

Marry Ex's Uncle After Divorcement

Chapter 701-750

Chapter 701

Cristina remained where she was without moving.

Eugene continued to clean his face with the water.

Seeing this, Cristina came over. She stood in front of him, picked up a towel, and tried to help him with the wounds on his forehead. "She's your stepmother?" Eugene looked at Cristina and said, "Are you taking pity on me?"

Cristina looked at him and said, "Aren't you good at it? You were so good at hurting me. Why did you get yourself hurt now in front of your mother?"

Eugene heard her words and said, "It's no big deal. It's not like she's going to kill me!"

Ella had to depend on him for the rest of her life, so she wouldn't want to kill him.

Cristina looked at Eugene in disbelief. He just allowed his mother to beat him up as she pleased because his mother wasn't going to kill him?

Cristina couldn't believe that Eugene had said something like that.

She looked at him and said, "Your mother has always been like this?"

Eugene lowered his head and washed his hands, without answering.

Cristina said, "It's against the law for her to do that. Why don't you sue her? She can't treat you like that even if she's your mother, can she?"

Hearing her words, Eugene looked at Cristina. "Are you nuts?"

Cristina was stunned. "What did you say?"

She was so concerned about him! Yet he called her nuts?

Eugene said, "That's my mother. Who are you to say that about her? I had feelings for you before. Does that make you think that you are my girlfriend? I don't love you, Cristina. You should know that. Don't get it wrong."

With that, Eugene pushed her away and went straight to the walk-in closet.

He stood in front of the mirror, changed his clothes, and walked out to take care of his wounds as usual.

Cristina stood there and looked at him, thinking of what he had just said.

She didn't know what she had done to offend him.

Nor did she know why he had to treat her like this.

When Eugene and Cristina came downstairs, Roderick and the two kids were alone in the living room. Eugene asked, "Where's Theresa?"

"Next door," Roderick said. "She's helping your mother with acupuncture."

Ella was very cooperative!

She didn't resist.

Eugene took a seat after hearing Roderick's words.

Roderick took a look at the wounds on his head and said, "You are getting better at dealing with your wounds."

Cristina just came down from upstairs and felt her arms and legs become stiff when she heard

Roderick's words.

Eugene didn't say anything.

Roderick turned to Cristina. Seeing her sullen face, he said, "Cristina, what's wrong with you?"

Cristina walked over when she heard this and sat down on the couch. "Nothing."

After that, neither Eugene nor Cristina talked. Only Roderick said something to the two kids from time to time.

The kids were having a good time here!

After a long time, Theresa opened the door.

Seeing that, Cristina stood up and walked in first.

Theresa was packing up her stuff and Ella was sitting next to her. Cristina looked at Ella with mixed feelings.

Before Theresa could stop her, Cristina had already sat down in front of Ella.

Ella looked at Cristina curiously.

Cristina said, "Why did you do that to Eugene?"

Ella was confused when she heard Cristina's words. She stared at Cristina, who was agitated. It was Theresa who had stopped Ella just now in the dining room. However, Ella could tell that Cristina was different.

Thinking of this, she smiled, "You love him?"

Cristina stared at Ella, who looked like a lunatic, and repeated her question. "I'm asking, why did that to him?"

Chapter 702

Chapter 702

Cristina had seen some wounds and bruises on Eugene last time. She didn't know how he had gotten them back then. From what Roderick had just said, she could tell that they all had something to do with this crazy old woman.

She could hardly imagine how Eugene had come through!

Ella looked at Cristina and said, "Good girl, keep your eyes open. Don't fall in love with him. It won't end well!"

"What are you talking about?" Cristina looked at Ella in disbelief.

Any other mother would think that no girls were good enough for her son.

On the contrary, Ella was saying such things as if her son was some kind of trash.

Ella stood up to leave, but Cristina grabbed her hand and pulled her back. "Don't you ever do that to him again or I'll teach you a lesson."

Ella was no longer as calm as she had been when her hand was suddenly grabbed. She frantically pushed Cristina away and her sharp nails left some bloody scratches on Cristina's face as she struggled. She scratched Cristina so hard as if she was trying to ruin Cristina's face!

Theresa was startled and rushed over. "Cristina."

She pulled Cristina away before she looked at Ella and said, "Mrs. Oneill."

Ella turned to Theresa. "She is your friend?"

She looked sensible when she spoke to Theresa, but it didn't change the fact that she was a lunatic.

"Yes," Theresa said.

Ella said, "Tell her to keep her nose out of my family's business or I'll do something terrible... I'm a lunatic!"

She meant that she would not be jailed for anything she did!

Cristina didn't want to be shielded by Theresa. "Let go of me!"

She had never seen such a heartless woman!

Theresa wouldn't understand how angry and upset Cristina was right now. All Cristina could think about was how badly Eugene was wounded.

Never had she thought that a proud man like him would suffer like this in front of his mother.

She had to teach this crazy woman a lesson today!

Just then, Roderick and Eugene walked in.

"Cristina!"

Eugene was shocked when he walked over and saw the bloody scratches on Cristina's face.

He turned to Ella and said, "Mom!"

Ella looked at Eugene as she sat on the couch. No matter what she did to him, he would always remain calm.

However, it was different today.

He cared a lot about this girl!

Elia found that this girl had a good reason to talk to her so boldly.

She asked, "Is this the girlfriend you have out there?"

Her words were like a pot of cold water thrown over Eugene, who had just been agitated. He looked at Cristina and said, "She is not my type."

Cristina was stunned.

Theresa looked at Cristina, feeling worried. She said to Eugene, "I'm leaving with Cristina."

She could see that Cristina was angry.

She could also tell that Ella was not easy to deal with.

She knew Cristina and Ella would give Eugene a hard time if they remained in the same room.

"Let go of me!" Theresa pulled Cristina outside into the living room. Cristina struggled so violently that Theresa had to let go of her.

She looked at Theresa. "Why are you pulling me out? She is just crazy, isn't she? Do you think I'm afraid of her? I can be crazier than her!" Theresa held up Cristina's chin and looked at the scratches on her face. "They would leave scars on your face if they were any worse!" Cristina just felt a sharp pain on her face.

She was a little worried when she heard Theresa's words. "Really?"

Theresa saw Roderick come out and said, "Luckily, we have Dr. Hill here. Do you think the scratches will leave scars, Dr. Hill?"

Roderick took a look at the scratches on Cristina's face and said, "I'm not sure."

Theresa and Cristina were speechless.

Chapter 703

Chapter 703

From Eugene's place, they went to the hospital first and got Cristina's scratches treated.

Cristina sat there. She was not so worried about her face because Roderick's colleague was taking care of her injuries.

She was more worried about Eugene.

Cristina turned to Roderick and asked, "Has his mother always been like that?"

"His mother is not very stable mentally. You should stay away from her next time and don't fight with her. She has a mental illness, so she won't be held responsible even if you get hurt."

Cristina said, "What about Eugene? Just let her go on like that?"

Roderick said apologetically, "I don't know much about it. I met her for the first time at Pat's wedding to Rose's mother. She was quite gentle back then. Maybe it is because she couldn't get over her daughter's death. Eugene was concerned about her. He couldn't leave her alone..."

Cristina clenched her fists unconsciously when she heard this.

She thought of Eugene saying in front of his mother that she was not his type.

Even so, she was still worried about him!

Cristina had thought that a man like him would have a much better life after leaving her, only to find that she was wrong.

She had never thought that the man she had been so crazy about would have such a side.

After coming out of the hospital, Theresa went home with Cristina and the two kids. Roderick went back to Eugene's place.

Eugene's mother was taking a nap.

Eugene sat on the couch. The wounds on his forehead had been dealt with properly and he was wearing a hat. to cover them. He was so good at hiding his wounds now!

Seeing Roderick, he said, "They... went home? Is Cristina all right?"

"Her injuries have been taken care of," Roderick said. "Theresa took her home. But... she's worried about you."

"I'm okay." Eugene hadn't wanted Cristina to know what was going on in his family.

Since his mother came back, he had spent most of his time with her when he was not working. He did not dare. to get close to Cristina anymore.

He believed that Cristina would only be suffering if she stayed with him in this situation.

Eugene knew his mother so well.

He could tell that his mother wouldn't give him an easy time!

He had gotten used to her madness, but Cristina would surely be scared.

She didn't have to face it with him.

Roderick looked at Eugene. He guessed the reason why Eugene was afraid to stay with Cristina.

The two of them talked for a while before the doorbell rang. Eugene went to open the door. In a moment, someone walked in.

It was none other than Rose.

When she saw Eugene, she said, "Hello, Uncle Eugene."

Eugène said to her, "Come and have a seat."

Rose was holding something in her hand. She put it on the table and asked Eugene, "Is Grandma taking a nap?" "Yeah."

"I'll go and say hello to her when she wakes up."

Eugene nodded.

Roderick sat there and looked at Rose, who had come alone today, not with Jimmy.

She didn't look very happy.

When Eugene got out of the room, Roderick asked Rose, "How are you doing with Jimmy?" Hearing that, Rose stiffened.

However, she didn't want to look awful in front of Roderick, so she smiled and said, "Good!" "Really?" Roderick was always a little worried about her.

Rose laughed.

It was good!

She had stayed in a hotel for the past couple of days without going back to the Watson family.

In the past, she would have a wonderful time with her family during the festival, but she spent it in the hotel this year.

Chapter 704

Chapter 704

Rose talked with Roderick for a while and then went upstairs when she heard that Ella had woken up.

Ella was Rose's grandmother. She was mean to Eugene, but she was nice to Rose.

Rose sat down and talked with Ella for a while.

Ella was gentle with Rose as she gazed at the girl, who looked extremely like her daughter.

"Your husband didn't come with you?"

Hearing her ask about Jimmy, Rose stiffened.

Ella said, "I thought he would come with you. I haven't seen him since you got married!"

"He's been busy lately," Rose smiled and said.

Ella said, "Then tell him to come when he's not busy. I'd like to see what kind of man you've married! He is a nice guy, isn't he?"

Rose nodded her head.

She thought Jimmy had been a nice guy, except for this time when they had a fight.

In fact, Rose had managed to calm down in the past couple of days. She was no longer so angry.

Rose looked at Ella and said, "What's wrong with you, Grandma?"

"Nothing serious. I just have some headaches. Your uncle called an acupuncturist over today. I can sleep better now after having acupuncture." "An acupuncturist?"

"Her name is Theresa. Do you know her?" Ella looked at Rose curiously.

Rose was a little surprised to hear Theresa's name.

She looked at her grandmother and thought of Theresa having two children with Eugene.

Rose had been with the Watson family, so she still thought that Eugene was the father of Theresa's children.

She nodded. "Yeah."

Ella was quick to see that Rose hesitated when she was trying to say something.

She said, "Just tell me what you have to say."

"Theresa... She has two children with Uncle Eugene."

Ella was surprised to hear this. "Are you sure?"

"Of course," Rose said. "Otherwise, why did Uncle Eugene choose her when there are so many acupuncturists? I think he was trying to bring her to you by doing so!" She guessed that was what Eugene wanted.

Rose was a little frustrated, but there was nothing she could do to stop it.

She felt like she wouldn't be able to get rid of Theresa for the rest of her life.

She had to call Theresa aunt whether Theresa was with Charlie or Eugene.

Ella thought of Theresa, who had talked to her today. She hadn't expected Theresa to have two children with Eugene.

Then, she thought of the woman who had had a fight with her over Eugene.

Ella was confused. She had to find out what was going on.

She looked at Rose and asked, "Are the two children with Theresa?"

"Yeah." Rose nodded. "I haven't even seen them. She's been hiding them so well that I don't know where they are."

Ella said, "She came with two children today, but I didn't take a closer look."

"They must be her children!" Rose said. "Otherwise, why did she bring them when she came here? Don't you think it's strange?"

Ella nodded. "Yes."

In the dining room, Theresa placed some food in front of Cristina, who had been depressed and staring blankly since they came back home from the hospital. Theresa said, "Have something and stop thinking about it."

Cristina looked up at Theresa when she heard that. The scratches on her face were so noticeable.

#Chapter 705

Chapter 705

Chapter 705

When they were having dinner, Theresa's phone rang.

Theresa picked it up and found that it was Eugene. "My mother would like you to come over for lunch tomorrow."

"Me?" Theresa was a little surprised.

Eugene said, "She said she likes you and wants to see you again. She looks much better after talking to you today. Are you available? I'll pay you by the hour."

It was a job for Theresa. Eugene didn't think she would refuse.

Theresa said when she heard Eugene's words, "I'm available, but... Cristina..."

Theresa turned to see how badly Cristina was injured. She didn't think Cristina could go to Eugene's again.

Eugene said, "Tell her not to come. I don't want her to show up in front of my mother."

"You're so mean." Theresa couldn't believe Eugene had said that in front of Cristina as if Cristina wasn't good enough for him.

Theresa didn't even know how to comfort Cristina at this moment.

However, Cristina was more worried about what was happening to Eugene at his home.

Theresa didn't think it was a good idea to leave the kids with Cristina at home, so she brought them with her when she came out in the morning.

On the way, Ben said, "Mom, are we going to see that old lady from yesterday again?"

Theresa said, "Why?"

Ben said, "I think she's a little scary. She scratched Cristina."

Hearing this, Leonard suddenly stood up.

Theresa said, "What's wrong, Leonard?"

She was startled!

Leonard looked at Theresa with wide eyes and said, "Don't get hurt."

Theresa sighed helplessly when she heard Leonard's words. "No, don't worry!"

This boy was so worried about her!

However, she found that Ella wasn't such a terrible person.

When they arrived at Eugene's place, it was the same as yesterday. Theresa got in the door with the two kids. and saw Ella sitting on the couch by the window with coffee in front of her. Theresa walked over and sat down across from Ella. She looked at the cup of coffee and said, "It's not good for you to have too much coffee, Mrs. Oneill."

Ella said, "I'm used to it. It makes me feel good."

Theresa said, "You're addicted. I advise you to quit it."

Ella didn't say yes or no. She just turned her attention to the two kids.

The kids had sat down after coming in with Theresa.

They were a little afraid of Ella, so they took seats very close to Theresa.

Ella turned to Theresa and asked, "Are these two children yours?"

Theresa turned to look at the kids and said, "Yes."

Ella said, "They're pretty."

Theresa turned to Ella. The old lady had not said anything about the kids yesterday, but she was paying a lot of attention to them today.

Theresa smiled politely and said to Ella, "They look like their father."

Hearing Theresa's words, Ella thought about it and found that the kids' noses looked a lot like Eugene's.

Their eyes looked a little like Eugene's too. The two kids were so good-looking.

Ella could tell that their father must be a great-looking man.

The more she looked at them, the more she felt they looked like Eugene.

Ella asked, "Is Cristina your friend?"

Theresa nodded her head.

"It seems to me that she loves Eugene."

Theresa didn't reply when this was brought up.

Chapter 706

Chapter 706

Theresa stared at Ella. She could feel that Ella hated everything related to Eugene.

That was why Ella had hurt Cristina like that yesterday.

Theresa thought it might cause trouble for Cristina if she said that Cristina loved Eugene.

Seeing that Theresa did not answer, Ella said to one of the two kids, "Good boy, come closer to me."

Leonard walked over when he heard this.

He was a little afraid of Ella, but he didn't want to expose his brother to danger.

When Leonard came over, Ella picked up the cake on the table and handed it to the boy, who reached out his hand to take it. She took a close look at him and had a feeling that she just couldn't describe. "What a surprise! Eugene actually... has children! He doesn't deserve such cute kids. Huh..."

Thinking of that, Ella suddenly reached out her hand and grabbed Leonard.

Theresa was so startled that she stood up. "Mrs. Oneill!"

Leonard knew that the woman in front of him was a lunatic. He threw the cake in his hand directly at her face, broke away from her, and ran back to Theresa.

"Mrs. Oneill!" Seeing this scene, the maid rushed up to help Ella with the cake on her face. Meanwhile, the maid glanced at Theresa. "How can your child behave like this, Dr. Cameron?"

Hearing the maid's words, Theresa turned to look at Ella, "I'd like to ask, why were you trying to hurt my boy, Mrs. Oneill?"

"I wasn't trying to hurt him," Ella said. "I just thought he is cute and wanted to get closer to him."

"I'm not that stupid!"

Ella picked up the towel and wiped her face clean before she looked over at Theresa and then at Leonard and Ben who were staring at her warily.

She shouldn't have thought that the little kid was easy to deal with!

Ella looked at Theresa and said, "I knew that Cristina was stupid enough to fall for Eugene, but I didn't know you weren't any better."

Theresa looked at Ella, feeling confused.

She was wondering what Ella meant by saying that.

The next second, she heard Ella saying, "When are you and Eugene going to get married?"

"What do you mean?" Theresa was even more confused.

She didn't understand why Ella thought she and Eugene should get married.

Ella looked at her and explained, "Rose told me that you have two children with Eugene. Now that you have children, you have to get married, right? What? He doesn't want to marry you?"

Theresa sat down when she heard this.

She burst into laughter at Ella's words.

Ella said, "Why are you laughing?"

"That's why you wanted to hurt my kids? You thought they were Eugene's children?"

Ella pursed her lips.

Theresa said, "Are you Eugene's real mother? I've never seen such a ruthless mother like you. You're trying to ruin everything related to your son and you even want to hurt his child?"

Ella said, "He doesn't deserve to be happy in his life."

"Then I'd like to ask, what did he do to make you give him such a sentence?"

Theresa couldn't believe that Ella had made such a judgment about her son.

Ella said, "I'm his mother. If I don't think he deserves it, he doesn't!"

"Eugene has been so nice to you. If I were him, I would disown you for the rest of my life."

Theresa thought Ella didn't deserve a son like Eugene.

Ella laughed. "He won't disown me."

Theresa said when she heard Ella's words, "I don't know if he will disown you, but I know I won't let you get away with it if you try to do anything bad to my kids again!"

Ella looked at the two kids.

Theresa said, "By the way, they're not Eugene's children."

"They're not?" Ella was a little surprised.

Theresa laughed. "How crazy you are to believe that they're Eugene's children. They look exactly like Charlie, not Eugene!"

Chapter 707

Chapter 707

Hearing this, Ella was stunned and then looked at the two children. It had been a long time since she saw Charlie the last time.

After thinking so, she realized that these two kids looked really similar to Charlie...

She was a little apologetic, so, she turned to Theresa and said, "I'm sorry that I was mistaken."

She instantly became polite, because she didn't want to hurt innocent people and she had never hurt anyone but Eugene!

For a moment, Theresa didn't know what to say.

"I feel so sad for Eugene. Eat on your own, and we're going back."

She had thought she was just invited here to chat with Ella.

It turned out that Ella didn't need someone to talk to at all, and she just wanted to hurt these two kids!

Theresa walked out with her two children just in time to see Eugene standing by.

From this angle, his mother couldn't see him.

But he seemed to have heard what Theresa and his mother said just now.

Theresa said, "I'm going back. I probably won't be able to have this dinner with your mother. And..."

Eugene looked over at her.

Theresa said, "I won't come tomorrow, and don't ask me to see her in the future either. Given her condition, you'd better send her to a mental hospital."

Ella hurt Cristina first, and then almost hurt Leonard.

Luckily, Leonard reacted faster, or else....

If anything really happened to Leonard, Theresa would really kill this crazy woman!

Eugene looked at Theresa and asked, "How is Cristina doing?"

"..." Theresa rolled her eyes at Eugene, "How dare you ask me how she's doing? She's fine except she can't eat or sleep with you pissing her off. Oh no, I almost forgot she was nearly disfigured by your mother."

Hearing this, Eugene didn't say anything.

He said, "Tell her to live her life well."

"Tell that to her yourself!" With that said, Theresa looked at Eugene, who seemed very concerned about

Cristina, "You still fancy her."

Eugene looked down and laughed at himself, "What's the point of talking about it now? It doesn't matter anymore. She and I are from different worlds."

Theresa had felt that he was hateful, but now she seemed to understand him a bit.

"It seems that you still have some conscience for not letting her get involved in all the mess in your family."

Theresa looked over to Leonard and Ben, who said goodbye to Eugene before she led them out the door.

On the way back, she felt very tired for some reason.

Only when they arrived home, Theresa found a car parked in front of the door. Someone was coming!

It looked like the Calsis family's car!

There's a thought it might be Charlie coming.

Charlie hadn't shown up since they came back from the hospital the day before. Why was he here now?

Theresa walked in, only to find that it wasn't what she thought it would be.

Instead of Charlie, it was Sarah who came.

Sarah was sitting on the couch, accompanied by the Calsis family's maids and a lawyer working for Charlie.

In addition, she also brought a few bodyguards with her, looking very impressive.

Charlie didn't even go out with as many people as she did.

Sarah was really thick-skinned, and she was probably the person who could change the most quickly in the world.

In the past, when Charlie's leg was not healed, she cleared the relationship with Charlie without hesitation.

Chapter 708

Chapter 708

Now when Charlie's leg was well, she just wanted to go back to the Calsis family. And seeing that Charlie changed his attitude toward her a little bit, she used that to make trouble with Theresa as if she were Charlie's wife.

Seeing her, Theresa said, "Isn't that 'Mrs. Calsis'?"

Sarah, who was so shameless, didn't think Theresa was being sarcastic.

She said arrogantly, "Charlie wasn't available, so I came to pick up the two kids for him."

Theresa was stunned and then looked to Sarah, "Is it really Charlie who asked you to come?"

"This is his lawyer and these people are all from the Calsis family. So, what do you think?" Sarah looked at Theresa arrogantly, "Letting you take the kids away last time at the hospital doesn't mean they're yours! You hurry up and hand them over!"

Looking at Sarah like this, Theresa just felt ridiculous, "Do you think you can take away the kids whom Charlie can't by himself?"

Sarah laughed coldly, "I'm not like Charlie, who is soft on you for old times' sake. But I won't! If hand over the kids to me today, I'll call the police! By then, you have to go to jail!"

"..." Hearing this, Theresa sat down.

The lawyer on the other side also spoke up and told Theresa that the abduction of children was some kind of crime and that she was going to jail or something.

It seemed that they must take the kids away.

Theresa picked up her phone and dialed Charlie's number.

Sarah said, "What are you doing?"

Theresa said, "Since you said it was Charlie who told you to come, I'll call him and ask him to make sure you're not lying."

Seeing Theresa call Charlie, Sarah couldn't help but feel a little guilty.

"Yes, I did come by myself."

'Because I think Charlie wants to take the kids back too.'

'Last time at the hospital, Charlie let them go just because he didn't want to make Old Mr. Calsis angry'

'If I can get these two children back to the Calsis family, it will do Charlie a great favor, and he will certainly be grateful to me.'

The Calsis family has three sons. Pat's last name is Nandlall, whose wife has passed away long ago, and Chandler is not married.'

'So, if I marry Charlie, I will certainly be the mistress of the Calsis family.'

'I need to do something now to make Charlie think I'm the one who can take on the responsibility.'

'I'm not like Theresa, who can only stay at home with the kids all day!'

So, while Theresa was about to call Charlie, Sarah wasn't in a hurry to stop her.

Soon, Charlie's call was answered, "Hello."

Charlie was a little surprised when he received this call. He hadn't been to Theresa in the past two days, because he was busy with Chandler, either going to pay respect to the ancestors or to express New Year's greetings.

In addition, he was not in a good mood and did not want to see her.

But he did not expect Theresa to call him.

He was full of resentment toward Theresa but just couldn't restrain himself from wanting to know what Theresa was calling for.

Hearing his voice, Theresa asked directly, "Did you ask Sarah to come to my house to pick up the kids?"

When he heard Sarah's name, Charlie paused. Of course, he didn't!

If he wanted to pick up the children, he would go get them himself.

What's more, he wasn't worried about not getting his kids back. Theresa was able to use the children's fondness for her to keep them with her for the time being, but he was the kids' father. If he called the police, the children would be taken back.

In the past two days, he also reflected on it, and he thought he did go too far that day in the hospital. Even if he didn't care about the damage to Theresa, he was afraid of irreparable damage to the two children.

That's why he didn't bring the two kids back in a forceful way in the past two days.

However, at this moment, hearing Theresa's words and remembering her relationship with Dick, Charlie didn't deny it, but just said, "What's wrong? Do you think you are justified in keeping the children with you?"

Chapter 709

Chapter 709

Sarah sat on the sidelines and listened nervously to their conversation.

She had been worried that Charlie would expose her in front of Theresa but to her surprise.... Charlie spoke up for herself!

Sure enough, she was not wrong to do this.

She smiled crookedly and looked smugly at Theresa who became angry.

Theresa remembered when she was with Charlie, she accompanied him every day and helped him with his leg, hoping he would get up sooner.

She was all for his good at that time. When she saw Sarah badmouth him, she was even anxious and angry for him... And she never imagined that one day he would take Sarah's side against her.

It was as if she had become the one who was villain, and as if she was the common enemy of them both!

Now when she heard Charlie's words, she was naturally furious.

But what could she do?

Since Charlie was now planning to marry Sarah, there was no need for her to be polite to him.

Theresa said, "Charlie, are you that clueless? Now you need a woman to stand up for you!"

Charlie raised an eyebrow and said, "Those words of yours won't work on me."

"That's okay!" Theresa quickly hung up the phone.

Since he was the one who asked Sarah to come, it shouldn't be possible to expect Charlie to keep Sarah in check!

Theresa hung up the phone and found Sarah with a smug look on her face.

Sarah said, "What about it? You don't think that if you call Charlie, he'll speak for you? Charlie doesn't even want to talk to you right now, you know? The person he loves is me! So don't even think about using the kids to get him interested in you again. You don't know what you look like? You're not good enough for him!"

Theresa glanced at Leonard and Ben and said, "You two just go rest."

When they were at Eugene's house, the two little ones should have been terrified.

And Theresa didn't want them here to listen to Sarah's nonsense.

Seeing that the two kids were about to leave, Sarah gave a wink to the bodyguards on the side who then grabbed Leonard and Ben.

Looking at this scene, Theresa warned, "Sarah, how dare you grab Charlie's children."

Sarah came over and looked at the two kids. She usually couldn't do anything to them, but now they were being held by the bodyguard, and couldn't move at all!

She reached out and pinched Leonard's face, "Look what you little ones have been taught by Theresa! As little kids, you don't behave at all... Your father asked me to take you home and you still don't want to go?"

She came with bodyguards now, so she was very arrogant.

And she wasn't as polite to the two kids as she usually was in front of Charlie.

In her opinion, these two kids were still here because Charlie and the Calsis family had indulged them too much!

Since she was their mother in the future, she naturally had to be tougher on them, lest they all be taught to be bad by Theresa.

Looking at Sarah's hand, Theresa said, "Sarah, do you believe that I will cut your hand off!"

"Cut my hand off?" Sarah said, "When I bring these two kids back, you just wait for jail, and Charlie won't let you go! Theresa, don't be ungrateful, and now, I'm being polite to you only for the sake of our father. Johnson was not her biological father.

But Sarah was still interested in the Cameron family's property and now didn't want to offend Johnson. too hard.

That's why she wanted to show some respect to Johnson and didn't want to take it too far!

Hearing what Sarah said, Theresa was about to laugh. Sarah was being polite to her?

Was she kidding?

Hearing what Sarah said, she knew there was no way to reason with Sarah, so she picked up her cell phone and called the police, "Just wait!"

Sarah came to her house like this, so shameless!

Chapter 710

Chapter 710

Sarah said, "Just call the police! When the time comes, you'll know whether the police will arrest you or me."

She sat aside and said to the two bodyguards, "Take the two children to the car, and I'll talk to Theresa slowly here."

Hearing Sarah's words, the two bodyguards nodded and carried the two children out the door.

Watching this scene, Theresa unconsciously clenched her fingers into fists.

She could only wait for the police to arrive now.

After all, Sarah had more people with her.

The bodyguards took Leonard and Ben to the door and just as they went out, they saw Leticia arriving.

Seeing that Charlie had been indifferent to the two children for the past two days, Leticia was worried about her grandchildren, so she came over to see them.

But as soon as she arrived, she saw two bodyguards carrying them like chickens.

No matter how much Leonard and Ben protested, the two bodyguards just ignored them!

Looking at the two tall men grabbing their grandchildren, Leticia asked in a deep voice, "What's going on?"

"Grandma." Ben knew how to tattle, so, when he saw Leticia, he started calling her.

Seeing Leticia, the two bodyguards said, "It was Ms. Cameron who asked us to bring them out."

"Ms. Cameron?"

"It's that bad woman!" Ben said.

Leticia said, "Let go of them."

These two men had previously worked as bodyguards for the Calsis family, so they knew Leticia.

Obediently, they let go of the two children.

Leading the two children to the house, Leticia saw Sarah sitting there and saying arrogantly, "Charlie and I are getting married, so these two children are going to call me a mother. What are you worried about when I discipline them?"

"You don't deserve it!" Theresa looked at Sarah, this stupid woman who wanted to marry Charlie and be the mother of these two children.

Even if Charlie was blind, her kids would never call Sarah mom!

"It's not up to you.

"So, is it up to me?" Leticia stood in the doorway and said in a harsh tone.

Leticia came over. Seeing the two children following Leticia, Sarah was so scared that she stood quickly,

"Mom..."

Leticia slapped Sarah directly back to the couch where she had just stood up..

Theresa sat on the sidelines. Listening to the sound, she felt nothing but happy.

"Who told you to come here?" Leticia stared at Sarah, not expecting her to be so arrogant that she dared to bring someone to Theresa to take the kids.

How dare Sarah do such a thing!

If she hadn't come to see it today, she didn't know what else Sarah would do!

Sarah covered half of her face and looked at Leticia who was angry. Last time she knew that Leticia defended Theresa very much, but she didn't expect that she would still do so today and Leticia even slapped her.

Sarah held back her tears aggrievedly and explained, "It was Charlie who asked me to come!"

"Charlie?" Leticia was stunned for a moment.

Sarah said, "Charlie wanted to take the kids back, but every time he came, Theresa would just act pathetic, so he had to let me do this."

"Where's Charlie?" Leticia said angrily, "Call him over here!"

Sarah said, "He's busy."

Chapter 711

Chapter 711

Brenda, who came along with Leticia, said, "Charlie went out with Chandler today."

"Call him to come over!"

Leticia was so angry that she forgot about Charlie's outing.

Hearing Leticia's words, Brenda stepped aside to make a phone call.

Seeing that Leticia was going to sit down, Sarah was so frightened that she gave up her seat for Leticia. She didn't want to upset Leticia, so she tried to persuade her, "Mom, I know you're grateful that Theresa cured Charlie's leg before, but she committed a crime by kidnapping these two children. We can let her go, but we can't keep them with her, can we? And Charlie wouldn't approve. He's only doing this to get the kids back! They're your grandchildren too!"

Sarah was still trying to make Leticia understand her intentions.

She was doing all this for the Calsis family!

Leticia looked to Sarah, "What does my family's business have to do with you?"

Sarah bit her lip and said, "Charlie and I are already together."

"You are delusional and daydreaming!"

Sarah knew that Leticia hated her.

But she didn't care about that right now!

As long as Charlie had her in his heart, she could marry into the Calsis family!

She said, "It was Charlie himself who said it. If you don't believe me, you can ask Theresa! She heard it, too."

Theresa sat aside and looked at Sarah.

After she heard Sarah's words, Leticia's gaze quickly fell on Theresa, "Really?"

Thinking about what Charlie said at the hospital and how Charlie defended Sarah on that phone call, Theresa didn't deny it: "Yes! He said it himself. They have a good relationship now!"

Leticia didn't expect this to happen in the last two days!

Charlie really was....

Leticia said to Theresa, "Don't be angry, and I will definitely teach him a lesson when I go back today!" Theresa said, "He's free to be with whomever he wants, so, don't lecture him. He loves Sarah, otherwise, he wouldn't have hated her so much after she left."

Sarah sat aside listening to what Theresa said, and she thought so, too.

She didn't expect Theresa to be quite self-aware!

In fact, Sarah also thought so. Charlie hated her so much before just because she was not with him.

As the saying went, "Love well, whip well." She was the woman Charlie loved the most!

Leticia looked at Theresa. Although Theresa was calm in her tone, Leticia could feel that Theresa was really disillusioned!

She looked at Theresa and said, "I'm sorry. It's my fault that I didn't teach him well as his mother, so he became like this!"

Theresa smiled, "There is nothing wrong with you!"

Theresa knew that Leticia still wished she could be with Charlie for the sake of her two children.

But with her current bad relationship with Charlie, it was impossible for them to go back to the old days.

Because she didn't want the kids to get involved in adult things, Leticia asked Theresa to take the two kids upstairs to rest first.

Theresa took them upstairs to let them play. Usually, Theresa was the one who cooked, but today, Brendal took over the cooking duties.

She made delicious food for everyone.

And brought it upstairs.

Theresa took the plate from her hand. Looking at the hearty lunch, she said, "Thanks, Brenda."

Brenda said, "Don't say like that. It's all I should do."

"It's been a long time since the two little ones have eaten your cooking, and they've missed it."

Chapter 712

Chapter 712

Standing aside, Brenda looked at the two children and sighed, "How can Charlie be like this? Even if he is with other women, he can't be with Sarah! And even if he doesn't care about your feelings, he has to think for the two children."

"He's just like that and let's just pretend we misjudged him!"

She used to think Charlie was a good guy!

Theresa handed the food to the two children. After watching them eat for a while, she heard the sound of parking downstairs, so, she went downstairs with Brenda.

Charlie entered the door. When she saw him enter, Leticia's face was somber.

He came over, sat down next to Leticia, and asked, "Mom! I'm busy with something over there. Why did you ask me to come over?"

It was his mother's order, plus it happened here in Theresa's place, so he still rushed over even though he didn't know what happened.

Sarah was just sitting on the sidelines, shivering, "Charlie."

Leticia took one look at Sarah and asked angrily at Charlie, "You're with Sarah?"

Charlie glanced at Sarah and was about to speak when he saw Theresa and Brenda coming down.

He hadn't forgotten how much he hated Theresa!

He wanted to see Theresa angry right now!

So, he said whatever he could to annoy her.

Charlie said, "Yeah. Since Sarah doesn't mind that I'm divorced and wants to be with me, why wouldn't I say yes to her? She's never been married and she is better than the woman who has children for others after divorcing me."

Hearing Charlie's words, Sarah was so moved that she was about to cry.

She didn't expect her to be like this in Charlie's mind!

He finally figured it out now!

Sure enough, it must be that he was drugged by Theresa when he was with her to make him so protective of Theresa!

An ordinary man couldn't love a woman like Theresa who was remarried!

However, Charlie's words made Leticia tremble with anger, "What did you say?"

How could he say such bastard words?

Charlie looked to Leticia and said, "Mom, what does it matter whom I marry? Anyway, I'm on my feet now, and you can leave my affairs alone."

"Charlie!" Leticia said, "You must break off your relationship with this woman today! I'm telling you that I won't allow you to marry anyone but Theresa in your life."

Leticia hadn't been so angry before.

Now seeing Charlie so unreasonable, she was so angry that she was going to vomit blood.

So, she couldn't help but let out such harsh words!

Charlie looked at Leticia and said, "Mom, you are my mother. How can you let me marry such a twice-divorced woman? She's not worthy."

His words were full of dislike!

He only remembered her as Dick's woman!

And she even gave birth to two children for Dick.

In the past, when she was with Jimmy, she was able to cheat on him with Dick, which showed that she really loved Dick.

Why did he have to show respect to her again?

Leticia heard Charlie's words, "Are you out of your mind? Didn't she get divorced from you the second time? Hmm? It wasn't you who forced her to get a divorce?"

"I forced her?" Charlie said, "I didn't dare! It was she who wanted to be with Dick, so, she divorced me.

She's happy now!"

Hearing these words from Charlie, Theresa felt her hands turn cold like ice.

She hated that she even had a trace of attachment to him until now, so, when she heard those words from him, she was so sad!

She looked at Charlie and said, "That's what you said!"

No normal person could say something like that!

But he could.

He really knew her too well and knew how to make her humiliated.

Chapter 713

Chapter 714

Looking at Charlie, Leticia couldn't believe this was coming from Charlie's mouth!

"So, you really don't want the two kids for Sarah?"

"Of course, I want the two kids." Charlie said, "It's not a conflict!"

"Not a conflict?" Leticia looked at Charlie, thinking he was really heartless, "You actually think it's not a conflict? Do you think the two children will like you if you treat Theresa like this? Charlie, you're breaking their hearts! These two kids are so young... Theresa gave birth to them, raised them, and sent them to you... Not only are you not doing your job as a father, but you're doing this to Theresa."

Leticia continued, "Since you have to be with Sarah, that's okay, but you have to hand over my shares and your father's shares. In the future, I'll give them to Theresa and my two grandchildren, and I won't leave them to you! You really don't deserve it!"

Charlie's attention was all on Theresa at first.

And he just wanted to see Theresa's reaction.

At this moment, when he heard Leticia say this, he finally reacted a little.

He looked at Leticia, "What did you say?"

Leticia sneered twice and said, "How dare you ask me what I said?"

Sarah had just heard Leticia's words, so she turned to Leticia and said, "Mom, you're so muddleheaded! These two kids like Theresa a lot, but they are not born by Theresa and they are Cristina's kids." "You know nothing.!" Leticia glanced at Sarah and was so angry that she spoke the foul language.

It was just that she could not hold back his anger when she saw Sarah now.

Sarah looked at Theresa and asked, "Theresa, you and Cristina are good friends anyway. How come the kids she gave birth to become yours? This is what is called 'Greed' Standing aside, Brenda looked at Sarah's ridiculous look and said, "Everyone in the family knows that the kids were born by Theresa. If you don't know, don't say anything!"

Sarah didn't expect Brenda to say like that too.

Charlie stood aside and looked at Theresa...

His mother said that Leonard and Ben were born by Theresa?

He was still in shock and didn't react for a moment.

Leonard and Ben were not born by Cristina?

Theresa's kids were Dick's...

Charlie turned to Theresa and said, "You said Leonard and Ben were born by you?"

Looking at Charlie's surprised look, Theresa didn't want to say anything nice to him as she remembered everything he had done, "No, you're overthinking it. They were Dick and I's children and have nothing to do with you!"

Theresa was so angry that her words were full of sarcasm.

But Charlie had known the truth in her tone.

Were these two children really Theresa's?

How... was that possible?

Looking at his mother again, who was very defensive of Theresa, so that's why his mother hadn't allowed him to get the kids back?

Just then, Cristina also came down from upstairs.

She was so hungry that she wanted to come down to find something to eat, but she found the house. extraordinarily lively.

When she saw Charlie, Sarah, and Leticia there, Cristina said, "So many people?"

Even her aunt was here!

Brenda looked over at Charlie and nodded her head.

When Sarah saw Cristina, it was like she saw a savior, "Cristina, there you are!"

"What's up?" Cristina came over and looked at Sarah, who was standing next to Charlie, "When did you two get so close?" "Charlie said she was going to marry Sarah!"

Chapter 714

Chapter 714

Looking at Charlie, Leticia couldn't believe this was coming from Charlie's mouth!

"So, you really don't want the two kids for Sarah?"

"Of course, I want the two kids." Charlie said, "It's not a conflict!"

"Not a conflict?" Leticia looked at Charlie, thinking he was really heartless, "You actually think it's not a conflict? Do you think the two children will like you if you treat Theresa like this? Charlie, you're breaking their hearts! These two kids are so young... Theresa gave birth to them, raised them, and sent them to you... Not only are you not doing your job as a father, but you're doing this to Theresa."

Leticia continued, "Since you have to be with Sarah, that's okay, but you have to hand over my shares and your father's shares. In the future, I'll give them to Theresa and my two grandchildren, and I won't leave them to you! You really don't deserve it!"

Charlie's attention was all on Theresa at first.

And he just wanted to see Theresa's reaction.

At this moment, when he heard Leticia say this, he finally reacted a little.

He looked at Leticia, "What did you say?"

Leticia sneered twice and said, "How dare you ask me what I said?"

Sarah had just heard Leticia's words, so she turned to Leticia and said, "Mom, you're so muddleheaded! These two kids like Theresa a lot, but they are not born by Theresa and they are Cristina's kids." "You know nothing.!" Leticia glanced at Sarah and was so angry that she spoke the foul language.

It was just that she could not hold back his anger when she saw Sarah now.

Sarah looked at Theresa and asked, "Theresa, you and Cristina are good friends anyway. How come the kids she gave birth to become yours? This is what is called 'Greed'" Standing aside, Brenda looked at Sarah's ridiculous look and said, "Everyone in the family knows that the kids were born by Theresa. If you don't know, don't say anything!"

Sarah didn't expect Brenda to say like that too.

Charlie stood aside and looked at Theresa...

His mother said that Leonard and Ben were born by Theresa?

He was still in shock and didn't react for a moment.

Leonard and Ben were not born by Cristina?

Theresa's kids were Dick's...

Charlie turned to Theresa and said, "You said Leonard and Ben were born by you?"

Looking at Charlie's surprised look, Theresa didn't want to say anything nice to him as she remembered everything he had done, "No, you're overthinking it. They were Dick and I's children and have nothing to do with you!"

Theresa was so angry that her words were full of sarcasm.

But Charlie had known the truth in her tone.

Were these two children really Theresa's?

How... was that possible?

Looking at his mother again, who was very defensive of Theresa, so that's why his mother hadn't allowed him to get the kids back?

Just then, Cristina also came down from upstairs.

She was so hungry that she wanted to come down to find something to eat, but she found the house. extraordinarily lively.

When she saw Charlie, Sarah, and Leticia there, Cristina said, "So many people?"

Even her aunt was here!

Brenda looked over at Charlie and nodded her head.

When Sarah saw Cristina, it was like she saw a savior, "Cristina, there you are!"

"What's up?" Cristina came over and looked at Sarah, who was standing next to Charlie, "When did you two get so close?" "Charlie said she was going to marry Sarah!"

Chapter 715

Chapter 715

Leticia was so angry that she didn't even want to acknowledge Charlie as her son anymore!

Hearing Leticia's words, Cristina froze for a moment and then looked at Charlie, "You're going to marry this woman?"

Sarah stood beside Charlie and said, "The person Charlie loves is me and Theresa was originally married to him for me. Why are you so surprised?"

Hearing that, Cristina went furious. She looked at Charlie and laughed coldly, "Charlie, you must be blind! Can you stand up without Theresa? If you cannot stand up, will this woman be with you? You men are all the same."

She was not like Theresa, so, she was angry to hear this.

She could imagine how angry Theresa was when she knew Charlie was going to be with Sarah.

Charlie looked at Cristina. With her coming down at the right time, he was able to ask about the children.

Charlie asked, "Leonard and Ben are Theresa's kids?"

Hearing this, Cristina looked to Charlie, "They are, of course, Theresa's children. Since you're with Sarah, don't even think about wanting the two kids and just let Sarah have children for you." Charlie stood by, very shocked. He glanced at Theresa and saw Theresa standing there, looking at him with no lighter in her eyes.

He looked at his mother, and then at Brenda. It seemed that everyone knew about it.

But only he... didn't know?

Sarah stood aside. Hearing Cristina's words, she felt incredulous, "Aren't you the one who gave birth to these two children?"

Hearing Sarah's words, Cristina looked at Sarah and said, "I also want to have such cute kids, but whom am I going to have them with?"

Seeing that Cristina, the kids' 'mother', had admitted it, Sarah looked at Theresa in some disbelief, "How... is this possible? How could Theresa's kids be Charlie's?"

How could Leonard and Ben be born by Theresa?

Theresa didn't know Charlie before...

She didn't believe it!

Theresa stood aside, looked at Sarah, and said, "Aren't you going to call the police? When the police come, you can tell them who gave you the right to come to my place to take my kids!"

Sarah didn't know how to justify herself for a moment!

Charlie looked at Theresa and asked in a deep voice, "Why didn't you tell me about the kids earlier."

Theresa looked at Charlie who was confused, "What? As soon as you heard that the police were going to be called, now you're playing dumb? You already knew about Leonard and Ben, didn't you? Everyone in your family knew about it, so, don't you tell me you didn't even know about this before."

"..." Charlie looked over at her and then at his mother.

He didn't know what to say because he really didn't know!

Sarah stood by, and this was something she hadn't expected at all.

Charlie and Theresa had two children...

But she couldn't admit defeat yet.

It was so hard for Charlie to agree to be with her!

She opened her mouth and said to Theresa, "Even if these two children were born to you, they are still Charlie's. They will have a better future with Charlie than with you. Theresa, there is no way you can take care of two children, so, you might as well let Charlie take the children back!"

"Shut up!" Sarah's words were just finished when Charlie chided her.

She looked up at Charlie and found that Charlie looked particularly terrible. She spoke, "Charlie..."

"Get out!"

Charlie had just wanted to use her to piss off Theresa.

Chapter 716

Chapter 716

Knowing that Theresa was Leonard and Ben's mother at the moment, he did not want to see Sarah acting wildly anymore.

Theresa stood watching the scene and didn't make a sound.

Seeing Charlie walk up to her, Theresa couldn't help but ask, "What do you want to do?"

Without speaking, Charlie directly yanked her wrist and forcibly dragged her out of the living room...

Watching this scene, Sarah tried to stop him but it was too late.

Seeing her son finally change his mind, Leticia breathed a sigh of relief and her eyes fell on Sarah...

Theresa was forced to follow him to the backyard, struggling, "Bastard, get off me!"

The two of them went to the pool. Seeing that no one else was there, Charlie untied her, looked at her, and asked, "Why did you tell me your kids were Dick's?"

"What?" Theresa looked at the man in front of her in disbelief. What did he mean now?

He was trying to make a pre-emptive strike?

"You're kidding! Isn't that you who said my kids were Dick's? Did you forget? Do you want me to remind you?"

Charlie remembered that he did think the kids were Dick's at the time because Dick helped Theresa so much...

He looked at Theresa and said, "When I said that last time, you could have explained it to me."

Instead of explaining to him, she deliberately admitted it to mislead him!

"This is my fault?" Theresa sneered, "Your mother knew about it a long time ago, and so did Roderick. What? You didn't know until now?"

Charlie said, "Of course, I didn't know! If I had known, why would I..."

Thinking of him coming for the kids...

Thinking about his conflicts with her these days, especially about Sarah...

Charlie couldn't go on with the rest of his words.

Looking at him like this, Theresa was on the verge of tears, "Why do you stop speaking?"

Looking at her red eyes as if they had been blown red by the cold wind outside, he reached out and tried to get closer to her, but Theresa took two steps back defensively.

Charlie looked at her and said, "It's my fault because I didn't figure it out. Theresa, I didn't mean to hurt you, or the kids. I was just worried... I was afraid Dick would hurt them, so I wanted to take them away. I really didn't know the kids were yours..."

If Leonard and Ben were born by her, he had misunderstood her on so many things!

He even thought she was lying to him about everything and thought Jimmy was telling the truth about her cheating...

Damn him!

Hearing Charlie said that, Theresa felt more ridiculous.

Her tears also fell uncontrollably.

She looked at Charlie and said, "So what if you know? Will you let me go? Will you just let me stay with the kids? Charlie, you've gotten us into trouble more than once! The first time, you made Ben so sad. The second time, at the hospital... Today is the third time, and you let Sarah come..."

"I didn't ask Sarah to come, and she came on her own. You know she loves to cause trouble!"

"That's not what you said on the phone today?"

Even if he looked innocent now, Theresa didn't want to... trust him again in her life!

What he had done was enough to make her give up on him!

Thinking about what he said when he was on the phone with Theresa, Charlie wanted to go back to slap himself a few times.

Chapter 717

Chapter 717

Charlie explained, "I was just so angry... that I wanted to piss you off. I admit that I was childish, but I really didn't know what to do! When I thought about you being with Dick, I was especially sad, so, I also wanted to let you know what the feeling was like to see me with Sarah."

"Heh..." Theresa looked at him.

Charlie said, "Theresa, I'm serious. I didn't know your kids were Leonard and Ben and I really didn't know they were born by you. I was so angry those days that I didn't ask my mother for clarification. If I had known the truth was like this, how could I have let you be so sad?"

"Are you kidding me?" Theresa let out a laugh with tears streaming down her face, "You said Sarah was more affectionate and better than me. What am I in your eyes? I'm a twice-divorced woman. Don't you think it's ridiculous to say that now?"

Charlie pursed his lips and looked at her, only to feel regretful.

The more she cried, the more he felt bad!

He didn't want her to have secrets with him, so he always wanted to know about her two children outside. And he thought that her reluctance to tell him was a defense against him.

That's why he had to guess that her children were someone else's, but he never expected that they had been raising their two children together...

He clenched his fist hard, "I didn't mean those things, so, you must not take them seriously. In my heart, you will always be the best. If it wasn't for caring about you, I wouldn't have been so angry when I saw you with Dick. I even really thought you had two kids with him... Theresa, why didn't you tell me that?"

They had been together for so long, yet she had never been honest with him about the kids.

When he thought about it now, Charlie still felt very ironic...

There really was no place for him in her heart!

Theresa said, "So, it's my fault?"

She now still did not regret her previous hiding from him at all.

Because if it wasn't for that, she couldn't have known what he really was.

And she might still think he was a good guy!

Charlie said, "No, it's my fault! I should have thought of it, but I didn't."

It was clear that the two children were treating Theresa differently from the others.

But he didn't think of it that way!

Because she had always said that the kids were Cristina's and he believed her!

Theresa didn't want to do anything to him. Now, seeing that he admitted his mistake, she didn't want to blame him anymore, so, she said, "In that case, I only have one request. Charlie, don't come to bother me and the kids anymore! Now that you know you're wrong, you should let me live with my kids! You don't have to worry that I will treat them badly because I am not you....."

Charlie looked at Theresa. Did she mean to draw a line in the sand with him?

But since he now knew the kids were both theirs, there was no way he would say yes.

Charlie said, "The kids need their dad!"

"We had a good time without you for those years." Theresa said, "And now they shouldn't want a dad like you either! They hate Sarah as much as I do. I don't believe these two kids will be happy when you and Sarah get married later."

Charlie said, "I won't marry Sarah!"

How could he really marry Sarah?

Theresa raised an eyebrow, "You're not marrying her anymore? You're changing too fast, aren't you?"

Didn't you just say you were going to stay with her no matter what? She's actually quite nice, matching you very well, and you are from the same world! I used to think she didn't match you, which was my mistake."

"..." She continued.

Hearing her say that she and Sarah were well-matched, Charlie knew that she was being sarcastic!

But he had no way to refute her.

Charlie said, "I didn't really intend to marry her, and I just wanted to use her to make you angry! I used to think you left me because you couldn't let go of your two children."

But now, don't you think it's just right for us to be together? The two kids will be happy too."

"You think too much!" Theresa said, "I'm afraid I'd have nightmares if I am with a man like you! If possible, just stay out of my sight and let me live in peace with Leonard and Ben."

"What if I don't agree?" He didn't know this before, so he wanted to let her go.

But now he regretted it!

Chapter 718

Chapter 718

He had the same idea as his mother that he wanted her back in the Calsis family! Theresa said, "Then let's file a lawsuit! If the court really awards the child to you, if only that day had come, she would not live in this world! I'll accept it."

Charlie felt nothing but pain in his heart as he listened to her words, "Theresa, do we have to be like this?" "You don't think that's the way to go?" She looked over at him and sneered. After taking a few steps backward, she turned and walked out.

In the living room, Cristina was eating with Brenda standing by.

Sarah and Leticia were gone.

Theresa asked, "They went back?"

Cristina said, "The police just came over to take Sarah away, and Leticia followed."

Brenda looked over at Theresa and asked, "Do you want to eat something?"

Then she saw Charlie walk in as well.

Brenda said, "Charlie, would you like to eat something?"

Cristina said, "Don't let him eat here! Because he doesn't deserve it. I didn't expect him to come here today to take the kids!"

She just knew what Charlie and Sarah were going to do by being here after she heard Brenda say it!

Good lord!

She almost wanted to applaud!

Cristina looked at Charlie and said, "You haven't even raised the kids before, but now you're thinking of taking them away. These two children were born by Theresa with her life and for these two children, her whole life was ruined! And you still encourage Sarah to take her children away from her! What a scumbag!"

Cristina was furious when she saw Charlie.

Charlie looked at Cristina and remembered that every time she looked at him in the past, she was very displeased.

He didn't know why then, but he did now!

Theresa turned to Charlie and said, "You go back! I'm not eating anything, and I'm tired."

The latter words were said to Brenda.

After Theresa said that, she went upstairs.

Every time when she saw Charlie, she always felt very tired, and today was the same.

She lay on her bed and looked at the ceiling, just feeling tired and wanting to sleep.

After Theresa went upstairs, Charlie didn't go but sat down at one side.

Brenda glanced at him and went to get him some food over.

Charlie sat down and kept looking at Cristina, who looked a little funny because her face was hurt. When Charlie was staring at her, Cristina felt even more uncomfortable.

She said angrily. "What are you looking at me for? Do you want to hit me? I'm telling you even if you hit me, I will still scold you!".

Charlie asked, "It wasn't you who was pregnant at the hospital from the beginning, was it?"

Hearing him mention this, Cristina got a little defensive.

She knew Charlie had always been hostile to her.

She gave a cold laugh...

Chapter 719

Chapter 719

"What? You want to blame me for this? I knew that you're a man without conscience!"

'He had never been most concerned about the two children, but other things.'

'Just like now, what he cares most about is that I lied to him!'

"He's going to blame me?"

Charlie realized that Cristina misunderstood him, so, he explained, "I was just going to ask why didn't you tell me that the kids were Theresa?"

66

.." Cristina said unhappily, "Is it wrong? Don't you know what kind of person you are yourself? This is the second time Theresa has been married and you're not really a couple. Didn't you agree to divorce as soon as Sarah returned? Why should she tell you the truth? Was it so that you could take her children away? It's lucky she didn't say that, otherwise, she wouldn't have been able to take the kids away when she divorced you."

Speaking of this, Cristina sneered, "Oh, I should never have sent the kids to the Calsis Villa in the first place! I thought back then that you were different from Jimmy and would treat her well. At least you wouldn't be like Jimmy, the scumbag who tricked her into getting pregnant and then forced her to abort the kids! I didn't think you'd be so ungrateful after she helped you get on your feet. If Theresa hadn't gotten you on your feet, do you think you'd still be talking to me like this? Who are you to dislike her?"

The more Cristina said, the angrier she felt.

Her little fists were clenched tightly. If it wasn't for the fact that she couldn't beat him, she would have punched him a few times to take it out on Theresa!

Charlie frowned at Cristina's words.

He explained, "I don't dislike her."

"Is that so?" Cristina said, "Now you must be denying it. If you didn't dislike her, why did she divorce you? She used to fancy you so much, considering you as all her hope for the future... You men are superficial! She just met Jimmy, that scumbag, and what's wrong with her? Charlie, you really don't match her! Theresa is so good, and she deserves the best man in the world! You better stay away from her and don't bother her anymore!"

Speaking of this, Cristina was about to cry out in anger.

It was all her fault!

She was the one who misjudged him!

Seeing Charlie in a wheelchair at that time, she still wanted to set them up together!

Cristina scolded Charlie for a long time, but Charlie didn't talk back, nor did he have the same arrogant attitude as before.

After a while, Cristina felt that there was no more fun.

Theresa lay down on the bed and slept.

At four o'clock in the afternoon, Leonard came over.

She opened her eyes and saw Leonard sitting on the chair next to her looking at her.

Theresa said, "What are you doing here? Didn't go to bed?"

She had told them to go to bed after dinner earlier.

Leonard said, "I've woken up, and my grandpa's coming over!"

Theresa heard this and said, "Oh."

She sat up and began to put on her shoes.

Leonard spoke up and asked, "Mom, will Ben and I be taken away by dad?"

Theresa froze when she heard this and looked at Leonard, "Of course not, I wouldn't agree to that."

"But I think he will." Leonard said, "He's bad, and he always bullies you!"

With that said, Leonard ran over with some grievance and hugged Theresa.

Theresa looked at the little guy, rubbed his head, and said, "No matter what, I will try to keep you and Ben with me."

Leonard nodded his head and he believed in Theresa's words.

Chapter 720

Chapter 720

Theresa took him out of the room and went to her father's room, where her father was sitting on the bed, resting.

Leah was also there, taking care of Johnson on the side.

Seeing Theresa come in, Leah hurriedly stood up, "Theresa!"

Theresa saw her and asked, "What is it?"

"I heard that Sarah was taken away by the police and that it was you who called the police!"

When she heard this, Theresa said, "She brought people to my house wanting to take Leonard and Ben away by force. Do you think it's too much for me to call the police?"

Leah looked at Theresa who was calm and knew she couldn't be tough with Theresa now, so, she lowered her voice, "She's your sister, so, don't do this to her. She just wants the two children to return to the Calsis Villa! Those two children are not born by you, and it is no good for you to keep them around. So, you might as well send them back to Charlie sooner."

"..." Theresa looked at Leah and then her eyes fell on Johnson.

She walked over to her father and asked, "Dad, how are you feeling these past two days?"

Johnson was at home for the past two days, not living here.

"Much better!" Johnson said, "What's going on about Sarah?"

"I don't really know." Theresa said, "I did call the police, but I had nothing to do with her being taken away."

She didn't even pay attention to this matter afterward.

She believed that the police would not wrongly accuse Sarah!

Leah said, "Then make a call to ask."

"Ask who?" Theresa looked at Leah.

Leah said, "Ask the police, of course! Ask them when they're going to release her. You just say it was a misunderstanding. It was you who called the police, and you can surely get her out."

"Why would I call?" Theresa looked at Leah in disbelief, "You're the one who didn't teach your daughter well. She was so arrogant when she came to my house today! And how you expect me to release her. What good is that to me?"

Although, things weren't that serious.

But Theresa thought it would be a good idea to teach Sarah a little lesson, lest Sarah really thought she was easy to bully.

Leah said, "Theresa, you are too much! Anyway, Sarah is your sister and we are a family, who have lived together for a long time. How can you be so cruel? If there was a criminal record of her in the police station, her children's schooling will also be affected in the future."

"Sister?" Theresa said, "My mother only gave birth to one child, which was me, and I don't have a sister."

She had no blood relationship with Sarah.

Sarah changed her surname to Cameron after she arrived at the Cameron family.

Seeing that Theresa didn't show any respect for her, Leah immediately sarcastically said to Theresa, "Oh, Sarah is going to marry Charlie in a few days! Aren't you humiliating Charlie by calling the police to arrest her like this?"

If Charlie knows it, he will definitely teach you a lesson."

"I'd love to know how Charlie is going to teach me a lesson."

Theresa looked at Leah.

That was ridiculous!

Could she be afraid of Charlie?

Knowing that Theresa was backed by Dick, Leah didn't dare to offend Theresa too much, "You're just jealous that Sarah is marrying Charlie, so, you're trapping her like this! She just came to pick up the kids. What's wrong with her? Those two kids are Charlie's and you abducted them to your house. Even so, we didn't call the police to arrest you!"

"Didn't call the police?" Theresa said, "She tried to call the police more than once to get me arrested! Why didn't she think that if I had a criminal record in the police station, my two children would be affected in the future?"

Chapter 721

Chapter 721

"..." Leah found that she really couldn't argue with Theresa anymore.

Theresa used what she just said to shut her up.

She said, "You asked for it yourself! What were you doing abducting Charlie's kid to your house? Is that how your father taught you to be a human trafficker?" "Who told you that I abducted the kids?" Theresa looked at Leah, "I gave birth to those two children myself. Don't you get it wrong!"

People with nasty inside always saw a world of nasty too

"You gave birth to them?" Leah didn't believe Theresa's words, "Those two bastards you gave birth to have been hidden by you! You're just making up lies!"

Just as Leah finished her sentence, she saw Charlie appear at the door.

Seeing Charlie, Leah rushed over like seeing a savior, "Charlie, why are you here?"

Sarah had told Leah that Charlie was going to be with her, so when Leah saw Charlie now, she was like seeing her son-in-law.

However, Charlie stood in the doorway, just looking at Theresa with his good-looking eyes.

Seeing Charlie looking at herself like this, Theresa averted her gaze indifferently, not wanting to meet his eyes. She thought he had left, but to her surprise, he was still here!

Didn't he think he could change anything by staying here?

Theresa poured a glass of water for her father and handed it to him.

Looking at Charlie, Leah said, "Charlie, Sarah came to pick up the two children today but was arrested by the police called by Theresa. Could you find a way to release Sarah? Theresa is really a vicious woman! She brought your children here and didn't allow Sarah to take them away. And now she still blames Sarah for it."

Charlie glanced at Leah and said, "Her business has nothing to do with me."

"I know you don't care about Theresa right now, but you can't just leave Sarah alone!"

It was clear she had misunderstood Charlie's meaning.

Charlie corrected, "I mean Sarah."

Hearing the word Sarah, Leah paused.

"How can Sarah have nothing to do with you?" Leah said, "I heard Sarah say you were going to marry her!" "I'm never going to marry her in my life," Charlie said, walking through the door and looking at Theresa. Theresa was taking care of her father, and when she saw Charlie come in, she said, "Get out!"

Charlie looked at her and said gently and ingratiatingly, not at all like Charlie's manner of speaking, "You're awake?"

He knew she was mad at him!

Theresa said, "My dad wants to rest and doesn't want to see you here. You are an eyesore."

Theresa spoke in a cold manner!

When Leah saw Theresa talking to Charlie like that, she couldn't stand it and walked right in saying to Theresa, "Theresa, how can you talk to Charlie like that? You're so rude." "Shut up!" Charlie glanced at Leah, "Does it matter to you that she cursed me?"

Leah,

She was not supposed to speak for him?

She stood aside, looking confused,

She remembered Charlie was cold to Theresa when he came to see Theresa before. What was wrong with him. today?

He was so different from what he was before!

Charlie stood aside, looked at Johnson, and said, "Dad, are you feeling better?"

"..." His calling left Johnson with a complicated look on his face.

Johnson looked at Charlie in disbelief for a moment, then at Theresa, "What's going on with you two?"

The two of them were clearly fighting over the children, in a bad relationship!

And now, they

Even he could see that Charlie was clearly different.

Theresa said, "It's nothing and he's crazy."

. " Charlie stood aside and looked at her.

Chapter 722

Chapter 722

Theresa helped Johnson check his body before coming out of the room.

When she got downstairs, she found Brenda still there, having made dinner. Usually, if she didn't cook, there was hardly anything for everyone to eat.

This made Theresa feel uncomfortable, so, she turned to Brenda and asked, "Brenda, you haven't gone back yet?"

Charlie said, "I told Brenda to stay to take care of you later."

Theresa looked up and gave him a look, "I don't understand what mean."

"I know you don't really want to see me, so, I let Brenda take care of you. You usually work too hard alone!" Speaking of this, he took her hand and said, "Look, what has your hands become?" There was still a small cut on her hand from yesterday's cooking.

Seeing him looking at her hand, Theresa pulled her hand back, "Hypocritical."

Charlie looked over at her and said, "Didn't I give you money? Why are you so frugal?"

He gave her a lot of things when they divorced.

But she had never used anything he gave her.

Theresa said, "I don't need them. I'll give you back all your stuff after the lawsuit later and I can raise the two kids by myself."

Charlie looked over at her, "I'm not going to file a lawsuit against you!"

"What do you mean?" Theresa looked at Charlie and said unexpectedly, "You mean you're willing to let Leonard and Ben live with me in the future!"

"They like you so much, and they definitely don't want to live with me. It's not good for them if I file a lawsuit against you."

Before, he didn't understand why his mother didn't agree to let him file a lawsuit.

But he understood it now!

Although Theresa felt that she had a great chance of winning the lawsuit, it was still risky to do so.

At this moment, when she heard that Charlie was not going to file a lawsuit, she was naturally relieved and said,

"That's good! It seems you still have some humanity."

Charlie looked at her and laughed, "Is that a compliment?"

How did that become a compliment to him?

Charlie said to Theresa, "Actually if you had told me about the kids earlier, we wouldn't have had so many misunderstandings. Do you think I'm the kind of person who won't give you the kids if you want them?' Theresa listened to Charlie's words and said, "What do you think? You've come here to take the kids several times!"

"When I didn't know the kids were yours, I kept them with you all the time. I wanted to take the kids just because I was afraid Dick would hurt them."

Speaking of this, Charlie was a little depressed.

If the kids weren't Dick's, why did she have to mess with Dick?

Brenda walked out and said, "It's time for dinner!"

The table was already full of food.

Theresa went upstairs to call Leonard and Ben to come down.

She went upstairs and found Charlie following behind her. She felt speechless, "What are you doing following me?"

"I just want to look at you."

"L

. " Was he crazy?

She looked at him strangely, "Are you out of your mind?"

Theresa looked back and saw Charlie looking at her with a smile on his face.

Was he even a little happy?

Why was he so happy?

Charlie said, "When I think that your two kids out there are not Eugene's, not Roderick's, and not Dick's, but mine, I'm happy!" "... Theresa didn't know what to say as she listened to his words.

Since Charlie knew that Leonard and Ben were her children, his attitude had changed so much that Theresa felt very strange.

Chapter 723

Chapter 723

When Theresa was lying in bed every day for the first two days, she was still thinking about what she should do if she lost the lawsuit with Charlie.

At that time, seeing Charlie still wanting to fight with her for the children even though he already knew that the two children were born by her, she felt very desperate. She had even prepared for the worst.

But she didn't expect... it would be like this now!

She didn't even know what to say!

Wasn't he the one who speculated that her kids were someone else's before?

How dare he mention it now?

Theresa walked to the door, looked at Leonard and Ben, and said, "Come out for dinner."

Leonard and Ben quickly walked over, and Ben asked, "What's for dinner today?"

"Everything you like to eat." Charlie stood aside and spoke.

When Ben looked up and saw Charlie, he immediately shut up and became extraordinarily quiet.

Seeing that Ben hated him so much, Charlie frowned.

Since what happened in the hospital that day and today, Ben was very cold to Charlie now.

Charlie also felt it.

He looked at Ben and said, "You're still angry at me?"

"You're not my dad." Ben said, "My dad wouldn't bully us, and he wouldn't bully my mom."

Speaking of this, Ben was a little sad.

Charlie looked at Ben and remembered what Ben had told him when he first met Ben, "I hope I can grow up quickly, so, I can protect my mom."

At that time, Charlie thought Ben was referring to Cristina.

But he didn't expect that it was Theresa that Ben was referring to!

He then looked at Leonard who was on the side.

Leonard had asked him before, "Would you be good to my mom?"

He thought that Leonard was talking about Cristina, so he resisted very much, and because of that, Leonard hated him so much.

When he looked back on it now, he thought it was ridiculous!

If he had known it was like this, there wouldn't have been so many misunderstandings, and he wouldn't have let the two kids hate him so much. Charlie said, "Ben, I won't bully your mom anymore."

"You always lie, and I won't trust you anymore!" Ben remembered that he trusted Charlie so much before and spoke up for Charlie, trying to get both Theresa and Leonard to like Charlie, but he didn't think Charlie was lying to him all the time!

Charlie felt saddened as he listened to these words from his son.

He glanced at Theresa, "Just explain to them."

"Explain what?" Theresa gave him a confused look.

Charlie choked, "Theresa, you know that I did those things because I didn't know the truth." -

Theresa said, "It's because you don't know the truth, that's what you really are. Who knows if you're here to lie to us now? Charlie, I'll never trust you again! I used to believe in you too much, and that's why I got myself into. such a mess."

After she finished, she said to the two children, "Come on, go downstairs for dinner, and Brenda has made food."

The two kids quickly ran out.

Both of them were little in body, but they moved very nimbly.

Looking at the two children listening to Theresa so much, Charlie sighed to himself, "I find myself really blind before!" "Oh?" Theresa closed the room door behind her.

Charlie said, "They both like you so much and I could have found out the truth if I had thought about it carefully." But he just didn't find out!

It was only because he trusted Theresa too much at that time that it ended up like this! He really hated himself!

Theresa knocked on the door and asked Cristina to dinner, and then went to ask her father.

Her father didn't want to eat and said he was coming over after dinner, so, Theresa had to give up.

Sitting on the edge of the bed, Leah glanced at Theresa and noticed that Charlie had been following her... 'Are these two going to make up again?'

'That's weird!'

Chapter 724

Chapter 724

After they arrived downstairs, they all sat down.

Charlie sat next to Theresa, who only had eyes for her two children.

She took care of Leonard and Ben for dinner.

Leonard had his eyes on Charlie and asked, "Why does he get to sit next to you?"

Charlie, "..."

It was obvious he was disliked!

Theresa lifted her head and glanced at Charlie, "You go sit over there."

There were so many seats available for him to sit but why did he have to sit next to her?

Looking at her serious expression, Charlie had no choice but to listen to her and stand up, sitting at the farthest position from her.

It was rare for him to be so obedient, and seeing him like this, Theresa felt a bit sorry for him.

But when she thought about all the things he had done, she thought he deserved it!

Brenda was helping everyone with their food when Theresa asked, "Brenda, did you call Mrs. Calsis?"

Brenda said, "Yes, I did."

"How's it going with Sarah?" Theresa asked.

"Mrs. Calsis is still at the police station!" Brenda said, "I think she really wants to put Sarah in jail for some days before she's happy."

Leticia was not going to spare Sarah!

Speaking of this, Brenda glanced at Charlie.

She thought of the way Charlie desperately tried to defend Sarah and it was because of him that Leticia hated Sarah so much.

Theresa also looked up at Charlie and asked him, "Your girlfriend is in jail, and why are you still hanging around in front of me? Don't you go save her?"

Charlie looked at Theresa and said, "Don't piss me off."

"What do you mean? I have said if you are not with her, I will despise you."

He had sincerely said so many good things for Sarah before!

Even now, Theresa was still shaking with anger when she remembered those words.

Hearing Theresa's words, Charlie remembered that it was all his own fault, so, he didn't say anything.

He looked at Ben and found that Ben was looking at him with a questioning look.

Charlie spoke up, "Ben, I have nothing to do with that woman."

"Don't believe him!" Leonard said to Ben.

Charlie, "...

This little guy could really piss him off!

Cristina sat aside and looked at Charlie, "Serves you right!"

Theresa kept talking to Brenda, "Brenda, call Mrs. Calsis later and tell her to go home to rest. The police will do what they have to do! If the police let Sarah go, we'll let it go." After all, Sarah didn't cause any substantial harm.

What made Theresa angrier was Charlie!

Without his connivance, Sarah would not have done these things.

Hearing Theresa's words, Brenda nodded and said, "Okay."

Theresa said, "And, after dinner, you can take Charlie back, so that he won't be an eyesore here."

"You don't want to see me that much?" Charlie looked at her speechlessly.

Theresa said, "Do you think I'm welcoming you now?"

Looking at her, Charlie had to shut his mouth.

All right!

He knew he was unwelcome!

After eating at Theresa's place, Charlie went to the police station and took his mother home.

As for Sarah, although she didn't cause any serious consequences, she would be detained for a few days because the evidence was overwhelming.

In the car, Leticia looked at Charlie and said angrily, "What are you doing here?"

Charlie looked at his mother and said, "I came to pick you up."

"I need you to pick me up? When I see you, I get angry."

Chapter 725

Chapter 725

Charlie pursed his lips and said, "I already know I'm wrong!"

"How's Theresa doing?" She knew Charlie had been at Theresa's.

Charlie said, "She doesn't want to talk to me right now and is still mad at me!"

"That's what you deserve!" Leticia said, "Look at all the things you've done. I'm even pissed off about it, let alone Theresa."

Charlie looked at Leticia, "I really didn't know that Leonard and Ben were born by her before and you didn't tell me either."

"I thought you knew." Leticia said, "I tried to tell you before, and you said that you knew. You told me you wouldn't sue her, but what did you do? You did one thing to my face and another behind my back? And you went to her house to take the kids. You're unbelievable!"

"Yes, you're right, and I know I'm wrong." Charlie sincerely reflected.

Looking at him like this, Leticia finally believed that he was like this because he really didn't know what was going on.

She said, "So, what are you going to do now?"

Charlie said, "I want to get her back."

"She won't agree." Leticia said, "Theresa won't forgive you just for what you've done. And it seems that she really hates you!"

Previously, Leticia wanted to set them up, only to be rejected by Theresa, not to mention now when Charlie had done so many unreliable things.

"His mother's words made Charlie feel very upset.

He sighed. "Even you know she hates me!"

"That's for sure." Leticia said, "Theresa gave birth to two children for you. But what about you? You resent her for being divorced and call her a divorced woman! Who can stand you? My two grandchildren are so pathetic! They could have grown up healthy with their mom and dad, but now... I don't know what will happen to them."

Speaking of this, Leticia felt very anxious.

She was most worried about the two children!

Charlie looked at his mother, and he was tempted to say he would try his best.

But remembering Theresa's attitude, he now was not sure if his efforts would work or not!

The next day, early in the morning.

Theresa had just woken up and found Charlie was watching her sitting on a stool in front of her bed. Because he didn't make a sound at all, she was startled by him when she opened her eyes.

She sat up and looked defensively at the eerie man, "What are you doing?"

Charlie looked at her and said, "Looking at you."

His voice was gentle, making the atmosphere of the room less intimidating.

Glancing at the door to her room, Theresa asked, "How did you get into my room?"

"You didn't lock the door."

She really didn't have the habit of locking the door at home, because there were no outsiders. Sometimes, Leonard and Ben would come looking for her, and she felt it was a hassle to open the door, so, she simply left it open.

This way, it would be convenient for them to come in.

Looking at Charlie, she said, "Didn't you go back yesterday? Why are you here again!"

She tucked her feet under the quilt. After making sure she was covered tightly, she spoke to him.

Charlie said, "I came over early in the morning."

Looking at the time, Theresa said, "It's so early. Is it good for you to come to my place every day? Don't you have work to do?"

"Mom said she wouldn't let me come home until I got you and the kids back." Charlie looked pathetic on his face.

Theresa looked at him and simply didn't know what to say.

Chapter 726

Chapter 726

She said soothingly, "Go back. I'll call her, and she shouldn't give you a hard time anymore."

When Theresa just finished and picked up her phone, she heard Charlie say, "Even if she won't let me come, I still want to come to see you."

"... Charlie, you have to come and bother me, don't you?"

"I'm planning to move in with you later," Charlie spoke up.

Theresa was speechless and looked at him, "You wish. My boyfriend won't say yes."

66

." Charlie said, "You don't have a boyfriend!"

"Don't you know that Dick is my boyfriend? You've lost your memory?" Theresa felt there was no better reason than this to make him give up.

Anyway, she really had no confidence to be with Charlie anymore.

After what happened during this time, the feelings she had for him were almost depleted.

It really bothered her that he was pestering her like this now.

Charlie went unhappy when he heard the word Dick, and then he turned to Theresa and said, "Dick is not a good man."

"I'm not a judge, so I don't need to care if he's a good person. But at least, he's never done anything to hurt me or my kids, and Leonard loves him now! Even the kids don't like you, so why do you think I would be with you?"

Theresa's words managed to silence Charlie.

Thinking about how Leonard had resisted him, Charlie was a little frustrated.

While he was dazed, Theresa stood up and went into the bathroom to wash up. As she was brushing her teeth, Charlie walked in and said, "Theresa."

He sounded a little depressed in his voice.

Theresa took one look at his sullen appearance and asked, "What's wrong with you again?"

Charlie spoke, "Can you help me think of a way? I can stop coming to annoy you, but please don't let the kids hate me, okay?"

He looked very humble.

Hearing Charlie's words, Theresa said, "You won't live with them in the future anyway, so it doesn't matter what they think of you."

"You really think it doesn't matter?" Charlie didn't believe she really thought that way.

He turned to Theresa and said, "They were born without a father. If I really left them with such a poor image, it would have a bad impact on their future lives, wouldn't it?"

Theresa fell silent.

She cared a lot about her children and naturally knew that Charlie was right.

Especially recently, both children were made a little sad by Charlie.

As their mother, she didn't want her two children to think their father was a scumbag.

Seeing her wavering. Charlie said, "I really just want to spend time with the kids. I used to love them too but in the wrong way. I know it wasn't easy for you to give birth to them, but I'm also their father and I also want to do my part"

While hearing Charlie's words, Theresa continued to wash her face.

Charlie knew she would say yes, "Is that okay?"

Theresa said, "Yes, but I have a condition."

"Go ahead!" He knew she would definitely make things difficult for him.

He deserved it!

He was all hers, and it would be okay as long as she was happy.

Theresa glanced at Charlie, "I have no problem with you coming to see them, but you are not allowed to sneak into my room without my permission. You are so shameless!"

Thinking about what happened last time, Theresa still felt angry even now.

He was really shameless!

Chapter 727

Chapter 727

Hearing her words, Charlie also seemed to remember what happened last time.

However, he was not as angry as Theresa.

He had been married to her for some time now.

But the two of them only had sex twice in total.

The first time was before the divorce when he and she both had some drinks.

That seemed to be the best night of his life and the night that pissed him off the most.

As for the last time...

He didn't think about it again. Looking at Theresa, he nodded cautiously, "I promise you." She was angry now. If he didn't agree, he might have difficulty talking to her in the future.

He wasn't stupid, and naturally, he wouldn't say he didn't agree!

Seeing that he agreed, Theresa went on to add, "I have no intention of making up with you, so you should stop pestering me, not to mention stopping me from dating other people." Hearing this, Charlie felt speechless.

Did she mean that she was going to be with someone else in the future?

He was in front of her but she excluded him?

He thought he shouldn't be that bad in bed.

But now, he could feel how disgusted Theresa was with him.

Theresa looked at Charlie. Seeing that he hesitated and did not agree, Theresa immediately said defensively, "If you don't agree, then I may not be able to help you and you have to get out of my house straight away! I will not tangle with you even if I leave my children without a father."

The children were important, but in the future, she aimed to not have any more emotional involvement with him.

"Is someone else that good to you?" Charlie looked at Theresa in disbelief.

Was he that bad in her mind?

This made Charlie reflect on himself!

Theresa said, "Why are you comparing yourself to others? You're making a fool of yourself."

"You..." The words "make a fool of yourself" seriously hurt Charlie's self-esteem.

He was instantly depressed!

Charlie still wanted to say something, when Theresa's cell phone rang.

She opened it and found that it was Mr. Garson calling.

For the past two days, Dick was away on business and Mr. Garson didn't show up.

At this moment, she answered the phone, "Hello."

Mr. Garson said, "Dr. Cameron, how are you these two days?"

Mr. Garson was polite in his tone and every time she spoke to him, she could feel that she was fully respected.

Theresa nodded her head, "Pretty good."

"Mr. White is sick and can't come over, so, I hope you can come over to see him."

"Okay."

It was just right that Dick wouldn't come over!

Because Theresa didn't want Dick to come over here.

She would rather go over to see Dick herself.

After hanging up the phone, she washed her face and started to put on her makeup.

Charlie was standing by, and he heard what they were saying when she was on the phone just now.

He said, "You're going to see Dick?"

Theresa sounded calm in her voice, "Well, he's back, and I'm going to see him."

"I don't agree!" Charlie said, "You're not allowed to go see him!"

He said dominantly.

Before Theresa could react, Charlie had come over and put his hands on the sink, holding her between him and the sink.

Theresa had just applied the essence to her face and had not yet smoothed it out. Looking at Charlie's impulsive look, she warned, "Charlie, you're breaking the rule! If you keep being like this, I'm going to have to let you out of my house! In the future, you should not come over to see the children either."

Charlie was speechless, and he knew that the two children now liked her and were very dependent on her.

Now with the two kids extraordinarily hating him, if he went against Theresa, the two kids would probably not forgive him anymore.

Charlie didn't dare to bet.

Chapter 728

Chapter 728

Therefore, in front of Theresa, he did not dare to go too far.

But it was impossible for him not to do anything!

He looked at her, lowered his head, and kissed her.

Theresa closed her eyes. Her nightgown was rather loose, and when he pulled it, her neck was exposed, and his kisses fell on it.

Without resisting. Theresa just let him kiss her.

After being with him for so long, he had kissed her quite a few times, and to her, it was not different from being licked by a dog for a few more times. Soon Charlie sensed her impassive reaction as well.

He lifted his head and looked at her. Seeing that she did not resist him, he tried to look on the bright side, "You also fancy me, don't you?"

At her words. Theresa smiled crookedly and looked at Charlie without saying anything.

Charlie coaxed, "In that case, you should clear your relationship with Dick and don't hang out with him anymore!"

Hearing Charlie's words, Theresa reached out and helped him straighten the collar of the shirt on him. Then, she calmly picked up her phone, opened the WhatsApp dialog box with Charlie, and transferred $500 to him.

Charlie stood right in front of her, watched her enter that somewhat humiliating number into it, and asked,

"What is this?"

He was seriously discussing things with her here, but she was transferring money to him?

Theresa explained, "Well, the service charge you just made."

Charlie was speechless and looked at this hateful woman in front of him.

She transferred $500 to him, and said it was a service charge?

He said angrily, "Theresa, what do you take me for?"

"I thought I had made it clear enough." Theresa said, "What? You didn't get it?"

Charlie looked over at her, "I just worth $500?"

In her mind, he was that cheap?

"Do you know how much money I can make every second?"

$500!

How dare she just give him $500!

Charlie felt very angry and suddenly felt something was wrong.

Was it a matter of money?

She was insulting him, okay?

Theresa said, "But that's what your kissing skill is worth to me!"

"You..." He stared into her eyes and was really mad at her

Theresa said, "If you think it's a waste of time, just leave me alone in the future and I'm really busy!"

Theresa quickly cleaned herself up and headed out.

She did feel a lot more relaxed with Brenda helping with the cooking.

Theresa had just come downstairs when she smelt the breakfast.

She looked at Brenda and said, "Brenda, you can go home when you're done! The Calsis family needs you too and I'll go find a maid to help me!"

Brenda said, "It's okay, and it's Mrs. Calsis who asked me to stay here."

Theresa said, "But I'm embarrassed to let you cook for us here."

Brenda laughed, "Don't think so much. Come and eat first. The kids are still sleeping, and I'll go get them for dinner later."

Theresa nodded her head.

She sat down and started to eat her breakfast while Charlie sat aside and looked at her coldly.

Theresa always felt a little uncomfortable when he was staring at her like that, "Why are you looking at me?"

"I just wanted to know when are you planning to come back?"

"I don't know." Theresa said, "It could be very late."

Charlie looked at her and said, "How much can I make if I drive you there as your driver?"

"" ????

Theresa looked up at Charlie in disbelief. How much money?

How could he ask her such a question?

Was he crazy?

While she was still in shock, Charlie came over, sat in front of her, and picked up a spoon to serve her breakfast,

"How about this? How much do you want to pay me for accompanying you to breakfast?"

Chapter 729

Chapter 729

Theresa,"

He had started to give himself up!

She just wanted to take the money to make him stop pestering her.

He was a proud man!

So, he certainly couldn't stand her humiliating him like that.

But...

He wasn't affected at all.

Instead of being ashamed, he was proud of it?

Seeing Theresa looking at him and not saying anything, Charlie handed her the milk, "Drink it!"

Theresa had already drunk some milk.

Charlie said, "Serving your dinner should be worth $500, right?"

Theresa rubbed her brow, feeling that she had shot herself in the foot.

After breakfast, she came out of the house and saw that Charlie had already helped her get the car out and opened the door for her.

Theresa looked at Charlie, "What are you doing?"

"I'll drive you there!" Charlie turned to Theresa and said, "You don't have to be too polite, and it'll be okay for paying me."

"Charlie, you're really crazy." He didn't even want her to see Dick before, but now he was taking the initiative to drive her there. Was he asking for abuse?

"It's good to make money!" Charlie dragged her into the car and helped her fasten her seatbelt, "What? You look down on people like me who work for money?" "Are you short of this little money?"

"I don't mind having more money." Charlie smiled faintly.

Theresa didn't know what to say.

She looked at this man and took a deep breath, "All right! Go on if you like. I don't care."

She didn't believe he could hold back when he saw her meeting with Dick.

On the road, as Charlie was driving, Theresa said, "When I see Dick, you mustn't interfere with me and him!"

Charlie didn't say anything.

Theresa gave him a look, "Did you hear that?"

"Yes," Charlie responded reluctantly.

"If you can't do it..."

"You will definitely kick me out of your house." He said with great resentment.

Theresa said, "I'm just reminding you that we're divorced and I don't want to have anything to do with you. No matter what, there is no reason for you to interfere with my relationships with others. And you can't ask me to do something I don't want to do just because we have children! As a man, it's really pointless for you to pester me like this."

"Hmm." Charlie answered, and said very little on the way.

When they got to the door, he stopped the car and Theresa looked at him saying, "Just go back after you park the car!"

Charlie looked over at her and said, "It doesn't matter, and I'll wait for you in the car."

"It could be a long time before I get out."

Charlie went unhappy and looked at her.

Seeing that he didn't respond, Theresa went straight in the door.

She came to Dick's house.

Because it was still the New Year holiday, and Dick didn't need to go to the office.

Just as Theresa entered the door, she saw Jimmy sitting on the couch at Dick's house.

She heard that Dick had come over specially to pay his respects.

Ever since he joined Dick's company, Dick had been keeping him working in Cameron's Group. Jimmy felt aggrieved and wanted to make a good relationship with Dick to go back to the headquarters. So, he came to pay his respects to Dick today.

When he saw Theresa come in, he froze for a moment.

Theresa also did not expect to see him here.

Jimmy said, "Happy New Year."

It was just a polite greeting in New Year, but Theresa ignored him.

She just turned to Mr. Garson and asked, "Why is Mr. Watson here?"

It was as if Jimmy was just an outsider.

Mr. Garson looked at Jimmy and said, "Mr. Watson, I'll take the things, and you can go back now! Mr. White is not feeling well today, and it's not convenient to see you."

"What about her?" Jimmy looked at Theresa.

Mr. Garson's eyes fell on Theresa.

Theresa was a physician and naturally different from him.

He turned to Jimmy and said, "Ms. Cameron is out of the ordinary."

Chapter 730

Chapter 730

"You mean she can go in to see Mr. White?"

Theresa said, "You're not happy with that?"

Unfortunately, he could not do anything even if he was not happy.

Jimmy said, "No, I just think you and Mr. Garson are quite close. When you want, you can see Mr. White directly."

Hearing Jimmy's words, Theresa felt speechless, "Watch your mouth."

She knew what Jimmy meant.

He was just trying to say that she was having an affair with Rawlins!

Jimmy despised Theresa and felt in his heart that Theresa didn't deserve a better man than him, so, in his eyes, Theresa was only worthy of being with a man like Rawlins, who was about her father's age. Jimmy said, "I'll just wait here. You guys get busy, and don't mind me."

He was not going to leave until he saw Dick today!

He didn't believe that Rawlins could really do whatever he wanted!

It just so happened that his senior, Kole, would also be coming over to meet Dick later, and then he could go with Kole together.

Theresa followed Rawlins upstairs, ignoring him.

Theresa said, "He seems pretty upset."

Rawlins said, "He didn't want to keep working at Cameron's Group and mentioned several times that he wanted to go back to headquarters." Hearing this, Theresa teased, "That's a real grievance for him."

He was the one who wanted to put Cameron's Group out of business in the first place!

Now he was the one who had to save Cameron's Group.

Jimmy felt too stifled in his heart.

Rawlins said, "He's not a great person, but he works well professionally."

While Jimmy was complaining, he was also contacting reliable designers to help with the improvements to Cameron's Group's products.

Theresa said, "Thanks for you and Mr. White."

The two walked to the door and before they could enter, they heard a "thud" from inside.

When Theresa followed Rawlins in, she saw the maid shivering and crouching aside to pick up things.

This scene was especially similar to that when Theresa first met Dick.

Even the maid was the same one at that time.

Seeing Rawlins, the maid had a frightened look on her face.

Rawlins said, "Just go out!"

Hearing that, the maid gathered up the things and quickly went out.

Dick was sitting on the edge of the bed, looking agitated.

Rawlins said, "Mr. White."

He looked behind Rawlins to Theresa, who asked, "What's wrong with you?"

When her words were finished, he looked up at her, with a pained look in his eyes.

"I have a headache." Dick turned to Theresa.

Theresa said, "Go to the window!"

She let Dick go to the window and lie down.

Theresa sat down on one side and took his pulse.

Dick looked at her and asked, "How's that?"

The light was much brighter here, so, she could just see the dark circles under his eyes.

"Why didn't you sleep well again?"

Dick said, "I haven't slept in two days."

"Why?" Theresa thought it was strange, "Didn't you sleep pretty well before?"

Dick looked out the window, his eyes cold.

He looked troubled.

Looking at him like this, Theresa suddenly realized that there seemed to be other reasons for his long years of insomnia.

Even if she could help him temporarily relieve his insomnia with acupuncture, it would not cure it.

He had terrible insomnia.

Looking over at Theresa, Dick had something to say but didn't get it out.

Theresa asked, "If you're not comfortable saying it, I'll ask Rawlins?"

She could only cure him by knowing the reason.

Chapter 731

Chapter 731

Theresa was about to stand up when Dick grabbed her wrist, stopping her from asking Rawlins.

So, Theresa had to sit back down and look at him.

Dick said, "I went back home."

This reminded Theresa that Rawlins said that Dick had spent the holiday by himself every year before and that he even spent the New Year at her house this year. Theresa did not interrupt but listened quietly to him.

Dick continued, "I was going to see my dad, but I didn't see him because was too busy at work and had a lot of guests."

Speaking of this, Dick laughed bitterly and said to Theresa, "Do you think it's funny? It was harder for me to see him than his so-called guests when I was a kid." Looking at Dick, Theresa could sense that he was an emotional man, otherwise, he would not have cared so much about his father.

However, his father didn't seem to be as nice to him!

Dick lowered his head and looked at his fingers.

Theresa sat and watched him quietly, listening to him talk about something from the past.

It turned out that Dick was the illegitimate child of his father, who was a very influential person....

However, his father already had other legitimate children, and Dick was the one who was not acknowledged.

Although because of his father, he was well-developed outside, and even Charlie would not mess with him without much consideration.

But at home, it was hard for him to see his father.

Dick looked out the window and said to Theresa, "I sometimes really don't know what the point of living is."

Theresa looked at him and said, "You can meet with your friends more often. Don't think too much, and don't put too much pressure on yourself."

Dick turned to Theresa and said, "I don't have any friends."

Theresa looked at him with some surprise.

Dick said, "Do you think there will be people in this world who can really understand you? There won't be! Even if people feel miserable about what you're going through and feel sorry for you, they can just make a few words of comfort, but so what? The unhappiness you are experiencing can others empathize? No!"

Theresa clenched her hands hard.

She could understand Dick's words.

Because she also did not expect anyone in this world to really stand in her shoes and understand what she was going through in the first place.

After she was with Jimmy...

She went from an incredibly confident woman to a woman with very low self-esteem.

She knew that no one would be able to truly understand her.

Theresa turned to Dick and said, "Let me give you acupuncture, and then you can get some sleep."

Dick said, "I can't sleep and I don't dare to close my eyes! Once I close them, I will dream about what happened when I was a child."

Theresa looked at Dick, who said, "You know that? My dad didn't like me at all but he still recognized me as his son. Do you know why?" "Why?" Theresa asked cooperatively.

Dick said, "My mother committed suicide. After she died, I stayed with her in the room for three days and three nights until my grandmother discovered it. My father who was on the cusp of promotion was worried that this would affect his career, so, he promised my grandmother to take me home but only if the matter was kept secret. Later they all said to the public that my mother died of illness. For them, this was the best result... I was only five years old that year... When I close my eyes, I can think of my mother lying cold beside me."

After all these years, he still often dreamed of himself as a little boy in the past.

Theresa listened to his words and didn't know what to say.

Looking at Dick, she didn't expect he had gone through this.

She said, "I'm sorry, Mr. White. I didn't know that."

Looking over at Theresa, Dick smiled crookedly and asked, "You'll... help me keep it a secret, right?"

Chapter 732

Chapter 732

He asked her in a very humble tone.

Theresa nodded, "Of course."

Dick said, "That's good. I feel like I'm better after I tell you! I've actually never told anyone this before, and you're the first."

Theresa looked at Dick with some surprise.

Dick said, "Aren't you going to give me acupuncture? Let's get started! I'm too sleepy and want to take a good sleep."

Rawlins already had the house cleaned up.

Theresa helped Dick with his acupuncture.

When it was over, Dick slept on the sidelines.

Theresa stood up and was ready to leave when Dick suddenly opened his eyes and looked at Theresa, "Stay with me."

Theresa was going to refuse him, but faced with his eyes, she nodded her head and agreed.

A few rare rays of sunlight came through the window and fell on his face.

Theresa stood up, found the remote control, and carefully closed the curtains.

Sleep was an extreme luxury for Dick, but Theresa could get him to sleep well.

So, he trusted her quite a bit.

After a short while, there was a knock at the door.

Theresa stood up, walked out, opened the door, and saw Rawlins standing in the doorway.

Theresa asked, "What's wrong?"

Jimmy and Kole were standing on the other side. Kole was one of the top managers of the company.

Rawlins said, "Mr. Jenkins wanted to see Mr. White. Is it convenient now?"

After glancing at the two men, Theresa said to Rawlins, "No, Mr. White's sleeping. Why don't you tell them to wait a little longer."

It was hard for Dick to sleep. If he was woken up now, he would probably lose his temper.

After saying that, Theresa went back to the room.

Rawlins walked to Kole and Jimmy and said, "Mr. White is sleeping, so, please wait for him to wake up!"

Jimmy saw Theresa come out and then go back in.

This made him frown, thinking, "Dick is sleeping, so, what is she doing in there?"

Theresa was in Dick's room getting her things together.

She was ready to leave when Dick woke up.

But Dick hadn't been awake.

Instead, the maid came to call her to go down for dinner.

She went downstairs to eat and saw that Kole and Jimmy were there.

As Theresa sat down, Kole saw her and asked. "Ms. Cameron, isn't Mr. White awake yet?"

"No." Theresa picked up a cup and took a sip of water, looking at the two, "You can go back first and come back later because Mr. White may not wake up for a while."

He did not close his eyes for two days and two nights, and it only made sense that he would have at least seven or eight hours of sleep now.

Jimmy turned to Theresa and said, "You're so close to him?"

She acted as if she was the mistress of the house!

If it wasn't for the fact that he called her Aunt Theresa every day before, Jimmy would have forgotten that Theresa had been with Charlie! "Why were all these men so nice to her? Was she really that good?"

Chapter 733

Chapter 733 You Weren't There with Me

Noticing the doubtful expression on Jimmy's face, Theresa inquired, "What's the matter? You seem to be very interested in my situation. But aren't you busy with work? I would appreciate it if you spend the time working hard for my family's company."

Jimmy grew incensed at how nonchalant Theresa was behaving. "Theresa, you got me into your company on purpose, right? It must be part of your plot!"

As she calmly placed her cup on the desk, Theresa nodded. "Yes, you are totally right. Then what are you going to do about it?" Whenever Jimmy got angry, she felt satisfied. She couldn't bear to see any smug look on his face. She even believed that the joy of her life would be witnessing his misfortune.

"How dare you!" He rose from his seat, glaring at her. In his eyes, Theresa was acting so haughtily that he could barely stand it. But just as he got up, he heard Dick coughing at the door and looked over. "Good morning. Mr. White," Kole greeted while standing up immediately.

Dick was wearing a coat, his sleeves hanging empty on either side. Glancing casually at Jimmy and Kole, he walked over and took the seat right beside Theresa. Then he turned to Theresa. "You didn't keep your word." There was a hint of complaint in his tone.

Theresa didn't reply at once. She had expected that he would sleep for a longer time. "I just came down to have lunch. What woke you up?" If she had known he would wake up now, she would have had someone bring the food up and eat it upstairs.

"You weren't there with me," Dick muttered in a gentle polite voice but a hint of playfulness.

The others around them were stunned by the scene, especially Jimmy, who found Dick's attitude towards Theresa a bit peculiar. Jimmy had believed that after Theresa divorced Charlie, she would lead a miserable life just like before. Theresa's becoming a favorite with a big shot like Dick just shocked him.

When Dick finished speaking, his gaze landed on Kole and Jimmy. "I was told that you two came here to see me." He gestured for them to sit down.

Kole took his seat, looking at Dick. "Yes, Mr. White, I have wanted to come and see you these days. How have you been?"

Dick nodded. "Not bad. Thank you for your concern."

Kole had never seen Dick's temper so well-controlled before when they were alone together. Perhaps it was because Theresa was now staying with Dick. 'It seems that Mr. White has a good mood when staying with Ms. Cameron.' Thinking of this, he mustered his courage, asking humbly, "Jimmy and I have been good friends for many years. I know him quite well. He's talented and competent. And now he's been working at Cameron's Group lately. Since the company headquarters is short of staff, would you consider having him work there?" If Jimmy weren't his good friend, he wouldn't dare to ask Dick for Jimmy's sake.

When Dick heard this, he shifted his gaze from Kole to Jimmy, raising his eyebrows. "I do have heard of your contribution to Cameron's Group. You are indeed capable of your job." Dick's praise improved Jimmy's expression a bit.

Feeling lucky, Jimmy thought to himself, 'Maybe I would get the chance.'

Chapter 734

Chapter 734 You Can't Afford to Offend Her

Dick continued, "Cameron's Group is a very important part of my business. In the next few years, I plan to increase my investment and make it the best brand in the industry. I believe you are willing to lend me a hand, right?"

Jimmy replied, "Well, you know, to make it the best brand in the industry, it will take at least four to five years, and even more than six years if things don't go smoothly."

"I know," said Dick, still looking at Jimmy. "But for me, time is not a problem."

Jimmy widened his eyes upon hearing this. While time may not be a problem for Dick, it certainly was for him. He didn't want to spend his entire life in such a small company. 'If he insists, then there will be no point in me working for his company."

He had chosen the company because he sensed that it had the potential to compete with Charlie's company. With the help of it, he would have an opportunity to rise up and surpass Charlie. But Dick's plans would definitely stand in his way. Jimmy was an ambitious man who was eager for a bigger stage. If he couldn't get what he wanted from White's Group, he would leave it.

After pondering for a while, he asked Dick, "I don't understand why you are so focused on Cameron's Group. There are much better brand companies that you could work with, such as Blue Tower. I believe they would be more than willing to collaborate with you."

As long as Dick had the intention to search for another business partner, these big companies would be clamoring to work with him. There was no need for him to choose a time-consuming and labor-intensive company like Cameron's Group.

Dick wiped his long, slender fingers with the towel on the table, explaining, "I owe Theresa a favor and there's nothing else I can do to repay her. I should help her with Cameron's Group. Understand?"

Jimmy turned to Theresa instantly, wondering what favor Dick owed her.

Both Dick and Theresa ignored the confusion on his face, remaining silent.

Since Dick had expressed a clear stance, it was time for Jimmy to decide whether he should stay in White's Group or not. He was clear that it was impossible for him to work in the headquarter. After finishing their meal, Jimmy and Kole left the company. Outside the building, Kole looked at Jimmy sornily, sighing. "It looks like you're out of luck. Dick and Theresa have a good relationship." Jimmy's face fell. He responded discontentedly, "I already know that."

Kole continued, "She's your ex-wife, isn't she? Maybe you should try to build a good relationship with her as well. You know, you can't afford to offend her, at least for now." He hinted that Jimmy would have got a great opportunity to enter Dick's company if he hadn't caused Theresa trouble.

Upon hearing this, Jimmy thought of Theresa, feeling frustrated. 'Would I never be able to escape her for the rest of my life? Would she be the biggest obstacle on my path to success?'

Seeing his upset look, Kole advised caringly, "Actually, I think you should consider going back to the Calsis family. When you were there before, Charlie went against you for Theresa, right? Now that she already divorced Charlie and left to work for Dick, maybe this is your chance to return to the Calsis family. You know what I mean?"

As Pat's son-in-law, if Jimmy went back to the family, it wouldn't be any worse than staying at Cameron's Group. However, although Kole's suggestion was reasonable, Jimmy still hesitated. While thinking of Charlie, he felt oppressed. If he really came back to that family, he had to read the expressions on Charlie's face every day.

After the meal, Theresa went upstairs to inform Dick, "I've got to leave. Get some rest."

His gaze falling on her, he suggested, "Let me walk you out."

"You're not going to bed?" She found it strange.

"Well, I want to see Leonard. Is it okay?" said Dick.

Chapter 735

Chapter 735 Dick Came to Theresa's House

Theresa gave some laughs. "Of course. But I guess it might be troublesome for you to bustle around. Aren't you busy with work?" Maybe because she had got to know Dick better, she didn't feel so uncomfortable when hearing him mention Leonard. She was sure that Dick wasn't a hateful person at all. 'He probably just likes Leonard. After all, Leonard is a considerate polite boy'

Her car had been taken by Charlie who just went somewhere she had no idea of. So when Dick insisted, Theresa nodded and got into his car. When they arrived outside her home, she got out of his car. Before she could touch the doorknob, the door was opened from the inside, and Ben poked his head out of it.

"Mommy! You are back," Ben greeted her in a sweet tone.

"Oh my dear, I am so happy to see you!" She looked at her son in surprise as well as delight. She had missed him so much in the past few days that it was truly a pleasant surprise for her to see his little face at this moment.

Ben said, "I knew it was you coming back."

As Ben spoke, Leonard also showed his face behind the door. "Mommy," he called her before his gaze fell on the man behind Theresa. "Hello, Uncle Dick."

Theresa went inside first, talking to Dick, "Would you like to come in?"

Dick hadn't expected her invitation, answering in a surprised tone, "You were not so welcoming me before, weren't you?" As sort of perceptive mind reader, he could still recall well that every time he came, Theresa's disdain for him was quite obvious. However, he was so thick-skin that he would do whatever he pleased. He didn't care if others were happy or not. So back then even though he knew that Theresa didn't welcome him, he still insisted on coming to her. Now since Theresa had taken the initiative to invite him in, it felt different to him.

Remembering that Dick had no real friends, Theresa replied, "I am sorry for that. Maybe we two can be friends. I – may not understand all of your experiences, but if you don't mind, I would like to be someone you trusted."

Stunned for a moment, Dick then smiled. "Yes, in fact, there are many people willing to please me, but just a few willing to be friends with me. I mean, not many people dare to say this frankly in front of me." Since he was a big shot, her offering to be a trusted friend of his sounded quite arrogant, but he felt nothing offensive. "Then should I take it back?" Theresa also sensed that it might be a bit improper. She had learned that there were some people in the world who liked to keep some distance from all the others and enjoyed their peaceful lives. In her eyes, Dick seemed to be that kind of person, so she was afraid that her suggestion was quite pushy or aggressive.

As if seeing through her, Dick comforted her. "No, I'm glad to have one more friend."

Theresa grinned, heaving a sigh of relief before walking into the house with her two children, followed by Dick. Brenda was still there after cleaning up the house neatly. When she saw Brenda come back, she bowed slightly. "You are back, Ms. Cameron."

Theresa beckoned, "Oh, you're still here."

Brenda stole a glance at Dick who was sitting next to Theresa. Since she seldom saw Theresa bring a man back to the house, she now had some guesses about the relationship between Theresa and Dick but kept them inwardly. She had worked for the Calsis family for many years so that she could recognize Dick in a few seconds.

Pretending not to see anything private was the reason she could stay in the Calsis residence for a long time. Therefore, she didn't ask Theresa anything about Dick but just poured a cup of coffee for Dick and placed it in front of him.

Theresa came over. Noticing the coffee, she told Brenda, "He doesn't drink coffee. He has difficulty falling asleep."

Brenda immediately apologized, "Oh, I am so sorry. I don't know about that. Then sir, what do you want to drink?"

Chapter 736

Chapter 736 Why Do You Dislike Her?

Dick, however, ignored Brenda's question, remaining aloof.

Theresa made the decision for him. "Please give him a glass of water," she said.

Brenda nodded and took away the tea she had brought earlier.

Sitting down on the couch. Theresa commented on Dick's coldness. "You really are quite distant. Brenda asked you a question and you didn't even respond a word."

Dick replied, "Isn't it tiring to go to such lengths to please others? I'm not familiar with her. I don't like talking to strangers."

Theresa said, "Well, you are indeed focused on your own life. Actually, I kind of envy you." In her daily life, she found it really difficult to live without considering others' feelings. She always took into account the other person's feelings or thoughts when dealing with people every day, fearing that her manner might not be proper. Dick asked, "Really? You're not making fun of me, are you?" Despite his words, he didn't really care whether Theresa truly envied him or not. He felt quite comfortable at Theresa's house, and after a short while, he went outside with Leonard and Ben to bask in the sun.

Noticing Brenda working hard in the kitchen. Theresa walked over and inquired, "Has Charlie come back yet?"

"Not yet," Brenda replied.

Theresa said, "Okay, I just wonder where he took my car!"

Brenda wiped her hands dry immediately, asking, "Should I give him a call for you?"

"No, thanks. I'll just send him a message to tell him that I'm back." Theresa shook her head. She hadn't seen Charlie when she left Dick's house. She was clear that it was quite impossible for him to wait for her and drive her back since she stayed in Dick's house for quite a while. Now, wanting to know where Charlie parked her car, she picked up her phone to send Charlie a message. [I'm home. When are you bringing my car back?]

In a short while, Charlie replied a short one. [Have you left your boyfriend's house?]

Theresa frowned at the word 'boyfriend'. 'Is he trying to annoy me?' she wondered. With that thought, she replied to Charlie without mincing words. [Yes, and he's at my place now. You had better come back hours later so that you don't have to see him and avoid a fight.]

As soon as he read Theresa's message, Charlie's face fell.

Jack's bar was closed during the day, providing a good place for Charlie and Roderick to hang out and chat. Roderick sat beside Charlie, cracking nuts while looking at Charlie. "Have you contacted Theresa recently?" Charlie pressed his lips into a line with an unhappy look. "She's with Dick now."

Roderick said, "Well, well, you deserve it. How could you choose to have an affair with Sarah? I mean, you could choose another beauty since your admirers are so many. Theresa hasn't got along well with Sarah, don't you know?"

Theresa used to have some good feelings for Charlie. But ever since the last time he had a relationship with.

Sarah, Theresa no longer wanted to forgive him.

Upon hearing Roderick's words, Charlie glared at him. "You have long known that I am the father of her kids. Why didn't you tell me earlier?"

"Didn't you already know about it?" Roderick didn't want to take the blame when Charlie came to accuse him. "I was going to tell you last time, but you said you already knew. Don't you remember?"

"No, I, I just... I just thought you were implying that her kids were Dick's!" Charlie shouted, feeling depressed. "I haven't expected that she is the natural mother of Leonard and Ben." Taking a deep breath, he went on in a frustrated voice. "Well, if I can't be with Theresa, you must help me find another good wife."

Roderick couldn't believe what he just heard. Staring at Charlie with surprise in his eyes, he yelled back, "Hey, you can't blame me. I did tell you to cherish Theresa before you divorced, but you just didn't listen to me at that time and still treated her poorly. Theresa was a good wife, wasn't she? Why do you dislike her?"

Charlie felt puzzled, asking, "No, why would you think that I dislike her? When did I ever do such a thing? I haven't disliked her, okay?" Theresa had long been such an important woman in his life that he would never treat her badly.

Roderick frowned. "Really? But that's what Theresa said. She said you disliked her because she had been Jimmy's wife before. You even never touched her."

#Chapter 737

Chapter 737

Chapter 737 Am I a Jerk?

Charlie's face turned ugly when he heard this as if he had been wronged. He stared at Roderick, asking in a skeptical tone, "Did she really say something like that to you?"

Roderick nodded. "Actually, I can understand you. Theresa helped you get out of the wheelchair. It's indeed a big favor but you still can find another way to return it except for spending the rest of your life with her. However, since you two are already divorced, you should not bother her anymore, even if she is with Dick. It also proves that Dick treats her better than you do, doesn't it? Otherwise, she wouldn't choose him. Just let her go and live her new life."

After Roderick finished speaking, Charlie sat silently with a gloomy expression. He vaguely remembered that Eugene had also said something similar to him before. It seemed that he was always told to treat Theresa well or let her go freely without hurting her feelings. He thought, "There seems to be something wrong with this. Does Theresa believe that I dislike her? And so she divorced me? With this in mind, he turned to Roderick again, asking, "How much do you know about Theresa?" As soon as he finished the sentence, he realized that Roderick seemed to know more about the things related to Theresa than he did.

"Well, I think I know most of it." Roderick shrugged. "First, I know you are her children's father. And second, she married Jimmy. You know, he is infertile. They went to the hospital for artificial insemination. Later, she became pregnant but Jimmy regretted it and asked her to abort the twin babies. She refused, so they divorced." Roderick paused to sip some beer. "When I met her for the first time, she was looking for the records of the artificial insemination because Jimmy's family was slandering her for cheating. See? Her life was a total mess at that time. But something went wrong at that time. Someone deleted all the records. Actually, I didn't believe her at first and even questioned her. But then I found out..."

As listening to Roderick carefully, Charlie took a deep breath and gulped some water to suppress the pain in his heart. Because of Sarah, he was full of suspicion about many things and even began to distrust the people around him, including Theresa. Although he thought she was a good person who wouldn't deceive him, he still had doubts about her motives and actions after they broke up. 'Damn it! I questioned her so hard. I must have hurt her a lot.'

Charlie raised his head with regret in his eyes, demanding, "Am I a jerk?"

Roderick was dazed a bit by his question since it was rare for Charlie to reflect on himself. Hesitating for a few seconds, he nodded. "Well, yes. She used to like you, you know. I can even see the light of love in her eyes when she looked at you, but now the light has become dim also because of you. Think about how much you have hurt her. You have done it many times, haven't you? So don't bother her anymore. Just let her have some peace."

Charlie fell silent, lost in thought.

After leaving Jack's bar, Charlie drove Theresa's car back to her house. After parking the car outside the gate, he was about to go in when he saw Dick walking out. His eyes widened. He hadn't expected that Dick would appear in Theresa's home.

Dick's expression also changed slightly when he caught a glimpse of Charlie. "Why would you come here?" he inquired directly.

Charlie answered with a poker face, "It's none of your business." Charlie wasn't as arrogant as usual, nor did he get angry as soon as he saw Dick. Just as Roderick said, he should reflect on why Dick had the chance to appear in Theresa's house. 'Maybe Theresa would still love me and stay with me as before if I hadn't hurt her.'

"Okay." Dick shrugged. "But I don't think Theresa wants to see you. Don't you need to work? It seems that you have much time every day to harass a woman you just abandoned."

Charlie retorted, "I'm just afraid that she will be troubled by a scumbag like you. What is your motive for getting close to her? Stop pretending you jerk. Stay away from her!" He didn't believe that Dick took Theresa as his friend. In his eyes, Dick would someday make use of Theresa.

Dick went on with a sneer, "I think she would rather see me now than you."

Charlie's hands clenched into fists at his side. Staring at Dick, he felt that his anger was about to boil over.

Chapter 738

Chapter 738 He Was Being Excluded

Just then, they heard a child's voice. "Uncle Dick, this is from Mommy." It was Leonard speaking. He came out holding a small bag containing snacks. Charlie and Dick who had been talking both quieted down upon seeing Leonard.

Dick extended his hand to graciously accept Leonard's gift, "Thank you."

Charlie stood silent, watching them. Leonard looks so much like him that when he saw Leonard being polite to Dick, it really bothered him. He thought to himself, 'This is too much. Leonard is so courteous to Dick. He say anything shouldn't do that. He's my son!' But since Leonard was not quite happy about his arrival, he didn't to stop Leonard, lest Leonard would like Dick even more.

After giving the bag to Dick, Leonard just stared at Dick and Charlie with his innocent eyes. Although he was a child, he was smart enough to know that Charlie didn't get along well with Dick. 'What if they start fighting? If that happens, Mommy would definitely have a headache again, he pondered with a frown. After a while, in order to ease the tension, he asked, "Uncle Dick, are you leaving?"

Dick came round due to Leonard's question. 'Yes, Leonard is still here. I can't fight Charlie. Otherwise, Leonard would be frightened.' He nodded at Leonard. "I'm leaving. See you, Leonard." As he spoke, he got into his car and left.

Charlie stared after Dick's car before his gaze fell on Leonard. He felt like Leonard had helped him just now, but he wasn't quite sure. He reached out to stroke Leonard's hair, but Leonard deftly avoided his hand before it touched him. "Well, I guessed wrong. He still dislikes me.

Leonard quickly went inside, ignoring Charlie who followed behind him.

Sitting on the sofa, Theresa was helping Ben trim his nails. When Charlie and Leonard came in, she didn't say anything.

Charlie walked over and sat next to her, watching in silence. He recalled that she had always helped the kids cut their nails before they divorced. But at that time, he considered her a stepmother of his kids and never thought that she did give birth to Leonard and Ben.

After she finished cutting Ben's nails, Theresa said softly, "It's Leonard's turn."

Leonard then ran over with a grin.

She demanded, "Did you give those things to Uncle Dick?"

Leonard obediently nodded. "Yes, mommy."

Ben had no interest in their chat, just looking at Charlie with a complex expression. He wanted to talk about something with him but still hesitated, remembering how Charlie hurt Theresa.

At the glance of Ben's intense gaze, Charlie gave him a comforting smile. "Ben, come here. Let Daddy hug you."

However, Ben just shook his head and replied in an indifferent tone, "No, sorry." He then moved over to Theresa quietly, watching her trim Leonard's nails.

Charlie now realized that he was being excluded by Theresa and her children.

Chapter 739

Chapter 739 Wish You Happiness

Charlie felt frustrated. 'Before, no matter what happened, Ben was still clingy to me. But now everything has changed. He even rejected my hug outright.'

After finishing trimming Ben's nails, Theresa said to the kids, "You two can go play now."

"Thanks, mommy. But I'd like to do my homework first," Ben said in a sweet voice.

Theresa nodded, stroking his hair. 'Oh, my dear boy. He really loves studying, always doing his homework by himself. I just don't have to worry about his performance.'
Leonard also followed Ben out, leaving Theresa and Charlie alone in the living room while Brenda and Cristina were upstairs.

Theresa turned to Charlie, asking. "Did you bring my car back?"

"It's parked outside the gate," Charlie replied, taking out the car keys.

As she reached out her hand, she said, "Thank you."

When she took the car keys from his hand, he felt the warmth of her fingertips and immediately grabbed her hand, which made her uncomfortable.

Seeing the aloofness in her eyes, he apologized immediately, "Sorry."

She raised her eyebrows, commanding, "Let go of my hand."

He did as she told him, his eyes still fixed on her. "Ben doesn't even want to talk with me," he murmured under his breath.

She responded, "Although he is a child, he knows a lot of things. You know what I mean?"

He asked, "Are you really planning to be with Dick?"

She didn't answer, just staring at him. After a moment of thought, she said, pursing her lips, "I suppose so." In fact, she didn't consider Dick as her new boyfriend. She just took him as one of her common patients. Moreover, Dick had contributed greatly to helping her father's company get through a crisis, so she was going to repay him by giving him the best treatment.

She didn't think it necessary to tell Charlie all this. After all, they were already divorced, and she didn't owe him any explanation even if she would have a date with another man. Besides, she no longer believed that they would get back together, or that he still had feelings for her. If she fell in love with Dick, Charlie wouldn't be happy about it, since Dick was his enemy. But she didn't want to take care of Charlie's emotions anymore.

Charlie muttered composedly with a nod, "That's good. I hope that he won't hurt your feelings as I did. Wish you happiness."

Theresa was a bit surprised to hear what he just said. Observing his expression, she noticed that his attitude was completely different from that this morning when he had pleaded with her to come back. Dazed for seconds, she now wondered if he really let her go. 'Does he give up?' she thought. After staring at him for some moments, she asked, "What's going on with you?"

Charlie beamed at her. "Nothing. I just remembered how I used to suspect you. You know, eager to figure out whether you have an improper relationship with Dick. I'm sorry about that."

"Well, to be honest, I am quite surprised to hear your apology. I never expected you to admit your mistake," she confessed.

He wasn't sure if she was teasing him or not.

She stood up, stretching her arms. "I'm going back to my room."

"Are you feeling unwell?" he asked, noticing her fatigue.

"No, I am just tired. I have bustled around all day," she responded, heading upstairs. Now that Dick left, she could finally relax and rest for a while.

Chapter 740

Chapter 740 I Don't Love You Anymore

Theresa had just reached the elevator when the man behind her walked up and grabbed her hand. It was

Charlie. Staring at him with wide eyes, she asked, "What are you doing?"

"Walk you upstairs," he replied.

"What?" Theresa was confused as Charlie lifted her up in his arms, just like he used to do. She couldn't help but laugh "Don't even try to make a move on me. I'm on my period."

Giving her a quick glance, he shrugged "I know."

"Then why would you still..." Theresa started.

Before she could finish the sentence, he interrupted her. "In your eyes, I'm just a man who thinks with my libido, right?" He carried her into the elevator, heading up to her room. They then ran into Brenda and Cristina on the way

Embarrassed to be spotted in Charlie's arms by them, she wished she could disappear into the floor. After Charlie carried her back to her room and place her on the bed, she complained, "It's all your fault. I was so embarrassed just now."

As he took off her shoes, he comforted her. "It's okay. They're not strangers."

"Cristina will think I'm with you again," she sighed, furrowing her brow.

He didn't say anything but silently put her shoes away. After that, he sat on the edge of the bed, looking at her.

Theresa didn't like being alone with him because it always brought back awkward memories to her. "You can go now. Don't stay in my room. I told you not to come in here without permission, didn't I?" I have something to ask you." He insisted.

"What is it?"

"You think I don't like you?"

Theresa's eyes widened in a daze. She immediately remembered the reason for their divorce. Although she was no longer his wife, she now still felt embarrassed by his question. She bit her lip and unconsciously gripped the blanket tightly, trying to appear calm.

Hesitating for a little while, she muttered slowly, "I know you have been bothered by my past relationship with Jimmy. It's not fair for you to be with someone like me. I also can totally understand you, actually. I will never push you to spend your life with me. You don't have to please me for the sake of Leonard and Ben. You know, they are both good kids, smart enough to understand that their parents can't be together. It won't affect their growth, mental health, or something like that."

Knowing Charlie's personality well, she assumed that he wanted to bring her back to the Calsis family only for the sake of the children. But she didn't think it necessary. 'Many children grow up with just one parent due to divorce, but as long as they are educated well, they would still grow up healthy and happy.' She firmly believed

He sighed. "What I want to say has nothing to do with the children."

"Then why did you come here?" After he found out the secret she had tried to hide from him, she was always afraid that he would come to bother her. She also believed that he came over just to talk about the children.

Charlie's gaze became tender. "I just want to tell you that I really like you."

She laughed with a hint of sarcasm in her tone. Ignoring him, she just lay down on the bed and pulled up the covers. She thought to herself, 'What the hell does he want from me? He is trying to persuade me into going back to him, with the kids. But that's impossible!'

He grabbed her hand, trying to pull her up. "Theresa, don't sleep yet. I haven't finished."

She still closed her eyes. "I don't think there's anything left for us to discuss, Charlie. In my eyes, you're someone who uses others' feelings to achieve a goal, and I don't like that kind of person. Have you ever loved anyone? I guess not. Feelings, or love, are just a tool to you. But in fact, it won't work on me."

He asked, "Why?"

"Because I don't love you anymore. Your words just sound ridiculous to me."

He felt a sharp pain in his heart as if her words had turned into a sword that just pierced his body. Staring at her, he murmured, "I never thought that's how you see me."

Chapter 741

Chapter 741 It's All in the Past

"Did I say something wrong?" She really didn't want to hear him explain.

He shook his head. "If I were really that kind of person, I wouldn't have been with you. I would have chosen. Cristina and married her."

"That's because Sarah hadn't come back yet."

Inhaling deeply, he sounded a little helpless. "The last thing you would believe is that I really like you, isn't it?" "Why should I trust you? You just broke your promises time and time again. Don't remember?" He heaved a sigh again, kind of speechless. "I'm not here to ask for your forgiveness."

"Oh? Then what's your purpose?"

Charlie lowered his gaze for a moment before he spoke. "Just to clarify something with you. Every time I told you about my love, it was all from my heart. I wasn't pretending or lying to you, nor have I looked down on you since I recovered."

Theresa remained silent, leaning against the pillow as well as observing his serious expression.

Charlie continued, "Although later on, we had many conflicts and I misunderstood you at times. But at least before we got divorced, I was sincere with you. I wanted to know more about you and your child. Back then, I always felt that you hid those things from me because you didn't care about me. So I felt quite upset."

Now that he knew the truth, his heart was full of regret for misunderstanding her. He thought about how close they used to be to each other, but now she was leaving him, and might even marry Dick. Theresa felt stirred when hearing his explanation. She looked away and glanced at the window. The curtains weren't drawn, and it was already dark outside. Taking a deep breath, she said, "It's all in the past." She knew that it was time to carry on.

Pursing his lips, he fixed his eyes on her. 'Yes, it was all in the past, but could she understand my deep feelings for her? I really need her.' Thinking of this, he muttered, "Theresa, I..." He wanted to say "I love you", but before he spoke it out, he realized that she wouldn't be happy to hear it.

She turned to him, saying politely, "Thank you for coming to tell me all this. I mean, thank you for your love."

He became nervous. "So?"

"The past is in the past. Now, I just want to live in the moment." In her eyes, there was no point in reminiscing about the past, even if everything hurting that had happened before was only because of misunderstandings

"If he had He smiled bitterly. "Yes, that's right. It's all in the past. You just don't know where fate would lead you." known all of this earlier, he would have cherished her much more. But it was too late for him to correct his behaviors. With unfathomable emotions in his eyes, he reached out to stroke her head, trying to persuade himself to let her go. After a while, he added in a lighter tone, "Alright, it seems that you are very tired. I've finished. You can sleep now."

After giving him a glance, she closed her eyes to fall asleep when someone knocked at the door.

He rose to open the door. Seeing Brenda. he demanded, "What's wrong?"

Brenda answered, "Is she sleeping? Someone is waiting for her downstairs."

Chapter 742

Chapter 742 Ella's Arrival

"Who's it?" Theresa inquired Brenda, still lying on the bed.

Brenda replied, "It's Mr. Oneill's mother."

Upon hearing the name, Theresa felt a sense of annoyance. Wondering why this person would come over, she quickly got out of bed and put on her shoes to head downstairs. If it were anyone else, she wouldn't be so bothered, but this woman was sort of psycho in her eyes, and she was afraid that the woman would make a scene.

Eugene's mother, Ella, was sitting on the sofa downstairs with Cristina whose face was still not fully healed from the scratches Ella had inflicted. Cristina watched Ella warily, her eyes shooting daggers at her. Theresa was afraid that she had come down too late and that they might have already started fighting. When she noticed them sitting silent, she breathed a sigh of relief, asking Ella frankly, "Why are you here?" Looking up at Theresa, Ella grinned. "I've been feeling guilty about what I did before, so I am here to apologize. Theresa, this is a gift for you. I hope you would like it." She handed Theresa a box. As Theresa observed the gift that Ella had brought, she remembered that Ella had almost injured Leonard before. Holding the gift half-heartedly, she claimed, "Okay, I take the gift. But you should leave now, Madam. Your health isn't good, and it's late."

Ella smiled faintly. "Thank you for your concern." Then she turned to Cristina, demanding with seeming care, "So, Cristina, you're staying here too?"

As soon as Ella spoke, Theresa's heart raced with worry. "Cristina is my friend, and she's staying with me for the time being. Do you have a problem with that?"

With her eyes fixed on Cristina's face, Ella asked Cristina, "Does your face still hurt?" She was more interested in Cristina than the level-headed Theresa for Cristina was easily provoked.

As Ella expected, Cristina immediately slammed her cup down on the table and rose. "Are you here to cause trouble?"

Brenda quickly pulled Cristina back, startled. Since Cristina went to middle school, Brenda had taken care of Cristina, but she had never seen Cristina so worked up.

Theresa said to Cristina, "Calm down!"

"How can I be calm?" Cristina was infuriated at the sight of Ella. "She almost ruined my face! I wish I were a psycho like her so I could do whatever I want to her."

Tilting her head, Ella still kept beaming at Cristina as if she hadn't heard her shout. "You have always been so emotional, haven't you? Oh, I am curious whether you consider marrying Eugene. Do you?" She could tell that Cristina really liked Eugene, otherwise, Cristina wouldn't be so irritated.

"What are you talking about?" Cristina couldn't believe what she just heard, her eyes wide.

Ella went on, "You like him so much. Haven't you planned to marry him? Listen, you can't treat me this way if you want to marry him."

"What's wrong with my attitude?" Cristina asked. "Eugene has been abused by you and you now even want to bully me? You've got it all wrong! I'm not him, so don't treat me the same way you treat him." Ella chuckled. "I'm just reminding you. He won't marry someone who's so disrespectful to his mother."

"Really? I do have concerns about your parenting abilities." Cristina laughed sarcastically.

Chapter 743

Chapter 743 Eugene's Arrival

Cristina had always felt that she was unlucky because both her parents were extremely indifferent to her. It wasn't until she met Ella that she realized Eugene was even more pitiable than her. At least her parents didn't torture her like a psychopath, but Ella did that to Eugene every day.

Ella said casually, "He must listen to me. I gave birth to him, after all. It's late. I've got to go." After she finished speaking, she rose, facing Theresa. "Goodbye." She was accompanied here by a maid who was also her driver. Now both of them were leaving.

Theresa didn't walk them out. When they disappeared from her sight, she turned her gaze to Cristina. "Are you okay?"

With her face flushed with anger, Cristina was breathing heavily, wishing that she could tear Ella apart sooner or later.

Not understanding what was going on, Brenda just stood aside with a puzzled look. "Why is Cristina so angry?" she inquired Theresa.

Theresa answered, "Cristina scratched her face."

Brenda was surprised. "She doesn't seem like that kind of person."

Theresa said, "No, but she did do that to her. She thought Leonard was Eugene's son before and almost took Leonard away from me. Later she found out she was wrong and apologized. You know, she's polite to everyone, but when it comes to something related to her son, she can be very cruel and ruthless." Charlie was sitting silently near them. As he listened to them, he frowned tightly.

Brenda came closer to Cristina, asking caringly, "Cristina, are you okay?"

"I'm just angry." Cristina took a deep breath. "How can there be such a woman in this world?"

Theresa hugged her and patted her shoulder. "Calm down, honey. It doesn't matter. We just won't associate with her anymore."

Cristina looked up at Theresa. "Is that so? We can avoid contact with that crazy woman, but what about Eugene? He will still suffer." Thinking of Eugene, she felt uncomfortable again.

Knowing about her worries, Theresa comforted her, "Eugene isn't a child and he knows how to deal with her. Let's go eat. The dinner is ready."

Brenda had just finished cooking dinner when Eugene's mother arrived.

Theresa took Cristina to the dining table, holding her hand and calling Leonard and Ben over.

It was almost ten o'clock when all of them finished dinner.

Glancing at Charlie, Theresa said, "I think you should go now. It's not convenient to keep you here tonight."

Charlie nodded. "I'll come here again tomorrow."

Theresa shrugged casually not bothering to argue with him.

Charlie went out and opened the door when he saw Eugene standing outside, apparently about to knock. He asked curiously, "Why did you come over?"

"I heard my mother was here. How's Cristina?" Eugene looked very anxious.

Recalling Cristina's angry look Charlie answered, "Maybe, not quite well. Theresa is with her."

Chapter 744

Chapter 744 Charlie's Persuasion

He had seen Cristina upset by Eugene's aggressive mother. Despite Theresa and Brenda comforting her throughout the meal, Cristina still seemed angry.

Eugene asked, "May I check on her?"

Charlie hesitated, lost in thought. He was in a nasty mood today because Theresa didn't buy his words. However, Eugene's gaze reminded him of himself. He didn't want Eugene to end up like him, so he nodded in permission, saying, "Come in."

Theresa and Cristina had already returned to the room. Cristina was sitting on the couch while Theresa was helping her wipe her hands. "Don't overthink," she reassured. "After all, there are so many men in this world, and Eugene isn't the only one."

"But I just can't forget him," Cristina confessed, her eyes turning sad. "Whenever I close my eyes, I think of how his mother mistreated him."

Theresa reached out to gently touch Cristina's head, commenting. "You are trapped in love, my poor girl."

Just then, someone knocked on the door.

"Who's there?" Theresa inquired.

Charlie opened the door and showed his face.

Surprised to see him come back, Theresa stood up and walked to the door. "Didn't you leave?" she asked with confusion.

"Come out, I have something to tell you," Charlie beckoned.

Theresa then went out and closed the door. Noticing Eugene standing in the hallway next to Charlie. When she saw Eugene, she frowned. She believed that if it weren't for Eugene, Cristina wouldn't be like this now. "Why are you here?" Theresa demanded.

"I want to see how Cristina is doing," Eugene requested.

"What wouldn't you come earlier?" Theresa interrogated sharply. Even though Cristina was injured by Ella, Eugene hadn't inquired about Cristina until now, which infuriated Theresa.

"I'm sorry, as soon as I heard that my mother came over, I rushed here. She's always been hostile toward anything related to me. And that's the reason why I left Cristina before. I didn't want to cause Cristina any trouble," Eugene explained.

"If you were really so worried about her, you should have stayed away from her. You are the one who said you would marry her. You're also the one who hurt her so badly. She doesn't want to see you now. Jus go," Theresa accused.

Knowing that he had made big mistakes, he still wanted to see Cristina. He pleaded with a hoarse voice, "Theresa, can you let in? Just a couple of minutes, please?"

Thinking of Cristina's sadness, Theresa asked, "What are you going to say to her? Are you here to say goodbye to her? Do you have any plan to protect her from your mother's pester?" Eugene fell silent.

"You can see her, of course," she continued. "But Eugene, I'm really disappointed in you. She has given you too many chances, but what you have done is all wrong. As a man, you should show some responsibility. If you want to live with her, try to think about your future with her. If you can't bring her happiness, then don't come and bother her again. She needs a peaceful life." She really hoped that Cristina wouldn't suffer anymore. Eugene clenched his fingers tightly, lowering his head.

Seeing this, Charlie, who was standing on the side, spoke up, "Theresa, I forgot something in your room." Theresa shot him a disapproving glance, asking, "What did you drop over there?"

Chapter 745

Chapter 745 Thats Unfair

Cristina asked, ♦♦But she was so unfair to you. Dont you feel angry?’

Eugene replied, ♦♦Well, she ♦♦s a patient. She used to be very kind. If it werent for her, I wouldnt have grown up healthily. The death of my sister traumatized her and she changed.→→ How should I describe you, as filial or submissive, Cristina felt a sense of helplessness. sighed.

Hearing her comment, he said firmly,

Aha?

Dont worry, I wont let her hurt you again.

Cristina raised her eyebrows.

Do you think Im afraid of her? No, I just care about you! If I were you, I would stay away from her and not have any dealings with her. No mother would treat her child like this. Shes really insane. He smiled slightly.

Thank you,

he said with a hint of happiness.

Why should you thank me?

She denied,

No, I dont care about you, actually.

Holding her hand, he inquired,

Can I stay here with you tonight?’

Surprised, Cristina looked at him for some moments before she replied, No need, just go. I don’t want to see you. Dont pretend to be nice to me. My injury is not that serious.’

♦♦I had an argument with my mother and have nowhere to go, her?

he explained.

Ou argued with her? she asked suspiciously. Shes the kind of person who would beat to death if you dare to talk back. How could you do that?’

Staring at her vivid face, he felt a little better. On the way here, he had been thinking about her. He realized that he was so afraid of her getting hurt. He often wondered how a person could stop loving someone else but still hadnt found any answer. Sometimes he really wished that he had a good family like Charlie who could choose whoever he loved. He hadnt shown his love to Cristina in front of Ella. →→Maybe I will never be able to live with Cristina.

Cristina lay down on the bed.

if you want. O

Whatever, Im going to sleep. This isnt my home. You can stay

Hearing her words, Eugene smiled a bit bitterly.

A little later, Theresa and Charlie came out of the room and saw Eugene leaving.

Charlie asked,10m

Im going back. Are you feeling better?

thought he was responsible for taking him away.

He brought Eugene here, so he

Nodding, Eugene turned to Theresa. Can I stay here tonight to keep her company?’

You should ask her,

Theresa replied. After calming down, she agreed with Charlie. Cristina might be willing to talk to Eugene. Well, they do need a good talk. Communication can solve many problems. → →

→ → Thank you.

s room.

Eugene gave her a grateful look before he came back to Cristina Standing by Theresa◆◆s side; Charlie was gazing at the door Eugene had just closed. Thats so unfair, he complained under his breath. Theresa looked up at him with confusion. What are you mumbling about to yourself? What◆◆S unfair?'

He can stay here while I have to leave late at night, Charlie replied.

Chapter 746

Chapter 746 Do You Feel Guilty?

Charlie looked sad and confused as if it was unfair of Theresa to kick him out at that moment.

You should go home,

Theresa insisted.

It's freezing outside, and I have to drive. It could be dangerous, I might get into an accident, but you don't care about that. You only care that I'm bothering you, Charlie said, looking at her with a hint of sadness.

Theresa was speechless. Rubbing her temples, she sighed, If you don't want to leave, you can stay. But don't act like I am forcing you.

she answered.

He took a deep breath, disappointed.

Then where will I sleep? he asked, perking up at her compromise. The guest room is empty. Ask Brenda to prepare it for you, Well, no need. Just forget it. I'll go home. Alright. She nodded, trying to be polite before heading back to her own room.

Watching her leave, he realized that she wasn't going to stop him. He immediately added, I really am leaving.

Just go, she spoke as she closed the door to her room. Then she made the bed and lay down. About an hour later, Charlie sent her a message saying he had made it home safely, which surprised her. She had thought that he was going to stay with her since he had been in her house many times. Charlie sent another message. [You must be wondering why I left. Well, it's because I don't want you to hate me even more. But now I'm back. Do you feel disappointed or guilty?]

Theresa was silent for a moment as she read it. She thought to herself, He's really scheming, isn't he? It seems that he always has many plots. → →

Theresa tossed and turned in bed, unable to fall asleep. She kept thinking about what Charlie had said. After a while, she got up and left her room to check on Leonard and Ben. Their bedroom was dark since the boys were already asleep. Theresa quietly turned on the light and walked over to Bens bed when she noticed him moving slightly under his blanket.

Ben?◆◆ Theresa whispered. He isnt sleeping? When he didnt respond, she asked again, 'Youre still awake?

After a few moments of silence, Ben peeked his head out from under the covers, his eyes red from crying.

Theresa◆◆s heart sank at the sight of that.

Ben was usually a happy and outgoing child. But Charlies recent behavior seemed to have had a huge impact on him. In his eyes, his dad had always been a hero, but now, all was changed.

Chapter 747

Chapter 747 Do You Feel Guilty?

Charlie looked sad and confused as if it was unfair of Theresa to kick him out at that moment.

"You should go home," Theresa insisted.

"It's freezing outside, and I have to drive. It could be dangerous, I might get into an accident, but you don't care about that. You only care that I'm bothering you," Charlie said, looking at her with a hint of sadness.

Theresa was speechless. Rubbing her temples, she sighed, "If you don't want to leave, you can stay. But don't act like I am forcing you."

"Then where will I sleep?" he asked, perking up at her compromise.

"The guest room is empty. Ask Brenda to prepare it for you," she answered. "Well, no need. Just forget it. I'll go home." He took a deep breath, disappointed.

"Alright." She nodded, trying to be polite before heading back to her own room.

Watching her leave, he realized that she wasn't going to stop him. He immediately added, "I really am leaving."

"Just go," she spoke as she closed the door to her room. Then she made the bed and lay down. About an hour later, Charlie sent her a message saying he had made it home safely, which surprised her. She had thought that he was going to stay with her since he had been in her house many times.

Charlie sent another message. [You must be wondering why I left. Well, it's because I don't want you to hate me even more. But now I'm back. Do you feel disappointed or guilty?]

Theresa was silent for a moment as she read it. She thought to herself, 'He's really scheming, isn't he? It seems that he always has many plots.'

Theresa tossed and turned in bed, unable to fall asleep. She kept thinking about what Charlie had said. After a while, she got up and left her room to check on Leonard and Ben. Their bedroom was dark since the boys were already asleep. Theresa quietly turned on the light and walked over to Ben's bed when she noticed him moving slightly under his blanket.

"Ben?" Theresa whispered. 'He isn't sleeping?' When he didn't respond, she asked again, "You're still awake?"

After a few moments of silence, Ben peeked his head out from under the covers, his eyes red from crying.

Theresa's heart sank at the sight of that.

Ben was usually a happy and outgoing child. But Charlie's recent behavior seemed to have had a huge impact on him. In his eyes, his dad had always been a hero, but now, all was changed.

Chapter 748

Chapter 748 We Made Up

Since he knew that Charlie was his dad, he often drew Charlie into the family picture, which showed how much he liked him. However, now Charlie's image had collapsed in his mind. 'Everything has changed. He's no longer my good daddy, he thought to himself.

Unlike Ben, Leonard never acknowledged Charlie as his father because Charlie didn't treat Theresa well in his eyes.

As she looked at Ben's tearful eyes, Theresa furrowed her brow, remembering how strained her relationship with Charlie had become lately. She had believed that she could take care of Leonard and Ben well. Although she hoped that her children wouldn't feel sad, things weren't as she had imagined. 'Ben is just a four-year-old child. Every conflict and argument between Charlie and I can have a profound impact on him.' With that in mind, Theresa hugged him, asking softly, "Do you miss your daddy?" Ben shook his head, denying, "No."

Theresa patted his back gently. "If you want to talk with him or play with him, just do it. I won't stop you."

Ben frowned, feeling sorry for Theresa. "He's a bad man. He has bullied you. And he is with a bad woman now."

"No," she replied. "Your dad knew few things before, so he made those mistakes. He should be punished for what he did wrong, and he has been punished. Everyone makes mistakes, right? Forgive him. Don't be mad at him anymore." She didn't care much about Charlie's thoughts, but her children cared too much about him, so she spoke kindly of him.

Hearing Theresa's words, he opened his eyes wide. "But you will be unhappy."

"Why would I be unhappy?" she muttered. "I just want to see you happy. And the fact that he is your dad can't be changed. As for Sarah, that bad woman, he has told me that he won't marry her. They have nothing to do with each other."

"Really?" Ben looked skeptical.

Theresa nodded. "Yes, really. When your dad couldn't stand up on his own, that woman was mean to him, and he still holds a grudge against her. Why would he have a relationship with her? Trust me." Ben still asked, "Mom, are you lying to me?"

"No, why would I lie to you?" Theresa was confused.

Ben said, "If I call him daddy again, will I have to call the bad woman mommy? Will you still be my mommy?"

Theresa laughed, reaching out to wipe the tears off Ben's soft little face. "Who told you that? I will always be your only mommy. Oh, if you had to call someone else mommy, would you?"

"Of course not, I love you the most, Mommy."

"Mommy loves you too! How could I bear to abandon my favorite children? Oh, my silly boy, you stay up all night just because of this?"

Ben pursed his lips.

Looking at his worried face, she continued, "Your dad and I just had a fight before, but he knows he was wrong now, and we made up." To avoid hurting her son's feelings, she had to put it delicately. Ben exclaimed in surprise, "Really?"

"Absolutely," Theresa assured him. "If you don't believe me, I'll have him come over tomorrow morning and tell you himself. You know he wouldn't listen to me if things weren't good between us, right?" Ben nodded in agreement. "Yes."

"Good," she said, patting his hand. "So just go to sleep now. You can see if he comes here tomorrow. Alright?" As she lowered his pillow a bit, she couldn't help but shake her head at her little worrywart. Finally, Ben settled into bed. Though his eyes were still red, Theresa's reassurance had done wonders to lift his spirits, and he even looked a bit excited at the prospect of seeing his father the next day.

Chapter 749

Chapter 749 Having Breakfast

Theresa looked at this silly boy. It was not a good thing for her to see her boys being sentimental at such a young age. They seemed to be more mature than their peers.

After putting Ben to sleep, she then helped tuck Leonard in before going back to her room. When she got to her room, she picked up her phone and planned to send a message to Charlie. However, she hesitated.

Although she had promised Ben to ask Charlie to come back home for breakfast tomorrow and she knew Charlie'd agree, she didn't feel comfortable texting him at this time. After all, she had no intention to make up with him yet, which she preferred to keep from their sons for the time being.

And she didn't wish Charlie to detect her worry, in case he used this to threaten her again or sneaked into her room... His recent behaviour had put her on the defensive and edgy.

Since they had already divorced, they'd better have non-interference and no communication, let alone having sex. But what about him? Did he share the same thought?

After some inner struggles, for the sake of Ben, Theresa decided to keep her promise.

[Ben misses you. If you are free tomorrow morning, come over and have breakfast with him.]

After that, she reckoned that Charlie was probably already asleep, so she didn't expect his reply. To her surprise, he quickly replied her with an emphatic 'Yes.

His message gave a start, making her drop the phone on the quilt. He was still awake? She then messaged him again. [Can't sleep?]

[Yep, I just took a shower. What about you? Didn't you say you were going to sleep earlier? Is it because of me that you remained up?] [Humph!] Soon her message arrived.

Although she refused to admit it, she was clear that he was the cause of her insomnia. If he chose to stay at home, she'd have a good rest. But now, he acted like she was the one who forced him to leave the house in the middle of the night, of course she'd be restless.

After a while, Charlie texted her to go to bed early and told her he'd come over first thing in the morning. Holding his phone, he lay on the bed as he watched her phone avatar. The thought that they would never get back together anymore weighed him down with sorrow. Yet, just as he thought sleep would elude him tonight, she massaged him to go back home tomorrow! He knew he could sleep soundly this time. Back then, she was determined to divorce him. And he had thought that Dick was the father of the two boys, so he agreed. Now he found out that he had misunderstood, he was their real father. With their children as a tie, he still stood a chance to win her back, didn't he? He could see that she loved their children.

Lying on the bed, Charlie soon fell asleep.

In the morning, Theresa felt a load on her mind and got up early. When she fetched herself a cup of water downstairs, she heard the car parking by the gate. Opening the door, she saw him.

The sun smouldered through a thin haze and this wind had freshened up. He got out of the car and saw her standing at the door. A smile lifted the corner of his mouth. "Waiting for me?"

Chapter 750

Chapter 750 Only For The Boys

An expectant look formed on his face. But soon Theresa threw a wet blanket on his enthusiasm. "I just happened to be awake and came to open the door for you."

Clad in pajamas, she felt cold and then hurried back inside. When Charlie closed the door behind him and walked in, she had already settled herself on the sofa, covering a blanket to keep warm. He asked, "Is Ben awake?"

"Not yet." She added, "Sit with me for a while. I have something to say to you."

Upon hearing that, he ambled over and sat down next to her. With his eyes locked on her, he went on, "Why did you suddenly send me a message in the middle of the night?"

Holding a cup of hot water with both hands, she allowed her face to darken after hearing him mention this. "I couldn't sleep last night, so I went to check on the boys. That was when I saw Ben crying on his bed."

As a mother, she had to be concerned about her son's mental health. Theresa averted her gaze to him. "I don't know if you've ever noticed it, but he is different from Leonard. He's not good at keeping things to himself and he'll lay out anything he feels. Because of what happened between us lately, he seems to be very upset. Especially after seeing you with Sarah..."

When Charlie heard this, guilt was etched into every line of his face. "I'm sorry, it's my fault."

After casting him a glance, she smiled bitterly. "I don't mean to blame you. Last night I talked to him and said we had made peace with each other, but he did not believe me. So I had to tell him that you would come to see him first thing in the morning. That's why I sent you a message."

Once he heard this, he fastened his eyes on her and move up the corner of his mouth. While this matter had her worried half into the grave, he actually smiled! She flared at him, "Are you feeling very smug?"

He really didn't care about their children at all!

"No!" Charlie denied with an innocent look, "I just feel glad that you can let me share your worry. You know, you don't have to bear that burden alone."

Speechless, Theresa uttered, "If it wasn't for the boys, I wouldn't have contacted you. Don't think too much about it."

He nodded. "I know. I'll tell Ben that we've made up with each other, to cheer him up."

Only then did she soften her attitude toward him. "I thought as much. They're so young. I don't want them to live in sadness and despondency during childhood because of us." Dispirited, he said as he fixed his eyes on her, "I know."

Before he came, she was quite nervous. After their talking, she became relieved to see that they reached an agreement easily and that he didn't make any excessive demands on her. Charlie stated, "Then I'll go see him, I haven't seen him for a long time."

"Go ahead."

After receiving her permission, he then stood up and went straight to the boys' room. At this moment, they were still sleeping. He eased himself to their bed. Seeing that Leonard's leg had been stretched out on the quilt, he then tucked Leonard in again. Then he sat beside Ben.

This little one looked exactly like him when he was little. There were a few surviving photographs of him as a child. If comparing the photos with the boys, one could find that they resembled him when he was young. He was the "grown-up version" of them.

Charlie did not wake them up, but looked at them quietly. About half an hour later, when Ben turned over and then opened his eyes, which were still fogged with sleep. But the moment he saw his father, he widened his eyes in shock.

Charlie showed a smile. "Good morning."

Ben still couldn't believe what he saw. Remembering the conversation with his mom last night before. going to bed, he was surprised that she didn't lie to him and Charlie really came! Charlie's appearance made him self-conscious. After all, he had been angry with Charlie for a few days, and now he didn't know what kind of attitude he should embrace to talk to Charlie. Without hesitation, Charlie flung his arms around the little boy. "What? Cat got your tongue?"

The comfort of his arms helped dissolve the nagging lump of tension in Ben's chest. Ben's little body melted his heart. Nestling in his arms, Ben looked up at him. "Daddy." "Mm." Charlie said gently, "Finally forgive me?"