

Chapter 16 I'm pregnant

Wendell couldn't say anything.

There were some things beyond his control, like that night.

Caroline sneered, "So you men are all animals. Let your lower body control your brain. I was so blind. The twenty-two years we have been together are just a waste of time!"

Caroline looked at their jointed hands. They looked so sweet and so natural.

"Wendell, Coco, don't tell me the bullshit that you were drunk and mistook the wrong girl. You two must have already done some shitty things behind my back, right?"

Wendell jerked his head up and said, "How can you say that? Caroline, all these years, don't you know me at all?"

"Yeah! I used to believe I knew you well, but now I realize I'm just a fucking idiot!" Caroline yelled.

"You!" Wendell could tolerate Caroline's cynicism towards him, but he couldn't stand the fact that Caroline suspected him of cheating long ago. All these years, he had her in his heart!

"Wend, stop saying that!" Coco pulled Wendell's arm, with tears all over her face.

Caroline turned her face to the side. She had enough of Coco's tears.

"Wend, in the end, we did something we shouldn't have done and hurt my sister. We shouldn't get married.

I'm going to abort the baby in my body. We should not be together. You should be with Carol instead," said Coco.

"What did you say?" Caroline couldn't believe her ears, "The baby?"

Coco bit her lip, "Yes, it is just a month old. It's okay. It is not a good time for me to have it."

Wendell's heart ached when Coco said she would abort the baby.

"You can't do this, Coco!" Wendell turned his head to look at Caroline, "Caroline, she is already pregnant. The baby is mine. That's why we want to get married immediately. In short, things have already been like this. If you want to blame someone, blame me. You can beat me or scold me as you like."

Caroline stared at the man in front of her and she suddenly felt that Wendell, whom she had known for twenty-two years, was so strange to her at the moment.

Coco was pregnant and Wendell was going to be a father.

And she, Caroline, became an outsider after all, a complete outsider.

"It is really good news, right?" Caroline turned to leave.

"Carol!" Coco took two steps forward, stumbled and almost fell down. Wendell immediately went forward and held her, "Be careful!"

"Don't care about me! You, quickly go after Carol!"
Coco had a worried face.

"You're pregnant now. Don't do that ever again,"

Wendell looked towards Caroline who was walking away and said, "Don't worry. Caroline has been so independent since she was a child. She will be fine."

After that, the two were no longer in the mood to shop, so Wendell supported Coco all the way to the parking lot.

"Wend, do you think Carol will come back home? If possible, I still hope she can attend our wedding. She is my sister after all."

"If she attends the wedding, she will definitely turn the house upside down. I know her too well. I'll apologize to her properly when I have the chance," said Wendell.

His eyes were filled with sorrow.

Coco was the woman he drunkenly slept with and carried his child while Caroline was the woman he has loved for so many years.

Wendell himself was torn and heartbroken.

When Wendell and Coco walked near their car, they found Caroline standing right next to it.

"Carol? Why are you here?" asked Coco.
