorce agreement for the two of them as Charlie had requested.

Jonathan said, "Mrs. Calsis, please read it and let me know if you need to add anything."

Theresa read the agreement. She found that Jonathan had prepared it in a comprehensive manner and that it included all the relevant terms mentioned in the marriage agreement. When they got married, they had agreed that Theresa couldn't take a share of Charlie's family property when they divorced, but it turned out that Charlie was so generous now that he offered to give Theresa several apartments and twenty million dollars.

As a result, there were more agreements involved.

Among them were the gift agreements for the apartments and the money.

Theresa looked at them and had to exclaim that he was so generous!

She was a rich woman instantly.

Jonathan handed her a pen. "Please sign them if it's okay. You can rest assured that there is actually nothing bad for you in the agreements... Mr. Calsis doesn't want to trap you in anything or see you suffer a loss. Even if you don't work after the divorce, these are enough for you to use for the rest of your life."

Theresa looked at Jonathan and said, "I don't want any of these things that he tries to give me."

Jonathan froze for a moment and looked at Theresa. "Why? You and Mr. Calsis are now husband and wife, and he is supposed to compensate you if the two of you divorce. What's more, you have cured his legs, for which he owes you a lot. If you don't take them, he will feel guilty." Johnson had a company, but to be honest, its future was still unclear with the way Sarah ran it.

However, Charlie was giving Theresa something that she could live on.

"He's helped my family a lot," Theresa said. "I don't want these things. I only have one condition. After the divorce, don't make things difficult for my family."

Jonathan said, "You can rest assured about this. Mr. Calsis just targeted your family's company because of Sarah. Now that you have reconciled, there is no need for him to do such things again."

"Please put it in the agreement."

Theresa insisted.

Jonathan thought Theresa was weird.

Did she think Charlie would get back at her after the divorce?

Charlie was so nice to her now that he wouldn't do anything like that at all, or he wouldn't have wanted to give her these things.

However, Theresa insisted so strongly that Jonathan decided to do what she wanted.

He stood up and went back to drawing up a new agreement. While he was busy, Theresa opened the door of Charlie's office.

She saw Ben standing by the window, looking outside, while Leonard stood in front of Charlie's desk, fiddling with Charlie's computer. The little boy was very interested in these electronic devices, but not much in Charlie.

Chapter 532

Chapter 532

Seeing Charlie and Ben chatting, Leonard glanced at them now and then and grunted secretly.

Theresa looked at her son, walked over, and ruffled his hair. "What are you doing?"

"I'm looking at this." He wasn't playing anything, just looking at the computer program.

The computers in Charlie's office were top-of-the-line and usually hard to find outside. They were many times more advanced than Theresa's stupid computer.

Charlie saw Theresa come in and came over with Ben in his arms, saying, "Done?"

Before she came, Charlie was not happy at the thought of signing a divorce agreement with her.

However, he didn't think he had any reason to go back on his promise to her.

Theresa said, "Not yet. Some parts are not done properly, so I asked Jonathan to make some changes."

As Theresa spoke, Jonathan called and told Charlie about Theresa's request. Charlie sat down in a chair, heard what Jonathan had to say, and looked at Theresa. "I won't do anything to your father's company."

Theresa said, "I know, but I'm still worried... I'm with you now, so we can talk about anything in time, but it will be different when we are divorced. Maybe I will offend you in some way... You will have a new family. Maybe you will have a problem with me when you're remarried. Anyway, I just want a guarantee in advance."

The point wasn't only the divorce, but that she was going to take Leonard and Ben away...

She guessed the agreement wouldn't be of much use when the time came.

However, she still wanted one, just as an extra layer of insurance.

Charlie looked sad when he heard her talk about his remarriage.

He wondered how she could say such things so calmly.

Anyway, the thought of her being with another man in the future made him feel bad.

Charlie said, "What are you talking about? You're so insecure."

Theresa looked at Charlie and said, "Now you're talking about me like that! When I first met you, you were even more sensitive than I am."

"You cured me." Charlie thought that if he hadn't met her, he wouldn't have gotten as well as he was now.

He had been negative and depressed since his legs were broken.

Now he was better, but she wasn't!

She still wouldn't trust anyone.

Even now she was on guard against him!

Theresa said, "You are a nice man who deserves a better life."

That was why she had to leave him!

She didn't want to get him into trouble.

Charlie gave her a look and said, "How can I have a better life without you around?"

She didn't want to stay or be with him... He didn't feel good about it.

However, he was a mature man now, so he would let her go.

Otherwise, they would both feel miserable if this went on.

Theresa was stunned to hear his words.

Charlie interrupted her emotions, saying, "I can add your condition to the agreement as you requested, but you have to take what I give you. You deserve it. If you don't take it, then I can't agree to your condition either."

He had wanted to keep her by his side, but now he had to let her go. That was all he could do.

"Okay." Theresa nodded.

She signed the new agreement when Jonathan got it ready and brought it in.

Chapter 533

Chapter 533

Charlie sat at his desk and watched her signing the agreement with Jonathan on the couch. He frowned, feeling his heart gripped with a sense of anxiety.

Ben called him, "Dad."

Only then did he look down at his son and manage to restrain himself.

They went to have dinner at Daphne's new home. Daphne had just bought a new apartment and moved in. That was why she invited her friends over for a dinner party. Apart from Roderick, Charlie's friend Jack was also there.

Theresa followed Charlie into the door with the two kids.

Jack saw the family show up and his eyes fell on the twins who looked exactly like Charlie.

He ran over, looked at the two kids, and said in amazement, "Gee, Charlie, I knew you have two kids, but I didn't know they look so much like you! I can tell that they are your boys at first sight."

"I haven't seen you for a while, and all you can do is talk nonsense?" They were his kids, so they naturally looked like him, didn't they?

Hearing what Charlie said, Jack curled his lip and reached out his hand to pinch Leonard's face, but Leonard stopped him coldly. "Don't touch me."

Jack said, "Holy shit! He has the same personality as you."

"No, I don't!" Leonard glared at Jack and ducked behind Theresa.

He was not like Badass Charlie!

Jack laughed. "Charlie, if these two kids didn't look exactly like you, I would have thought they were born to Theresa."

Leonard was Charlie's child with another woman, but the boy was obviously closer to Theresa.

It looked as if he wanted to dissociate himself from Charlie.

Theresa was startled by Jack's words. She knew that Jack was talking off the cuff, but she was nervous and afraid that Charlie would catch a hint. Luckily, Roderick came over and said gently to the two kids, "Leonard, and Ben."

Seeing Roderick, Ben politely said, "Hello, Uncle Roderick."

Even Leonard, who had just been aloof, looked much better when he saw Roderick.

Leonard liked Roderick better than Charlie and he even wanted Roderick to be his father.

Therefore, his eyes shone brightly at the sight of Roderick.

Jack stood beside Roderick and said with displeasure, "Why? Why do they like you so much as soon as they see you?"

Roderick said, "Because you don't look like a nice guy."

Jack was a man with earrings and his freshly dyed red hair looked even more outrageous.

He had a handsome face, but he looked weird.

Jack said, "I don't look like a nice guy? I am very nice, okay? What do you think, kids?"

He leaned closer to Leonard, who looked at him with a more serious expression.

Theresa introduced him, "This is Uncle Jack."

Theresa had met Jack and naturally knew his name.

Jack was Charlie's friend, so the two kids should call him uncle.

Ben said, "Nice to meet you, Uncle Jack."

Watching Ben whose face looked exactly like Charlie's and hearing the boy call him uncle, Jack was so excited. "You too! Oh, it's the first time we met. I'll send you boys some money as a gift." With that, he went to get his phone!

Roderick said, "Let's get in. Daphne said she's cooking herself today."

He led them toward the dining room.

Ben took Charlie's hand, followed by Leonard. Theresa and Roderick were left at the back.

Roderick asked, "They're on holiday?"

"Yes."

"Did you tell Charlie about the kids?" Roderick whispered.

He was always the one who was most concerned about this matter.

Given his relationship with Charlie, he should have already told Charlie, but he had been concerned about what Theresa would think, so he hadn't said anything.

However, with such a big secret on his mind, he would naturally pay close attention to it.

Chapter 534

Chapter 534

Theresa shook her head.

Just then, Charlie turned around and saw Roderick talking to Theresa, so she and Roderick immediately stopped talking.

Seeing this, Charlie frowned.

For some reason, he would get angry whenever he saw Theresa and Roderick together.

He always felt that the two of them were very close.

Moreover, they would try to avoid him when they talked about something.

In the dining room, everyone sat down. Jack came over, asked for Theresa's account, and sent her some money. Theresa looked at it and wondered, "What's this?"

Jack said, "My gift to Leonard and Ben. Oh, these two little things look exactly like Charlie! He is so lucky. I want twins like them too. Why don't I be their godfather?" Charlie glanced at him coldly. "You're not worthy!"

"Charlie, you're picking on me again! Why am I not worthy?" Jack was displeased. "Ben, I'll be your godfather. What do you think?"

He was not stupid. After a short while, he had already found out that Ben was a bit nicer to talk to than Leonard.

That was why he asked Ben first.

Ben shook his head. "I have a father."

With that, he looked at Charlie.

Ben loved Charlie and had been nice to him, so he only wanted Charlie to be his father.

Jack looked at Ben with disappointment and then turned to Leonard. "Leonard, what do you think?"

"No way, you're too ugly."

Theresa's mouth twitched and she stroked her son's hair. "Watch your mouth. Don't be rude."

Leonard looked over at the crabs on the table and then at Roderick.

Roderick understood and said, "You want this? I'll get it for you."

With that, he took a crab, shelled it and removed the unwanted parts, and put it on Leonard's plate.

"Thank you, Uncle Roderick," Leonard said politely.

He was only so polite to Roderick.

Charlie sat there and looked at his elder son, who was cold to him at home. From his office to here, he had been with Leonard for quite some time, but Leonard hadn't said a word to him. Why was this brat so nice to Roderick?

Jack exclaimed in protest, "It's not fair, Roderick. Why is he so nice to you?"

Roderick said, "Maybe he wants me to be his godfather."

Jack said, "You're thinking too much. That's not possible."

Leonard looked as aloof as Charlie.

Jack didn't think that the boy would want anyone to be his godfather.

Leonard said, "Yes, I do."

Theresa was speechless.

The corners of her mouth twitched. Charlie sat there, looking even colder.

Damn, if Leonard hadn't looked exactly like him, Charlie would have suspected that this brat was Roderick's child!

Jack said in surprise, "Charlie, your son wants Roderick to be his godfather. What do you think?"

"No way."

He would be mad if that happened.

"Actually, I think it's good. Why are you so petty? Look how close they are."

"You can get out if you don't want to eat!" Charlie was so angry with Leonard at this moment.

What Jack said was undoubtedly adding fuel to the fire.

Jack could only keep his mouth shut.

Daphne came out of the kitchen with a big bowl of shrimp. She placed all the food on the table, looked at Charlie and others who had just arrived, and said, "You're here already! Welcome. Help yourselves."

Chapter 535

Chapter 535

Theresa said, "What can I do? I'll help you."

With that, she was about to stand up.

"No, thanks. It's all done!"

Daphne took a seat next to Roderick and said, "What do you think? My cooking is not bad, right?"

Jack said, "It's great! Congratulations on your new home! Shall we have a toast? Let's do it!"

Roderick stood up and poured wine or other drinks for everyone.

Daphne had been to the place of the Calsis family before and had met the two kids, so she was no stranger to them.

Seeing these two little ones, she welcomed them very warmly.

In the middle of the dinner, Daphne asked, "By the way, Charlie, when are you and Theresa going to have your wedding? Now you have to wait till next year, right?" The holiday season was coming up soon.

Hearing Daphne talks about the wedding, Charlie froze for a moment and looked at Theresa, who was beside him.

Theresa said, "We are getting divorced. We just signed the divorce agreement today."

Everyone fell silent in the dining room as soon as they heard that.

Jack looked at Charlie, feeling a little surprised. Hell, he hadn't seen it coming!

Charlie was already divorcing?

His legs had just been cured not long ago and he was getting a divorce. People would gossip about that, wouldn't they?

Daphne realized that she had brought up a subject that was not very good.

She said, "I'm sorry, but I didn't know about it. I thought you would..."

She didn't finish the rest of her sentence.

Knowing that they were getting a divorce, no one discussed the topic any further.

After eating for a while, Charlie went to the bathroom. Jack followed when he saw Charlie get

At the door, Jack said, "Charlie, are you really getting a divorce?"

"Yes." Charlie was in a bad mood. He didn't explain to this rash fellow.

Jack said, "Wouldn't it be bad for you to do that?"

Charlie gave him a look.

Jack explained, "I know, with your current condition, it's normal that you want to get rid of her. She has been divorced and her family is not good enough, so she doesn't deserve you. However, people will definitely criticize you if you divorce now! I think you should wait a little longer."

Charlie said, "I think your father would regret having you."

"Why?" Jack said innocently. "How can you talk about me like that? My dad has always been proud to have me. Charlie, I'm really saying this for your own good. You're a respectable man. Just be patient... You can get a divorce later! Don't rush into it."

Charlie was speechless. Damn it... He didn't want to get divorced either, but what could he do about it?

He had tried all sorts of things and asked Johnson to talk to Theresa. What else should he do?

He had done everything he could except for begging her on his knees. Now it was Theresa who wanted to divorce him, okay?

Charlie had already been feeling upset. He was even more depressed when Jack said that.

He pursed his lips without saying anything.

Jack said, "Charlie..."

He wanted to say something more, but Charlie looked at him and said, "Shut up, or I'll teach you a lesson."

Jack was rendered speechless.

Charlie looked so cold. Jack patted himself on the chest. Oh, it was scary!

Jack didn't dare to mess with Charlie anymore. He hurried back to the dining room.

Chapter 536

Chapter 536

Jack felt a little aggrieved. He meant well, but why did Charlie get so angry?

Did Charlie dislike Theresa so much that he couldn't wait to divorce her?

Jack sat there and took a look at Theresa, feeling sorry for her.

Another poor woman!

However, she was a remarried woman with two children, who were not good enough for Charlie.

Jack sighed again when he thought about it.

Roderick saw him sighing and said, "What's wrong with you? Did you get dumped by your girlfriend?"

"No. I was just scolded by Charlie."

"What did Charlie scold you for?" Roderick had slender fingers. He picked up his glass and took a sip of water.

Seeing that Charlie hadn't come back yet, Jack turned to Theresa and asked, "By the way, Theresa, I heard you and Eugene know each other?"

He had been hearing about that for the past couple of days, so he was quite interested in it. Now that he had seen one of the people in question, he would naturally ask her about it. Hearing this, Theresa said, "He and I went to the same college, so we know each other."

Eugene was an outstanding student and Theresa was fortunate to have joined the student council, so she knew him.

Jack said, "I heard that you have two children with him. Is that true? They said that Eugene had a girlfriend, but we didn't know that it was you!"

Theresa was about to explain when Roderick gave Jack a look. "Where did you hear about it?"

What nonsense it was!

"They're all talking about it out there now!" Jack said. "You didn't know, Roderick?"

Roderick looked at Theresa quietly. Didn't she have the children with Charlie?

Why were they associated with Eugene?

He lowered his voice and asked, "Are you and Charlie getting a divorce because of this? Does Charlie believe that you have the children with Eugene?" Theresa didn't know what to say.

She took a look at Roderick and had to admit that he was a smart guy. He could already guess what was going on after hearing what Jack had said. Theresa was about to speak when Jack exclaimed, "No wonder Eugene refused when he was asked to come over for dinner today. He was afraid that it would be awkward."

They also knew Eugene, so Daphne tried to invite Eugene as well.

Daphne gave Jack a look and said, "Don't talk nonsense. Eugene just had something to do. He said he had some work, so he couldn't come."

Jack said, "How is his mother doing? Is she getting better?"

Theresa was confused when she heard this. She looked at Jack. "Eugene's mother?"

Theresa had never heard anything about Eugene's family.

She didn't know that he was Rose's uncle until he came back from abroad.

Jack said, "I knew you would be interested in this. His mother is in poor health with some mental problems. She has been abroad and he has been with her for the past few years. I heard that his mother hates him. I don't know why. He wouldn't talk about it with us."

Theresa was shocked. When Eugene broke up with Cristina, he left without telling Cristina. Was it because of this?

Jack ate a peanut and said to Theresa, "I met him once before when I was abroad. You know what? His mother hated him so much that she threw things directly at his head. He did not resist and his head was covered in blood, but he still coaxed his mother to eat. If my mother had done that to me, I would not have cared about her anymore. Eugene was so tolerant."

This was the first time Theresa had heard such a story about Eugene.

Jack seemed to know a lot about him.

Roderick said, "If your mother had beaten you, you wouldn't be like this now."

Jack was typically spoiled by his family.

He did not like studying when he was young. His mother was afraid that he would have a hard time, so she did not force him to go to school.

"Roderick, I don't like what you're saying. What am I like now? I'm handsome, right, Daphne?"

Chapter 537

Chapter 537

Daphne raised the corners of her mouth, not bothering to answer him.

Jack looked at Theresa. "If you know Eugene, you should talk to him. He's already under a lot of pressure at home. Tell him to take it easy."

Theresa and Charlie were going to break up. Besides, she had two children with Eugene, so Jack thought that maybe she would get back together with Eugene after the divorce.

Therefore, he was trying to help Theresa and create a chance for her as a token of thanks to her for curing Charlie.

Theresa heard Jack's words and nodded. "I will."

So, she would have to talk to Cristina about this. Cristina would want to know about it.

Jack saw her nod and said, "I knew something was going on between you two. No wonder Charlie wants a divorce! Gee, I would get divorced too if I were him. Theresa, you can't blame Charlie!" He couldn't help but speak up for Charlie.

Jack felt a chill down his back just as he finished his words.

Charlie had already sat down.

Jack chuckled nervously when he saw Charlie looking at him. "Charlie."

Charlie said, "I just heard you talk about Eugene?"

Jack was so stupid to choose such a topic.

"Huh." Jack choked. He could tell from the way Charlie stared at him that if he kept talking, he would probably get into trouble.

Roderick was afraid that Charlie would get angry, so he said, "We were just saying that Eugene didn't show up today. Daphne invited him, but he refused. He is not with your company now, right? Why is he so busy? Charlie, you are his boss. Don't make it too hard for him."

"You are thinking too much. He has already left work."

Eugene usually got off work even earlier than Charlie.

Charlie couldn't do anything about him.

After all, he was a rare talent!

Speaking of that, Charlie glanced at Theresa. When he came back just now, he heard Jack ask Theresa to spend more time with Eugene and she surprisingly agreed.

Although Eugene had already explained to Charlie about his relationship with Theresa, Charlie still thought of the fact that Theresa had two children...

If her children's father was not Eugene, then who was it?

As Charlie thought about it, his eyes fell on Roderick...

Apart from Eugene, Roderick also knew Theresa.

Charlie remembered that when they first met in the past, Theresa said Roderick was also her senior, which meant that the two of them had gone to the same college and had known each other for a long time.

Could it be Roderick?

Roderick was helping Leonard with the food when he suddenly noticed Charlie looking at him. His heart jolted when he met Charlie's not-so-friendly gaze. "What are you looking at me for?" Somehow, he felt that Charlie was having a bad idea again.

Charlie said, "Why are you being so nice to my son?"

Roderick had been helping Leonard shell shrimps all the time.

Was it because Theresa had children with him? He felt guilty, so he wanted to make up for it by taking care of Leonard?

Roderick just found that what Charlie said was ridiculous. "Do you think I'm wrong to help your son here? Theresa has to take care of two kids every day. Do you know how hard it is? I'm just taking the opportunity to give her a hand."

"What does it have to do with you if my wife has to take care of two kids?" The atmosphere got tense as they started to bicker all of a sudden.

Theresa gave Charlie a look, not knowing what was wrong with him.

Why did he suddenly get angry in the middle of the dinner?

Roderick thought of the fact that Theresa and Charlie were divorcing. Theresa had said they were getting divorced because Charlie disliked her. Roderick was actually a bit disgusted with what Charlie was doing.

Chapter 538

Chapter 538

Roderick said, "You are divorcing. She'll stop being your wife soon."

Charlie had failed to treat Theresa well. Now they were getting divorced and he said she was his wife!

Theresa cured his legs and had two kids with him, but Charlie still disliked her. Roderick felt that it was unfair to Theresa.

His words made Charlie resentful.

Charlie gazed at Roderick. Seeing how Roderick spoke up for Theresa, he felt more strongly that Theresa had those two children with Roderick!

He did not know why, but he had a hunch that the father of Theresa's two children must be someone around him!

Otherwise, she would not have gone to such great lengths to hide it.

Roderick said, "You're not happy? The truth is indeed a little harsh, but if no one tells you, you will not reflect on yourself."

If no one taught Charlie a lesson, Theresa would be pissed off and leave!

Theresa finally couldn't help but say, "Why are you guys arguing?"

Damn it!

These two men sat on either side of her. When they argued, she could feel the atmosphere getting tenser around her.

Roderick saw her speak and said, "It's nothing. We're just talking as he and I always do."

He wouldn't take it seriously.

Roderick was nice to Charlie. The two of them had grown up together, so it wouldn't affect their friendship no matter how much they argued.

Charlie taunted Roderick, "Mind your own business and get married."

Roderick said, "Get married and divorced like you? Then I might as well not!"

Roderick would retort as soon as Charlie said something.

Jack watched them with his eyes wide open. Holy shit!

He had to admit that Roderick was a great fighter.

Jack did not dare to argue with Charlie like this. He would shut up whenever Charlie glared at him.

At the moment, Daphne did not know whether the two men were truly fighting. Seeing that both of them were furious, she could not tell where their anger came from.

She could only try to smooth things over by saying, "By the way, Charlie, they say the Cameron's Group recently signed Lloyd. I heard that you invested in Cameron's. Is that true?" Charlie said, "Yes, I invested some money."

"Are you in charge of the Cameron's Group?"

"Of course not," Charlie said. "I only put in money. They're running it themselves."

Theresa had tried to take over the company before, but she stopped when Sarah stepped in.

Charlie wanted to fire Sarah at the time, but Sarah said she would turn the company around... He gave her a chance.

Sarah had been making a lot of noise lately, but Charlie didn't do anything about it.

He had thought that he could wait until Sarah had to leave on her own. It wouldn't be too late to take over then.

However, something unexpected happened...

Before that day came, he was divorcing Theresa.

Theresa was curious when she heard Daphne talk about Lloyd. "Daphne, what's wrong with Lloyd? Our family company is run by Sarah now."

"No wonder," Daphne said. "Lloyd doesn't have a clean reputation. I heard he caused some trouble the other day. It's a big risk to sign him at this point. I thought Charlie did it, so I wanted to warn him. It's okay since it was not him."

Theresa frowned after hearing what Daphne said. As expected... she wasn't the only one who had this concern.

That man was always a hot topic because of his romance. Nowadays, other people in showbiz were all cautious when it came to a relationship, but he was always as cocky as he could be.

He never gave any response or explanation as if it wouldn't affect his career at all.

Jack looked at Theresa and laughed. "It's no big deal, Theresa. You can come to me if anything happens later."

Charlie gave him a look. "You?"

Chapter 539

Chapter 539

Charlie knew that Sarah had signed Lloyd. Jonathan had told him about it.

In addition, it was about Theresa's family, so he naturally paid more attention to it.

Jack was embarrassed when he heard what Charlie said. He realized that he was stealing Charlie's thunder, so he quickly said, "No, no. I was wrong! You can come to Charlie if anything happens later. Charlie will help you.

get over all the obstacles, right?"

Theresa was speechless.

She took a look at Charlie. He was bullying Jack again.

After dinner, Theresa helped Daphne do the dishes and took a tour of Daphne's new home.

Leonard was already sleepy and yawning in Roderick's arms.

Charlie found it strange when he saw his son being held by Roderick, so he walked to them and took Leonard over directly. "I'll do it."

This was his son!

Roderick looked at him and said helplessly, "If you were usually so nice to him, would he dislike you so much?"

"I'm not nice to him?" Charlie was displeased.

As they spoke, Theresa and Daphne came down from upstairs after the tour. Theresa took the gift Daphne gave her in return, some tickets to the newly opened spa hotel of Daphne's company, which had a ski resort.. Daphne said, "There are only a few people there right now. You can take the kids to go and have some fun.

Leonard and Ben are on holiday, aren't they?"

"Thanks, Daphne." Theresa smiled.

Roderick's sister was so nice!

She was beautiful and gentle.

Daphne said, "Just call me when you get there. I'll be there these days.'

"I will. Thank you.'

After saying thanks to Daphne and Roderick, Theresa and Charlie came out with the two kids. Leonard was asleep in Charlie's arms while Ben was still awake enough to walk on his own. Daphne and Roderick walked them out.

In the car, Theresa waved her hand and said to Roderick and Daphne, "Bye. Ben, say goodbye."

"Bye." Ben waved his little hand.

Daphne stood there with a gentle smile, watching them.

The car door closed and the driver drove away from Daphne's villa. Theresa glanced at Charlie, who was beside her, and found him lost in thought with Leonard in his arms, looking sad.

Theresa turned to Charlie and said, "Why don't I hold Leonard?"

He gave her a look, feeling confused. "Why?"

What? Roderick could hold Leonard, but he, the father, couldn't?

Theresa said, "You don't like Leonard, do you? I'll hold him."

She knew that Charlie liked Ben better and that he was not usually close to Leonard.

Hearing Theresa's words, Charlie looked at her with some surprise. "What makes you think that I don't like Leonard?"

He sounded somewhat unhappy obviously.

Theresa looked at him in surprise, not understanding why he was angry at her.

She was just telling the truth.

Charlie looked at Theresa and said, "He is my boy. How can I not like him? What are you thinking, Theresa? Am

I so bad in your eyes? Roderick can take care of the kid, but I can't?"

He was now completely convinced that Theresa had children with Roderick, so he was getting more and more displeased with Roderick. The thought of that man made him feel upset.

Ben sat next to Theresa and pulled Theresa's hand. Theresa warned Charlie, "You're scaring Ben."

Charlie took a look at Ben and frowned without saying another word.

In the car, both Theresa and Charlie were quiet for a while. Charlie looked at Leonard. The little boy was sleeping soundly in his arms at this moment.

He gazed at the little thing and felt unhappy when he thought that Leonard actually wanted Roderick to be his godfather.

Was he so mean to Leonard?

He had never bought anything for Ben without buying it for Leonard, had he?

After a while, Ben was so sleepy that he fell asleep leaning on Theresa.

By the time they got home, Leonard and Ben were both asleep.

Chapter 540

Chapter 540

Theresa and Charlie each carried a kid, got out of the car, and went in the door.

The two kids were growing fast. To be honest, Theresa was actually struggling to hold one of them now. Charlie said, "Put him on the couch. I'll have someone come and carry him up later." Theresa gave him a look. "It's okay, I can do it."

"You're pushing yourself." With that, Charlie carried Leonard into the elevator, and Theresa followed.

Leonard had been in Charlie's arms and now, he suddenly woke up.

When he opened his eyes, he was a little surprised to find that it was Badass Charlie who was holding him.

He turned to Theresa. "Mom."

Charlie coldly snorted. "Just Mom? I have carried you back. Why didn't you call me Dad?"

He had noticed that Leonard didn't call him Dad very often.

Usually, the boy was silent.

Charlie had thought that Leonard was just quiet, so he hadn't taken it seriously.

Only now did he realize that Leonard just didn't like to talk to him.

No sooner had Charlie finished his words than Leonard struggled. "Put me down."

"Try and move again?" Charlie said angrily, thinking Leonard was going too far!

This brat showed clearly that he didn't like Charlie.

Theresa found it confusing. She wondered why Charlie got along with the two kids in completely different ways.

Charlie was nice and gentle to Ben, but when it came to Leonard, the two of them were like enemies.

Leonard dared not move again because of what Charlie said. He just looked at the man who was holding him... He had some strange feelings in Charlie's arms, not expecting Badass Charlie to hold him. His big eyes were full of disbelief as he looked at Charlie with mixed feelings.

Theresa glanced at Leonard, knowing that he was actually quite happy.

Leonard was not as frank as Ben. He actually liked his dad as much as Ben did. However, Charlie did not like him, so he could only pretend that he did not like Charlie either.

Seeing that, Theresa felt a bit sad.

Both of the kids woke up by the time they got out of the elevator. Theresa looked at Charlie and suggested,

"Charlie, why don't you... sleep with the kids tonight?"

Charlie heard Theresa's words and said, "Why?"

He and she were about to get divorced and she would leave when the divorce was finalized. Why should he let the two kids sleep with him now?

He wasn't that stupid, was he?

He hadn't spent enough time with her!

She was already thinking about how to get rid of him even before the divorce was finalized.

Theresa had meant well. She remembered that the two kids had never slept with Charlie since they came back.

In the beginning, it was because of his legs.

Now that they were leaving, Theresa wanted to give the three of them a chance to spend more time together as father and son.

She didn't expect to be rejected by him directly.

Charlie did not agree and Theresa did not bring it up again.

The kids were taken back to their room, where they went to bathe themselves.

Seeing that Charlie had no intention of leaving the children's room, Theresa said, "I'll go to our room now." It was getting late and she was sleepy, so she yawned and decided to take a shower and go to bed. To her surprise, Charlie followed her out just as she left the children's room.

The floor was covered with carpets, which muffled their footsteps. It was so quiet that Theresa could hear Charlie's breathing from behind her.

The next second, Charlie said, "What are you and Roderick hiding from me?"

Chapter 541

Chapter 541

Theresa was confused for a moment... Well, why was he suddenly talking about Roderick?

She denied, "Nothing!"

Just as they entered the door, Charlie grabbed her hand and pulled her into his arms.

He leaned against the door and looked at the woman in his arms. His eyes were fixed on her face. "He is your children's father?"

"Huh?" Theresa looked at the man in front of her and wondered what was wrong with him. Hearing his words, she couldn't help but feel funny.

So, that was why he had targeted Roderick so much over dinner?

What Charlie said made her want to laugh.

What the hell was he thinking?

He was so suspicious of who the children's father was, which simply showed that he didn't trust her.

If there was really another man... it would mean that she had cheated on her husband!

She looked at Charlie, "Don't imagine things. It's not Roderick."

"Then who is it?"

Theresa pursed her lips. Seeing how he held her in his arms and questioned her closely, she felt helpless. "Stop asking. I won't tell you."

That man was him!

She found it quite ironic that he was asking about it here and now.

He had trusted her before, and now.... Huh!

In his eyes, she was such a bad woman, right?

He thought that she could really cheat on her husband..

Charlie said, "Why don't you tell me? We are now divorcing. It will not affect you even if you tell me. Why? I don't deserve to know it?".

Theresa looked at him and reached out her hand to stroke his cheek tenderly. "Charlie."

Her voice was so soft that the man who had just questioned her immediately succumbed to her. He squeezed a sound out of his throat. "Huh?"

Theresa said, "Don't ask. Don't bring up these unhappy things. I'm sick of it."

Charlie looked at her with some reluctance and displeasure in his eyes. "You've never, ever taken me to your heart."

She was literally the most heartless woman in the world!

She was always like this no matter how nice he was to her.

This made Charlie very upset.

Theresa could see that he was displeased. She raised the corners of her mouth. "I'm going to take a shower." Getting out of his arms, Theresa grabbed her pajamas and went to the bathroom. She finished removing her makeup, looked at herself in the mirror, and remembered Charlie said that she had never taken him to her heart.

Heh...

She had never taken him to her heart?

It was him...

She stopped thinking about these boring things. Anyway, she was going to divorce Charlie. The divorce agreement had been signed, so there was no point in thinking about that.

The next morning, Theresa went to see Dick and did acupuncture for him. In the afternoon, she took the two kids to the spa hotel that Daphne had invited her to.

Cristina had the day off, so Theresa invited her too.

In the car, Theresa was driving. Cristina sat in the passenger seat and asked, "Are you and Charlie really divorcing?"

"Yeah," Theresa said. "The divorce agreement was signed yesterday."

"So when are you moving out?"

"When Leonard and Ben get their offers." Theresa glanced at the two little ones sitting in the back. Leonard was helping Ben wipe his mouth with a tissue.

They had been eating on the way without stopping.

Chapter 542

Chapter 542

Cristina said, "I haven't seen your new home yet! Why don't I come to your place for the holiday?" Theresa said, "Sure. You're not going home?"

Cristina frowned. "What's there to go back to? I have no place in that family, do I?"

Cristina's parents got divorced when she was very young.

Her father married her stepmother and had more children. Now, she was like a stranger in the family.

She did go home for the holiday last year, but she ended up coming back within two days. That home made her feel out of place. Even her father felt like a stranger to her.

Theresa took a look at Cristina and felt sorry for the girl.

She asked, "By the way, how are you and Eugene doing?"

"Same as usual," Cristina said. "I have been staying with him these days. I have no choice. He said he would go to Charlie about the kids if I didn't stay there. He is a mean person, isn't he? I don't know what he wants to do. He is nice to me, but I have no feelings for this jerk now. I just feel uncomfortable when I look at him." Hearing Cristina's words, Theresa remembered what Jack had said about Eugene when she had dinner with him.

She turned to Cristina and said, "Actually, Eugene came to see me."

"What did he want to see you for?"

"He said that he wanted to marry you and asked me to put in a good word for him."

"Huh?" Cristina glanced at Theresa in disbelief. "You're lying to me. How is that possible?"

Eugene wanted to marry her?

That was the funniest joke in the world.

"I'm telling the truth. He said that when he first came back. He had been so irresponsible to you before, so I didn't tell you. I was afraid he would hurt you."

Cristina said, "He isn't a good man."

When Eugene left, she had been upset for a long time.

She hated people who disappeared without a word for years.

Now he was shameless enough to come back and get into her life as if nothing had happened.

However, she would never have her heart set on him again..

Theresa said, "Well, have you ever thought that he might have his reason."

"Stop, knock it off," Cristina said. "Don't tell me that, Theresa! I don't want to hear it. Eugene and I are not going to work out. When you are done with Charlie, I will leave him and never get involved with him again." Theresa could tell from her words that Cristina truly resented Eugene now, so she didn't say anything more. When they arrived at the hotel, Theresa and Cristina checked in with the two kids. The hotel staff arranged a family suite for them.

This way, all four of them could stay together.

Cristina opened the door and stood on the balcony, looking out at the snowy mountain. "Wow, this is so cool. Is this a place for someone like me? Theresa, this friend of yours is so generous.

31

"Charlie's friend, to be exact." Theresa was not stupid. She knew Daphne had invited her because of Charlie. After all, their families were on good terms.

In the hotel, Theresa sent a message to Daphne and then lay down on the couch. Leonard came running over and said, "Shall I give you a massage?"

Theresa looked at the little boy and smiled. "You know how to massage?"

"Yeah." With that, he climbed up.

Theresa sat up on the couch. Leonard started to massage her shoulders vigorously.

Cristina came back from the balcony. After posting moments, she looked at Leonard and said, "Leonard, come here. Give me a massage too."

Leonard said, "No, you can do it yourself."

"Brat, how can I do it myself? Humph, you're not nice to me at all. I'll steal your mother at night!"

Leonard kept massaging Theresa's shoulders and ignored her.

Theresa was exhausted after driving for two hours, so she took a break before taking the two kids downstairs with Cristina to the restaurant for dinner.

Chapter 543

Chapter 543

Daphne came to see them.

Theresa introduced Cristina to her.

Daphne looked at Cristina and said gently, "Hello."

The two girls shook hands.

Cristina sat next to Theresa and looked at Daphne. She had to admit that Daphne was a wonderful person.

Cristina had grown up without parental love. Seeing Daphne, she had an inferiority complex.

Daphne said, "By the way, Roderick is also here. I don't know what he's doing. I'll make a call and ask him to come over for dinner."

"Uncle Roderick?" Leonard was glad to hear that.

Theresa didn't know what to say.

Even she was surprised to see how much Leonard liked Roderick.

For some reason, she remembered Charlie's words, "Roderick is your children's father?" Honestly, if it weren't for the fact that the two kids looked exactly like Charlie, Theresa would have suspected it too.

Not long after Daphne's call, Roderick came down. He had just woken up from a nap. When he saw them, he came over with a smile, said hello to everyone, and sat down next to Leonard.

Ben and Leonard said, "Uncle Roderick."

Roderick looked at Leonard and smiled. "Good to see you again, Leonard."

"You too."

Theresa watched them and found that Leonard was more talkative in front of Roderick.

Maybe it was because Roderick, the man, was already very affectionate.

Sitting there, Cristina also watched them and found it incredible. "Leonard, you like Dr. Hill so much? I don't think you're that nice to your dad."

Daphne laughed. "He even said he wants Roderick to be his godfather."

Cristina said, "I think that's okay!"

Daphne said, "You're his mother. If you are okay with it, then I think it's possible."

Daphne did not know that the two kids were actually born to Theresa.

After all, everyone thought that they were Cristina's children.

Therefore, it was natural for Daphne to think of Cristina as Leonard's mother.

When they heard that, both Theresa and Cristina froze.

Cristina smiled awkwardly. If Daphne hadn't said it, she would have forgotten about this.

Roderick sat there, saying to Daphne, "You're working, aren't you? Just get back to work. Don't worry about us."

"It's not about you, but Theresa and the others." Daphne had invited Theresa here. Of course, she would take care of Theresa.

As for her brother, he was a man who didn't need her attention at all. He could take care of himself.

Roderick said, "Don't worry.' I'll take them out after dinner."

Daphne said, "Then I'll leave it to you. I'm going to have a meeting, busy as hell. Guys, see you later."

With that, she waved at everyone and then went back to her work.

Theresa looked at Roderick and asked, "You're not working today?"

"No, my sister asked me to come over and have some fun, so I'm here to take a break." Roderick looked at Theresa and said, "Shall we go skiing after dinner?" "Sure," Cristina said. "But I'm not very good at it."

Roderick said, "It's okay. You can learn. It's fun."

After dinner, Roderick took them to the snowy mountain.

There was a place to rent ski gear at the foot of the mountain, so they changed before taking a cable car up the mountain.

The hotel had just opened for business, so there weren't many people on the mountain. Besides the staff, there were only a few tourists.

Roderick walked up front and said, "It's wonderful now when there are fewer people. When there are more people, it won't be so great."

Chapter 544

Chapter 544

Cristina said, "Yeah. When we went out on vacation before, it was all crowded outside and that got us in a bad mood."

Roderick smiled.

They had two kids with them, and Cristina did not know how to ski, so Roderick took them to the novice ski area.

It was the first time Cristina had skied, so Theresa came to teach her. At this time, Theresa saw Leonard, who was on his skis, skiing down all the way...

Cristina said enviously, "Leonard is so good that he actually knows how to ski. When did he learn that? Why didn't I know he could ski? It makes me feel that I'm so stupid." Theresa said, "Well, I also don't know. Did he learn it in kindergarten? He didn't even tell me!"

Roderick looked at the two ladies and asked, "Do you need any help?"

Theresa said, "I don't think so. You take care of the kids for me while I teach Cristina."

Cristina didn't know Roderick very well and she was afraid she would be embarrassed, so she had to be taught by Theresa.

And Roderick had to ski down with Ben.

Theresa stayed with Cristina, telling her the essentials, "Lean forward, with your weight to the front. Yes, that's it..."

Cristina fell several times, but Theresa pulled her up and the two skied down with difficulty. Roderick was waiting for them down at the snow field with the two kids.

When he saw Theresa coming, Leonard ran straight over and hugged Theresa.

Theresa said, "Baby, what's wrong?"

Leonard grunted.

"What are you grunting about?"

"You don't even care about me." Leonard was a little aggrieved.

"Didn't you just ski pretty well?" Theresa asked, "Baby, when did you learn to ski? Why didn't I know?"

Jesus! She had two kids with her every day but she didn't even know Leonard could ski.

Hearing Theresa's words, Leonard said, "I skied down on my own."

He was also very confused.

He would have liked to scream, but to keep his image of being reserved, he had to force himself to ski down. Luckily, he didn't fall at all along the way.

But he was really scared!

After he skied down, the more he thought, the more aggrieved he felt, so he hugged Theresa.

Woohoo. His mom didn't even care about him.

Theresa,

It's...

Although Theresa felt she shouldn't laugh, she couldn't hold it back, "So that's it! I thought you had learned it before, which is why you skied so well."

Leonard pursed his lips and looked at Theresa, not knowing for a moment if he should be happy.

They held their skis and went up on the conveyor belt. Because Leonard and Ben were too young, Roderick held their skis for them. Theresa now knew the benefits of having Roderick around.

She glanced at Roderick and said, "Thank you, Dr. Hill. I don't know how to take care of these three kids without you."

Cristina protested, "You call me a child?"

Shit! That's humiliating!

Theresa even felt that she was the same as Leonard and Ben.

1111

Although it was true that she was not as good at skiing as Leonard is because Leonard skied down on his own for the first time without bothering others. But Theresa also couldn't say she was a kid, okay? Because they were skiing in the novice area, where the slope was not too steep and the distance was not too far, the two kids learned quickly.

On the contrary, Cristina was falling all the time, and she felt like she was going to be humiliated.

Being dragged down from above by Theresa, she saw someone she didn't want to see, "What are you doing here?"

Eugene stood right in front of her in his blue ski suit and looked her over.

Eugene said, "Of course, I came to see you."

#Chapter 545

Chapter 545

Chapter 545

"..." As he said this, Cristina felt even more humiliated, as if she was being laughed at.

Theresa pulled Cristina up and noticed that Charlie came with Eugene.

Theresa looked over at him, "Why are you here?"

When she told Charlie that she was coming to ski this morning, he didn't say he was coming.

Charlie said, "I came over to see the kids."

Because Theresa had not told him about the father of the two kids, Charlie was a little angry and did not really want to yield to her.

But he did care about this thing, and when he heard that Eugene was coming over, he came with Eugene.

At this moment to see Theresa, Charlie did not admit to coming to see her, only to say that he came for the kids.

Theresa looked over at Charlie, who looked very handsome in his ski suit, but Theresa kept her sanity, "Charlie, you can't ski now. Your leg is healed, but you still need to recuperate for a while longer, and you can't be in such a hurry to exercise."

Charlie looked over at her, "I know."

"Then why are you here?"

Theresa was just afraid he didn't know that.

Charlie looked over at her and said, "Are you so worried about me? You seemed to be having a pretty good time."

I'm supposed to be out playing, and of course, I've got to have a good time." Theresa looked at the man and thought he was strange.

Ben stood aside and looked at Theresa, "Mom, are we still going up?"

Theresa nodded, "Go ahead."

Eugene had already dragged Cristina away, and with him, there was no need for Theresa to teach Cristina.

Roderick said, "I'll take the kids up then."

He was not stupid and could see that Theresa and Charlie had something to say, so he took Leonard and Ben away.

Ben said bye to Charlie and went up too.

Jonathan who came with Charlie, also went with Roderick to take care of the kids.

Theresa also wanted to go with them, but after taking a look at Charlie alone here, she stayed. It just so happened that there was a lounge area next to them, so she took him in and sat down. Taking off her gloves, Theresa looked at the menu and asked Charlie, "Would you like something to drink?"

"Whatever."

"Then I'll just order whatever I want." After Theresa finished, she ordered two cups of hot coffee. She glanced at Charlie, "Why don't you go back to the hotel to rest?"

"What? Am I in your way?" He looked over at her, "If you think you're wasting your fun time here. with me, you can go now."

"..." The corner of Theresa's mouth twitched, "Do you need to talk so strangely? I see you're alone, so I'm here to talk with you!"

She was speechless!

It's like it's her fault.

But she couldn't let him go skiing with his bad legs.

Theresa didn't want him to sit back in his wheelchair just because he didn't value his legs.

It was cold in the ski resort, not as warm as the hotel.

Theresa said, "By the way, you can go back to the spa, which is good for you."

Charlie said, "I really didn't know you were so dedicated. Even though you're leaving, you're still concerned about my leg."

"Talk normally." Theresa's mouth twitched, "I'm really going to leave if you keep saying strangely."

She had been playing for a while, and now she was just in time for a break.

Charlie looked at her, "If I'd known you'd be gone after my leg got better, I might as well not have gotten up."

Stunned at his words, Theresa looked over at him, her eyes turning red, "Charlie, what's wrong with you?"

Hearing him say that, she suddenly started to get sad.

She remembered the days before when she was by his side... It seemed that she didn't need to think about that back then.

All she needed to do was to take good care of him!

It didn't take long for the coffee to arrive. Theresa brought the coffee over, handed him a cup, and drank a cup herself by uncovering the lid.

Chapter 546

Chapter 546

He sat aside and watched her.

When she finished her coffee, she licked her lips, which looked very cute.

Theresa put down her glass and found Charlie staring at her.

He stared her straight in her face, which made Theresa so embarrassed that she averted her gaze and pretended not to see his sight.

After finishing this cup of coffee, Jonathan and the others came back.

They got tired of skiing in the novice area and were ready to go outside to ski.

Theresa stood up and said to Charlie, "You take a break, and we'll go play."

Charlie, "Well."

What? And he was just left here by her?

Jonathan looked at Theresa and said, "Mrs. Calsis, you go play, and I'll stay here with Mr.

Calsis."

Theresa looked at Jonathan and then at Charlie. She knew that Jonathan wouldn't leave Charlie on his own, as Jonathan was so good to him. She nodded and went to play with the others.

Charlie found a spot where he could see them sit down and watched them with the telescope in his hand.

He could see that Theresa enjoyed skiing very much and she couldn't take care of two kids by herself, so Roderick was there to take care of them.

Jonathan stood aside and stayed with Charlie, and when Jonathan saw Charlie's face somber as he watched with his binoculars, Jonathan glanced over there as well.

"Mr. Calsis, do you want to take a break?"

Charlie was so angry that he shoved the telescope at Jonathan, who took it to look over. From the telescope, Jonathan saw that Theresa and Roderick were like a family with two kids. Jonathan, "..."

No wonder Mr. Calsis looked worse.

Jonathan walked over to Charlie and enlightened him, "Dr. Hill is just taking care of the two kids. and he is doing this for your sake, so you don't have to be upset about it."

Charlie looked at Jonathan and said, "Don't you think they are very close? And, did you find out anything about Theresa and Roderick? Were the two of them ever together?"

Charlie always felt that those two kids were Roderick's.

Even now that he and Theresa had signed a divorce agreement, he still wanted to know whose kids they were.

Jonathan answered, "I've checked and didn't find anything about a relationship between the two of them while they were in college."

"So, who exactly is the father of these two kids of Theresa's?" Charlie's face blackened. Jonathan said, "This is Mrs. Calsis's privacy. Is it good that you have been concerned about this?"

He seemed to say, "You have divorced and you didn't seem to have the right to meddle in this anymore."

Charlie was very unhappy, "Privacy? Do you mean I'm being nosy?"

"No, I don't."

After a long time, Theresa called Charlie after they were done playing, "Charlie, we're ready to go back and you come down."

She knew he was still up there.

They were ready to go back, so they didn't want to go up there again.

After Theresa finished talking to Charlie on the phone, she saw Cristina and Eugene standing

With Eugene as a teacher, Cristina had already learned to ski and had skied several times by herself.

If it weren't for the fact that the ski resort was closing, they would have planned to play a little longer.

Eugene looked at her and asked, "Was it fun?"

Cristina nodded, "It was so stress relieving and it was too much of a loss for me to know such a fun sport now."

"If you like skiing, I'll bring you back later." Eugene finished and rubbed her head.

Cristina, "..."

This action of his made her heart beat faster.

Chapter 547

Chapter 547

She froze for a moment, and then remembered her current relationship with Eugene. Cristina said with an expressionless face, "I'm not coming with you! Scumbag." Eugene, "..."

Her attitude changed too quickly?

Just now when she learned to ski and jumped into his arms, she was obviously happy.

While waiting for Charlie, they went to change clothes.

After taking off the heavy ski suits, they were instantly relaxed.

Leonard's shoes couldn't be taken off and Roderick was helping him with them.

Watching Roderick squatting in front of Leonard, Theresa thought he was really kind of awesome.

Because Leonard was rarely close to others.

Theresa walked over to the two of them and looked over at Roderick, "Thank you."

Hearing Theresa's words, Roderick raised an eyebrow and said, "It's a pleasure. All right, Leonard. It's okay."

With his shoes off, Leonard took them for return.

Roderick looked over at Theresa when he saw her looking at him, "Why are you looking at me?"

"I'm thinking if it goes on like this, Leonard is really going to claim you as his godfather." "That's not good?" Roderick looked over at her, "As long as you agree, I'm fine with it, but Charlie might not agree." Roderick thought it was funny to think of the fight he had with Charlie over dinner at Daphne's house.

Theresa remembered her conversation with Charlie, "He asked me if you were the father of my two kids."

"Uh." Roderick said, "Really?"

Charlie was really getting out of line.

Theresa shrugged helplessly, "He's so desperate to know about the kids."

Her two kids were right in front of him, but Charlie kept looking for the two kids that didn't exist.

Theresa didn't even know what to say.

"You're really going to divorce Charlie?" Roderick looked over at her, "You won't regret it?"

The question caught Theresa off guard.

She lowered her head, "I won't regret it."

"Theresa, do you really not know that a lot of people want to marry Charlie? And are you really willing to give up this great opportunity to someone else?" Roderick couldn't help but say she was stupid.

No one who married into the Calsis family wanted to get a divorce.

Theresa said, "I have no feelings for Charlie, and we were married by agreement."

"Do you still wish you could be in a pure relationship right now?"

Theresa shook her head, "No, I just want to be with my two kids right now."

Roderick said, "That's it! You can just treat Charlie as a moneymaker, taking his money to raise kids... This is not a good life? You're not a hopeless romantic, so why do you care if you have feelings for Charlie?"

your

EL

." Theresa was stunned and she didn't know how to refute Roderick. She said, "But I just don't want to be with him."

If it was before, when she didn't fancy him at all, she seemed to be able to so tell herself to treat Charlie as an insignificant person.

However now...

Thinking about her relationship with Charlie, she felt as if there was a thorn between the two of them.

Roderick smiled, knowing what was on her mind, "So you fancy Charlie and you still expect him to fancy you. If I were you, I would be with the man I love for the rest of my life, not give him up to someone else! When you divorce him, he will marry another woman later, dating, sleeping... and even having kids with her. You won't feel discomfort?"

"..." Hearing Roderick said that, Theresa realized that she really felt bad.

Theresa glanced at Roderick, "Dr. Hill, stop it. I'm about to divorce."

Chapter 548

Chapter 548

"But you haven't gotten a divorce yet now."

"I don't want to discuss that."

When she left, she would forget Charlie and live her life quietly.

Looking at Theresa, and then at Leonard, Roderick was anxious for Charlie...

If Theresa really took Charlie's two kids away, Charlie would be mad with anger by then.

Just at this time, Ben's voice rang out behind them, "Dad."

Theresa and Roderick realized that Charlie had come in.

And now, he was standing aside taking off his gloves and clothes... while his dark eyes were locked on Theresa and Roderick.

Not surprisingly, wherever Theresa and Roderick went, they were talking about something. Charlie walked past Roderick toward Theresa while Jonathan respectfully said, "Mrs. Calsis." Theresa looked over at Charlie and reached out to help him with his clothes.

Charlie, however, didn't give his clothes to her, but simply placed them on a chair next to him.

He sat down and started to take off his shoes, dropping his eyes and asking, "Did you have a good time?"

"Yes."

"It seems you do look quite happy without me."

He finally glanced at her, with a complicated look in his eyes.

He felt like he was now the third wheel, affecting her relationship with Roderick.

Hearing Charlie's words, Theresa knew that he was jealous, but she didn't say anything.

When Charlie finished taking off his shoes, Jonathan returned them along with the clothes

Charlie had changed out of.

Roderick came over and informed everyone, "Daphne sent a message to let us go to dinner, so let's go back now."

There was a van right at the door to pick them up and take them back to the hotel.

They came by it today.

Hearing Roderick's words, Theresa nodded, "Okay."

She walked over and called Leonard, Ben, and Cristina to get into the van with her.

Eugene, Charlie, and Roderick sat in the back.

Eugene had just been with Cristina and didn't see Charlie until now. When he saw Charlie's sullen face, he asked, "Mr. Calsis, how are you? Are you not feeling well?" "No." Charlie got into the car and took a seat on the side.

Cristina sat next to Theresa. Because Theresa and Cristina had already exposed their good relationship in front of Charlie, they did not hide anything now.

Eugene had to sit with Charlie to comfort each other because their date didn't want to stay with.

them.

Eugene actually hoped that Charlie and Theresa would not divorce, but because Cristina always told him not to meddle in other people's relationships, he didn't say more. He was afraid that if he said more, Cristina would be unhappy.

But looking at Charlie like this, he also really felt a little sorry for him.

Back to the hotel, everyone went straight to the restaurant to eat.

There were not many people in the restaurant at this time, and Daphne had arranged for their dinner, all of which were the specialties of here, which was a big meal. After playing all day, everyone was hungry, and they all ate happily, except Charlie who sat on the sidelines with a somber face.

Eugene looked over at him, "Mr. Calsis, have a drink?"

Charlie looked at him and seemed a little hesitant, while Eugene had already asked the waiter to get the wine.

Soon the waiter brought the wine over, and also brought glasses along with it. Eugene suggested, "Why don't we drink together?"

Chapter 549

Chapter 549

"Count me out." Roderick never drank.

Cristina said, "Okay."

Cristina also quite liked drinking. Today she was having a good time, so she also wanted to drink some.

Eugene then had her poured, but not much, "You need to drink less. If you get drunk, you'll go crazy again."

"When did I go crazy?" Cristina said discontentedly.

"Do you want me to send the video of you getting drunk and crazy to everyone?" When Cristina and Theresa went to the Hunk Restaurant for drinks last time, Eugene was tormented by her after she returned. Hearing his words, Cristina twitched her lips.

Cristina said, "Theresa, do you want to drink some?"

"No."

"Drink a little." Cristina said, "Come on, let's drink some together."

After saying that, she also asked Eugene to pour Theresa some wine.

Theresa said, "I still have two kids to take care of."

"It's okay. Dr. Hill doesn't drink, and he'll take care of them." Roderick had already started drinking drinks with the two kids.

At Cristina's urging, Theresa had to drink some.

Everyone raised their glasses, toasted, and drank the wine.

Cristina finished it in one sip.

Then she was seen grabbing the bottle with Eugene.

Looking at her like this, Eugene sighed. There was really nothing he could do with her.

After Roderick and the two kids ate their food, they went out to play.

Theresa glanced at Charlie and warned, "Charlie, you should drink less."

He seemed to have drunk a lot, although he didn't say anything.

She always thought he was in a bad mood.

Eugene said, "We just started drinking. Mr. Calsis, let's drink some more!"

With him and Cristina both urging him to drink, Charlie drank a lot.

Theresa had wanted to take the kids to the spa, but seeing them like this, it was probably not going to happen.

After dinner, Eugene took Cristina outside to sober up.

Theresa took a look at Charlie, who was still drinking by himself when they were all gone.

She couldn't stand it anymore and said, "Charlie, stop drinking!"

He caught her hand coming for his glass and looked up at her with slightly drunken eyes.

Theresa knew he had been drinking a lot, and the last time he had been drunk was a long time.

ago.

She scanned around the restaurant and didn't find Jonathan.

So, she could only turn to Charlie and say, "Let me walk you to your room!"

When she finished, she stood up and pulled him up from the chair.

"You leave me alone." He tried to push her away.

"Stop it!" Theresa looked over at him, "I'll get mad if you keep fooling around."

Theresa knew what he looked like when he was drunk.

So, it's not that hard for her to stop him at this point.

Sure enough, Charlie followed and stood up.

Charlie was a paper tiger when he was drunk. When he was yelled at, he would become well-behaved.

Theresa led him out of the restaurant to the elevator and asked, "Which floor is your room on?" He reached into his pocket and pulled out his room card with the name of the hotel room on it. Theresa used it to swipe the elevator and pressed the number of the floor where his room was located.

The elevator had just started going up when the man next to her came over with his arm around her waist and sniffed at her, "Good smell."

"..." Theresa felt speechless. Why did he become a hooligan after drinking wine?

How did this happen?

Chapter 550

Chapter 550

She was a little helpless, but it was fortunate that the elevator soon arrived. Someone was waiting outside, so she hurriedly helped him out the door before she was embarrassed. "Which side is your room on?"

She took the room card and started looking for the room number by looking at the sign on the wall.

Finally, she found the room, but Charlie was standing still and didn't go, so she had to walk over and drag him back in, just like taking care of a little kid.

Charlie's room was a single queen room. Theresa opened the door to drag him in.

And then, the lights in the room turned on automatically.

She took him to the bed and said, "Take off your clothes and go to sleep!"

When she finished, Charlie immediately lifted his neck.

Theresa froze for a moment at his move. Did he mean for her to undress for him?

"Are you a little kid?"

Neither Leonard nor Ben would let her help them undress now.

Theresa reached out and helped him loosen his tie and unbutton his shirt anyway...

He felt hot all over after drinking wine. Looking at her who was undressing in front of him, he reached out and wrapped his hand around her thin waist.

The atmosphere became ambiguous.

Theresa said, "Stop it."

Not listening to her, he rolled onto the bed with her in his arms and kissed her on her lips.

He was very drunk and didn't look very sober. Theresa looked at him, "Charlie."

"Shh, don't talk." He put his finger on her mouth to stop her from making a sound.

She cooperated and did not say anything else, but he once again pressed up and kissed her, very tenderly.

Probably also because of drinking some wine, looking at the man in front of her, Theresa felt that he was so provocative in this way.

When she woke up, she glanced at the clock on the hotel bedside table, and it was 2:08 in the middle of the night.

It was very hot in the cocoon. Her and his clothes had been thrown all over the floor and the sound of a shower came from the bathroom.

Theresa lay in bed, feeling a slight headache, and not knowing what she was doing.

Maybe she was really crazy!

She knew he was very mindful of her past, and she shouldn't take advantage of him like that while he was drunk.

She sat up, picked up her clothes, and put them on one by one when the bathroom door opened and Charlie came out..

The lights in the room were not very bright, and he was pretty much sober at this point. Those pleasant before sleep flashed from his mind, and his gloom of the day had completely disappeared.

At this moment of seeing Theresa, he was about to speak when Theresa raised her head to look.

at him.

Charlie actually didn't expect that he and she would sleep together, and being looked at by her made him a little nervous.

He was about to say something when Theresa had already spoken, "I'm drunk, so let's forget about what happened today."

Let's forget about what happened today?

Looking at her, Charlie had been full of joy and wanted to say something to her, but he didn't expect that what she said to him would be this.

She was... so eager to distance herself from him?

His bright eyes darkened at once because of her words.

Theresa had already put her clothes back on, "Don't worry. I won't get pregnant and I'll get up early tomorrow morning to buy birth control pills."

After saying that, she stood up. When Charlie heard her words, he felt a little sad.

What kind of person... did she treat him like?

She even wanted to go buy birth control pills.

Was she that afraid of getting involved with him and getting pregnant with his child?

Charlie looked over at her and said, "Why didn't you take birth control pills when you were with Roderick?"

Hearing his words, Theresa was stunned for a moment and then she looked at the man in front of her, "What were you saying?"

What did this have to do with Roderick?

"If you take the pills, you shouldn't have had those two kids?" Charlie didn't know what he was talking about.

It's just that her words just now really irritated him.