

Marvel 791

Chapter 791: Hurry

Whew!

On the high-altitude route between Siberia and America, the Iron Man is hurtling towards New York at several times the speed of sound.

Tony has also been informed of the situation of the London dimension, but he doesn't have any extra Iron Man Suit to send for reinforcement and the Iron Men suit there had a "system error". Tony felt that if things went on like this then his headache would probably kill him.

"Sir, it seems that Mr. Harry and Mr. Thor have found a way to help Jackson. However, that method seems to be more dangerous." After Harry pulled Thor to see Lin Rui's situation, JARVIS had already put his observations on the situation and told Tony.

"Also, Miss Pepper already knows a lot of things. So, this might be the right time to explain yourself to her." JARVIS continued before Tony could speak.

Hearing this, the expression on Tony's face changed. He had just returned from the portal in Siberia, and the brutal battle situation was still reverberating in Tony's mind.

He expected some piece after returning to Earth but there were so many things that he needed to worry about. Even though Tony Stark is a genius, it would be exhausting to deal with so much.

"Fuck! I will talk to Pepper. She already suspects and knows many things so telling her wouldn't be a problem. However, you said that Harry and that Thor guy found a way to save Jackson? What is it?" Tony sighed deeply as he spoke.

"Mr. Thor seems to know something about Dark Elves. He seems to have the power to control the Dark energy left in him when Dark Elf attacked Jackson. So if Jackson really can't hold out, Mr. Thor will take his chances. However, Mr. Thor's power seems to be suppressed so much that he has only a one in ten chance of success." Hearing Tony's question, JARVIS answered quickly.

"He knows about Dark Elves?! That's right! Isn't this Thor an alien!? So it isn't that surprising for him to know about Dark Elves! However, he only has a 10% chance of success? Are you kidding me right now?!" Tony muttered to himself in disbelief after hearing JARVIS' answer.

"By the way, you said Jackson kept going because of the magic thing he had in his hand. JARVIS, do you think Jackson will fully recover due to that thing?" Tony once again asks JARVIS after thinking to himself.

JARVIS told Tony everything about Lin Rui's situation at this time, so of course, he knew that the reason why Lin Rui hadn't been swallowed up by those dark energies was because of the magical thing in his hand.

Lin Rui would have died several times from his injuries if it hadn't been for that magical thing.

"I can't judge this. I can't detect the energy of the thing in Jackson's hand. However, it transmits powerful energy to Jackson all the time, and it is this energy that is helping Jackson resist those dark energies."

"I don't know if Jackson's going to completely counteract the dark energy with what he has on his hand. But now there seems to be some kind of balance between them, and no one can do anything about the other." Faced with Tony's inquiry, JARVIS honestly answered.

"Not sure? Then we can't count on that thing. We have to find another way to save Jackson!" Tony said seriously after hearing JARVIS' answer.

Tony doesn't pin his hopes on the unknown, that's not his style. As for finding other ways to save Lin Rui, Tony felt that there must be a way. If nothing works then Tony doesn't mind going to the battlefield over the Siberia portal again, he's going to capture a Dark Elf Elite warrior and bring him over to Lin Rui to remove the dark energy from his body.

Dī Dī~

"Sir, video call from Miss Pepper." Just when Tony was thinking about how to save Lin Rui, Pepper's phone call came in.

Brush!

In the next moment, the translucent light screen in front of Tony's eyes outlined Pepper's head.

"Hey! Pepper, you look good!" With almost no time to prepare, Tony quickly changed to his relaxed expression and said hello to Pepper in front of him.

However, Tony, who had been prepared for Pepper's verbal criticism, saw Pepper's angry expression slowly change to worry and anxiety. As Tony wondered, Pepper spoke up.

"Tony, let's stop trying to save the world, okay?"

Tony: "....."

Two minutes later, Tony hung up the video call with Pepper. This video call with Pepper made Tony feel a lot of emotion. Tony doesn't know why, but Pepper didn't blame Tony for canceling on her. Instead, she was worried about what he was doing and asked him to take care of himself.

"JARVIS, why is this happening? Didn't you say that you didn't tell Pepper what I was going to do?" Tony who hung up the phone still had Pepper's worried and nervous eyes echoing in front of him and asked JARVIS.

Hum~

Without answering Tony's words, JARVIS directly projected Tony's current state in front of his eyes. And after seeing what he looked like at this moment, Tony finally understood why Pepper said that. Because, at this time, Tony looked badly beaten up.

Even with the protection of the Iron Man suit, Tony had to suffer several shock wounds on his face because he had been pinned down during the battle with the Dark Elf Elite Soldier.

So these wounds are skin wounds and they have bled very little, and they have healed quite a bit by themselves. But even those partially healed wounds were more shocking and painful to Pepper.

So, when Pepper, who was originally angry, saw that Tony didn't even have the time to deal with the injuries on his face, what reason did she have to be angry?!

"Looks like, I have some explanations to do when I go back this time!" Tony sighed silently.

Dī Dī~

"Sir, Mr. Deadpool from League of Defenders has arrived at Stark Industries." Just as Tony was rushing to New York, JARVIS's voice came out again.

"Deadpool? Is he here to see Jackson? That's right, they must have gotten close when they fought those things on the alien planet." Hearing JARVIS' reminder, Tony wondered why Deadpool went to Stark Industries.

"Let him in."

"Yes, sir."

Chapter 792: Deadpool Arrives

Deadpool, dressed in his hero suit, stood in front of the Stark Industry building, staring up at the New York landmark. Deadpool kept staring at the gate for a long time, ignoring the stares of people passing by.

Although the official Superheros and Vigilantes in New York are no longer strange to everyone, but a guy with a strange style like Deadpool can still make everyone very curious.

"Deadpool! What are you still doing out front? Get in there!" As Deadpool lingered outside the Stark Industries Building, Jerry's voice rang out in his ear. Jerry can't stand Deadpool's casual behavior at this moment because of Lin Rui's injuries.

"You think anyone can enter this building anytime they want! Stark is an ally with our League of Defenders so I can't just kick his door and break-in." Hearing Jerry's voice in the headset, Deadpool glanced at the security guards at the gate who had been paying attention to him for a long time and said.

Those who can enter the Stark Industries building are either employee of Stark or have a cooperative relationship with them. Therefore, most people cannot enter the Stark building without an appointment or unless they are with someone.

And Deadpool had neither an appointment nor a familiar person to bring him in, and the security guards had been staring at him for a while now.

ZiZiZi~

"Mr. Deadpool, I'm JARVIS. Stark Industries welcomes you, come in, they won't stop you." Just as Deadpool finished speaking, JARVIS' voice came from the headset after a burst of electricity.

"Hey! JARVIS, how can you hack my network? Not cool." Jerry's dissatisfied protest followed after JARVIS's voice came out.

"My apologies, I've switched to my separate line." JARVIS quickly apologized after Jerry complained.

Jerry: “ ... ”

Deadpool didn't care about the conversation between Jerry and JARVIS in the background. After JARVIS finished the first sentence, he had noticed that the security guards who were watching him at the entrance of the Stark Industries building showed different expressions.

Originally, they all looked at him with some caution, as if they were waiting for him to do something bad here. But now, they looked at Deadpool as normal, like those who entered the Stark Industries building with their badges and identification.

“Really!” After confirming that the security guards were no longer guarding him, Deadpool muttered in a low voice and walked towards the gate.

Under the suspicious gazes of the people around him, Deadpool took light steps and hopped from the gate into the Stark Industries building. The security guards just glanced at him and didn't do anything to stop him.

Besides, the only people who get into Stark Industries are the best, and the best are the ones who pay attention, and Deadpool's costume is the only thing that gets their attention.

So Deadpool, who had planned to perform in the lobby under everyone's gaze, ended up following JARVIS's instructions to the private passageway behind.

JARVIS and Jerry were chatting in the background when Deadpool followed JARVIS's instructions to walk along the private passage to Lin Rui's location.

“Mr. Sky's Eye, are you sure?” JARVIS, who had already heard from Jerry about his plans, wanted to make sure. After all, someone's life was at stake.

“Of course I'm sure! As long as Iceman can get Rogue back! With Deadpool's Recovery ability, plus Rogue's mutant ability to absorb everything, I believe we will be able to save Mirage Knight!” Jerry answered seriously after hearing JARVIS's question.

“Also, you said Thor's plan has only a 10% chance of succeeding so you must stop it. We can't mess around without certainty!” Jerry added immediately after speaking.

“I know, if Jackson's situation can be maintained as it is now, they won't use that method. However, are you sure that Rogue will come back?” JARVIS continued as the data in the background had decided instantly whether Jerry's approach was more reliable than Thor's.

“This... depends on Iceman! After all, they used to be...” Hearing JARVIS's words, Jerry said in a somewhat inexplicable tone. As for what he said, JARVIS would not tell anyone else.

...

Just as Jerry and the others are all trying their best to find a way to help Lin Rui out of his life-threatening situation, the battle in the London suburbs has fully escalated, and the bombers with devastating weapons set out from SHIELD headquarters. It's almost time for them to arrive in the UK.

Boom!

Although the abandoned unfinished building is barren and deserted, the building itself has no problem, it has strong foundations and walls. But now, under the ravages of several consecutive battles and the battles that have continued to the present, this unfinished building has been destroyed, leaving only a piece of ruins.

Boom!

“B12 needs support! B12 needs support!”

Bang Bang Bang!

“District D5! A-level enemies appear in District D5! I need high-powered backup!”

Rumble!

On this battlefield that has been turned into ruins, the loud shouts of SHIELD’s combat teams are heard in various areas. The strength of the enemy was far beyond their expectations.

Except for the many cannon fodder-level war beasts that appeared at the beginning, the taller war beasts and the Dark Elf Warriors that appeared later were the enemies that were difficult for them to deal with. Not many weapons could stop the truck-sized beasts in their frantic charge.

However, SHIELD had stationed a whole army outside the building, and they also had massive weapons. As a result, various battlefield tanks were pitted against the giant warbeasts that ran amok.

Tanks are not fast enough to keep up with the agile beasts, but there are SHIELD’s Quinjets in the sky, and precision strikes from high above can be combined with ground fire to suppress the fearsome beasts.

Compared with those giant beasts, the few Dark Elf warriors that emerged from the dimensional space were a greater threat to the team on Earth. Because they are not those war beasts with low IQ, they are not only powerful individually, but they also carry many technological weapons unique to the Dark Elves.

Therefore, when facing them, the team on SHIELD’s side always loses in various ways. There would have been a lot of casualties by now if SHIELD didn’t have more combat-oriented personnel in the field than the other side.

Chapter 793: London Battlefield

Boom!

“Don’t stop the high-altitude firepower! We have to stop them!” His chest was gashed by a long blade that came from nowhere as the Captain of team A of the SHIELD’s London division shouted while holding the gash in his chest.

“Cough cough cough...” After Shouting these words, the Captain who had been fighting until now finally couldn’t hold on and fell slowly.

Huh~

“Captain!~~”

“Ah!! You damn monsters!! Go to hell!!”

Pū Pū Pū!

After the Captain of the Squad-A fell silently, the teammates who were fighting not far away saw this scene, and then, regardless of the danger, they picked up their most powerful weapons and poured out a lot of firepowers, and quickly approached the position where Captain of Team A had fallen.

However, according to the feedback from the equipment on the Captain of Team A, he was already on the verge of suffering from heart damage, and even if his teammates rushed over, it was impossible to save him. After all, not everyone can come up with a Recovery Serum drug that replenishes vitality like Lin Rui.

Boom!

As the squad members frantically rushed to the position where their Captain had fallen, the firepower of the high-altitude combat planes also poured down.

Of course, the Quinjets cannot attack indiscriminately without regard for their teammates, but they can use their superb flying skills to ensure that they can reduce the chance of attacking soldiers when attacking the enemy. Now, the Quinjet fighters will cover the soldiers who have lost their minds.

Boom!

Boom!

“Casualties will continue to mount. Can we hold out until the attack?” The SHIELD’s interim commander muttered grimly to himself as he watched the battle data streaming back from the field ahead.

“Even if we can hold on until then, depending on the current situation, it will be too late to retreat!” After hearing the temporary commander mutter to himself, a deputy beside him said with a worried expression on his face.

“Commander Roy! We can’t abandon our soldiers!” When the deputy had finished speaking, a soldier who had been standing behind them stepped forward and shouted.

Judging from the current situation, even if their team persisted until the arrival of SHIELD’s attack, the SHIELD combat teams fighting in front would not have time to withdraw.

However, to contain the enemy and the dimension within the scope of the attack, the combat team must be engaged on the battlefield. The consequences would be unimaginable if one of those enemies escapes and reaches the city.

“Do you think that I would be willing to give up on our soldiers?! They are the most honorable people! However, there are no more Iron Men on Stark’s side to support us, and our team will never be able to escape!” Hearing the words of his subordinates, Commander Roy pointed to the battlefield ahead and shouted.

“What about the Avengers at the headquarters? They can stop those monsters! Isn’t this situation worth their attention?” Hearing the commander’s shout, the Major General who stepped forward asked a little resentfully.

Although this Major General is also a diehard fan of Captain America, but now his most elite team is being slowly consumed and killed by the enemy so he can't help but resent his idol a little.

Hearing the Major General's question, Commander Roy didn't know how to answer for a while. Most of the soldiers fighting on the battlefield now are soldiers from the Londo branch, and their ranks are not high enough to know these highest-level events.

Just like now, the battle ahead has been upgraded to S-level, but only the A-level team is participating in the battle. Otherwise, they would not use numbers to block the enemy.

"Captain Rogers..."

Dī Dī~

Just when Commander Roy was about to reveal a little bit about the S-Class incident and what Rogers and others were doing at the moment to the people present here, he suddenly received an urgent message.

Raising his hand to glance at the news he received, Roy's eyes flashed with excitement as the most powerful support from the headquarters has arrived!

It turned out that Roy thought that the devastating attack should be a bomber carrying a miniature nuclear bomb, but he did not expect the headquarters to send that. Well, with this, they may be able to withstand these powerful enemies even without the Avengers.

Brush!

"The back-up from Headquarters is here! We are not abandoning our soldiers" Commander Roy threw the tablet in his hand directly to the General beside him and his voice couldn't contain his excitement.

Quickly reaching out to catch the tablet, the Major General and the Deputy looked at it with puzzled expressions on their faces.

"Commander Roy, the Helicarrier has arrived over the battlefield, and the support team will enter the battlefield in one minute. To reduce casualties, a fixed-point laser strike will be carried out in ten seconds, and your people can be evacuated." Such was the message on Commander Roy's tablet.

According to the information displayed on the official tablet, the SHIELD Headquarters had sent out a Helicarrier.

Under normal circumstances, Helicarriers would be stationed at the Siberia Base as the situation there was still unclear. However, the incident on the London side has instantly escalated to an S-level threat.

Even if the Dark Elves on Siberia's side counterattack through the portal, at least there is a base that has been established as a war Fortress to block it, and Captain Rogers and the others are still there.

So, by comparison, the situation on the London side is significantly more severe. If the Helicarrier were not sent over, the London branch would not be able to hold on at all, and the casualties would be unbearable for SHIELD.

“Helicarrier!” After seeing the message on the tablet, both the Deputy and the Major General were excited.

The recent test flight of the Helicarrier, which headquarters had spent years researching, was well known around the world, but neither that nor its first strike against Hydra was widely seen.

Except for the people at headquarters, the members of these branches are very interested in the Helicarrier, and everyone wants to see for themselves how powerful the sea and air War Fortress is.

“The order has been issued, our troops have now begun to withdraw, and there are no serious casualties so far!” While the Deputy and the General were shocked by the news of the arrival of the Helicarrier, Commander Roy ordered the battlefield troops to withdraw.

Buzz~

A few seconds after Commander Roy’s command was issued, there was a sharp surge of energy from high in the air as the men on the battlefield retreated, covering each other.

Chapter 794: First Round Of Attack

Buzzing~

The wave of energy from high up in the air became more intense, and every SHIELD personnel stationed outside the tower could feel the pressure approaching from overhead. The soldiers on the battlefield left the enemy and retreated quickly after receiving the order.

“Captain! We’ll take you back!”

“Go!”

Shout!

At the spot where the Captain of team A had fallen, two members of Team A were trying to lift the Captain, who was barely breathing, and then they retreated together.

Dī Dī!

“High energy laser beam strike is detected and evasive action is initiated.” While the SHIELD fighters on the battlefield were rapidly retreating, the Iron Man Suits, who had no warning, detected the attack from above and took immediate action.

Because JARVIS never figured out what was wrong with these Iron Man Suits, he never dared to reconnect with them. Even if these dozen Iron Man suits were all scrapped, it would be better than the unidentified threat to JARVIS’s core system.

And JARVIS has given up these Iron Man Suits, of course, he will not let SHIELD’s system connect with them. So, these Iron Man suits haven’t been alerted yet when the attack from the high-altitude Helicarrier has come.

Brush Brush!

When all the soldiers and Iron Man on the battlefield suddenly retreated and evaded, except for those Dark Elf cannon fodder war beasts with low IQ who were still roaring and running around, every Dark Elf warrior was keenly aware that something is happening.

At this time, the fighter jets that had been lining up the ground troops over the ruins also flew away.

“Hoohoo!” Growling at the tanks that were still moving slowly in the ruins, the pressure dropped and the beast’s eyes glowed with ferocity as it rushed to tear the metal lumps apart.

“%&#¥ #!” The Dark Elf fighters, who noticed something was wrong, shouted from behind after seeing those war beasts jumping out.

This sentence means “come back!”, Even the cannon-fodder beasts here are something Dark Elf warriors can’t afford to give up.

But it was too late for the Dark Elf warriors to shout, and the warbeasts were already rushing out, fully exposed in the rain.

Brush Brush!

The next moment, the area shrouded in thick clouds suddenly radiated with rays of light from the sky, it was as if the sun had pierced through the clouds and shone down! However, the rays of light were more dazzling than the sun, and there was no warmth in these rays of light.

These white beams shot through the clouds are the laser beams emitted by the Helicarrier that is suspended at a high altitude and are not affected by the weather below.

These beams of light from the Helicarrier are more than twice as powerful as the laser weapons mounted on Iron Man’s suit, which would otherwise have cost a lot of energy to penetrate the clouds.

Piercing the clouds and penetrating the rain, these white laser beams hit the giant warbeasts running through the rain with precise predictive navigation. Not only that but several white laser beams were directed into the ruins towards the hidden Dark Elf warriors!

Pū Pū Pū!

With little resistance, those giant warbeasts exposed in the rain were directly under the strikes of these powerful laser beams. Then, one by one, they collapsed after struggling helplessly a few times. At this moment, a lot of thick blood burst out everywhere in the diffuse rain curtain, those were all the blood of the giant war beasts.

Boom Boom Boom!

However, while the laser beam is effective against the warbeasts, the Dark Elf warriors hiding in the ruins are not as easy to defeat as those warbeasts.

In addition to the three Dark Elf soldiers who dodged the laser beam at the last moment, four Dark Elf soldiers did not dodge the strike. But they turned on a special energy shield the moment the laser beam hit them.

Buzz~

The translucent circular energy shield is a technological product of the Dark Elves and although it is not producing violent energy jitter under the laser beam strike, it has persisted in protecting the Dark Elf warriors hiding inside. It looks like they should be able to hold on until the end of this laser strike.

Buzz~

Two seconds later, the high-altitude laser beam strike finally ended. However, at the last moment of the laser beam strike, one of the four Dark Elf fighters who had released the energy shield suddenly turned very terrified.

Pū!

“& ¥...” In the next instant when his face changed drastically, the laser beam that had already started to weaken surprisingly penetrated his energy shield and shot through his body.

Boom!

At the end of the laser beam strike, one of the seven Dark Elf warriors that crossed the interdimensional space was finally killed, and the laser beam that penetrated the energy shield still drilled dozens of meters deep into the ground before finally running out of energy.

...

“The first round of high-energy laser beam strikes successfully hit seventeen targets, and there are still nine targets remaining.” After this sudden strong support from high altitude ended, the result of the strike has been updated to the tablet in Commander Roy’s hand.

“There are still nine left?!” Commander Roy was a little surprised when he saw the report on the tablet.

That round just now could be called a grand strike from above, but it only eliminated seventeen enemies, and the remaining nine were the most difficult to deal with.

Moreover, SHIELD couldn’t gain control of the Dimension Space and now all the teams on the battlefield have withdrawn. It won’t take long for the seventeen enemies that have been dealt with to be replenished from the dimensional side.

“The ground forces are in contact with the headquarters and the second round of strikes is coming.” Just as Commander Roy was surprised, a second message appeared on the tablet.

“Second strike!? Wasn’t it a devastating blow directly after our team was withdrawn?” Commander Roy was a little puzzled. However, at this time, he, the temporary commander of the London branch, has no more command power, and can only unconditionally cooperate with the order from the Helicarrier.

“Commander Roy! Look!” Just as Roy was feeling confused, the deputy who had been staring at the battlefield outside shouted in shock.

When Roy followed the raised hand of his deputy, he saw that there were black dots rapidly falling in the cloud layer that had become much lighter. Those aren’t flying projectiles, but the second round of attacks from the Helicarrier! It was a new special mobile team from the headquarters specially formed for the Helicarrier!

Chapter 795: Mobile Unit

Brush Brush!

“Those are!... The new mobile unit formed by the Headquarters?!” Commander Roy muttered to himself in disbelief as he looked at a figure that fell from the clouds.

Since the Helicarrier gained a combined anti-gravity engine provided by Stark, it has gone from a sleeping lion directly to a dragon that can travel around the world.

After the Helicarrier was officially put into service, SHIELD also trained a group of brand-new elite talents for this Fighting Fortress. From technology to combat, SHIELD had spent a lot of effort to equip them.

As the Commander of the London branch, Roy also has an understanding of what special talents and special teams are in the Helicarrier. Although he has not seen it with his own eyes, he knows the basic information.

That’s why Roy was so shocked when he saw those figures falling from the clouds. Because those figures should be the latest super mobile troops formed by SHIELD headquarters to cooperate with the Helicarrier.

“Mobile Force? Those guys dared to parachute in such weather conditions. They deserve to be called elites!” Hearing Roy’s self-talk, the Deputy beside him said with the same excited expression in his eyes.

The dozens of super-energy laser beams from the first round of strikes just now were enough to shock these ground troops, and now the second round of strikes turned out to be high-altitude parachuting troops.

“Oh?! At this height! Why haven’t they opened their parachutes?” Under the watchful eyes of Roy and the others, the figures didn’t open their parachutes even after they penetrated through the clouds.

At this time, they have reached a very dangerous height, especially in such bad weather conditions and an accident may happen if they are not careful.

“Commander, they... they don’t seem to have any plans to open their parachutes!” After Roy’s worried whisper, his deputy nervously spoke.

By this time, the figures in mid-air had reached an altitude clear enough for the ground troops to see. On the screen in front of them, the falling figures — each armed in a way they had never seen before, with a long sheet of metal behind their backs — showed no backpack with a parachute.

When the deputy said they had no intention of opening their parachute, he meant they didn’t seem to have a parachute at all!

“What the hell is going on? What are these guys thinking?!” Commander Roy, who had also noticed this had a serious expression on his face, but he still believed that there must be a reason for this.

Dī Dī~

Just when Roy and the others were worried about the soldiers without parachutes, a video dialog suddenly popped up on the big screen in front of them. Then, a man in a suit appeared in the center of the big screen.

“Long time no see, Roy.” The guy who appeared on the big screen looked at the somewhat surprised Roy and then said with a smile.

“Long time no see, Coulson.” Roy calmly replied after some time.

...

Brush Brush!

As Coulson appeared on a large screen in the rear headquarters of the ground troops, a further movement was taking place as newly formed mobile soldiers swooped down from the wreckage of the battlefield outside.

Each of the eighteen men had descended in the air Force style, but at this time, everyone put their right hand on the corner of the metal plate on their shoulders.

Dī Dī!

Ka Ka ~

When they put their hands on the metal plate, the seemingly simple and thick metal plate suddenly lit up with pale blue lines. Then, with the sound of the metal clasp lifting, the metal plate fixed on their back was directly grabbed in front of them.

Bang!

In the next moment, these soldiers stepped on the metal plate that was thrown in front of them. Ka Ka Ka ~ Then, a few metal buckle devices suddenly appeared where they stepped on the metal plate, completely wrapping their tactical shoes with the ankle part.

Boom!

As the metal plates held each soldier's feet firmly in place, bright blue flames burst from below its rearward position. Then, with the thrust of the jet fire, each man's descent slowed down and their direction changed. At this moment, the metal plate turned into a simplified version of the Hoverboard!

Brush Brush!

With their feet on the Hoverboard, the eighteen newly formed soldiers quickly fell into several groups when they landed at a height of a few hundred meters from the battlefield below.

On the tactical goggles they wear, their position to the position of the Dimension Gate was marked and it is where they need to focus their attention.

However, the dimensional gate is not their target. Their target is the red dots marked with powerful energy signatures. Each red dot represents an enemy unit, and this is the opponent they will face for their first appearance.

Pū Pū Pū!

When each team was about a hundred meters from the target, the front of their Hoverboards showed a row of muzzles. Then the barrage of fire poured out.

As these mobile teams descend on their hoverboards and attack decisively, the warbeasts and Dark Elf warriors who had survived the first laser strike also fought back.

“Hoohoo!...”

Brush!

...

“Is this the latest mobile unit specially formed for the Helicarrier? It is indeed worthy of the word “mobile!” Commander Roy said with a surprised expression on his face as he looked at the mobile suits on the screen diving on their Hoverboard.

“Not bad! This team was created at great cost to maximize the Helicarrier’s combat effectiveness and its role as a War Fortress after it entered service.” After Roy finished, Coulson, who had moved to the side of the screen, spoke with a proud expression on his face.

The development of SHIELD headquarters would not have been possible without the alliance of Steve Rogers with Tony Stark and Lin Rui.

Without the anti-gravity engine provided by Tony, the Helicarrier would not have lifted off from the water.

Without an alliance with the League of Defenders, Lin Rui would not have provided some of the Titan series genetically enhanced Serum in Oscorp’s laboratory to SHIELD for them to form a special team, let alone an improved individual Hoverboard.

Chapter 796: Plan is Conducted

Oscorp itself has a close relationship with Stark Industries due to the relationship between Harry and Lin Rui. After Tony Stark and the SHIELD alliance, Lin Rui gets Harry to give SHIELD something for a fee.

Among them, Titan’s genetics-enhanced Serum is something SHIELD has paid a heavy price for. Compared to a modified soldier Hoverboard, Genetically enhanced Serum, which enhances a soldier’s individual combat capabilities and qualities, will take SHIELD to the next level.

Therefore, SHIELD has used the Serum even before Oscorp could do various experiments and announce its exitance to the general public. For this reason, SHIELD will help when Oscorp prepares to launch this product on open the market with the improved normal version of the gene Serums in the future.

It was because of the alliance of these forces that SHIELD was able to develop so smoothly and rapidly. At this time, even if there is no Avengers Alliance, there are already other teams within SHIELD that can stand on their own. The mobile team in the second round was just one of them, and it was also the first team that Coulson released to test the waters.

Bang Bang Bang!

“Can they control the battlefield? You should know the strength of those enemies very well!” Roy asked with a worried expression on his face when he saw that the mobile suits with special equipment had already launched an attack on the enemy.

From what he could see on the screen in front of him, the individual hoverboards were firing more fire than the average machine gun.

Except for highly directed weapons such as laser beams, other kinds of weapons are not very effective against those enemies. That’s why Roy was worried when he saw that the mobile Suit’s weapons were more generic.

“Roy, do you know what the enemy we are facing this time?” Coulson on the side of the screen looked at him and asked calmly without immediately answering Roy’s question.

“Although I don’t have enough clearance but I can guess. Are they... are they... aliens?” After Coulson asked back, Roy answered in a cautious tone.

“Aliens?!...” After Roy answered, the two people beside him were shocked before they shut their mouths.

“That’s right! What we are facing this time is indeed a threat from an Alien Civilization. Moreover, we know something about them. In terms of strength, our mobile unit is not strong enough to fight them. However, our goal is just to block them here.” Coulson said with a smile on the screen as he wasn’t surprised by Roy’s guess.

“You mean... You planned to destroy this area?!” After hearing Coulson’s answer, Roy asked as if thinking of something.

“That’s right, the support of the Helicarrier in the sky is only to control the situation without the Avengers. Our ultimate goal is to protect the earth! Therefore, the destruction plan still exists, and the Damascus Reese Sword is almost ready.” On the screen, Coulson seemed to be looking somewhere else but he still explained his plan to Roy.

The Damascus Reese Sword is SHIELD’s space-based weapon system. Compared with the unnecessary casualties of the environment and personnel caused by the use of miniature nuclear bombs, the use of space-based weapons is not only equally powerful but also reduces a lot of subsequent damage.

“Damascus Reese Sword! It seems that you are aware of the threat of this Alien civilization!” When Coulson mentioned that the destruction plan would use the Damascus Reese Sword, Roy couldn’t help saying.

“Why do you think Captain Rogers and the others haven’t come back yet?” Coulson on the screen asked meaningfully after hearing Roy’s words.

“So that’s the case.....”

“Also, don’t underestimate our mobile suits, each of them is the elite of the elite.”

...

Pū Pū Pū!

While Coulson and Reese were talking behind the battlefield, the battle had broken out again.

Two more war beasts came out of the dimensional space after the previous attack of the laser beam, and they were being provoked by the four Mobile Unit Soldiers. From time to time, bullets are shot into their bodies, which, although not fatal, can cause some minor damage to them.

The remaining seven Dark Elf fighters seemed to be frightened by the laser beam strike that was enough to kill them, and they chose to defend against the various strikes of the mobile unit.

Because the dimensional space in the center of this ruin has always been there. No matter how fierce the battle became, this dimension seems to have not been affected much.

No, it can't be said that it has no impact at all, it's been a while since Dark Elf warbeasts or other Dark Elf warriors flooded the space where they first appeared.

However, the space waves from the dimensional side are still strong, and support from the Dark Elves is expected to arrive at any moment. For the sake of Aether, Malekith could not have given up such an opportunity.

Therefore, to guard the dimensional space and allow their support to arrive safely, the remaining seven Dark Elf warriors guarded the dimensional space from seven directions. They will defend against the attacks of the mobile unit soldiers. There would have been many casualties if it weren't for the fact that these mobile unit soldiers have become very proficient in the control of individual Hoverboards. After all, those weapons in Dark Elf's hands could also fly at a frightening speed.

Brush Brush!

In addition to the Mobile Unit Soldiers dispatched from the SHIELD headquarters, the Iron Man Suits who had dodged the first round of laser beam strikes also rushed out again as their mission is not over yet.

So, at this point, each of the seven Dark Elf warriors is facing at least three or four attacks. Even if they were powerful, they aren't able to take it easy when they were pinned down on this side of the earth against the best warriors.

Buzz!!

Just as the Mobile Unit Soldiers on the SHIELD side cooperated with Iron Man to suppress the remaining Dark Elf warriors, the concentration of alpha particles at the location of the dimensional space began to rise again, and it soon exploded.

"Time is up! Initiate Space Blockade!" Coulson issued an order with a serious look in his eyes as a strong spatial fluctuation came from the dimension space.

Chapter 797: Damascus Reese Sword

After Coulson gave the order, the Mobile Unit Soldiers who were still entangled with the Dark Elf warriors, directly suppressed the Dark Elves with the most intense firepower. Whether it was a rapid-fire machine gun, a laser weapon, or a burst of micro-missiles, even the alloy darts of the shuttle under the individual Hoverboard were fired.

Pū Pū Pū!

During the full-scale attack of Mobile Unit Soldiers, the Dark Elves who had to guard the dimensional space had to shrink their defenses again.

The spatial fluctuations from the dimensional space behind them are getting stronger and stronger, and support will come soon. This time it is likely that Malekith will come in person. Therefore, they cannot let the enemy affect this space teleportation.

Boom!

Hoo!

Under the cover of so much firepower, a hole suddenly opened at the bottom of the Hoverboard under the Mobile Unit Soldiers' feet. Then, a silver metal cylinder was shot out. However, the target of this cylinder is not those Dark Elf warriors, but the surrounding ground where the dimensional space is located.

Pū Pū Pū!

Under the precise control of each Mobile Unit Soldier, eighteen metal cylinders were quickly inserted into the ruined ground around the dimensional space. After being inserted into the ground, these metal cylinders lit up with circles of red light which indicated their active status.

"Mission Complete! Let's go!" One of the soldiers in the Mobile Unit spoke after confirming that the eighteen metal cylinders were inserted in the expected positions and were all activated.

Brush Brush!

Then, without any hesitation, the eighteen Mobile Unit Soldiers stepped on their Hoverboards and rushed towards the sky. The rest of the Iron Man Armors are still fighting as they can't leave without further orders.

Buzz!

While the Mobile Unit Soldiers have gone high into the air and retreated, the space fluctuations on the other side of the dimension are getting stronger and stronger and based on previous indications, something is about to arrive.

The metal cylinders on the ground that surround the dimensional space also quickly release a special energy fluctuation after activation.

This energy fluctuation is an electromagnetic wave with a fast frequency, and the energy fluctuations emitted by the eighteen metal cylinders continue to fluctuate. After some time, they were able to connect.

Rip!

Under the cover of the strong spatial fluctuations on the other side of the dimensional space, the electromagnetic energy waves emitted by the eighteen metal cylinders silently constitute an energy barrier, just enclosing the central dimensional space.

Grounded in the ground, the 18 metal cylinders are the connection point, and when fully constructed, this energy barrier is six or seven stories high, like a giant cylindrical cover that appears out of thin air to cover the dimensional space.

Of course, this electromagnetic barrier composed of eighteen special equipment also surrounded those Dark Elf warriors. At the same time, the Iron Man Suits are still fighting inside.

...

“Good! Space lockdown is complete! Release the Damascus Reese Sword! Let’s show them that it isn’t this easy to attack earth!” As the electromagnetic energy barrier on the ground takes shape, Coulson’s eyes light up inside the Helicarrier, and then he lets out a faint exclamation of excitement.

“Coulson! You bastard!... Evacuate! Evacuate! Evacuate as far as you can!” After Coulson spoke, the ground force commander Roy shouted angrily from the screen in front of him.

Boom!

Just as Coulson had just finished speaking, and the ground-based Roy was nervously arranging the retreat of the ground troops because of the imminent arrival of the space-based weapon, a roar gradually came from the 10,000-meter altitude.

The people on the ground can’t see much because of the clouds, but above the clouds, suspended thousands of meters above on the Helicarrier, people can see the amazing sight.

Far above their Helicarrier’s location, an object was falling so fast that it was enveloped in a long white stream of air and it was descending at a speed they couldn’t imagine. This is the Damascus Reese Sword, the most powerful space-based weapon in the SHIELD Arsenal.

The long object inside the white cloud explosion is a relatively small superalloy rod that was launched from low Earth orbit. It picks up enough kinetic energy from the force of gravity to destroy buildings over a kilometer, and as far as the center of its impact goes, there would probably be nothing left.

Boom!

Brush!

“The orbit correction is complete, and the Damascus Reese Sword will hit the target in three seconds.” The Damascus Reese Sword had already rushed down from the Helicarrier, and Coulson was getting updates from his men behind him.

“Okay!”

Buzz~

Brush brush!

With three seconds to go before the strike of Damascus Reese Sword, the center of the dimensional space blocked by the electromagnetic barrier finally reappeared.

Moreover, there are quite a few people present this time, including Malekith who is different from the other Dark Elf warriors. Malekith finally took matters into his own hands after the advance troops had poked their way.

“Roar~” With a roar, a giant war beast the size of a truck rushed out of the dimensional space.

On the back of this giant war beast, Malekith was coldly surveying the situation around him. Malekith revealed an expression of disdain after seeing that he was trapped inside a translucent barrier.

Whew!

The next moment, Malekith waved his hand forward. Under Malekith’s action, the Dark Elf warriors and giant war beasts who followed him out of the dimensional space immediately rushed out. Their primary goal is to get rid of those Iron Man Armors who are still fighting them as they can that those flying Iron Man are the enemy.

Especially for those Dark Elf who fought against Lin Rui, they saw this kind of flying thing in the beginning. In Asgard’s forbidden area, the Iron Man suit that Lin Rui wore at the beginning was destroyed by several Dark Elves.

So, these Dark Elf fighters will do their best to destroy these Armors because they think that every Iron Man suit is the same enemy as Lin Rui.

Bang Bang Bang!

Three of the ten Iron Man suits left were destroyed in an instant. Meanwhile, Malekith has already reached the translucent electromagnetic barrier on his giant warbeast.

“This is... um?!” Just when Malekith was about to test what was going on with the barrier blocking him, his expression changed suddenly, and he raised his head the next moment.

Boom!

As Malekith looked up, there was a distant roar coming from above the thick cloud. In the next second, a circle of white sonic booms took the lead in breaking through the thick clouds. Then, the super-alloy long rod dragged the white airflow straight down!

Malekith: “...”

Chapter 798: Arrival

Boom!

There was a rumbling sound like thunder in the overcast sky, but there was no lightning, only the superalloy space-based kinetic energy weapon that was falling at an extremely fast speed.

Brush!

Malekith was aware of the danger after noticing the rapidly falling object above his head. Therefore, without any hesitation, his figure disappeared in a trance on the back of the giant war beast. When Malekith reappeared, he had returned to the dimensional space.

Although the Dark Elves pay attention to the development of their strength, they also highly advocate the peak of individual power. However, they also developed a decent tech tree.

Although the development of the technology tree of the Dark Elves is different from that of Earth, Malekith can still see that the thing falling from the top has the power to destroy him. Therefore, he decided to return to the dimensional space in an instant.

Buzz~

After Malekith returned to the dimensional space, he had already fallen back into the dimensional space, ready to flee this dangerous place directly. However, the space-based weapon above his head had fallen in the blink of an eye.

Pū!

The superalloy rod, which was originally aimed at the dimensional space, crashed directly into the top of the dimensional space, and unlike other objects that went directly into the dimension and were teleported away, the superalloy kinetic energy weapon, carries energy that can penetrate hundreds of meters underground, shaking local terrain and causing small earthquakes, did not go straight in when it hits the dimensional space but created a collision of energy on the upper edge of the dimensional space.

Buzz!

When the superalloy rod, made of the earth's hardest material, hits the edge of dimensional space, the speed accumulated from the fall from low Earth orbit is suddenly wiped out, and the energy thus converted was enormous.

Even if the spatial energy at the edge of dimensional space is very stable, there are strong spatial fluctuations under the impact of such huge energy in such a moment.

Then, after just holding on for 0.01 seconds, the space barrier above the dimensional space was broken by the attack. Then, carrying the force of reality from earthspace, the superalloy rod sped through the interdimensional space that had begun to crumble, slamming into the Malekith below that had not yet been fully transported away.

Boom!

Malekith, who had his eye on what was happening overhead, had already pulled out his weapon, a black-covered scepter when the superalloy rod hit the top of dimensional space. It's black, but it looks like it's made of wood. Malekith threw his scepter upward with an ugly expression on his face as the dimensional space began to collapse.

Brush!

Boom!

There is no time to describe the speed with which these actions took place, and the sound of the impact had not yet been heard as Malekith's scepter bounced off the impact of the superalloy rod above it. Malekith could not reach out to catch his scepter after it bounced back and he could only watch as it spun and hit his chest.

Pū!

Card!

A muffled sound was accompanied by the sound of shattering bones as Malekith was savagely teleported away at the last moment of the collapse of the dimensional space, with his black scepter.

Boom!

And after Malekith's figure disappeared in the lower part of the dimensional space, the superalloy rod that had fallen finally completely penetrated this dimensional space, and then slammed into the ground where there was no dimensional space to block it.

In the next moment, the violent earthquake caused by the collapse of the dimensional space and the strike of the space-based weapon was quickly transmitted around the location of the dimensional space.

Buzz~

“¥%%&amamp;!!”

Boom! Bang Bang Bang!

With little time to react, the frightened voices of the Dark Elf warriors still fighting Iron Man were halfway through their cries before the shock wave shattered them, along with the Iron Man suits in front of them.

After destroying the Dark Elves in the area of interdimensional space and destroying the Iron Man suits that were “systemically incorrect,” the blast hit the electromagnetic energy barrier that had been placed by the super mobile team.

The barrier of electromagnetic energy that had been strong enough to block the onslaught of the Dark Elf warriors remained there for a while before the ground shook and the semitransparacters dissolved, releasing the shock waves inside.

Boom!

...

Earth, inside SHIELD's base in Siberia. Since Iron Man and Spiderman had both come out and left in a hurry, the portal has continuously sent strong space fluctuations. Then, Rogers quickly retreated with the Earth team that participated in the S-Plan.

However, Captain Rogers was the last of the team. When he finally returned through the portal, he was too weak to pick up a shield. After his last words to the commander, Rogers passed out like the other seriously wounded men. And his words were: Defend the portal at all costs!

Originally, Rogers was going to say if you can't hold it then destroy the portal with your most powerful attack. While they don't yet know how to destroy such a stable portal, Rogers won't risk the Dark Elf race on the other side attacking Earth.

Fortunately, after Rogers and his crew returned to Earth, there was a strong space wave coming out of the space portal, but no Dark Elf came out of it. As a result, SHIELD commanders would not dare to do anything with the portal while Rogers, the key decision-maker, was unconscious.

Actually, Rogers and others didn't even know that the support coming from the Dark Elf side is not very strong, because most of the Dark Elves' combat power has been taken away by Malekith, and the others have also joined the battle with Asgard.

Therefore, after driving back the enemies who invaded their territory, those Dark Elves did not think about continuing to pursue their enemies through the Portal.

These Dark Elves will not make a move unless they get further instructions from Malekith. However, Malekith's situation is unknown and at the very least, he won't give any instructions to the Dark Elves who are staying at the base camp for a while.

No one knew if this was a coincidence or if the Will of the World made a move again. Since Lin Rui began his search for the Magic Cube, everything has been very chaotic, and Lin Rui has encountered dangers that threaten his life more than once.

Chapter 799: Tranquil

And now, the earth is also involved in the battle between Dark Elves and Asgard, the Magic Cube has fallen into human hands and the Reality Stone has appeared again. If Lin Rui can persevere his life this time then he will definitely have a headache when he wakes up.

...

On Earth, there is a little town on the border between Mexico and the United States. It is surrounded by mountains and water and is far from the city, it is a perfect place for those seeking peace and quiet.

Life in this town is really quiet and simple. The population of the town is only a few hundred people, and there is almost no communication with people outside the town.

The occasional passer-by is either a hiker or a lost person, who quickly leaves after admiring the natural beauty. After all, the town's modern amenities are so primitive that the average person can't stand them for long.

In this remote town, a small river stretches down from the mountain. On both sides of the small river are large and small wooden houses. These are the houses of the residents of this small town.

And on such a quiet afternoon, which was perfect for a nap, the door of one of these wooden houses near the river silently opened. Then a big, bearded man came out of the room.

The man wore simple clothes and didn't care much about dressing himself cleanly, but his exposed body showed that he had at least some strength.

After stepping out of the hut, the burly man took a wandering look at the river in front of him and the trees on the other side. Then, as if remembering what he had come to do, the big man's eyes began to focus and he look back at the track that led out of town.

Huhu~

After the burly man's eyes had been fixed on the gravel path for a while, the sound of a car's tires rolling over the gravel gradually came from behind it. Then an old pickup truck came staggering up the gravel road.

The pickup carried a total of five people. There was a middle-aged man and a woman in the front, and three young people sat in the back of the pick-up truck. At this time, the chatter of the three young people also slowly came over.

"We have fun this time!"

"But the time was too short, I still wanted to go to many places!"

"Then let's go there next time."

"Next time, we have to wait for a month..."

"Be content with what we did! If it hadn't been for my Uncle Bourne, would you ever have gone out?"

"Ah! Right! I heard your uncle Bourne was having a problem with Miss Faith..."

"Shh!... Keep quiet!"

Whoosh!

Card!

As the pickup truck waddled up to the burly man's cabin, it came to a slow halt. Then, the passenger seat door opened and Miss Faith, whom the teenager had mentioned in the trunk, got out.

"Thanks for driving me back, Bourne." When she got out of the car, Miss Faith smiled and thanked Bourne in the car.

"Haha, it's fine. If you even need to go to town then tell me and I will drive you there." Bourne said with a smile on his face after hearing Faith's words.

"Well, then I'll go back first." Nodding her head, Faith raised her feet and walked over to the wooden house.

"Okay! See you next time!" In response, Bourne stepped on the accelerator and set off again.

"Hey! Logan, come to our place for a drink when you have time!" As the pickup slowly drove past the wooden house, a teenager sitting in the car suddenly shouted to the burly man standing at the door of the wooden house.

"We'll see." Facing the invitation of the young man, the man standing at the door of the wooden house just answered lightly.

Huhu~

Then, the pickup drove a few of them slowly along the gravel road into the depths of the woods.

"Logan, why did you come out today? Is there something wrong?" After the pickup truck left, Faith, who had walked to the front of the wooden house, looked at the burly man and asked.

Miss Feith, as Bourne and the boys called her, looked very young and pretty, and could not have been more than thirty. But in her black hair, there were strands of white hair that looked dyed. However, most beautiful women don't wear this color as it makes them look old.

And this beautiful Miss Feith, with her peculiar hair color, had just called the big man Logan, just as the young man had called him. In other words, the burly man with the stubble is a former member of the X-Men: Wolverine!

Then, Feith's own identity is also very easy to guess. Her real name is Anna Marie, and she also used to be in X-Men and was called... Rogue.

At Rogue's words, Logan's eyes lit up and he said, "Just got a call from America."

Anna's eyes flicker at Logan's answer, but she soon becomes calm.

"Oh, are those old friends? When I went to town today, I also heard a lot about some big things happening in the world now. It seems that they are ready to go on the world stage again." Rogue said while walking to the wooden house.

"They are not preparing, they are already on the world stage. And they're betting pretty much everything on it." Logan continued to speak after seeing Rogue's attitude.

"Yeah? And who made the call this time? Hank or Professor Charles?" Rogue asked without any expression on her face.

"It wasn't Hank or Charles, it was... Robert."

Squeak!

After hearing Logan's answer, Rogue who had stepped on the stairs in front of the wooden house suddenly stopped. It seems that because of too much force, there was a sound of wood squeezing under her feet.

"What did he say?"

...

On Earth, Stark Industries Building, New York. Deadpool, who was surrounded by people finally came to the fifth underground floor and saw Lin Rui, who was very closely guarded. Of course, Deadpool also saw Harry and Thor outside the infirmary.

"Deadpool! Why are you here?" After seeing Deadpool, Harry, who has been discussing with Thor how to save Lin Rui from such a dangerous situation more safely, subconsciously cries out.

However, what Harry doesn't realize is that he is now Harry Osborn and not the Dark Knight of the League of Defenders.

Deadpool had only seen Lin Rui's face and had no idea who Spiderman and the rest of the League of Defenders were. Deadpool, of course, didn't even know Thor.

"When did I get so famous? Even the CEO of OsCorp knows me!" Deadpool said with a surprised expression on his face when he heard Harry's shout.

Harry: "..."

Chapter 800: Hurries Back

Harry knew exactly what Deadpool was saying but he was a little embarrassed by his outburst and didn't explain anything, so he let Deadpool get the wrong idea.

"Well, I am familiar with your work." In the end, Harry simply followed Deadpool's words.

"Oh?! Really? What do you know about me?!" At first, Deadpool thought that this Boss of OsCorp just happened to know his name, but now it seems that he knows him, so of course, Deadpool needs to ask some more questions.

Harry: "..."

"Ahem, what are you doing here?" Without intending to answer Deadpool's words, Harry decisively changed the subject.

"Uh... By the way, I'm here to tell you that we, and by we, I mean the League of Defenders have a way to save the guy inside." Deadpool quickly said after hearing Harry's words.

"League of Defenders have a way to save Jackson?!" Harry spoke with a surprised expression on his face after hearing Deadpool's words.

Harry was also a member of the League of Defenders, and if the League of Defenders had a way then how could he not know about it.

However, Harry's thinking was wrong. Because Jerry was too anxious, he didn't tell Harry what he thought of. Actually, Jerry had forgotten that Harry had reached the Stark Industries building to see Lin Rui.

"Yes, I think JARVIS should already know what to do by now. If you have any doubts, you can ask him." Seeing Harry's disbelief, Deadpool explained it simply.

"JARVIS? I'll..." Harry's eyes flashed when he heard Deadpool's words, and he had already contacted Jerry directly.

Then, Harry got the plan to save Lin Rui from Jerry. After listening to Jerry's approach, Harry also felt that their approach was better than Thor's. However, Jerry's approach is also very uncertain. That is, Jerry can't be sure whether X-Men can get Rogue back. If Rogue didn't come back, then Jerry's plan would not work.

"It's still better than having no hope!" Harry thought silently in his heart after confirming that the X-Men were already trying their best to find Rogue.

"By the way, do you know what that thing he's holding in his hand? That thing has been supporting him until now, right?" Just after Harry had gotten the plan from Jerry, Deadpool pointed to the infirmary and asked.

"Well, the reason Jackson is hovering between life and death is because of the residual dark energy in his wounds. What Jackson is holding in his hand was not able to counter those dark energies, but it was able to provide Jackson with a special type of energy that kept pulling his life force back.” After Deadpool asked the question, Harry simply replied.

“Since you have come here then you know that Jackson is a very amazing person, and it wouldn’t be too strange for him to have such a thing,” Harry added after answering.

“Well, of course, I’m not surprised that this guy has this kind of thing in his hands. It’s just that I feel a little familiar with this thing.” Hearing Harry’s words, Deadpool nodded and said.

Speaking of which, it’s true that Deadpool is familiar with the Heart of Life in Lin Rui’s hands. Because, when he was on that alien planet, Deadpool was also attacked by that B-Grade plant monster. And this heart of life is what Lin Rui got from the monster’s body, so it’s normal for Deadpool to feel familiar.

“Huh?.....”

“By the way, I haven’t introduced you guys. This is Deadpool, a member of the League of Defenders. And this... er, he’s a friend of Jackson’s.” Harry didn’t think much about what Deadpool said and then started to introduce Deadpool and Thor to each other.

“Well, I know him.” Facing Harry’s introduction, Thor simply nodded and had no plans to communicate further with Deadpool.

Deadpool: “...” Seeing Thor’s attitude, Deadpool certainly wouldn’t take the initiative to say anything.

Then, outside the ward where Lin Rui was receiving the most high-end medical care from JARVIS, Deadpool was waiting for other news. Of course, they are also paying attention to Lin Rui’s life all the time.

While Deadpool and the others were watching Lin Rui’s situation, Tony, who was rushing back finally came back to New York. Along the way, Tony has learned from JARVIS that Harry and Jerry have some ways to save Lin Rui’s life at this time.

However, none of these solutions seemed so certain to Tony. Therefore, Tony had to see Lin Rui’s situation as soon as possible before making a decision.

From the very first time he knew Lin Rui, Tony took care of this talented young man as a very important junior. Especially since Tony knew that Lin Rui was Mirage Knight, he was very grateful to Lin Rui for saving his life a few times.

And Lin Rui’s identity is also very sensitive, if it wasn’t for Tony’s help, Lin Rui’s Mirage Knight’s identity would probably have been all over the city long ago.

For Lin Rui and later Spiderman Peter, Tony has his own sense of responsibility towards them. He may not be as old as these two boys in many respects, but he will do his best to protect them.

For example, Tony has long suspected that Lin Rui inherited the legacy of an extraterrestrial high-tech civilization lost to Earth. However, he did not speak about it with Lin Rui but cooperated with him to make their relationship more stable.

So this time, Tony is responsible for Lin Rui's life, and Tony Stark may not approve of the solutions that others think are feasible. He can't make a decision until he sees the problem. And if Rogue is the only safe way and if the X-Men don't get her back then Tony Stark will do whatever it takes to get her back.

"Sir, the battle over London has ended, and the dimensional space has been shattered by the impact of the space-based weapon. The beasts and warriors of the Dark Elves who rushed out of the dimensional space have all died, and the casualties of the SHIELD London branch are Ten Units or so." JARVIS' voice rang in Tony's ear as he rushed into New York and was about to arrive home.

"Okay. The Helicarrier and the Damascus Reese Sword system have been dispatched. If Coulson couldn't even destroy one dimension with these things then he and SHIELD are useless." Hearing JARVIS' report, Tony spoke without any change in his expression.

Brush!

In the next moment, Tony rushed to the top floor of the Stark Industries building in the center of New York. There, Pepper was looking up at the sky with a worried look on her face.