

Master Odell 1171

Chapter 1171 Although Sherry had previously stayed here for more than a year, she had mostly been restricted to one section of the house only.

She had rarely, if ever, been allowed to access the other parts of the house.

Therefore, she was not very familiar with the yard.

Shortly after, she found herself in a large courtyard, it was as if she had stepped into an entirely new and foreign world.

However, the architecture in this section was not as intricate as the area where she previously stayed in.

A modern and minimalist design was adopted in the yard.

It resembled a fairly upper-class hotel.

There was a lobby and more rooms connected to the yard as well.

She surveyed the area and asked, "Uncle Marlow, do all the staff members live here?" Marlow informed dutifully, "Yes, this is where all the housemaids and bodyguards spend the night." "Ah." Sherry nodded.

Several rooms happened to be open and she glanced inside them to get an idea of what they looked like.

Chapter 1172 The entire time she had lived here previously, Sherry had never seen this lady before. While Sherry was still sizing the intimidating lady up, she approached the side of the bed and introduced herself formally, "Miss Sherry, my name is Emerence Foster.

I'm the housekeeper of this block and in charge of helping Marlow to oversee all of you.

You may address me as Aunt Emerence.

That's what everyone calls me."

Sherry nodded, "I see.

Is there anything else?" Emerence frowned deeply and the expression on her face immediately grew more stern.

"Get off the bed right this moment and stand up! Nobody would ever remain seated when I speak to them, let alone lying down!" Sherry wanted to get up, but she felt as if a strange force was holding her to the bed.

She said with a casual smile, "I'm sorry about that.

Just tell me which room she's in and i'll look for her myself." Emerence exchanged a look with Marlow.

Marlow informed promptly, "She's in the sixth room of the south wing." Splash! A bucket of ice-cold water suddenly splashed across her face.

Sherry was rudely jolted awake from her sleep and her eyes immediately snapped open only to meet Shannon's dark scowl.

She was soaked in cold water and her bed was ruined as well.

She immediately jumped out of the bed and got onto her feet.

She glared murderously at Shannon, "Shannon Fowler, what is your problem?" Aiming a look full of mockery and contempt at her, Shannon shouted, "Sherry Fowler, you wretched b*tch!" Sherry frowned. Immediately after that, Shannon threw the empty bucket in Sherry's direction.

Chapter 1174 This struck a nerve in Shannon and she glared at Sherry. Sherry smiled coyly, "Oh yeah, he gave me two choices actually.

I had to either be his lover or his housemaid." Shannon's expression darkened.

Sherry seemed to see some humor in this and said, "The truth is that you disgust me but I couldn't go against my principles, so I ended up choosing the second option." "Sherry..." Shannon gnashed her teeth so hard that she would grind them into powder if she continued.

Sherry continued chuckling, "Don't look at me like that, you Fowlers are the reason that I ended up here in the first place." Something seemed to shift inside Shannon upon hearing this but she continued to regard Sherry with a look of contempt.

Sherry was aware of this as well.

She had never intended to gain Shannon's sympathy by telling her that she had ended up in her current state due to her sacrificing herself for the Fowlers.

She was not that naive.

She went on, "Having said that, we all know how unpredictable your dear John is.

Now that I'm stuck here, who knows if he's going to barge in here one of these days and force himself on me? There's no way I can fight him off so don't blame me if I somehow end up becoming the mistress and somehow get in between the two of you." Shannon was enraged by this claim, "I promise you that you'll have a fate worse than death if you ever do something like that with him!" "Well, you should tell him that instead, not me.

She exclaimed out loud, "Hahaha ...

John, come and take a look at your wife, she looks so funny!" LT John was silent.

Sherry smiled and turned to Shannon again.

Shannon had removed the bucket off her head, revealing her sorry state underneath.

Her wet hair clung to her scalp and her face had gone pale.

She cast a sorrowful look at John with red puffy eyes.

Her look would have invoked sympathy if not for her ruined makeup that made her look like a third-rate actor in the role of a ghost in a horror film.

Sherry was still cackling away like a mad woman.

Her stomach was beginning to hurt from all that laughing, so she did all she could to suppress her laughter.

Shannon pitifully pleaded for help, "John..." John glanced at her, then he looked at the puddle of water all over the floor and the bucket on the ground.

He turned to Sherry.

Sherry brushed the clumps of her wet hair away from her forehead and folded her arms across her chest before stating, "It was her who splashed water over my face first." "I didn't!" Shannon defended herself, "John, she's saying this to make me look bad.

Chapter 1176 This immediately provoked a strong reaction from Sherry. John grinned in satisfaction, clearly aware of what he had just done and took pride in it.

If not for her still-recovering hip and calf, she would have eagerly filled another bucket full ofice-cold water and splashed it all over his smug face! "I won't eat then.

Who cares about eating the stinking food that you serve at your place!" She yelled before leavingthe bathroom with a towel wrapped snugly around her.

Noticing that he was not intending to leave, she cast a pointed glare at him and said,"I'm going to bed, so get out of here already!" John remained standing in the same spot and slowly darted his eyes across the bed that was nowhere near dried up yet.

He suddenly asked, "Who was it who arranged for you to sleep in this room?" "How would I know?" The scowl onher face was as unpleasant as her voice.

There was a subtle change in his expression as he proceeded to inform her, "This room is only for house members of a senior position, you're not qualified to use this room just yet." LI Sherry balled her hands into a fist.

She was completely consumed with rage and challenged John with a menacing scowl, "You b*stard, are you trying to pick a fight here?" She could get over Shannon splashingwater over her face to wake her up.

She could also get over John's decision to punish her by not allowing her to eat for a day even though it had been Shannon's fault to begin with.

However, this was the limit for her! How dare he tell her that she did not deserve to sleep in thisroom? How dare he kick her out?! What sort of ridiculous logic was this! John frowned sharply but quickly regained his composure.

instinctively snuck a look at Hailey's collar.

Sherry asked, "Hey Hailey, what rank are you?" Hailey cocked an eyebrow curiously and answered, "I'm a level two staff." "Hey, that's not so bad." Hailey snorted disinterestedly then fixed a long look on Sherry's face, "Why is your face so red? Are you sick?" Sherry put a hand to her forehead.

She was burning up.

She must have caught a fever.

"I guess I caught a cold.

I'll be fine after I get some rest." Sherry smiled and asked, "Hailey, do you have anything to eat?" Her stomach was growling and she barely had any strength to lift a muscle.

She had to find something to eat as soon as possible.

Hailey frowned, "The only place we can get food around here is at the cafeteria but we can only eat there at the appointed time.

You're not allowed to bring food back into the rooms." A thought suddenly occurred to her as she offered, "But I can help you get some medicine from Emerence." Sherry sighed softly, "Okay, that'll do." Hailey was very efficient and returned very shortly after with the medicine she mentioned.

Sherry took two pills and drank them with two glasses of hot water.

Why don't you get ready to settle in for the night? You have to work tomorrow, so we should get some early rest." She uttered the word 'we' with a hint of shyness.

John smiled tenderly, treating her gently as always.

He spoke softly, "You can go to sleep first.

I need to go to the office later to deal with some urgent matters that just came up." 1 Shannon's face changed.

However, before she could get a word out, John insisted, " I'll leave after you sleep." He put a hand out and gently touched her forehead.

Shannon pursed his lips and nodded obediently , albeit with a touch of reluctance.

She took his hand into hers and closed her eyes.

John gazed at her silently, his eyes were two pools of still water without the slightest bit of ripple within them.

1 After some time had passed, Shannon's breathing took on a slow and steady rhythm.

Only then did he carefully withdraw his hand and rose from the bed.

Shortly after that, his dark and tall figure strode out of the room.

Shannon immediately opened her eyes after he left.

She quickly got out of bed and approached the window.

John gave Sherry yet another pill.

Just like the previous pill, she swallowed this one without any resistance and proceeded to finish the entire glass of water before beginning to nibble at the edge of the glass again.

It took some considerable effort for John to pull the glass away.

There was nothing but a peaceful silence within the room.

It was so silent that John could faintly hear Sherry's stomach as it growled and demanded for food.

John frowned. 1

After a while, he gently tucked her back into the bed. Then, he went to the entrance and looked for Marlow who was nearby and ready to provide assistance at any given notice, "Go get some food."

Marlow nodded agreeably and quickly went away.

Shortly after, he returned with a variety of food, even including some sweet cakes for dessert.

John took the tray and thanked him, "Thank you, go get some rest."

Marlow did not smile but answered in an amiable voice, "

Alright, Master."

With that, he turned and walked away.

Chapter 1180 After a few seconds, a loud burst of laughter ripped through the silence.

Sherry was the one who was roaring with laughter.

John seemed to take a second to process what had just happened to him, before he winced ominously and stared at her.

Sherry quickly restrained her laughter and continued to nibble on the drumstick as if nothing had happened.

One could tell by her expression that she was very amused by what had just happened.

John took a clean white handkerchief out of his pocket and wiped his face with it. Then, he simply tossed it into a trashcan next to the bed.

He looked at Sherry who was still eating and pretending as if nothing had happened and smirked, "Eat slowly, don't choke."

Sherry flashed a smile, "Don't worry, you're more likely to choke to death before I do."

John did not respond to this and only continued to stare at her gloomily.
