

Chapter 143 I Can Marry You

Richard calmed himself down and picked up the phone.

"Richard, are you coming back tonight?" Caroline asked.

"What happened?" he asked.

"Nothing. I am just bored when alone," she said.

"I have an important appointment with my client and if it ends quickly, I will come back."

"Yes. If you come back, please give me a call," Caroline said.

"You don't have to wait for me, Caroline," Richard said.

"Yes," she nodded.

After hanging up the phone, Richard was still holding it. When he turned back to his senses, he made up his mind that he should make it clear to his mom and Ms. Alison.

At eight o'clock in the evening, Richard arrived at the restaurant in a casual suit.

Alice arrived early. She found it strange that Richard never went out with her. If it weren't for his mom today, he would not go out with her again.

What Alice wore was in line with the style of the restaurant. It was a retro dress on which the embroidery was very elaborate, which made her look like a true lady.

The makeup on her face only brought light color, and from a distance, she looked fresh and plain, but only when she got closer could you see the colorful makeup.

"Richard, I am glad that you came," Alice smiled faintly.

Richard nodded slightly and sat down on a chair without saying anything.

Alice handed the menu to him and said, "All the dishes here are great. Would you like to order?"

"You can order by yourself," Richard did not have the intention of taking the menu.

Alice had to take the menu back, "Then I'll just order the specialties."

After ordering the dishes, Alice pressed the button on the table, and immediately a waiter came. Alice said something and the waiter left.

Richard did not say a word, holding a cell phone in his hand, reading the latest news.

Alice sat in awkwardness, "Richard, have you been busy lately?"

"Yes."

"Then you should pay attention to your health," Alice said with care.

"Yes."

No matter what Alice said, Richard just answered 'Yes' without lifting his head.

This made Alice very embarrassed. At least she was from the Wilson Group!

Richard didn't even take a look at her!

After a while, the dishes were all served on the table, and Alice pushed dishes toward him.

Unfortunately, Richard didn't move his chopsticks, and Alice ate very little.

A table full of dishes was basically untouched.

Finally, Richard took the initiative to speak for the first time.

"Are you full?" he asked.

Alice smiled, "I'm done. I eat less for dinner."

"Good, then I have something to say," Richard finally put down his cell phone.

Alice was startled when she heard these words!

She thought Richard was using his movement to show that he would not be with her.

Alice remembered that Caroline said her son was cold to people by nature, so it seemed to be true.

"You can be my wife and I can help the Wilson Group with its business, but I have conditions," he said indifferently.

Alice raised her head and asked, "What conditions?"

Now he was negotiating with her instead of talking about marriage? It was disappointing to Alice.

"First, I will have a child with you, but only one. Then, I will never have sex with you. It's best if you're willing to accept artificial insemination," he said.

Hearing this, Alice looked at Richard incredulously. Was this to make her a widow?

Her phone was placed on the table and a message was received at this moment. She immediately picked up her phone and unknowingly turned on the recorder.

Richard continued, "Secondly, I hope you never ask me about what I do. When you marry into the Preston family, you need to tolerate everything. I think my mom has told you about it."

Alice's hands were trembling. She didn't know Richard would make such an insulting condition!

"I don't agree!" Alice clenched her fists and clenched her teeth.

She had repeatedly taken the initiative to show kindness to Richard, which was already an insult to her. Now Richard even proposed such an offer!

Of course, she couldn't possibly agree.

Richard saw Alice's expression change and he added, "I know that you married me for the sake of the Wilson Group. Business marriages are common. The Wilson Group has a problem with funds. Many competitors are eyeing you, and I don't think you can hold on any longer."

There was indignation fluctuating back and forth in her eyes.

Seeing that Alice kept silent, Richard stood up and said, "Since you don't agree, there is nothing for us to talk about."

After saying that, Richard walked towards the door.

"Wait!" Alice called out to him in time.

"Did you change your mind?" he asked.

"I need time to think about this," she said.

"Fine, I'll give you three days. Then give me a reply," Richard lifted his leg and directly walked out of the private room.

Alice painfully closed her eyes and asked why. Why she ends up like this after she kept pleasing him for these days?

In another private room, Caroline and Leo were happily eating palace dishes.

After failing to get a date with Richard, Caroline had no choice but to ask Leo out. She was about to be bored out of her mind at home, and if she didn't come out to get some fresh air, she would go crazy!

"Leo, how did you find this place? It's not bad!" Caroline took a sip of juice.

"Since Queen Caroline wants to eat delicious food, I will try my best," Leo said.

"You still have a conscience!" Caroline narrowed her eyes towards

Leo and smiled.

Seeing the sauce on the corner of Caroline's mouth, Leo drew a tissue and wiped her mouth.

"I need to go to the restroom!" Caroline stood up, limping and bouncing toward the restroom.

"Are you okay with this?" Leo asked with care.

Caroline bounced to the restroom but ended up bouncing back in less than a minute, saying, "Well, I am not okay with this."

"I'll help you," Leo said and stood up.

"I'll go by myself. If someone recognizes you, there will be a big problem!" Caroline glanced at Leo.

"Alright then," said Leo.

Caroline walked out of the private room.

Leo immediately took the roses out of the cabinet in the private room.

He was preparing to confess to Caroline tonight so since she left, he hurriedly took out the draft from his pocket and tried to remember that!

Reward

8

Comments

0

14:33

Marry My Rich Uncle

33.8%