

Master Odell's Secret Ex-wife by Eggsoup

Chapter 1081

Chapter 1081 The maid put the tray in front of Sherry and muttered," Hurry up and eat. Don't let anyone find out."

Sherry quickly lifted the lid of the teapot and teacup.

In the teapot were two large and juicy drumsticks , and the teacup was filled with freshly squeezed orange juice.

"Baby, I love you to death!" Sherry threw a wink to the maid and picked up the drumstick to gnaw on it. The spicy drumstick and the sweet and sour orange juice were simply heavenly to her taste buds. However, just as she was indulging in the food, there was a sudden commotion outside the door. Sherry froze. "Hide the drumstick. I'll go check," the maid said warily and ran to the door. Sherry continued to bite into the drumstick. John had gone out on a business trip, and the task of the bodyguards outside the door was to watch her so she did not leave the courtyard. Thus, even if they saw her secretly eating a drumstick, they would not go so far as to snitch on John. As soon as she had that thought, the door suddenly opened from the outside. The maid was standing behind the door, and Sherry yelled in fright, "Watch out! Get away!" The maid hurriedly stepped back. The door slammed into the wall and did not hit her. Sherry was just about to sigh in relief when a familiar voice sounded outside the door. "Sherry? What are you doing here?!" Looking at Shannon standing right in front of the door, Sherry's hand holding the drumstick froze in mid-air. At that moment, Julie was being helped up from the ground by two bodyguards. The little shuttle car which had fallen on its side was also being propped up by some bodyguards. Sherry took a glance and more or less guessed what was happening. Shannon and Julie were most likely sitting in the shuttle car and passing by this courtyard when the car accidentally fell over, hitting the people inside and also knocking the door open. However, the shuttle car was usually fine. Why did it coincidentally fall right in front of the door here? "Sherry, I'm talking to you. Why are you here?" Shannon stepped in and glared at Sherry, but her voice was full of grievance as if she was being bullied. Sherry's lips twitched. Then, she sat back down and bit into the drumstick while saying, "Didn't that sh*tty John tell you?" "How could you call Master Stockton that? Also, what didn't he tell me?" "He didn't tell you that he locked me up in here." Sherry picked up the teacup and took a large sip of orange juice. Shannon's face turned ashen. At that moment, Julie also walked in from the door. "Ms. Shannon, let's go out first. John won't be happy if he knows we came in." Shannon's eyes instantly reddened. She held back her tears and said politely to Julie, "Ms. Julie, can you let me have a few words with my sister alone? Don't worry, I won't tell Master Stockton that we saw her." Julie's expression flickered slightly. "All right." Then, she turned around and walked out of the courtyard. The bodyguards were only responsible for keeping Sherry from going out and did not care about anything else. They all stood outside the door without moving. Soon, Shannon walked in front of Sherry. The maid saw the situation and wanted to come over, but Sherry shot her a look, and she withdrew with a puffing face. Shannon sized Sherry up. She no longer kept up pretenses and asked with a cold and blunt face, "Why are you here?" Sherry took a bite of the drumstick. "If you can be here, why can't I?" Shannon's expression showed disgust. Thinking of the party where she saw Sherry, she asked again, "Have you been here all this time?" "Yep, I've been here for about a year." Shannon choked, and her expression could not help but twist. Sherry simply ate the drumstick with gusto. Her mouth and hands were covered with oil stains. Shannon was disgusted and furious. "Can you stop eating for one second?" "Nope." Sherry took another large bite.
