

Chapter 20 Stay with me

Fowler's House

It was already late at night, and Wendell was ready to send Coco back to her bedroom. He should go home too. The two of them just passed the study, and they saw the door open.

Caroline walked out from inside and when she saw these two standing in the corridor, she straightened her back and swaggered over.

"Carol, are you alright?" Coco asked with concern.

"Thanks to your blessing, I am very fine." Caroline glanced at Coco with contempt.

This glance contains too much; hatred, resentment, and even a burning fire. It was daunting.

"Okay," Coco was startled by this look, and she timidly hid behind Wendell.

"Caroline..."

Caroline glanced at Wendell and walked straight towards her room.

"Come on, Coco. I'll walk you back. Then I should leave," said Wendell.

Coco was like a frightened deer and said, "Wend, did you see the way she looked at me just now? It was as if she wanted to eat me alive. I was so scared."

Wendell smiled faintly, "It's okay. Maybe it was because Mark reprimanded her and gave her a hard time. It's not about you."

"But my sister has been targeting me since she came back. You see what happened just now at the dinner table, right? Now I'm really scared. Wend, I'm pregnant with a baby now and I'm afraid..."

"You don't have to worry. This is Caroline. She usually speaks and acts brashly. But you want her to harm people? She can't do it, not to mention that you are her sister. She won't hurt you."

Wendell said soothingly.

"Of course, I know that my sister will not harm me, but she has always resented me. What if she accidentally, I mean, she accidentally touches me or bumps me?" Coco asked.

"Well..." Wendell thought this was possible. Since in childhood, Caroline was rampant and got herself injured, which was also common.

Coco pleaded bitterly.

Wendell nodded, "Fine."

Back in the bedroom, Caroline was lying on her stomach. Her forehead was covered with sweat, and the pain in her back was so burning that she couldn't move.

Caroline was mischievous since she was little, and she was beaten up by her father a lot as a child, but, after all, she was a girl, and at that time, Mark didn't beat her that hard. His punishment was more of a symbolic discipline.

Today, Mark was really angry. In the past, Caroline, before she was beaten, would admit her fault so the slap would not fall because her tears would begin to fall.

But now she gritted her teeth and did not say a word.

Not even a drop of tears fell!

Mark kept asking her if she realized her mistake, but Caroline always say "I'm not wrong!".

In her own room, her tears finally fell, not because of the pain in her back but because of the pain in her heart.

Her own father, who always loved her and treasured her, really whipped her today!

Caroline fell asleep, crying. Her phone rang countless times, but she did not hear it.

The next morning, Caroline was awakened by the pain in her back, but when she opened her eyes, she felt that her eyes also hurt, so she went to the bathroom to take a look.

Holy shit!

Her pair of eyes were swollen like walnut, with only a slit in the middle! If Coco saw this, she would laugh her ass off!

Shit! The reason she came back was to stir the family upside down, but she ended up getting beaten up and her eyes turned swollen like this.

This was not what she had expected!

She had to get out of here, or else Coco would gloat her when she saw her!

But when Caroline tried to open the door, she realized that it was locked!
