

Chapter 17 Shameful

The Fowler family's house.

The situation around the dining table was a bit awkward. Caroline was eating without a word.

Everyone's eyes were on her, but she was acting as if she didn't see them, and she continued to do as she pleased.

Yes, she chose to come back. She was the victim, so why should she be the one to avoid them? Why should she let these people live in comfort and ease?

Carl, the patriarch of the family, and his wife, Mavis, the old lady, looked at each other.

Mavis shook her head, and Carl continued to eat.

There was still one chicken leg left on the plate. Mavis smiled at Coco and said, "Coco, you are pregnant now and you should eat more. Have this chicken leg."

Just as Mavis's fork touched the chicken leg, Caroline also extended hers and caught the leg at the same time.

The situation was very embarrassing.

Mark looked at Caroline and reminded her, "Caroline, you've eaten a lot."

"So?" Caroline's face was expressionless, and her fork did not leave the chicken leg.

Carl slapped the table and said in anger, "Because you are the older sister. You should give way to your younger sister. What's more, Coco is now pregnant, with your little nephew!"

Caroline grunted coldly when she heard this and put down her cutlery, "Grandpa, don't you think it's ridiculous? My nephew? My boyfriend and my sister would soon give me a little nephew?"

When these words came out, there were some hard looks on the faces of the whole family.

"What's more, she was raped and got knocked up?!" Caroline continued ruthlessly.

"You shut up!" This time it was Mark's turn to slap the table, "How could you say this? Coco is your sister!"

Caroline turned her head to the side, "I just said the truth."

"How dare you!" Mark glared fiercely at his daughter, "Don't think that since you come back home, I will let you go easily. Where have you been all these days?!"

Coco was sitting next to Mark, and she hurriedly pulled Mark's sleeve and said, "Dad, don't get mad. Carol just came back. We should have a good meal together."

Immediately after that, Coco picked up that chicken leg on the plate and put it into Caroline's, "You can have it. You must not have eaten enough after leaving home these days."

Mavis looked at Coco with love, "Our Coco is just so sensible!"

Coco immediately put on a natural and bright smile, "Grandma, I learned from the best. "

Mavis smiled, "Coco knows how to make me happy."

Caroline looked at Coco, who made the whole family happy at the dinner table, and really wanted to tear the fake mask off her face!

"Caroline! As an older sister, you're not as good as your sister!" Carl grunted towards Caroline.

"Well, grandpa, I think you're so right about this. To seduce men into bed, I'm really not as good as her!" Caroline stared at Coco, with her eyes burning.

Coco immediately hung her head, her eyes full of shame and sadness.

Wendell frowned, "Caroline, I've said many times. This is not Coco's fault."

"I could forgive you when you just said something terrible, but now you're saying that Coco seduces Wendell! She's your sister! How could you say this to her?"

"Sister? My mom is not a whore!" Caroline sneered.

"Caroline!" Mavis, Carl, and Mark shouted in unison.

Carl pointed at Caroline with trembling hands, "Mark, if you don't teach her a good lesson today, don't ever call me father again!"
