

Master Odell 1161

Chapter 1161 "Okay." Without thinking much, Sylvia put Flint into his arms and said, "Take care of Flint for a while. The first round of competition is this afternoon, so I have to get ready." The judges' duty was to rate the works of the participants, but as head judge, Sylvia had much more responsibilities than the others.

Sylvia went upstairs and left the father and son alone.

Odell pursed his lips at Sylvia's back which disappeared beyond the stairs.

He then grabbed Flint and stopped him from reaching his neck.

Sylvia went up to her studio on the third floor.

She went through the competition agenda once more and tidied up the necessary documents.

After she was done, she glanced at her watch and noticed that there were twenty minutes left until ten o'clock.

She performed one last check on everything and went downstairs.

Odell was sitting on the couch in the living room.

He had a book in one hand while his other held onto Flint's bum to prevent him from falling off the couch.

When Sylvia came down, he put the book away.

Flint called her and extended his arms.

"Mommy!" Sylvia was about to meet Lily, so she went to the door instead of going to Flint.

Chapter 1162 Sylvia was surprised. She expected an apology , not Lily confessing that she had looked down on her. It seemed like Lily had turned over a newleaf.

Sylvia assured, "It's okay."

Lily smiled.

She pushed the box to Sylvia once more and wore a sincere look.

"Sylvia, I picked this for you.

Please accept it.

If you don't, I won't be able to forgive myself." Sylvia felt helpless.

"It's fine.

It's history, and you've apologized.

I don't hate you anymore, so why are you doing this to yourself?" Lily lowered her head.

"I heard ...

from my grandfather that you suffered from severe depression back then." Sylvia pursed her lips.

"I'm sorry, Sylvia," she said.

She sounded much more natural and sincere than before.

In turn, she smiled back.

Chapter 1163 Sylvia strode out of the coffee shop and found Odell with Flint beside the car. Odell’s towering figure with the adorable Flint in his arms easily turned heads.

Sylvia strode over to them.

Flint gurgled as he snuggled into his mother's arms.

Odell stroked her head and subtly glanced into the cafe." You were in there for a while.

What did she say to you?"

Sylvia frowned.

"It was just ten minutes.

It wasn't that long." Odell curled his lips.

"Then, what did she say to you?" Sylvia honestly said, "She apologized and wanted to give me a gift to make up for it, but I didn't take it." "What else?" Sylvia pondered.

"She looked sincere.

I wonder what Master Springsteen said to her that changed her so drastically.

She even admitted that she shouldn't have looked down on me and confessed that she worked with Thomas before." Odell's expression turned grim when he heard Thomas's name.

Chapter 1164 The art competition was in full swing. As the head judge, Sylvia had to inspect and rate the contestants' entries one by one, round by round.

She also had to discuss with the other judges to get their agreement before giving the final rating.

Many hardworking and talented contestants survived round after round of elimination.

The elimination round also discarded many other mediocre entries.

One month had gone by since the start of the competition.

The competition reached its final round.

After Sylvia, Simon, and the others gave the final rating to the champion, the first and the second runner-ups, the competition officially ended.

The champion and the second runner-up were two boys from the art academy while the first runner-up was just a middle schooler.

Sylvia, Simon, and the other veteran artists presented the prize to all three winners.

Christopher then took the stage to present an inspiring speech as a conclusion to the month-long competition.

Sylvia took a group photo with the staff and winners before she came down from the stage.

Odell was in the audience seat.

While she was walking toward him, a bunch of contestants who were eliminated in the earlier rounds surrounded her and passionately asked her for pictures.

Chapter 1165 Sylvia asked, "What's wrong?" Odell's expression remained heavy. Annoyed, she pouted and tapped his shoulder. "Come on, tell me what happened." "John got married." Sylvia's eyes went wide with shock.

"When? When did he get married?" "A month ago." "To Shannon?" "Yeah." The thought of her friend claiming to be free from chores and getting the freedom to eat and drink rushed into her mind.

She asked, "What about Sherry? Has John released her?" "No." Sylvia frowned.

"Where is she now?" Odell stroked her head and said softly, "John must be keeping her outside of the Stocktons' residence after the wedding, but he went on a business trip on the same day of his wedding and has not come back since then." Sylvia sighed a breath of relief.

If John was not around, he would not be able to go to Sherry, and she would stop becoming his lover, at least for now.

Sylvia knew what happened.

Even if Sherry was forced to be John's lover, she would never give up on her friend.

The Sherry she knew was a tolerant person, but once anything crossed her moral line, she would challenge and defy whatever opposed her beliefs even if it cost her her life.

Being a lover to her ex while he was married to her sister was not something she could accept.

Sylvia pondered.

Chapter 1166 One night before the opening ceremony , Sherry texted her to cheer her on. John and Shannon's wedding must have just gotten married around that time.

One month has passed since then.

Sylvia had texted Sherry a few times since then, yet Sherry had not once revealed that she was still being imprisoned by John.

Sylvia sighed.

She texted Sherry and asked, "Where are you?" "I'm still in Glenchester," Sherry answered.

"Glenchester? Where is John holding you?" The screen activity went silent after that last text.

Sherry did not text back regarding her location.

Sylvia wanted to call her but her call was rejected.

Sylvia was about to curse out loud when she received a text from Sherry.

“Sylvia, please don’t be mad.

It's not that I don't want to tell you, it's just that I don't even know where I am now.” Sylvia's gaze shifted and she continued texting her.

Meanwhile, at the southern suburbs at Glenchester, Sherry was locked in the room with her phone.

She was on the bed as she tapped on the screen.

She opened her eyes and saw the man snapping pictures of her sleeping with a gentle smile on his face.

"Good morning, sleepy head." Snap! He took another picture before he pocketed his phone.

Sherry was rendered speechless.

Her face paled as she stared at him.

After a few seconds, she raised her hand and slapped herself on the head.

'Why is this b*stard here? I must be having a nightmare!' After slapping herself twice, she looked at him again.

John's tall figure was still beside her, looking at her from behind his golden -framed glasses.

He was puzzled as to why Sherry had slapped her own head.

Sherry's gaze cleared and she slapped her own face again.

Then, as though he could not think of anything better for her to do, he seemed to pluck a suggestion out of thin air.

"Be my servant.

Serve me tea and whatnot.

Oh, and prepare my bath for me." "Do you have a death wish?" A servant that served him tea and prepared his bath?! John narrowed his eyes with a wider grin.

"Not enough? Then you can wash my feet as well." Sherry choked as her anger began to boil.

Before she could vent it, he said, "Sherry, you have two options here: you can either put on an apron and be my servant, or take off your clothes and be my lover." The smile on his face slowly faded as he spoke, leaving only a look of grim indifference on his face.

Sherry shrank back in fear but she quickly recovered her composure.

She forced a smile on her face and said, "Master Stockton, would you like some tea, or a bath, or would you like me to wash your feet?" John's lips curled up sardonically.

Sylvia shut her eyes and went back to sleep, but she opened her eyes when Odell came back in after the call.

He walked to her and looked at her, as if he wanted to tell her something. She asked, "What happened? Did something happen?" "They found out where Sherry is." Sylvia sat herself up. "What about Sherry? Were they able to get her out?" "They were one step too late. The house is already empty, leaving only a maid who had been assigned to look after her while she was there." A short pause later, he continued, "John might have taken her away again."

Sylvia frowned. She reached out to her phone to contact Sherry.

It was then she saw Sherry's message from two hours ago.

Due to the brightness of the day, Sherry clearly noticed the looks of disgust on Madam Stockton and Julie's faces as Shannon showed affection and Julie Chapter 1170 There was a wicked smile on John's face, while the other ladies were shocked by Sherry's appearance. A look of shock and disbelief was all over their faces. Sherry was also startled and the piece of cucumber fell out of her hand. She quickly recovered her composure and put her hand up. "Hi, we meet again." The ladies stared at her coldly.

Sherry said, "I didn't want to come back here. John was the one who made me do it."

The ladies looked at John. Madam Stockton frowned and asked unhappily, "John, why did you bring her back?" Shannon was his legal wife, yet he had brought Sherry home. What would people say about him if this matter got out?

Shannon immediately clung onto his arm and looked at him with teary eyes. "John, why did you bring Sherry back? Was she by your side during the whole month that you were away on your business trip?"
