

Master Odell 1841

Chapter 1841

Caprice felt a wave of crisis wash through her.

Compared to Moses, she had no ambition to speak of.

She would not even dare to compare herself to Liam and Heather.

They were all top graduates of Aleph University. Liam was practically a mythical figure, being the student who had achieved the highest grade ever in the history of the university.

His project, the Carter Tech City was once seen as an impossibility, but he realized his vision and brought it to reality.

Although Heather was nowhere near his level, she could do more than pull her weight. She was very efficient at work. It was no surprise that Liam would take a liking to her.

Ding!

It was Moses again. "Caprice, is everything okay? Was it something I said?"

Caprice replied reluctantly, "No, don't worry about it."

Moses advised her, "Caprice, even though you're still in your sophomore year and have two years to go until graduation, I suggest that you begin making plans for the future and think about what you want to do. The job market is very competitive now, so it's better to be prepared."

Only Caprice did not know what the

"Don't you have anything in mind? Something that you want to do in the curtly, "No."

not reply after that.

so baffled by Caprice's lack of ambition that he barely knew what to say

put down her phone and took

in the sky above.

room after

she saw two more messages from place? There happens to can offer you double the pay the offer. She told him, "Moses, I'm not familiar with administrative duties. Besides, I still have to go back to

I already have an administrative manager, so she'll take care of you and guide you. You can work here until the next semester starts, then you can but she was not very eager to work at Moses texted her again, "Is there anything you're explained, "No,

to seem ungrateful. After tossing and turning for a while, she replied, "Could you give me some summer break. Could

"Okay."

in the

Chapter 1842

Liam uploaded a new post ten minutes ago.

It was captioned: "Overtime."

Just like the post he made the same afternoon, he attached a picture of the view outside his office, the signature floor-to-ceiling windows were easy to recognize.

Carter Tech City was a poster metropolis at night. Every corner of the city was basked in dazzling lights, and it was a symbol of prosperity.

Caprice saved the picture to her phone and liked the post, making sure to leave a comment as well.

"Liam, I know you're busy but please make sure you get some rest."

She attached a cute sticker of a smiling cat.

After two minutes, she received a reply from Liam that read, "Got it."

She smiled.

Shortly after that, she received a notification on her phone.

It was a message from Heather. "Caprice, Carter Tech City is now open to the public, would you like to visit?"

Caprice scowled instinctively.

her to visit. Even if the city was closed to the public, she would never have any problem passing through its herself reply politely, "It's alright, I'm at my hometown

the weekends, but since you're sound as if she was the pompous attitude that colored every word she used made Caprice feel like punching from Heather. "Caprice, you don't have much assume that she had nothing to do person, she was boiling over with rage now.

idea suddenly occurred to her. She proceeded to reply, "I took up a job so I'm going to be quite busy for a while, I don't think I can find time to visit."

very intrigued by this new development in Caprice's life. "What vaguely as she could, "Just something to pick up some practical experience. Heather spoke with the same veiled condescension as usual, "In that case, good luck with work!

cordially,

face emoji along with another message. "You're had wrapped up their conversation at last, Caprice closed the chat immediately.

I made up my mind, I'm going to work with you. I promise to give it my going to

was going to do it to rub it in swiftly, "Great, when are you coming back to Westchester?"

Caprice replied, "Tomorrow."

Chapter 1843

She waited in their courtyard.

When John and Sherry got home, they stepped into the courtyard and immediately noticed Caprice lurking in the corner of the garden.

They hurriedly approached her.

"Caprice, what are you doing here? Aren't you supposed to be sleeping?" Sherry asked while pulling Caprice up, her legs had grown stiff from crouching for so long.

Caprice broached the subject immediately. "Mom, Dad, I have something I need to tell you."

Sherry was taken aback by this. What could be so urgent that it could not wait until the next morning?

John gently patted Caprice's head. "Come on, let's talk inside."

Caprice followed them into the living room.

After Caprice sat down, she took a sip from a cup of tea the housemaids brought to them. Then, she plucked up the courage and announced, "I'm planning to go back to Westchester tomorrow."

Both John and Sherry were caught off guard by this as it was so sudden.

Sherry asked, "You've only been here a few days, why the hurry?"

of suspicion in his voice, her head. "I'm going back to see my roommate and friend Freya. She got into some trouble with her family and know about her real purpose for going back. If they found out that she had. taken a meager and John exchanged a look.

bring her here. She can spend the summer at our place, it won't be any in Westchester because she needs to support herself.

eyes in suspicion.

was more to this as well.

them. "Mom, Dad,

took a

will you be

"In

a warm smile, "Alright, we'll take you to Westchester. It's a good chance for us to meet your friend as well. I feel better if we get to send Caprice smiled amiably. She had to admit that she was impressed by her father's sharp told them about Freya. Otherwise, her lies would be exposed on the settled, she took her seated in the living room and watched as she courtyard, Sherry turned to John. "Do you think

"No

their daughter was like. They could tell that think she's

Chapter 1844

She threw the door open and hopped out of the car.

Freya ran over to her and greeted her excitedly, "Caprice!"

She was going to hug Caprice when she noticed John and Sherry getting out of the car.

She suddenly stiffened and looked at the two approaching adults apprehensively.

John and Sherry smiled warmly at her.

Caprice was not sure why Freya had grown so nervous out of nowhere. She introduced her parents to her, "Freya, these are my parents."

Then, she turned to John and Sherry. "Mom, Dad, this is my roommate Freya."

Cool as always, John gave her a subtle nod.

Sherry smiled brightly and greeted Freya, "Hello.

"Hi there, Uncle and Auntie." Freya returned a nervous greeting.

"So it's going to be the two of you spending the summer break together, make sure you two look hesitate to contact me for help." Sherry produced a card from her purse and handed it to Freya. The it with care. "Alright, I understand."

Caprice again. "Caprice, we'll be leaving you now."

to give her a big hug. "Goodbye,

to not neglect her father and hugged him as ruffled her hair, then he entered the compound and swerved into the main road, disappearing

Freya let out

shot a queer look at her.

expressed in awe, "Caprice, your parents had seen someone whose mere presence seemed to equip a blurted out,

they could be supermodels. Now I know why you're so good-looking, you have superior

Caprice smiled.

she could agree

dormitory together after she had time to kill for now. After they cleaned company headquarters was just a humble little studio.

place was located at a plaza near the

Chapter 1845

Moses smiled at her.

Caprice said shyly, "Moses, you don't have to pick me up, I can go to the office myself."

"It's the summer break, you won't have much luck finding a cab around here. Let me give you a ride."

"There are a lot of public bicycles, I can just cycle there." The office was only a short distance from the dorm.

Moses fell into a pensive silence then he insisted again. "I live in the men's dorm right over there, I figured I might as well pick you up since it's just along the same route."

"I see, alright then."

Since they were taking the same route, it did make sense for him to pick her up.

Caprice said goodbye to him and got out of the car.

After making sure the girls had returned to the dorm safely, Moses drove back home.

Caprice never had a habit of staying up late.

Lana on the phone. To cap off the night, she went to check out Liam's profile and liked his latest posts. before was a dreamless night.

alarm clock rang at half past seven, she got up

did not start until the afternoon, so she was still sleeping shower

was not eight o'clock yet, but she could already spot Moses' car parked outside stood outside the car, basking in the warm glow of the morning gave his smile a comforting effect.

morning, Caprice,"

a smile. "Good something to eat so they would not start the day on an empty stomach. After that, they employees had arrived.

the vice president of the company approached with desk to give Moses some

"What's

them while murmuring, "I just picked her up of the city while your apartment is on the west. Explain to me how that is supposed to be 'along the way' as you

at him. "Hey, don't you have work for me to care about your romantic life, is it?" Kenneth threw his arms around Moses' shoulders while spying on Caprice from

Chapter 1846

"Are you Caprice?"

Caprice heard a voice from behind her.

She spun around and saw a man who looked somewhere in his thirties.

The man wore a navy blue suit. He was rather tall and there seemed to be a scent of alcohol that never left his body.

She answered politely, "That's me, and you are?"

"I'm Jonathan, your superior from now on." He observed Caprice's beautiful features before introducing himself with a coy smile.

Caprice smiled and greeted him formally, "Hi there, Mr. Jonathan."

He was one of Moses' business partners. He was his senior in university and was several years older than the rest of them. He was the only member in the administrative department and also helped oversee the sales. This was the first time Caprice met him since he was not around the office yesterday.

Jonathan smiled. "Not bad."

Most interns tend to be rather slow, which was understandable since it was their first time in a professional environment. It was a good sign that Caprice immediately knew to address him in a formal, professional tone.

Or so he thought. The truth was that Caprice was only doing it because she thought it was the polite thing to do.

could relay some information to Caprice. After that, he was gone again in no time to meet entrusted to Caprice were not difficult, but quite stayed busy until the day had hours, but everyone in the office was still working hard. The lights in Moses' office had been switched wanted to

a part-time worker, there should be nothing wrong with her clocking out after closing hours, especially in mind, she rose timidly

time to see Jonathan coming back to the eye contact with Caprice, he went up to her. "Caprice, pack up your out of curiosity, "Mr. Jonathan, where are to get something to eat.”

Something to eat?

hungry, but why was he taking her

her hesitation, Jonathan grew slightly impatient.

you give me a moment? I need to go to the “Go on.”

to

Everyone in the office

day in our office and she’s only

just a student!”

remarked with a wry smile, “She’s going to be bored out of her mind if she has to stay in the

Chapter 1847

Caprice hurriedly grabbed her purse and went up to Jonathan “Sorry for keeping you waiting Mr Jonathan, I’m ready to leave now”

Jonathan glanced at her purse, then he turned and walked outside.

Caprice followed behind him

Is your bag a counterfeit?” he asked candidly as they got into the elevator.

Caprice nodded hesitantly.

He asked more questions, “Where did you buy it? It looks just like the real thing.”

Caprice made up a lie. “I don’t know, it was a gift from my friend.”

Jonathan nodded and left it at that.

Then they got into his car.

They drove toward the city center.

Caprice watched the illusory streetlights and wondered where they were going.

Where was he going to take her for dinner?

car turned at a junction and stopped

was a very famous and high–end restaurant.

here several times

her somewhere so

want you to keep quiet. Don't say anything

Caprice frowned.

he mean

what was happening, they were already walking into the restaurant. John's lips curled into a practiced businessman-like smile. It was apparent that quietly followed

they went up the stairs, they found themselves

a round table. That was when Caprice caught a hint wealthy as they were large and plump.

moment Jonathan entered with Caprice, she could feel

if they had brushed past Jonathan's

She frowned.

world of business. Back then, she had most of the time as she would just need to drink a couple of bottles of beer and entertain her clients. However, there were on an innocent act to brush aside their advances. Sometimes, she would have to resort to stumble into such a situation on her very first day and greet them." Jonathan lowered his voice and hissed sharply in her ears.

made a strained expression.

Chapter 1848

Jonathan was not expecting such a fearless reaction from Caprice and was visibly taken aback.

After he reeled back from the shock and was still considering his response, President Michael remarked with a smile, "She's feisty, I like that."

He grabbed a glass of beer and rose from his seat. Then, he lapped around the table to Caprice's side so he could sit next to her.

He shot a cross look at Jonathan. "If she doesn't want to drink, let her be! Why are you forcing her to drink?"

Jonathan apologized.

With that, President Michael leaned in closer to Caprice. "Miss Caprice, you don't have to drink if you don't like to drink. Have a toast with me, you can drink whatever you want."

He raised his glass while coyly putting another arm around Caprice's waist.

Caprice recoiled.

She immediately shot up from her seat and snatched a glass of orange juice from the table. She smashed it toward the pervert's head without any hesitation.

Crash!

President Michael staggered backward.

table shot up from their seats,

stared at Caprice with

Michael regained his footing. His once playful smile turned into a murderous glower as he growled, "How dare you hit me?!"

just disgusting pervert!" She grabbed everything on the table that could be used as a and all of the others were too stunned to react.

was flabbergasted

in their entire lives, especially coming from a girl like

at a loss

in his hand against the floor and jabbed a finger at Caprice. "You little threw himself at Caprice. He was going to toward him to buy some time while she headed toward the exit

that the others had

was too late as Caprice

Michael's booming voice from behind. "Catch her! Don't let her out of the box, President Michael's fast as her legs

group of old and fat businessmen was more athletic than were closing in on her rapidly.

Chapter 1849

Caprice had known Liam her entire life but this was the first time she had ever seen such a vicious glower on his face. She shrunk into the corner and stayed silent.

President Michael glared at the two of them like a feral animal. "You two know each other? Hmph, then I suppose I'll have to deal with both of you!"

As he said this, he turned to his subordinates who were gathered behind him and commanded, " Get them! I'm going to make sure they know not to mess with me, especially this little b*tch over here! I'm going to teach her a lesson!"

Caprice clung on desperately to Liam.

This was the first time she had to deal with such a dangerous individual.

Liam held on to her tightly. He stood tall and bold, completely unfazed by the screaming man.

A sharp gleam of ice appeared in his eyes.

The aura he radiated had such a chilling effect that the men felt a shiver run through them.

Before they could charge him, Liam's bodyguards along with the security forces at Elysian House showed up at the scene.

They were all larger and more muscular than President Michael and his subordinates.

President Michael and his subordinates hesitated when they noticed the odds stacked against them and promptly screeched to a stop.

a VIP here!" He jabbed security guards looked at him, completely unintimidated. They did not were on Liam's side. They could hardly be his eyes as

and suddenly felt an

him.

was the deal with this young man?

Caprice who was hiding beside Liam. "Little b*tch, this is your lucky day. You better watch out, if I ever see you again, I won't let you

to

back

a sigh

manager of Elysian House showed up.

very sorry this happened and

Liam asked

"He's President Michael from Swift

he walked out with a severe aura about was too afraid to make a sound the House and did not follow him. It

Chapter 1850

Caprice felt like she was suffocating underneath the intense pressure.

She scrunched up her neck like a bird.

Liam's voice tore through the silence. "Caprice, you sure are something."

She murmured, "I just wanted to prove myself."

Liam pinched her cheeks.

She flinched and tried to back away, but he pinched her cheeks tightly so she could not move away.

She remained still like a totem, her eyes began to water.

He rebuked her sharply, "You're working for some garbage company that would send a new staff to handle business negotiation. What are you trying to prove? Are you using your head at all?"

She was the only daughter of the richest man in Glanchester. In the future, not only would she inherit her father's business empire, but she would also inherit her mother's many assets as well.

Remaining idle at home would be a far better option than working in a morally questionable company!

Caprice had never seen Liam being so cross with her.

She shivered with fear.

the reason she came back to Westchester to take up the job, she suddenly felt like crying.
Simultaneously, a burst of anger rose up her stupid! I just wasn't expecting him

you're saying

voice dropped by several pitches.

her lips

did not know what to say, and partly because she frustration at him.

shot her a severe look. "What's the name of the company you work lips and was

I'm asking you a

just because you asked?" Caprice protested nor was he his

Liam fell speechless.

of uncomfortable silence, he let go of her at last. Then, he took out grew nervous. "Who need to let them know what you've been up to." He began scrolling through his top of him and managed to snatch the phone away from tinge of panic. He tried to pry the phone out of her fingers.

She resisted mightily.

body as possible. No matter what, she could not

did not so much as grunt the entire time.

looked down

over on top of his lap by this point.