

Master Odell 1371

Chapter 1371

Thomas's face was still fair and handsome, and even the buzz cut could not hide his youth and elegance.

When Ruth looked at him, he quirked his lips at her and said in a gentle voice, "Mom, you're here."

Ruth swiped a hand under her nose and looked at him with tears in her eyes. "Thomas, how have you been doing here these past few years?"

"Let's sit down and talk." He gestured to her. It was very different from his cold and aloof behavior from the past. Now, whether it was his appearance or actions, he was very gentle and mild in temperament.

Ruth sat across from him and stared at him intently.

Thomas smiled faintly at her. "I came here of my own violation."

Ruth was stunned.

"I've done many things to hurt them. Grandma became a vegetable, Sylvia suffered from depression, and there were many other bad things that I've done," he said calmly. "I wanted to atone for my sins, so I came here."

The sky darkened, and the cold night emerged.

Ruth's eyes were still red when she came out.

Cliff and a few bodyguards sized her up suspiciously when they saw her.

Her expression shifted, and she took sunglasses from her bag and put them on.

Cliff smiled and asked, "What did Second Master Carter tell you, Madam?"

Ruth ignored him, went straight past the black MPV, and sat in the ordinary sedan behind. Then, she said to Jacob in the driver's seat, "Take me to the airport."

Jacob exchanged a look with Cliff outside the car.

Madam Carter went back to her room to rest.

The three little ones were playing games in their room.

Odell asked Aunt Tonya, "Aunt Tonya, did Sylvia contact you today?" Aunt Tonya replied, "She called me last night, but she hasn't contacted me today."

"Did she say anything to you last night?"

Aunt Tonya smiled. "She said that she might be back today."

Odell's eyes lit up. His mood, which had been dull for a while, suddenly cheered up.

She had not contacted Aunt Tonya and the little ones until now. Was it because she was already on the plane already?

He turned around and went back to the bedroom which was clean and tidy. A maid came in every day to clean it. He entered the checkroom and took out a comfortable pair of pajamas and slippers for her. She had been away for so many days and traveled the whole day today, so she must be exhausted upon returning.

He prepared all the things that she would use so that when the time came, she could just wash up and sleep soundly in his arms. After setting up everything, he took out his pajamas and entered the bathroom.

In the children's room, Isabel was looking at Flint. Flint had an innocent face. "I really didn't lend it to Daddy."

He only had a child's phone watch and had not even logged into his account. How could he have lent it to his father?

Liam, who was looking at his phone, suddenly said, "That's not Flint's account. Dad added himself using a fake account. His profile picture and username are the same as Flint's."

Isabel was stunned.

Flint also turned to look at him

Liam looked at them and said, "Dad disguised himself as Flint on purpose."

Isabel and Flint were both speechless.

After a moment, as the group admin, Isabel asked, "When did he join the group? Also, where did Flint's number go? Why don't I know what's going on here?"

"It should be the night when the group was first created. Dad confiscated your phone once and used your phone to kick Flint out, then he added himself in."

Flint was so scared that he hid behind Isabel.

Liam pursed his lips. His expression looked calm as usual, but his wavering eyes betrayed his fear of Odell at that moment.

Odell glanced at him and looked behind him.

Isabel was like an ostrich shrinking its neck. Her face was buried behind her brother's back, not daring to look at him.

Instead, Flint peeked out from behind her. When he saw Odell's terrifying gaze, he was so scared that he immediately said, "Isabel kicked you out, Daddy. It has nothing to do with me."

Isabel could not help but look back and glare at him.

Flint immediately shrunk back.

Isabel weakly turned to Odell again. "Daddy, i—it was Mommy who told me to kick you out of the group."

Odell's sullen expression did not improve. He extended a hand toward her. "Give me your phone."

Isabel pursed her lips.

Chapter 1376

It was already late at night when Sylvia left the hospital.

Although the town was remote, there were many people on the streets of the famous tourist city. Her residence was also very close to the hospital. She arrived at the hotel after passing through two traffic lights.

She unlocked the door of the room, downed the medicine prescribed by the doctor with hot water, wrapped herself in a quilt on the bed, and fell asleep.

It was already the next morning when she opened her eyes again.

Sylvia took her temperature. 38.9 degrees Celsius. It was one degree lower than yesterday, but she still had a fever, so she had to go to the hospital. After a simple meal, she went to the hospital alone again.

There were many people in the outpatient department waiting for an IV drip, and Sylvia waited in line for a while. It was almost 3 in the afternoon before she finished three drips. Although she had no appetite, her stomach growled at her.

She was pale and walked along the side of the road, feeling lethargic. Then, she entered a restaurant serving light cuisine as she passed by.

Sylvia thought she was hallucinating and walked forward quickly.

After approaching him, she saw him clearly and was stunned. “Odell? What are you doing here?”

Odell watched with a sullen face as she came up to him. “ Isn’t your colleague sick? Weren’t you supposed to accompany her? What are you doing alone? Where are they—“His cold voice suddenly froze when he walked up to her. He saw her weak complexion and stared at her intently. “What happened to you? Why are you so pale?”

Sylvia looked at him and said, “Take a guess.” Her hoarse voice reached his ears clearly. Odell frowned. “Are you sick? The one who was sick was you, not your colleague?”

“Yeah.” Since he found her here, she had nothing else to hide.

Odell’s straight figure suddenly froze. After a moment, he raised his hand and touched her cheek. His expression was still unpleasant, but his palm was warm, and his movements were gentle.

Odell looked at her humble meal and frowned. "Yeah."

She had to eat now because she was ill. If he ordered another takeaway, it would take half an hour to arrive. It was better to let her eat first.

He let her go and closed the open window.

Then, he sat at the small table with her.

Sylvia ate while telling him briefly about how she got sick right after coming here, and everything else that had happened

Odell frowned after hearing this.

Tracing back the timeline, she had already started to have a fever when he caught a cold before. He had even been angry with her for several days because she had not seemed concerned.

His gaze sank as he looked at her. "Why didn't you tell me?"

Sylvia raised her brows. "I didn't want to talk to you back then."

Odell curled his lips. "I was wrong for raising my voice at you, but I didn't do it for her. I never meant to defend her. At that time, she was no different in my eyes from the other employees who work hard."

"Hmph. When she framed Charles, you stood by her persistently and completely ignored my explanation. I'm your wife, but you didn't stand by me at all in front of so many people!"

Sylvia got angry at the thought of that scene. She crossed her arms across her chest and looked at him huffily. Her appearance was quite cute.

Odell looked at her and explained slowly, "First of all, Shermaine and Charles are not related. I couldn't find any reason for Shermaine to frame Charles at that time. Besides, she was my secretary. Between Charles and her, of course, I'd favor her.

"Moreover, before the incident between Shermaine and Charles happened, I was waiting for you to reply to my message, but you never did. You also unconditionally helped the colleague who was interested in you. I was also very angry at that time."

There were times when his anger got the better of him and he lost his rationality.

Sylvia asked, "You said Charles is interested in me? What nonsense are you talking about?"

Sylvia clearly had no appetite before, but she finished almost all the food at once.

It was only when she was almost full that she thought of something. Her eyes looked at Odell with a smile. “Odell, would you like to eat some more?”

The man’s dark and deep eyes stared at her. He looked at her appearance and smiled. “Are you full?” Sylvia pursed her lips. “Almost.” That meant she could still eat.

Odell smiled and touched her head. “I’m not hungry. You can have some more.”

Well then.

Sylvia lowered her head and continued to eat.

In addition to the food, there were also cut fresh fruits.

After eating her fill, Sylvia sat next to him with the fruit. She ate two pieces herself and then pinched one for him to eat.
