

Master Odell 1941

Chapter 1941

Moses turned around and followed Kenneth and the others out.

They stopped by the cashier before leaving to pay the bill, then they walked outside.

Caprice withdrew her gaze from them and noticed her friends staring at her intently.

She asked suspiciously, "What are you girls looking at?"

"Nothing."

The three of them shook their heads in unison.

Freya suddenly expressed poignantly, "Moses is a good man. What a shame."

Lana nodded in agreement.

thought nothing of it. She knew that Moses was interested in her, but she already good man, and she was sure there he would manage to find the perfect partner for him in the future.

the meal, Caprice and her friends went to the

the bill, the cashier suddenly asked,

"Yeah, why

cashier remarked with a bright smile, "A man who went by the name of Moses already settled the bill
there was no need for Freya, Piper, and Lana exchanged confused looks, then they

that, they walked out back to the dormitory, Caprice sent a text to Moses while her friends were busy chattering away. "Hey, Moses, thank replied almost instantaneously, had just finished eating, a private investigator with a large cap thrown over her head was hiding her to spy on Caprice. She had been posted in the vicinity of Sparkrow University since this morning and waited until her friends. She followed them to the restaurant as well. Although she failed to eavesdrop on their conversation when they talked about Moses paying for Caprice and her friend's bill and began speculating, "Miss Manson, I believe

Chapter 1942

Liam must be busy. Some time passed before he replied, "Yeah. Have you gotten back to the dorm with your friends?"

Caprice replied, "We just got back from the restaurant a while ago. I'm already resting in bed."

To prove that she was telling the truth, she took a flattering picture of herself and sent it to Liam.

Liam replied, "Good, make sure you get enough rest."

Caprice knew that he had never been a talkative man and was not keen on keeping the conversation going, but it was barely ten o'clock, and it was far too early to sleep.

With this in mind, she texted him, "Liam, send me your picture too."

She still did not have a picture of him on her phone.

However, after the text was sent, there was no response.

It was still radio silence on the other end. She frowned and was just about to fall

He had taken a picture of his reflection in the mirror. His appearance could not be made out clearly,

She replied with a cute sticker of a

Ding!

replied, "You'll get a sticker with its literal meaning though she had to admit that came to her out of nowhere as she promptly replied, "Can I touch your abs again see

she read the reply.

"Get some rest."

"Okay..."

with her arms wrapped around closely in hand and stared at Caprice's selfie fingers against her face on the screen, then he proceeded breakfast with Piper, Freya, and Lana. After breakfast, she stepped into the car with her friends done on the joint project with Carter Tech

Chapter 1943

He was very aware of Heather's hostility toward Caprice. He had a feeling that Heather only came to him with this proposal because she wanted Liam for herself.

The only thing he was unsure of was how she came to know about his feelings for Caprice.

Heather frowned sharply. She did not expect Moses to figure out her true intentions right away. Furthermore, it looked like he knew about Caprice and Liam.

Her eyes flickered with shock a few times. Immediately after that, she fixed a smug smile on her lips again and announced, 'You're only partially right. I wasn't only trying to match you with Caprice. I'm also trying to get her to leave that man who is such a horrible match for her.'

Moses did not appreciate the contempt Heather had for Caprice in her tone, but he had to admit she made a good point.

Apart from her good looks, Caprice was not particularly remarkable as far as her capabilities went. Besides, her family background did not appear to be anything out of the ordinary either. If she came from a reputable family, she would not have worked for his measly little company in the first place back then.

The daughter of a rich family would not even have his startup company on her radar at all.

Forget about Liam, her status was barely comparable to that of Heather's. The only reason she somehow ended up with someone of a disproportionate status like Liam was that they happened to be childhood friends.

her point, Heather smiled. She sank her claws in. "Mr. Stewart, you should consider joining forces with me. Not only will you get to claim Caprice for yourself, but I can also provide done some research on Moses; this man was undoubtedly gifted status. If he wanted to propel his career forward and grow his company, he sense that Moses would at least he reflective silence, he spoke at last, "Miss Manson, I must admit that it's a very good deal, but I'm afraid I will have to refuse your kind nearly broke into insults. After letting a wave of irritation pass through her, she spoke as calmly as possible, 'You don't have to

Heather immediately stiffened.

from the couch and put one of her say anything, she was already made. Its texture and weight alone differentiated it was written on top of it. Furthermore, her position was etched in was a legacy corporation in the entertainment industry. Apart from the entertainment industry, they also dabble in in Westchester, but one thing he knew for sure was that his slumped back into his chair and closed his eyes, feeling a hint of restlessness. Caprice went straight to the

and Logan had laid out corporation. Caprice summoned the heads of the respective departments to the conference room ten days hard at work. It was only around then that everything began to fall into

Chapter 1944

Caprice made a show of collapsing into Sherry's arm and pretending to fall asleep.

John and Sherry exchanged a weak smile.

After driving for another half an hour, they arrived at a restaurant. It was one of Caprice's favorite restaurants.

They entered a box and had a wonderful dinner, stuffing their stomachs with delicious food.

After the meal, they all went home together.

On the way home, Caprice fell asleep halfway through the drive. A combination of her relaxed mood after finally being finished with work and her exhaustion made her sleep like a log. She was squeezed between Sherry and John and slumped against John's shoulder, using him as a pillow.

Sherry gently brushed the side of her daughter's cheeks with her fingers. After making sure that she had indeed fallen asleep, she smiled and turned to John, speaking in a low voice, "How was her performance at work?"

daughter's sleeping expression and elaborated, "She's very serious about her work and is a very organized worker. She knows how to deal with people, which makes up for her lack of experience. It's all about being adaptable and knowing how to communicate with others. So long to admit she was a little surprised the slower end at times. Sherry lazy to put her brains to work this entire time. When she Caprice's sleeping face and chuckled to way, Syl just called me this if we should let them get engaged to he promptly leaned back against the seat and closed his eyes.

speak. She just

it wasn't for fear of accidentally waking up the exhausted Caprice, she would have smacked John right on Stockton. Then, she put semester, but she was already itching to go back because she had not Liam was just as, if not busier than her, they car merged into the highway linking

Chapter 1945

She was not in the mood to entertain Heather and briskly walked past her.

“Hey, Caprice,” Heather called after her in a mocking friendly voice.

The people gawking at Heather immediately directed their attention to Caprice.

Caprice could no longer ignore her presence. She turned to greet her, imitating her cheap smile the entire while. “Hey, Heather, what brings you here?”

Heather’s mouth suddenly stiffened. She briskly approached Caprice and greeted her with an unnatural warmth, “I just figured I’d come to see you since I haven’t seen you in a while. I was beginning to miss you!”

Caprice was struck speechless.

How did she manage to say things like this without throwing up?

Did she have amnesia? Did she already forget about what happened the last time they met when she shoved her into the pool?

She answered crossly, without the least bit of friendliness, “That’s too bad.

I was just on my way to see Liam. I don’t have time to catch up with you.”

smug smile, and even the tone of her voice was piqued slightly when she spoke darkened just

Caprice could sense intentionally to rattle her. She deserved this; there was no reason for her to be here rage and put on her dating all thanks to you. If you hadn’t shoved me into the pool at the

her punches

she had accidentally swallowed something unbearably sour. It looked like conversation right there. “Heather, I’ll be leaving for now if you don’t have without waiting for held annually in Westchester this coming weekend. Did you hear about it?" Heather had to do a double-take.

seem like Caprice was a country bumpkin

Liam told you about it?" she asked with was confused now, "Why would he of all the different sectors in Westchester, their family members will be invited as well." Heather allowed herself a Caprice grimaced.

Chapter 1946

Caprice did not linger. She walked out the gate and called a cab to take her to Carter Tech City. She completely discarded what Heather told her to the back of her mind.

She could hardly be bothered; all she cared about was seeing Liam as soon as possible.

Meanwhile, Heather sat inside her car and spied on the taxi Caprice just hailed. She never planned to make the trip herself to confront Caprice. This was all Moses' fault.

The buffoon of a man who did not know what was good for him and refused to cooperate with her.

Fortunately, it seemed like she successfully riled Caprice up. She seemed to be in a rush to get to Carter Tech City.

Was she going to Liam to beg him to take her with him to this weekend's party?

Heather snorted scornfully.

If Liam refused, they would probably get into a fight.

On the other hand, if he did bring her along, it would certainly spice things up. She chuckled to herself, impressed by her deviousness. She was already in cahoots with many of the attendees who were her friends, and she was going to make sure that the moment Caprice got to the party, she would be ostracized and realize that she did not belong there. She was a measly commoner who did not deserve to stand by Liam's side!

The taxi stopped at the entrance of Carter Tech City.

Caprice hopped out and walked in.

the security guard posted at the entrance immediately opened the gate for her as Caprice stepped past, she noticed was Moses and Kenneth. They were both dressed in suits with stacks of documents in their hands, and they seemed to be discussing something noticed Caprice,

in the car?

at Caprice before heading to the Moses approached Caprice.

to see President Carter?” he asked with here for business?” Caprice

nod. “I’m off now.

“Alright, see you.”

went their stepped into

Moses suddenly called after her back to him.

seemed to juggle the words in his mind for a while before starting, ” Do you remember Heather Manson from “Yeah, what about her?”

has a thing for courteously, “I see. Thanks for telling me

Chapter 1947

Caprice gulped, then she shifted her hands to Liam’s shirt and slowly parted them.

Parting the fabric like a curtain, his chiseled chest and abs came into view, all eight blocks of firm muscles above the belt line.

Caprice felt her cheeks glowing with heat, and even her eyes began to shine. She excitedly placed her hand on his stomach.

Before she had time to savor the wonderful texture of his toned muscles, she felt her wrist seized by a hand. She nearly jumped.

Immediately after that, Liam’s hand tugged hard at her.

Thump!

She landed directly on top of him. She looked up and met his dark, penetrating gaze.

He looked at her with remarkable calmness. The deep, ominous pool of blackness in his eyes made Caprice shiver. It was terrifying to look into those eyes.

“When did you wake up?”

“What were you going to do to me if I didn’t wake up in time?” he asked with a grin.

She blushed and avoided his gaze. She stammered as she spoke, “I...I wasn’t going to do anything to you. I just saw that your clothes were creased, so I figured I’d tidy them for you.”

a smile and grabbed

“Yes!” Caprice almost shrieked.

Why don’t you

taken aback by this go

She stood up.

a mannequin. His figure that obstructed the light pouring in from outside cast a large shadow on Caprice’s tiny looked up at

by this point. How was she supposed to fix she was considering if she should help him button up the shirt, he suddenly moved. His slender breath stifled, and her cheeks grew said in a sensual voice, “You can start

Start what?

Touching him?

shirt, this was probably

with an uncertain look in her with the usual cool look on his because his afternoon sleep was interrupted

as best

Chapter 1948

What???

Had he been awake since the moment she came into the office?

He was awake when she was feeling up his collarbone and his abs all along?

Flabbergasted, her cheeks reddened in a mix of embarrassment and humiliation. She frowned disapprovingly and shrieked his full name, “Liam Carter!!”

Liam squinted playfully. “Hm?”

Caprice made a show of grunting and pouting, expressing her disapproval. She was still slightly irked.

Liam ruffled her hair and asked with a faint smile, "Do you still want to touch me?"

shirt was still open, his body eyes blazed at the prospect, and her

she asked broke into a

began to the two messed around for a immediately put a hand to her

Liam grinned. "Hungry?"

She muttered shyly, "Yeah."

not had a single bite of food since leaving Glanchester, and it seat on the couch over there." Liam gestured. Then, he went to the desk and picked up the landline phone on hear him speaking to someone on opened his desk drawer and extracted a pack of bread from it. He would usually snack on some bread while he was busy with work just to fill his stomach. He was not sure if Caprice would be a fan of the

on the side. " Eat this to fill your stomach for now. Lunch

Chapter 1949

Liam ignored her.

This made her more irritable. "It's all you guys' fault! If one of you or Flinty would take up the family business, Dad wouldn't have thrown it on my lap!"

Liam expressed without interest, "It's not like you have anything going on anyway."

He said it without any inflection in his voice.

Isabel exploded, "What do you mean I have nothing going on?! Do you have any idea how busy I am?! I have a lot of films to shoot!"

She raised her voice by several pitches, and it sounded like she was going to throw herself on Liam.

Caprice was alarmed and immediately threw the door open. She noticed Isabel who seemed like she was about to pounce on Liam's desk and cried out, Isabel, don't be angry! Uncle Carter probably let you take over because he trusts that you can handle it."

Isabel flipped a look at her. The infuriated expression on her face immediately vanished it. What took its place was a gentle and doting smile.

"Caprice?" she said with a spring in her voice before darting a look at Liam. "How long have you been hiding Caprice in your office?"

Caprice winced. "I... I accidentally fell asleep after lunch."

Liam must have carried her into the bedroom.

Isabel chuckled. "No need to explain. I understand."

Caprice sighed weakly.

Something suddenly occurred to Isabel, and a flash crossed her eyes. "Caprice, have you started your new semester yet?" she asked suddenly.

Liam seemed alarmed by this as well, so he asked warily, "Isabel, what are you up to?"

"Caprice is basically my sister. What did you think I was going to do to her?" Isabel snapped back grumpily, then she turned back to Caprice with an affectionate smile.

Caprice answered her question, "The semester starts next week."

"Does that mean you're free this weekend?"

Caprice considered briefly, "I think so."

"Perfect! I'll take you somewhere fun this Sunday evening."

"Where are we going?" Caprice asked suspiciously.

Isabel went up to her and threw her arms around her shoulders. "You'll see."

Caprice looked at Liam.

There was not a trace of emotion on his face, but he must be aware of what sort of place Isabel planned to take her to. Surely, he would object if it was some questionable place. Since he was not objecting, it should be fine.

Isabel turned to Liam again and assured her, "Don't worry. I'll take good care of Caprice for you."

Liam ignored her and turned to Caprice. "There's something I need to deal with that night, so I can't spend time with you. If you don't have anything to do, feel free to join Isabel."

Caprice nodded affirmatively.

She figured that it should be fine to hang out with Isabel. After all, they had not spent time together for a while.

Isabel hung around for a little longer before leaving.

Chapter 1950

The interior of the car was rather spacious.

Isabel's driver was driving, and her assistant was in the car as well.

Caprice squeezed into the rear and sat next to Isabel.

Isabel did not have her hair tied up and draped it elegantly over her back instead. She wore a classy black high-waisted dress and adorned herself with two pieces of minimal but luxurious necklace that must have cost a fortune.

Caprice recalled how she always saw Isabel dressed casually. It was very rare for her to be dressed so formally. She asked in an intrigued voice, "Are you going to attend some kind of formal event?"

"Not just me. We are going to attend a special event tonight," Isabel said curtly while eyeing Caprice up and down. Then, she turned to the driver. "Let's make a quick stop at my place."

"Alright," the driver said and stepped on the gas pedal.

"Isabel, why are we going to your place?" Caprice asked in a puzzled voice.

Isabel gently pinched her cheeks. "We're going to get you dressed up."

could not let Caprice show up in such immediately and nodded briskly.

was in the middle of the city. It was a roughly twenty- minute drive than Liam's. You could hardly spot the other end of the place from decorative pieces and furniture all over the place, the place managed to preserve a homely ambiance girls went into put on makeup for Caprice, then she opened the wardrobe and revealed a row of evening dresses in all sorts of designs and colors. She mildly, "Isabel, you can just pick a random dress for me. No need to do. This is my first time dressing you up, so I have to make sure was blessed with unparalleled good looks. She was sweet as a flower but still maintained to carry a hint of coolness underneath without seeming haughty on the outside. Since she of the skirt was fitted to the body, but the cut was loose and relaxed from the

The floral patterns were colored in a striking white that added to its refined and elegant look. It looked like something out of try this one." Isabel immediately handed the dress to

"Don't you think this dress is a little too

for the night and was wary her hesitation, then she ordered her in a firm

Caprice made a face.

"Alright then."