Chapter 1931

Lunch went by peacefully.

Caprice then headed to the construction site, where the location was set by her father.

Caprice was not too familiar with the collaboration with Carter Tech District and the procedures, so she followed Liam throughout the entire visit and listened to his explanation.

Brianne and Logan were responsible for taking notes.

Several hours went by in the blink of an eye.

After Liam's subordinates had explained everything and brought them to visit every part of the site, Caprice and Liam left. Liam suddenly stopped and said to Mitch and the two of them, "You guys head back to the hotel first."

His assistant and subordinates nodded and left.

Brianne and Logan exchanged a quick gaze and then said to Caprice, "Caprice, we should go back to the office to compile everything as well. See you soon."

Caprice nodded.

"Okay. See you."

The two of them left as well.

Caprice then looked at Liam.

"Liam, are you going back to Westchester today?"

Liam glanced at her.

Liam had other matters to attend to at night, so after fooling around with Caprice for a while, he saw her off.

Later that day, Caprice returned to the company and met up with Brianne and Logan to redo the proposal.

Caprice was not a competitive or proud person in life, but when her proposal, which she did with all her heart, was rejected, she still felt defeated.

Therefore, she was determined to come up with a better proposal.

Even if it could not win praises, she did not want it to be as bad as the first one.

She dedicated herself to the process.

From the planning to the details, she was involved in every part of the proposal.

The busy days went by in the blink of an eye.

A week had passed since then.

With Brianne and Logan's help, Caprice managed to come up with a complete proposal without any template.

After double-checking it, she emailed the softcopy to Liam at Westchester.

Then, she added a little text of her own beneath the attachment.

"Liam, I've finished the proposal. Have a look."

Caprice saw him sipping on his cup of water and nothing else.

Now that her proposal had been accepted, they could proceed with signing the contract.

Since Liam was too busy to go to Glanchester, Caprice said, "Liam, are you free next Monday? I'll go meet you and we can proceed with the contract signing."

Liam put his cup of water down and said, "Sure."

"Okay! I'll be going offline now. You better rest earlier."

Liam loosened his collar and said, "Okay."

Just when Caprice wanted to end the call, she accidentally tapped on the little window that showed her side of the call.

When the little window enlarged, she saw her loosened collar and her chest showing. Her eyes widened in shock. She bolted up immediately. She covered her collar with one hand and held the phone with the other. She looked at Liam on the screen with a blush-stained face.

"Liam, did you...see it?" Liam awkwardly cleared his throat.

"See what?"

Caprice was embarrassed when she saw Freya's question.

She sent a sticker of punching someone in the face and then replied, "We kissed, but that's it." Lana typed.

"Thank goodness! Our Caprice is finally advancing into adulthood!" Freya typed.

"Kiss? That's it? Is Liam's down there even working?"

Caprice was rendered speechless.

She furiously typed on her phone and texted, "It's working! But we don't see each other often and he respects me."

Liam was a gentleman and not someone who would think using their lower body.

Lana typed.

"Hahaha! Caprice got nervous! Stop teasing her, Freya."

However, if Caprice came from a wealthy background, her friends would at least speak about it.

Now, all Heather heard was her friends talking about how beautiful she was and nothing else.

It seemed like Caprice was not someone with a background.

Heather stayed a little longer and still did not get anything useful.She glared at the girls contemptuously before she left.

On Monday morning, Caprice went to the office to meet with Brianne and Logan.

After they prepared the contract and necessary documents, they took a ride to Carter Tech District.

Westchester was blessed with amazing weather.

The sun pierced the clouds and shed its glory across the city.

Both Brianne and Logan were already amazed by Carter Tech District before they entered.

They sized up the entrance in awe.

Logan exclaimed, "I've only seen pictures of this place.The real thing is much more astonishing."

Brianne even took pictures with her phone.

Right before Caprice could reply, the meeting room's door opened.

Brianne and Logan bolted up instantly.

Caprice put her phone away and looked at the entrance.

The man came in with his handsome suit. His deep eyes looked calm and emotionless but emanated a strong aura.

Caprice unconsciously sat up straight and smiled at him.

"Good morning, Mr. Carter."

Liam's cool eyes showed a hint of warmth at her. He smiled back and sat opposite her.

Both sides exchanged contracts and began signing.

At the same time in the open parking lot outside, Moses just got into his car. He leaned back and stared at the building.

Kenneth hugged the contract that they signed with Carter Tech District and said, "I bet she's here to see Mr. Carter. I don't think she has the time to have lunch with us. Why don't we do a rain check?"

He was eager to share the news with Jonathan and the others back home. Moses' eyes continued to stare at the entrance of the building.

Caprice was caught off guard by the text. She did not expect Moses to be waiting for her outside. She replied, "Moses, sorry I didn't reply earlier. I have something else to do later, I can't have lunch with you."

Moses replied almost instantly, "Alright. Are you free tonight?"

“Nope. Let’s talk when the semester starts.”

“Alright. See you.”

When Caprice put away her phone, she noticed Liam had been watching her from the side.

He managed to catch a glimpse of the conversation. “Who is he?” Caprice innocently assumed he was just asking out of curiosity. She said, “He’s a senior of mine at university. He also hired me for my first summer job.”

A momentary silence later, Liam asked, “Why is he waiting for you outside?”

No one should be able to enter Carter Tech District at this hour. Feeling strange, Caprice asked, “He came earlier. You didn’t know?”

“What’s his name?”

He said Carter Tech District is interested in one of his projects, so he came to discuss the

Liam narrowed his eyes. "What do you want?"

He continued to speak in his alluring voice.

Caprice pursed her lips and then said, "Come closer."

Liam moved closer to her face. His handsome face was less than an inch away from hers.

Caprice then kissed him on the cheek before she turned and ran toward the car.

Liam grinned. He unintentionally glanced at the car beside him before he went after Caprice.

The driver and the bodyguards were waiting for them in the car.

The bodyguards entered the car after them and the driver drove them out of the parking lot.

Moses, on the other hand, was stunned in his car. He stared at the MPV as it left his sight and even with it gone, he could not recover his composure.

He flipped to the side and sat down on the grassfield.

Caprice followed and sat herself up.

Just when she wanted to ask what happened, she realized her collar had opened up after all the action.

Her face blushed and immediately covered her collar.

Liam frowned. He looked at her with a hint of lust in his eyes and said, "Caprice, I..."

He did it on purpose, but when he saw her innocent and adorable face, he suddenly lost his words.

"Nope. I'm going back to the dorm with you guys. I have to go home tomorrow," Caprice said.

Freya was surprised. "You came all the way to Westchester but you're not spending the night with Liam?"

She even teased Caprice with some lewd gestures.

Caprice was more embarrassed than before. "We're not that far yet."

Freya clicked her tongue. "I see Liam is a good boy huh."

Lana nodded in agreement.

Piper then asked, "What base are you guys on now? Other than kissing and holding hands, what else did you two do?"

Caprice immediately thought of the steamy scene back at the low-gravity grassfield.
