

Marvel 721

Chapter 721 Idea

Buzzing~

Rogers was still not relieved when he looked at the fortified Portal. None of the drones that had been sent before returned through the Portal again, and they had obviously been destroyed by the monsters.

Fortunately, Dr. Banner came back and brought back a lot of information, otherwise, they really wouldn't know anything about the situation on the other side of the Portal.

"Dr. Banner, in your judgment, are these defenses adequate?" Looking back from the various layers of defense in front of him, Rogers looked at Bruce Banner next to him and asked with a serious expression on his face.

Hearing Rogers' words, Dr. Banner thought for a while and said, "That would have been enough if only the defenses and forces of the monsters and the aliens had been the same. After all, we have some very strong individual fighters on our side. But..."

"But what?" Rogers quickly asked.

"However, while I don't know exactly what the other side, Dark Elf, is capable of, nor have I heard much from Mirage Knight, it would be unwise to be on a Blind Defense." Dr. Banner offers his own advice on what they should do.

Rogers sighed when he heard Dr. Banner's answer. How could he not know that a blind defense is a very unwise choice?

And Mirage Knight clearly stated that the individual strength of the Dark Elves is very powerful, and this Portal cannot transmit large-scale troops in an instant, so powerful individuals are very important.

If a guy comparable to Hulk appeared from the Dark Elf side then the effects of these defenses would be mediocre at best.

However, it is also useful to keep this Portal. Of course, if the situation reaches that very serious point then he will not sacrifice his men in order to achieve his own goals. Rogers can't do that.

And now, he can only continuously strengthen the defense around this Portal. However, after Dr. Banner made this suggestion, a bright light flashed in Rogers' mind and something that he hadn't thought of before appeared in his mind.

"If a Blind Defense is very unwise then what if we take the initiative?" Rogers murmured softly as his eyes shifted to the Portal again.

"Instead of passively waiting for the enemy to discover us and organize an offensive, why can't we take the initiative? Even if war is really unavoidable, we can choose the battlefield on the other side of the Portal!" With this in mind, the light in Rogers' eyes grew more and more.

It must be said that at some point, Steve Rogers' thinking is not backward at all, but very radical. It's nice that Rogers, as Captain America, can think of this for the Earth civilization and fight beyond the portal that advocates the rule of the universe by force. But will his idea really work?

"Take the initiative? Rogers, what do you mean? Shall we continue sending teams into the Portal and take a place over there?" Dr. Banner asked in surprise at Rogers's whisper.

Although Dr. Banner returned safely after entering the Portal to the planet inhabited by the Dark Elf race, it was only with the strength of Hulk that he returned safely.

Otherwise, the vastly different environment on the planet inhabited by the Dark Elf clan would have been enough to bring Dr. Banner down.

Before sending Warriors, or even a team, through the Portal to create a battlefield on Dark Elf's planet, they must first deal with their alien adaptive armors and weapons.

"Isn't this the best way to guard the Portal, and it also gives us a good opportunity to get in touch with the other civilizations in the universe in advance. And if the battlefield is on the other side of the Portal then we will have fewer worries.!" Rogers quickly answered after hearing a few questions from Dr. Banner.

"That's right, but... So we have a lot of problems to solve before we could even attempt to do that. After all, it would no longer be our home turf." Seeing Rogers getting more and more excited, Dr. Banner reminded in a low tone.

"Yes, that is not our home turf! So, if we go there, we'll be opening up a new place on earth! As for our problems, there is always a solution!" Having almost made up his mind, Rogers was now in a very excited mood.

If they do manage to establish a battlefield on the other side of the Portal, and their contact with Dark Elf is contained there then it will be a huge success. At least, if there is a major battle then the earth will not be affected in the slightest.

"Well, if you're confident that you can solve all our problems and persuade others to support your decision then I won't object." Knowing that Rogers had almost made up his mind, Dr. Banner said nothing more.

"I have confidence!" Rogers replied in a serious tone with a confident light flashing in his eyes.

...

When all parties on the earth are busy because of the Portal and the Magic Cube, on the planet where the Dark Elves lives which is also on the other side of the Portal, the outside of the hill where the Portal is located is as quiet as ever.

The three Dark Elf Warriors who came here more than an hour ago are all missing, and all the beasts they controlled have died. They are now lying quietly all over the valley.

The three Dark Elf fighters were actually not low-leveled grunts. If they are ranked according to the rank of the Earth military then they would be already at the Major General level, otherwise, they will not have such a strong strength.

All of them are characters who can crush the combined might of Captain America and Daredevil. If it weren't for too many Superheros on the Earth, they might be able to save their lives and escape back.

Of course, even if they escaped back, they would still have to face the Hulk who was already angry. In the end, they wouldn't have been able to escape their death.

At last, more than an hour after the three Major-general Dark Elf soldiers had gone missing, there was a whistling noise out of the hills and it was unlike the normal wind.

Huhuhu!

"Roar!!..." The first to rush into this dim valley was a group of very familiar giant monsters. They jumped to the highest point on the edge of the valley and looked at the corpses below and howled.

After the monsters that ran in the front howled, more and more monsters poured in. After they rushed into the valley, a way was separated from the monster group as a tall and burly figure slowly walked in.

Chapter 722 Prudent

Da Da Da~

In the middle of the path parted by the monsters, the tall figure gradually walked out. Soon, he had walked to a position less than fifty meters away from the Portal. However, he just looked at the Portal from afar and did not go any further up.

This is also a Dark Elf warrior, although no obvious differences could be seen from his appearance to the previous three, this guy's eyes are icy cold.

".....% ¥ .....& amp; amp;.....& amp; amp;*.....% ¥" The Dark Elf muttered as he looked back from the Portal and glanced around.

Of course, if there are other Dark Elves here then they would definitely understand what he is talking about. The guy who came here because the three Dark Elf had gone missing was wondering what was going on here, and what was going on with the portal.

The Dark Elves are now mobilizing their entire army, both to attack Asgard in alliance with Frost Giants and to actively seek out the Aether that was hidden away thousands of years ago.

The Dark Elves leader Malekith has received information about the Aether, which may be one of the reasons that the Dark Elves supports Frost Giants against Asgard.

Only when Asgard is tired of spending all their energy on the battlefield would they be able to secretly find the Aether.

As long as Malekith gets the Aether, he can use it to swallow the Nine Realms and plunge the World Tree into permanent darkness, thereby expanding the territory of the Dark Elves.

After turning the Nine Realms into a dark place, the Dark Elves' next step would be to dominate the entire Universe.

With the Aether or the Reality Stone in hand, the Dark Elves would be able to continuously devour other civilizations and worlds, and gradually plunge the universe into darkness. At that time, the entire Universe would belong to the Dark Elves.

Of course, this was purely Malekith's idea, and so far, he has not found the Aether. However, he is afraid to send out a large number of his men in an open search, since the Aether is most likely within Asgard's territory.

Just because War is raging on the front line doesn't mean that the Dark Elves can operate in Asgard's realm, Loki is not someone who would allow them to do that.

However, according to Malekith's vision of the future, he was close to finding the Aether.

Standing in the midst of the rubble and thinking for a moment, the new Dark Elf warrior did not venture into the Portal in front of him, nor did he send out his cannon fodder to test anything.

Instead, he took a piece of metal from his body and clicked it a few times. Then, several times, a pale blue light blinked on the metal. It seems that this is something that passes messages between Dark Elves.

Compared with the three dead Dark Elves, this new Dark Elf was obviously more cautious after seeing the scene in front of him.

Perhaps, he originally belonged to the kind of Dark Elf with a higher IQ. After sending out the message, the Dark Elf waited here until the metal block in his hand once again blinked with a light blue light.

"...%¥&...&!" After seeing the symbols composed of the pale blue light, the Dark Elf seemed to mutter something feeling a little surprised.

Afterward, the Dark Elf put away the metal block used for communication and he carefully looked at the Portal in front of him again, and then walked around it a few times.

While walking around the Portal, the Dark Elf also arranged something near the Portal. He was ordered to monitor this Portal, but he was also warned to do nothing without authorization.

At this delicate moment, the presence of a Portal on the planet inhabited by the Dark Elves race is not a good thing. In the last few minutes, what has happened here has reached the ears of Dark Elf's leader, Malekith.

Malekith, who was lurking in the Asgard realm in search of Aether was unable to return to handle the situation himself, so he simply told his men to be careful and not to allow any surprises to happen in Dark Elf's stronghold.

Malekith's order was to have his men guard this Portal closely. From the corpses of these cannon fodder outside this Portal and the situation of the three missing Dark Elves, there must be some strong opponents at the other end of this Portal.

So, after Malekith had led the Dark Elf's most elite warriors to lurk in Asgard, he didn't let the Dark Elves at the base camp make any radical moves.

Thus, while Rogers on Earth was trying to send his elite team through the Portal to the other side, the Dark Elves on this side took the opposite defensive stance.

Of course, if Malekith wasn't actively looking for the Aether right now, he'd be sending out the Dark Elf army to invade Earth. Let's just say the Portal opened at a very auspicious time for Earth.

Huhu~

After arranging something near the Portal, that Dark Elf stood guard in the valley, facing the Portal and standing quietly. He is Dark Elf's best warrior and does exactly what his leader says.

In addition to him, there will be other Dark Elves coming to support him. As for the arrival of Dark Elf's support, whether Rogers has assembled a good team to enter this side is unknown at this time.

...

In the earth, at the SHIELD's Siberia base, Rogers came up with the exciting idea after hearing Dr. Banner's warning.

At this time, he was pushing forward with his bold plan. Rogers's bold plan, however, was frowned upon not only by the X-Men but also by others within the SHIELD.

In such a situation, Rogers had to contact Professor Charles and Tony separately. As for Mirage Knight, Rogers could not reach him at this time.

After hearing Rogers' bold plan, Tony, who was flying into Siberia, almost fell from the sky. Professor Charles, who was in his school was also shocked by Rogers' plan.

"Rogers, I always thought I was already considered a bold guy. I didn't expect that you, an old man, would be a gambler compared to me!" The translucent screen in front of his eyes showed Rogers with a serious expression on his face and Tony, who was flying high in the sky, said with a helpless expression on his face.

"Captain Rogers, do you really think this plan is good? Maybe it will cause unnecessary casualties?" Charles' voice came from the other direction.

Chapter 723 Firm

Tony Stark and Professor Charles both felt that Rogers's plan to assemble an Elite Team to enter the Portal was too risky. Earth still has a lot of unresolved internal problems right now and doesn't have the extra energy to explore the extraterrestrial universe.

"But do you think there is no danger in such a defense?" Rogers, of course, knew that others would not easily agree to his plan, so he wanted to be clear about what would really happen.

"You were not here, and you did not see with your own eyes how powerful and cruel those monsters and those three aliens, Dark Elf as Mirage Knight called them were. Even if we don't enter the Portal, it won't be long before they start flooding in. When the time comes... This place would become a war zone!" Without letting Tony or Charles answer, Rogers continued speaking out loud.

“Rogers, are you saying that the existence of this Portal will inevitably bring about a War with Earth, and with extraterrestrial civilization at that?” Tony, who was still flying at high speed asked as he stared at Rogers.

“That’s right! This war is inevitable, and I’m sure you know why.” Rogers replied with a solemn expression on his face after hearing Tony’s words.

“Well, we know that it is Survival of the Best out there in the Universe.” This time it was Professor Charles who answered, and at this point, his tone was no longer so surprised and he seemed to have accepted Rogers’ unexpected idea.

“So, are you going to build the battlefield on the other side of the Portal?” Tony asked.

“That’s right. We can’t let these monsters enter the Earth. There could be a lot of surprises that we can’t anticipate.” Rogers replied earnestly while nodding.

“Are you ready to die and let many others die for this?” Tony once again asked as he saw the determined expression on Roger’s face.

Although it was a question, there was no doubt in his tone that Tony knew exactly what Rogers was planning. He was a lunatic, a total lunatic through and through.

In order to protect this seemingly strong, but actually extremely fragile civilization, Rogers has to use his broad shoulders to take on any situation that may threaten the safety of the earth. Even if there is an alien invasion, Rogers will be in the front with a shield and will not let the aliens set foot on earth.

“Yes!” After a few affirmative answers, Rogers answered very firmly.

After Rogers answered, Tony and Charles were silent for a while. A few seconds later, Tony spoke first, “This matter needs to be taken seriously, I know you are already determined to do this in your heart. However, we still have to discuss this further. Regarding those Dark Elves, I will ask Mirage Knight to explain everything he knows about them.”

“Mr. Stark is right. Let’s talk about it in person. I’ll ask Blink to get me there quickly. I think I could help if we really had to send a team over there.” Charles nodded as Stark spoke.

“Okay, then I’ll wait for you to come. Stark, do you want to wait for Mirage Knight to go back first?” Rogers continued to speak knowing what Stark and Charles meant.

“Me? No, I’m already on my way to Siberia.” Tony said with a smile when he heard Rogers’ question.

“En? What about Mirage Knight? Do you trust him to go back by himself?”

“He’s okay, don’t worry about him.” Tony simply replied without intending to tell Rogers and Professor Charles that there is already a Secret Base in Siberia.

“Well, I’ll be expecting you, then.”

In this way, with Rogers pushing hard on this issue, the leaders of the alliance they had formed would get together again. This time, they might be talking about something that affects the entire planet.

Swipe!

“JARVIS, it seems that I don’t have the time to meet Jackson. So let me delay it, it will be the best that I can finish talking with Rogers first.” Dozens of Iron Men were flying by at a high speed while Tony, who was also in his Iron Man Armor at the front, said to JARVIS with a frown.

Compared with Lin Rui’s solo research on the Magic Cube, Rogers’s plan to assemble an Elite Team to enter the Portal is obviously more important. There was no telling as to what would happen if their team directly entered the territory of the Dark Elves, and if they decided to do this then the Iron Man Legion will be first to take the lead.

“Yes, Sir,” JARVIS replied calmly upon hearing Tony’s instructions.

...

And just when Lin Rui was hurrying to heal his injuries and Tony and Professor Charles rushed to Siberia because of Rogers’ sudden radical thoughts, Thor was still helping some dogs at the Pet Rescue Station near the suburbs of New York.

“Are you stupid, don’t you know that you can no longer do that? No matter how hard you try, other dogs will look down on you!” Thor muttered while showering the Shar-Pei in his hand.

“Whine~” When Thor was muttering, the Shar-Pei dog named Clumsy whined once again and one would have to wonder if he was feeling sad because he understood what Thor said to him.

“Woof~Woof!” And next to Clumsy, there are two other dogs. They don’t seem to like the idea of bathing and kept barking.

“What’s your name? Vence and Doc! You just rolled around in the grass. If you don’t take a bath, you’ll get parasites!” Thor really seemed to regard the dogs as his friends as he spoke to them.

“Woof~” As if Thor’s words had some effect, Vence and Doc, who were a little annoyed at first, soon joined Clumsy in bathing with Thor.

Shout ~

“What would Loki and My father think if they knew I was using some of my recovered powers to wash pets?” Picking up a basin full of water and flushing the foam off Clumsy, Thor talks to himself with a helpless smile on his face.

Although Thor has worked at the shelter for a long time and he is quite familiar with the dogs. But even Thor used something special to make the dogs, who don’t like baths, obey: His own divine power.

As the eldest son of Asgard, Thor, who had recovered part of his supernatural power, did not have powerful Enchantments like Odin, but it was very simple for him to make several dogs obey him.

“I wonder what happened to that Jackson? I didn’t hear from him after our talk about Asgard and I’m also curious about the Magic Cube.” Thor thought as he bathed Vence and Doc.

Shout ~

Two minutes later, Thor finally showered the three obedient dogs. And just when Thor was about to blow their hair, the phone he had placed on the shelf suddenly rang.

Ding-Ding Ring~

Chapter 724 Missing

Ring Ring~

The phone that was purposely placed by Thor on the shelf where it could not be drenched with water rang with a bang, causing Thor, who was about to blow the dogs' hair, to pause his hand from reaching for the hairdryer.

However, just as Thor turned around and wiped his hands to get the phone, the ringing suddenly stopped.

"Eh?" The ringing had stopped when his hand was halfway out, and Thor was a little puzzled as he took the phone into his hand.

Thor doesn't know many people on Earth. Apart from his ex-girlfriend Jane Foster, her mentor Erik and the intern, the only people Thor can contact on his cell phone are Lin Rui and Ben from the pet shelter.

No, the last time he went to Lin Rui's house, Thor added the phone number of Lin Rui's father, Lin Hai. But whoever one of these people calls him wouldn't hang up so quickly.

And just after Thor got the phone and saw the caller ID on it, his originally somewhat puzzled expression became even more puzzled. Because this call is from his ex-girlfriend Jane Foster.

Since the breakup with Jane, Thor has not been in contact with her for a long time. Although Thor was reluctant to give up his feelings, he also knew that his current situation was really not suitable for him to go on with Jane.

Thor still loves Jane in his heart, but he will only pursue Jane again after he has fully recovered his divine power and has settled Asgard's matter and Loki, Thor believes that without Loki's interference, there will be a good outcome between him and Jane.

"Why would Jane call me?" Thor muttered suspiciously while looking at the name displayed on the phone.

Then, Thor directly pressed the number and called back. No matter why the already broken up Jane suddenly called him, Thor would not pretend not to see it, he was not some petty man.

Toot toot~

Regardless, when Thor called back, there was just a busy tone. Then a very gentle voice reminded Thor that the number he had dialed was not in service. If Jane hadn't turned off her phone after making this call, then something had happened to her.

"What the hell is going on?" Listening to the busy tone on the phone, Thor gradually felt some unpleasant feelings in his heart.

If Thor was a veteran of love affairs, he might think that his ex-girlfriend, suddenly remembering the happy old days with him, made a phone call by accident and hung up before the call could be connected.

To avoid the embarrassment of being called back, she turned her cell phone off. How could Thor have thought so much, Thor, a guy with a low emotional quotient to the limit, was wondering why Jane had called him and why he couldn't get through when he tried to call him back.

"Jane, nothing has happened to you, right?" The unpleasant feeling in his heart gradually became clear, and the atmosphere on Thor's body became different.

"Woof Whine~" The dogs that were originally surrounding Thor whimpered and dodged away as the change in aura emanating from his body became apparent.

Shout!

Hearing the dogs whimpering in fear, Thor's eyes flashed and the aura on his body fiercely closed up. Then, Thor made a few quick clicks on his phone. Since Jane's phone couldn't be reached, and he had a bad feeling in his heart, he might as well contact the others.

"Beep toot~ Hi! Thor, why did you call me?!" Not long after Thor dialed a new number, a girl's chipper voice came from the other end of the phone.

The person who answered the phone was Darcy, the same intern who had been following Jane Foster around. Of course, Darcy had followed Jane Foster to do that research because she was short of credits and grades.

But because of the amazing things she saw, Darcy has been working with Jane as her assistant. Yes, after this internship, Darcy has been upgraded from an intern to an assistant. Moreover, Darcy has her own intern.

"Darcy, do you know where Jane is? She just called me, but I couldn't get through when I called." Thor asked directly without saying any nonsense.

"Miss Foster called you? She's following up on a project right now, and we're both in London, but not together right now." Hearing Thor's words, Darcy was first a little puzzled, then proceeded to answer.

Darcy has also developed an interest in the study of celestial bodies and the movement of particular particles since she followed Jane and Dr. Erik a few months ago to see the Bifrost and Asgard visitors.

Recently, Jane and Dr. Erik have discovered a particular Particle wave that is different from, but very similar to the last time Thor arrived on Earth using the Bifrost. So they set off again to follow the Particle wave to London.

After arriving in London, the particular Particle wave still came and went at different times, but Jane found a pattern. This time, Darcy has taken her Intern around the base camp in London to familiarize herself with the equipment and give him some basic instructions in case he gets spooked by any particular situation.

After all, there's a lot of things she can't tell anyone right now. As for Jane Foster, she's out there all by herself looking for patterns in Particle waves, and Darcy doesn't really know where she is.

"Are you in London now?" Thor frowned at Darcy's reply. If Jane was in London then Thor wouldn't be able to get to her fast enough, even if something happened to her.

“Well, if you’re worried about Jane then I’ll look for her for you. Because the Particle wave was much stronger than last time, we all took our satellite phones with us, and the GPS was on 24 hours a day, so I could check it.” Seeming to hear the worry in Thor’s voice, Darcy goes on. Seemingly hearing the worry in Thor’s tone, Darcy went on to say.

“Well! Thank you!” Thor thanked her after Darcy told him that she could check Jane’s location with GPS.

“That’s all right. I’m also curious to know what happened to Jane. I just called now and she didn’t answer.”

Then, Darcy asked her Intern who had been standing next to her to find the location of Jane Foster’s satellite phone on his computer. However, after the Intern took a look, the expression on his face became a bit weird.

“What’s wrong? Can’t you find it?” Darcy asked after she saw the expression on the Intern’s face.

“It’s not... It’s just that Miss Foster’s satellite phone signal keeps jumping around, on and off, like ..... just like ..... ” Darcy moved her head over and the Intern sensibly stepped aside, and said at the same time.

“Just like those Particle fluctuations that we detected!” While the Intern hesitated, Darcy finished the latter words with a grim expression on her face.

...

Chapter 725 Guess

The Intern swallowed as Darcy finishes the rest of his sentence and said. “That’s right! That’s it! Has Miss Foster discovered the rule by which particles appear?!”

Compared to Thor who was worried about Jane Foster’s situation, this Intern was obviously more concerned about the part of their experimental research. However, Darcy could tell which was the most important, and she had more than just a few concerns in mind.

“If the signal from Jane’s satellite phone appears and disappears following that particular particle fluctuation, does it mean that our previous research was correct! Then, Jane should...” Watching the jump of the signal displayed on the computer, Darcy’s eyes gradually lit up as she muttered.

“What happened? Did you find her?” Thor, not hearing exactly what was being said on the phone, shouted loudly. He didn’t have time to wait for them to study particles.

“Thor! We found that the signal from Jane’s satellite phone has been jumping, which completely coincides with the appearance of a particle-wave we have been tracking and researching. The particle researched by Jane is likely something similar to a Different Space, so I suspect that Jane may be trapped in some Dimension, and she may no longer be on the earth!” Hearing Thor’s yells, Darcy hurriedly answers into her mobile phone.

Just like the plot in the original Thor II, as Jane Foster who has been in contact with Aliens and the Nine Realms, it is a very exciting thing for her to uncover the secrets of the Earth and even the Nine Realms.

That's why she worked harder after breaking up with Thor, devoting her entire experience to research. And in the recent past, she has found a Particle fluctuation similar to the last time Bifrost appeared, but this Particle fluctuation is more disorderly and chaotic.

After careful research, both Jane and Dr. Erik believe that if the concentration of this kind of Particle is sufficient then it will directly open up a Dimensional Space. Therefore, in order to confirm this conjecture, Jane traveled a long distance from Washington, United States to London, England, looking for changes in those particles in this country where it is rainy all year round.

"Particle that can form a subspace! Jane is likely to be trapped inside?!" Hearing Darcy's answer, a light blue light erupted from Thor's eyes on the other side of the phone.

If what Darcy said was true, then Jane's current situation was very critical. If she is trapped in that subspace, she may never come back. Therefore, Thor must go to rescue Jane himself.

"Send me your location! I'll come over and find you guys! Also, pay close attention to Jane's information and keep me informed!" Finally, Thor said in a serious tone.

"Okay, we will try our best to find Jane. I will send you our address soon, I hope you can help us, Thor." Darcy quickly replied after hearing Thor's words.

If Jane is really trapped in some kind of SubSpace or even in another world, then Darcy really has no methods to save her and Darcy has no other choice but to rely on Thor, the Resident Alien.

"Eh, I'll hang up now, keep in touch!" Then, Thor hung up the phone after saying the last sentence.

Toot toot~

"Hey! Looks like Thor is still in love with Jane! I don't know why they broke up, but Jane is obviously in love with Thor too!" Listening to the busy tone coming from the phone, Darcy muttered in a helpless tone.

"Hey?! Why are you looking at me like that, junior?" Just as Darcy finished muttering and turned her head to look at her side, she found that her junior was staring at herself with wide eyes.

"Study... Darcy! You said this was just a simple Particle detection study for extra credit! Why is it that now Miss Foster is missing, and you say that she's trapped in some kind of Dimensional Space?!" What Darcy has just said to Thor is a direct blow to this Junior's mind and he can't accept it for a while.

"Student! You learn to live with the surprises that life throws at you. Besides, isn't that normal? Let me tell you something, this is nothing compared to what I experienced in the beginning." Darcy smiles and pats him on the shoulder as she spoke.

"Unexpected situation?! Can this even be something that Life could throw at you? Is this really an accident? Shouldn't it be reported directly to the Police or our country when such an unexpected situation is encountered? Our country should have a Special Department to take charge of this! Also, what kind of experience do you have! Is it even more amazing than been trapped in a Dimensional Space?" Seeing the indifferent expression on Darcy's face, the Intern continued to ask with a look of astonishment.

“Of course it’s an unexpected situation! And although there is a special organization in charge of this kind of accidental situation, We don’t have that good of a relationship.” In response to her Intern’s questioning, Darcy replied in a serious tone.

Until now, Coulson’s number is still saved in Darcy’s cell phone. Of course, their last contact with SHIELD was not so friendly so Darcy is not thinking about contacting SHIELD.

“Really...” Hearing Darcy’s answer, the Intern felt that his world views are getting split again.

“As for what kind of experience I had, it was pretty cool! If you’re lucky this time, you might see something magical and unbelievable. Of course, there are dangers in going through these things.” Darcy continues as she watched her Intern gawk.

Compared to Jackson Lin’s handsome and unrelenting attitude towards all kinds of things, even though this Intern of hers is still behind Jackson in everything, he was still pretty good. After all, not all can be geniuses like Jackson Lin. At this time, Darcy was still thinking about these things!

“Well, I’d rather not have to go through this if I had to risk my life. Darcy, can I still have those credits if I say I quit now?” After hearing Darcy’s words, the Intern says to himself. Obviously, his own life is more important than experiencing something special.

“Of course not! You are a member of our team, no matter what, we have to face together! Besides, the danger I mentioned was just to scare you, it won’t be dangerous at all!” Darcy assured him in order to stabilize her Intern’s mind.

“Okay but if I see any danger then I will run away!”

“Deal!”

‘I’m afraid you won’t be able to run away at that time!’ Darcy mused to herself.

Then, Darcy and her Intern kept in touch with Thor while keeping track of Jane’s location. Before Thor came to London, it would be best if they could find the missing Jane Foster.

Chapter 726 Requesting

Whew!

After hanging up Darcy’s call, Thor directly rushed out of the shower, leaving the three dogs who hadn’t dried their hair inside.

“Ben! Ben! I have to take time off for something important! Ben! Ben!” Thor yelled as he ran outside.

“If you want to ask for leave, just ask for leave! Why are you in such a rush? Did your home burn down or something?!” Ben was resting in the front lobby when Thor rushed out and he asked helplessly when Thor yelled.

Ben hardly knows anything about Thor’s private life, except that he is handsome enough to be a model and seems to have weak life skills and few friends. So far, Ben has only known a young man named Jackson Lin to be his friend so he was puzzled by Thor’s hurry.

Call!

“I have an urgent matter to attend in London. Ben, do you know any way to get there as fast as possible?” Thor quickly asked as he rushed towards Ben.

“London? There are many flights going there from New York every day! What is your emergency?” Seeing Thor who doesn’t seem to be lying to him, Ben asked while answering.

“Flight? Do you mean by plane? That’s right! I’ll be in London in no time by plane!” Not answering Ben’s question, Thor heard that he can go to London by plane with an expression like he had found a new world.

“Well, did you buy a plane ticket?” Ben continued ignoring Thor’s attitude.

“Uh...no.” Upon hearing this question from Ben, Thor answered while coming out of his daze.

Although he has lived on Earth for several months, Thor has only just learned the most basic life skills. And he didn’t need to fly at all, so he didn’t know how to buy a ticket.

“Then give me your Passport, and I’ll help you cover the airfare.” Ben went on to say as he seems to have guessed that Thor would not be able to buy a plane ticket by himself.

“Passport? What is that? I don’t have a passport.” Hearing this, Thor continued to reply with a blank expression on his face.

“No Passport?! Are there any Americans who don’t have Passports?” Ben almost fell off the stool when he heard Thor’s answer.

“I really don’t have a passport, and I’m not an American,” Thor replied indifferently as if he didn’t understand why Ben was so surprised.

“Oh my goodness! You are not an American!? And you don’t have a Passport yet!? Thor, you couldn’t have been smuggled here! Right? “As if he had guessed something, Ben asked solemnly while staring at Thor.

“Smuggling? No! I wasn’t smuggled here, I was brought here by dad! That’s not the point! The point is how can I get on a plane to London! ‘ Not expecting to explain much to Ben, Thor quickly interrupts his questions and goes on.

“I can’t get you a plane to London without a passport!” “Ben shakes his hand and says when he hears Thor’s words.

“Why waste my time if you can’t?” Knowing that he could not count on Ben, Thor helplessly took out his mobile phone and dialed a number.

Of course, the only person Thor can contact and help him at this time is Lin Rui. In fact, as early as Thor and Darcy finished the phone call, he should have contacted Lin Rui, although Lin Rui may not be able to receive his call at this time.

Toot toot~

“Hello, the number you dialed is temporarily unavailable .....” Listening to the formulaic voice coming out of the phone, the expression on Thor’s face turned ugly.

Unable to contact Lin Rui at the most critical moment, Thor really didn't know what else he could do.

"Damn! Why is this happening! Damn it!" Holding the phone tightly in his hand, Thor felt pain by the fact that he hadn't really recovered much of his powers.

If Thor had received his powers then he would have been able to directly fly to London by himself. Although it is possible for Thor to fly over by himself and get lost halfway, it is still better than being helpless here.

Ring~

However, just when Thor was about to squeeze the phone in his hand, it rang again.

Whew!

"Hey! Jackson!" Quickly holding the phone to his ear, Thor yells without looking at it.

"It's me, Thor." However, he was not disappointed as Lin Rui's familiar voice came from the phone.

...

Just when Thor in New York was worried for Jane and called Darcy, Lin Rui, who was located in the secret base of Siberia, had also woke up from deep meditation.

"JARVIS, are you there?" Lin Rui, who woke up, scanned the empty medical room and then shouted.

Even for a person like Lin Rui, who has been through a lot of things and is already very strong in his heart, waking up in a not so familiar room after an injury, and not knowing anyone familiar at a glance, he would have an inexplicable feeling of loneliness in his heart.

"I'm here, Mr. Jackson." After Lin Rui spoke, JARVIS's voice immediately came out.

Kaka~

After JARVIS's voice came out, all the medical equipment connected to Lin Rui's body was removed. An hour has passed, and Lin Rui's body is almost recovered. Although he can't show much of his strength yet, he at least can move normally.

"What can I do for you, Mr. Jackson?" After removing those devices, JARVIS's voice again came out.

"JARVIS, can you make a conscious projection? I'm not used to hearing voices and not seeing people. Besides, we know each other well enough and I want to see what you look like." However, Lin Rui didn't say anything right away. Instead, she made a special request.

"Consciousness Projection? I don't have that kind of thing, and I have always existed in Stark's system, and the network signal is what I am." Hearing Lin Rui's words, JARVIS was stunned before he calmly replied.

"Is it just that there is no consciousness projection? That means you already have your own consciousness?" Not expecting a positive answer from JARVIS, Lin Rui asked with a calm look in his.

If it was just a simple Artificial Intelligence then even if Lin Rui asked it to make a projection, there would be no point because the projection would be just a dull robot stitched out of data. Unlike JARVIS, who is a self-upgrading intelligence with its own consciousness, if he had a consciousness projection, it would be a complete incarnation of JARVIS.

“...Mr. Jackson, there was a call for you just now.” Without answering Lin Rui’s question, JARVIS turned off the topic and reminded Lin Rui that he had a call. Moreover, JARVIS clearly has some emotion in this sentence that is not applied to pure intelligence.

“I can’t believe you can even change the subject, it seems like you’re really evolving all the time! Forget it, forget about the lack of consciousness projection, who called me?” Seeing JARVIS digress, Lin Rui laughed, and he finally had to ask with a helpless expression on his face.

Chapter 727 Familiar

Huh~

While asking, Lin Rui has stepped out of bed. After lying in bed for such a long time, Lin Rui wants to come down for some exercise.

“It’s Mr. Thor.” By the time Lin Rui got out of bed, JARVIS had already named the caller.

However, after JARVIS said it was Thor who made the phone call, Lin Rui suddenly stopped and silently looked up at the surveillance camera above the medical room, as if he wanted to see JARVIS in the background.

“Thor?! I wonder what he wants with me again? Better call him back.” With some surprise in mind, Lin Rui has picked up her mobile phone on the desk. Besides, Lin Rui already has something that he wanted to ask Thor so it’s better if Thor made a phone call first.

Before going into recovering pod, Lin Rui put his cell phone down, in order to facilitate JARVIS to help look for him. After all, Lin Rui has real life to take care of in addition to being a Mirage Knight. In this way, two minutes after Thor failed to get through, Lin Rui called him back.

“Beep~Jackson!” Not long after Lin Rui dialed Thor, the call was answered after the beep tone rang twice as he quickly heard Thor’s worried voice from the other end of the phone.

“Well, it’s me, Thor, what happened? Why do you sound so anxious.” Lin Rui asked curiously when he heard Thor’s voice.

Although Thor was Asgard’s Prince and hadn’t fully adapted to the life of a full earthling even after living on earth for so long. However, Thor’s current circle of life was very small, and he would not encounter anything that could make him sound so anxious.

Lin Rui already knows that Thor is starting to recover his power, and now he is not just a big guy who only has good-looking muscles and no strength. According to Lin Rui’s estimation, Thor would be strong enough to handle any problem as long as he recovers one-tenth of his powers.

“Jane is missing!” Thor said in a worried tone without speaking any nonsense.

Hearing Thor’s answer, Lin Rui was stunned, and then a bolt of lightning seemed to strike his heart.

“Jane is missing? Is it Miss Jane Foster?!” Then, Lin Rui asked again feeling very surprised.

They have just discovered a Portal that leads to the planet of the Dark Elves and Jane Foster had disappeared now, which had to make Lin Rui think about something.

Is it possible that they have already entered another Thor Movie plot, if it is real then Earth would again be in danger of annihilation. Although the Earth remained relatively safe and sound in the original plot this time without any outside intervention.

That was not the case now. In the original plot, Thor was at his full power and he can directly fight Malekith, the leader of Dark Elves. But now, Thor is still in exile and he is slowly awakening his powers. Without Thor's full strength, Lin Rui didn't know what would happen this time.

Yes, she's missing! Before Jane disappeared, she was in London working on research that was aimed at a Particle that could create a particular dimensional space. And now Jane's satellite phone signal is bouncing around with the Particle wave, and I suspect that Jane is now trapped in some Dimension!" After Lin Rui's surprising questions, Thor quickly explained the situation of Jane's disappearance.

"So it really is..." Hearing Thor's explanation, Lin Rui was even more sure that Jane's disappearance was because of the beginning of Thor's second movie plot.

At this time, Jane should have been caught up in the momentary staggering caused by the appearance of the Aether, and perhaps the Aether has now possessed Jane's body. With the characteristics of the Aether, if it possesses Jane's body, then it will continue to absorb Jane's life force and everything that exists in this real world.

In the original plot, even the Queen of Asgard and Thor's mother couldn't get remove the Aether from Jane's body. In the end, it was Malekith, the leader of Dark Elves, who extracted the Aether.

This is also a very special property of Aether as the Reality Stone, which can be tangible or intangible. Its function is to infinitely change reality and illusion according to the user's will, and it can be said to be a powerful and invincible treasure.

"I'm going to find Jane in London as fast as I can. I know you can help me." Thor's worried shout came from the phone as he didn't want to continue his talk with Lin Rui.

"Well, I'll help you get to London as soon as possible, and maybe, if necessary, I'm going to make the trip too!" Knowing that Thor was now very worried, Lin Rui replied quickly over the phone.

"You're coming too? Good, if you come, I will be more sure to find Jane!" At first, Thor didn't understand why Lin Rui was also going to London, but soon he didn't need to understand. Anyway, Lin Rui will be a big help as Thor knows what Lin Rui's hidden identity is.

"Well, you're in your workplace, aren't you? I'll arrange for someone to pick you up right away. You can rest assured that Miss Foster will be fine." Lin Rui, who has already made up his mind, continues to speak.

"Okay, I'll wait."

Then Lin Rui hung up the phone. Now that something unexpected has happened on Thor's side, his plans need to be changed. Perhaps he could do something with the Thor II storyline combined with the Portal that leads to the Dark Elf Planet.

“JARVIS, did you hear everything just now?” Lin Rui asked directly after hanging up the phone.

“Yes, sir. Do you need help?” After Lin Rui asked, JARVIS quickly answered.

“Can I directly mobilize Mr. Stark’s private jet to fly to London?” Without further ado, Lin Rui then asked.

“I believe that as long as you raise this request to Mr. Stark, he will agree to it.” Upon hearing Lin Rui’s question, JARVIS answered truthfully.

“Then contact Mr. Stark now. I have other matters to discuss than the use of his private jet.” With this answer, Lin Rui is quick to say.

“Okay, connecting with Mr. Stark.”

Brush~

Two seconds after JARVIS started contacting Tony, a curtain of light suddenly fell from above the medical room. The next thing you know, Tony’s figure is on that screen of light.

However, Lin Rui puts on his Mirage Knight mask when he sees the picture on the light screen. Because that light screen shows not only Tony, there are other figures behind Tony.

“Hi! Mirage Knight, how is your recovery?”

CHAPTER 728 SUPPORT

As the few people on the light curtain were clearly displayed, Tony standing in the middle smiled and greeted Lin Rui.

Lin Rui: “...”

‘I just want to talk to you about borrowing your private jet. Why are you talking to me with such a crowd without even informing me? I almost got exposed.’ Lin Rui silently thought in his heart as he saw the people standing beside and behind Tony.

At this time, a total of seven or eight people were squeezed into the lens of the entire light curtain.

Standing next to Tony was Captain America, and on the other side was Professor Charles in a wheelchair. Behind them are Peter, Black Widow, Hank the beast, and others.

Regarding Mirage Knight’s call, Tony, who was discussing matters at the base, let everyone watch their conversation.

Anyway, what they want to discuss requires Mirage Knight’s opinion as well. For Tony, he believes that Lin Rui’s position must be with him. In their alliance, only Iron Man and Mirage Knight have the strongest relationship.

“Hello, Mr. Stark, as well as Captain Rogers and Professor Charles.” Seeing Tony and others staring at him, Lin Rui had no choice but to calm down and say hello.

“Are you discussing something?” Seeing that Tony and the others had got together and Tony was talking to him in front of them, Lin Rui could easily guess that they should be discussing something important, so he asked.

“Yes, we are discussing a major issue. Mirage Knight, you just called at the right time, otherwise, I would have asked JARVIS to call you.” Hearing Lin Rui’s words, Tony nodded and replied.

“Major Issue? Did something happen to the Portal?” Lin Rui asked quickly when he heard that Tony and the others were discussing a major issue.

“No, nothing is wrong with the Portal at this time. It’s us, mainly Rogers, who has a very bold plan.” Tony continued while shaking his head.

“Mirage Knight, I plan to arrange for an Elite team to enter the Portal. We will establish our own territory over there so that even if a war breaks out, it will not spread to the earth.” Rogers spoke without letting Tony say anything.

“Based on your knowledge of the Dark Elves, what do you think of this plan?” Rogers asked seriously while looking at Lin Rui in the light curtain.

Lin Rui was stunned when he heard Rogers’ words. Sending Elite teams to the planet where the Dark Elves live to occupy some territory. This is the kind of plan that even Lin Rui would not even think of, after all, Dark Elves are stronger than the people on earth.

But now, Lin Rui suddenly felt that this was not impossible. Because the people in their alliance are powerful. Although they are not comparable to Thor in his heyday, they have more than enough power to deal with Dark Elves warriors.

Another reason is that Lin Rui had also learned that Thor’s ex-girlfriend, Jane Foster has disappeared.

If the situation develops according to the plot then Malekith, the leader of the Dark Elves, should have been secretly looking for the Aether in Asgard with his Elite troops.

If the Aether has been taken away by Jane Foster, then Malekith will not be able to return, and will only continue to trouble Asgard. Therefore, at this time, the Dark Elves Planet should not have too many powerful characters.

“I have to say. Your plan really surprised me, Captain Rogers. However, it is also a very reasonable plan. If the Dark Elves are allowed to react and attack the earth first then it may cause unpredictable losses.” After thinking about it, Lin Rui nodded and expressed his opinion.

“Mirage Knight, why are you...” Tony, who originally thought that Lin Rui would not approve of Rogers’ plan, said in surprise when he heard Lin Rui’s words.

“However, before we proceed with this plan, we need to figure out what the situation is on the other side of the Portal. ‘Know yourself and know your enemy and you will win every battle’, this is an ancient saying in the Art of War. This means that you must understand not only yourself but also your enemy in order to win a war. Therefore, there is no need to hurry now.” Lin Rui looked at the people on the light screen and went on to say before Tony could finish his words.

“Know your enemy? Mirage Knight, you said before that you have a way to inquire about the information on Dark Elves, how is that going?” After hearing Lin Rui’s words, Rogers again asked.

After listening to Rogers, Lin Rui didn't say anything. Tony standing next to Rogers frowned and said, "Rogers, Mirage Knight has just rested. How will he have the time to inquire about Dark Elves from anyone?"

Tony is relatively protective of Lin Rui. Of course, there are so many people here and only Tony knows that Lin Rui contacted him as soon as he woke up, so it was him who spoke to Rogers.

"Uh..." Rogers was embarrassed by Tony's words, he was indeed a little anxious.

"Captain Rogers, I really just woke up. And I took the initiative to contact you to tell you something this time, that is, I have to leave the United States for a while." Without letting Rogers be embarrassed for too long, Lin Rui went on to say.

Originally Lin Rui only intended to contact Tony alone and talk to him about the situation, but now that there are so many people on the light curtain, Lin Rui can only change his words and say that he wanted to contact everyone. When Lin Rui finishes the matter immediately, he still has to talk to Tony alone.

"Leaving America? Where are you going?" This time, it was Tony who spoke first again, leaving Rogers, who was on the sidelines, a little speechless.

"Yeah, Mirage Knight, you are still recovering, where are you going at this time?!" After Tony spoke, Spiderman who was standing behind him also squeezed to the front and asked suspiciously.

"I'll tell you about this later. Now I'm just telling you that I won't go back to the Siberia base for the time being.

So, if you really want to assemble a team to go through the Portal then wait for my message. Also, this team must be composed of individuals with strong individual strength."

Dī Dī Drops~

While Lin Rui was talking, he also asked JARVIS to send Tony a private message.

"En?" The expression on Tony's face, who was still wondering where Lin Rui was going, suddenly changed and then recovered to normal. However, for just a short while, Tony had quietly asked JARVIS to send a message back.

"So, Mirage Knight, you support my plan?" Rogers didn't mind waiting to hear from Mirage Knight, but he was concerned that Mirage Knight, the leader of the League of Defenders, would be as unsupportive of him as Tony And Charles.

"Yeah! I support you!"

CHAPTER 729 .....

Two minutes later, Lin Rui's curtain of light turned blue again and disappeared. This time, the connection with Rogers and others was over, and Lin Rui couldn't help but take a deep breath after the call was disconnected.

Although this is not the first time that Lin Rui had talked business with Captain America, Iron Man, and Professor X but he still feels some pressure and tension.

“I didn’t expect Steve-Rogers to be the most radical one here, I thought it would be Tony.” Lin Rui is still a bit surprised by Rogers’ plan.

Based on Lin Rui’s understanding of the Marvel World Superhero, Captain America should be relatively conservative, while Iron Man is somewhat of an adventurer. But in this matter, it turned out that Rogers was the one who proposed the plan to take the initiative to attack.

“It seems that I need to quickly figure out the situation on Dark Elf’s side. As long as I can be sure that Jane Foster really disappeared because of the Aether then it is completely possible to assemble a team and enter the Portal.” Lin Rui already knows the plan here, and he also supports it, so he must figure out the necessary information as soon as possible.

“JARVIS, has Tony’s plane departed yet?” After thinking about this for some time, Lin Rui asked JARVIS.

“It has already departed and will arrive at its destination in a minute, so you can ask your friend to wait for a while on the road in the backyard.” After Lin Rui asked the question, JARVIS quickly replied.

While Lin Rui was talking to Tony and others, he had secretly asked JARVIS to tell Tony of his request, and Tony of course directly agreed. Although Lin Rui has not explained what he wants his private jet for but Tony knew Lin Rui would tell him sooner or later.

“Okay, I’ll contact Thor now. Also, JARVIS, I should leave too.” Lin Rui said as he picked up the phone and walked out.

Having arranged for Stark’s private jet to pick up Thor, Lin Rui was also going to London to see the situation in person.

Although the Portal here in Siberia is also very important, but if Jane Foster has really found the Aether then Lin Rui definitely has to go over there.

Not to mention what Lin Rui can do when Dark Elf intends to plunge the Nine Realms into Darkness. Lin Rui who has already obtained an Infinity Stone is also looking forward to seeing another Infinity Stone with terrifying effects and power.

“The Iron Man Armor is ready to go.” When Lin Rui walked out of the medical room, there was already an Iron Man Armor waiting for him in front of him.

“Set off!”

Kakaka~

Brush!

Ten seconds later, the gates of the secret base, hidden beneath a snow-capped mountain, burst open.

When the gate only opens a by a half-meter or so gap, a figure quickly rushed out. In the next moment, the figure was already high up in the air and was gone in the blink of an eye.

...

In New York, Thor, who hung up the phone directly walked towards the backyard with a puzzled look on his face.

Just now, Lin Rui had told Thor that the plane to pick him up had arrived and asked him to go to the backyard. Thor believed Lin Rui's words. If Lin Rui had said that there is a plane in the backyard to pick him up, then there must be one.

"Hey Thor, aren't you looking for a friend to help you get to London? What's the point of going towards the backyard?" Finally, when Thor's figure was about to disappear in the corridor, Ben shouted while catching up.

"I am going to the backyard to take a plane, my friend said that the plane has arrived," Thor answered calmly without looking back.

"Plane in the backyard?! How is it possible? Even if your friend can mobilize a helicopter, it won't take you to London!" Hearing Thor's words, Ben yelled in disbelief.

"I don't know the difference between an airplane and a helicopter, but I trust my friend."

"Well, I'll like to see how your friend made a plane come over here? I am telling you, he is playing tricks on you!" Ben muttered helplessly.

Huhu~

However, just as Ben and Thor were about to walk to the backyard, there was a slight engine roar and wind blowing from the outside. However, the roar of this engine is much smaller than the loud sound of a helicopter.

"Is there really a plane landing here?!" Hearing this weird voice, Ben couldn't help but think of it.

Phoo~

Finally, Thor, who was striding ahead, had pushed open the door leading to the backyard. Then, a scene appeared in front of Ben's eyes that surprised him greatly: a luxury private jet just glided to a stop on the road in their backyard.

This luxury private jet was no more than twenty meters long in total, all of it was pure white, with few embellishments, and only its affiliation was sprayed on the side belly of the plane.

"Stark?! This is Stark's Private Jet!" Ben shouted in shock after seeing the word in the luxury private jet.

Is this silly big guy in front of him who can't even live his life well, is he friends with Tony Stark? Thor just said that his friend had a way, and it was his friend who asked him to come out to get here.

So, has he been making Tony-Stark's friend do these kinds of things? Is he still a volunteer at this stray dog home? At this moment, Ben looked at Thor's back and didn't know how much he had been thinking.

"Is this the plane? It's a bit small! But I don't care about that much anymore." Just as Ben was closing his mouth in shock, Thor said lightly when he saw the plane too.

Thor didn't know much about planes, but he had seen big ones. This one was much smaller than that. In Thor's simple mind, the big one must be better than the small one, hence the saying 'bigger is always better'.

“Cough cough cough cough! I can’t believe you still think this plane is small!?” Hearing Thor’s words inadvertently, Ben almost didn’t catch his breath.

Then, without talking to Ben, Thor strode towards the plane that was parked on the road. When he walked to the courtyard wall, Thor pushed his hand and he turned over. Then, in front of Ben’s envious eyes, Thor quickly boarded the private jet.

Buzzing~

After Thor boarded the Stark’s private jet, the originally quiet engine roared again. Ten seconds later, under a burst of huge thrust, the luxurious private jet taxied out quickly from precision to movement and finally rushed into the air from a hundred meters away.

“Oh? I didn’t ask Thor why he is going to London in such a hurry? Maybe we could have gone together!” Ben, who raised his head, regretted not asking Thor anything until Stark’s plane had rushed into the clouds.

However, it is obviously impossible for Thor to look back at this time, his ex-girlfriend is still waiting for him to save her.

CHAPTER 730 DIMENSIONAL SPACE

London, as the world’s famous fog city, the weather is not very good here at the moment. No, it should be said that there is not much good weather in London throughout the year.

And recently, the continuous rain had caused quite an irritation for the tourists and locals. At this time, Darcy, who had contacted Thor, was looking for something in an empty and unoccupied factory in the outskirts of London with her Intern.

“Darcy, this is the place where Miss Foster’s satellite phone signal appeared several times, why does this place feel so gloomy?” Tightly holding an instrument with a continuous Red Blinking signal in his hand, the Intern whispered behind Darcy.

“What’s gloomy, it’s just rain. Also, why are you hiding behind me? You are a man, act like one!” Darcy said helplessly when she glanced at the nervous Intern behind her.

It seems that what Darcy said before still scared the boy who is not yet twenty years old. However, Darcy just spoke that as a precaution, it is possible that they will encounter something out of this world this time.

“Haha, I am not as experienced as you so you should be in front. By the way, the signal transmission center should be in front. Will Jane be there?” Hearing Darcy’s words, Junior, hiding behind her spoke with an embarrassed expression on his face before he took two steps forward and then pointed to the front.

Following the direction pointed by her Intern. Darcy saw the central area of the fifth floor of this unmanned factory. The central area is a patio, and a spiral staircase is surrounding the patio.

This unmanned factory building should be an unfinished building. Except for a solid main building, there is no interior decoration at all. It is raining outside, and there is a cold wind blowing inside. No wonder Junior feels gloomy.

“En? There .....” After she saw the situation in that patio in front of her, Darcy muttered with some confusion.

Then, she suddenly speeded up and walked over. And behind her, Junior also hurriedly followed as if he had seen something magical.

“Has the rain stopped? No, the rain hasn’t stopped!” After looking carefully up and down the patio a few times, Darcy’s tone changed from doubt to firmness.

“But, what’s going on here?” At the time Darcy finished, Junior beside her asked with wide eyes in surprise.

At this time, Darcy and Junior were standing on the edge of the central patio of this empty building.

This patio is designed to lead completely from the first floor to the top floor, because the building is not yet completed, the top floor of the patio has nothing to block the rain from falling down.

So, it was raining heavily outside, and this patio already had rain falling on it. However, Darcy and Junior could not see a drop of rain in front of their eyes, it was as if the patio was being avoided by the clouds in the sky. The patio is the place where the rain is not falling.

Listening to the sound of rain showers coming from outside and watching the sight of the patio without a slight breeze in front of them, Darcy also had a gloomy feeling in her heart.

“I knew this investigation will not be so smooth, the last time was also something like this!” Darcy was convinced that the situation is not normal. She muttered something in her heart as this is not the first time she has faced a similar situation.

“Darcy, what should I do now? The signal from Jane’s satellite phone was sent from here. Is there really a Dimensional Space here?” Hearing Darcy’s whisper, Junior asked with a nervous voice.

“If there is a Dimensional Space here then you will know by looking at the detector in your hand.” Darcy snapped at Junior when she saw his nervous appearance.

A few months ago, Darcy was just an intern who followed Jane Foster in order to earn credits. At that time, she had already encountered Bifrost at close range, and after that, she even met aliens and saw a scene of a battle between the weapon of an alien civilization and Iron Man.

Therefore, Darcy’s nerves are now much stronger than the average person’s, and she also knew that there are many weird and magical things outside this seemingly peaceful life.

“Ah! The Alpha Particle concentrations are through the roof!” After Darcy’s warning, Junior looked down and saw that the concentration of the Alpha Particles used to create the Dimensional Space had exceeded the limit.

“Well, Alpha Particles have long been used to find the most obvious evidence of fluctuations in space, it is also a detection method developed by Jane from that particular organization. And now that the concentration of Alpha Particles is out of bounds, it means that the Space in which this courtyard is sitting is obviously problematic.” Nodding her head, Darcy has already pulled an empty can of drink out of her backpack.

Seeing Darcy take out a can of drinks from her backpack, Junior on the side was feeling a little puzzled. The current situation is already so severe now that they are likely to have discovered the only Dimensional Space on earth. Does Darcy want to drink at a time like this?!

Shout!

Darcy threw the Can directly into the empty patio in front of her in front of Junior's puzzled eyes. The Can then curved a parabola and fell a few meters into the middle of the courtyard, seemingly out of the ordinary to the naked eye.

However, if Darcy and her team had a more sophisticated device for detecting spatial fluctuations or had spatial abilities of their own then they would have picked up the apparent spatial fluctuations as the Can of drink flew into the patio.

Brush~

And just after the Can of Drink landed vertically about ten meters away, it actually seemed to have fallen into a magical space and instantly disappeared!

"It!... It disappeared!" Junior shouted with a trembling voice as he watched the can of drink disappear in front of his eyes.

"I saw it, it's gone! It seems that there really is a Subspace out there and Jane is really trapped inside!" Compared to her Intern's shock, Darcy seems more composed.

However, they have at least confirmed that there is a Dimensional Subspace here, then it means that Jane is really no longer here or even on the earth, then where is she now? Darcy is very worried about whether Jane will be in any danger.

Brush!

And just when Darcy and her Intern were standing by the patio looking at the empty patio in front of them, not knowing what to do next, a cracking sound came from behind them. Then, a figure had appeared behind Darcy and Junior.

Kakaka~

As Darcy and the Inter nervously looked back, a sound of mechanical operation continued to be heard. And after they completely turned around, a handsome young man who was a little younger than Darcy's timid Junior was standing in front of them.

"It's been a long time, Miss Darcy."