Chapter 2111

It was Roland.

Surprised, Isabel answered the phone immediately and asked, "Where are you?"

"I'm in Southboro," Roland answered with a hoarse voice, seemingly hesitating with the answer.

Isabel's chest tightened. "When did you go back?"

"I reached Southboro yesterday morning."

"Why didn't you tell me?"

He did not say a word.

Isabel ran out of patience. She asked, "Why did you go back to Southboro?"

The man still did not answer.

Isabel glanced at the screen of her phone. The call was still connected, Roland did not hang up on her.

She snorted. "Is it because of my dad?"

"It's not about Mr. Carter, it's my own decision," he said.

Carla secretly gave Amanda a call. Therefore, when Isabel almost threw up from all the drinking, Amanda appeared behind her.

She snatched the bottle of beer and tossed it away.

Before Isabel could react, she grabbed her arm and bellowed, "Isabel, you're coming with me."

Isabel had lost consciousness. She only remembered Roland ditched her.

He left Westchester without saying anything. Everyone knew except her.

Yet the jerk tried to fool her by saying they should be separated for a while and would come back to her soon.

He had either taken Isabel as a fool or believed she could not handle the shock of breaking up, hence telling her he wanted to be separated for a while to let her take it in easily.

Isabel knew the importance of letting go and she would not care if he broke up with her.

There were many other men in this world and there must be someone better than him.

However, she could not stop her heart from hurting.

Carla added, "Isabel, there are a lot of fun places in Glanchester. Amanda is bringing us on a tour around the city."

Isabel's eyes remained closed. "I don't want to go. You guys go have fun."

She was not in the mood for a vacation, she just wanted to lie down and do nothing.

"Isabel, even if you stay here all day, Roland isn't coming back," Amanda said.

Isabel opened her eyes and sat up straight. With displeasure, she said, "I'm not hoping for him to come back!"

She just wanted to lie down!

Amanda crossed her arms and raised a brow. "If that's what you're thinking, then you should get up and follow us now."

Isabel frowned. "Provocation?"

Amanda chuckled. "Indeed. If you don't come with us, you're hoping for him to come back to you."

Annoyed, Isabel mustered her strength and jumped to her feet. She bellowed, "Alright! You ask for it! Let's go!"

She washed her face, changed into some new clothes, and followed Amanda and Carla out of the hotel.

Chapter 2114

Clarice bolted up when she heard the news. Decker was at his desk further away from her. He was shocked by her sudden reaction and he asked, "Clarice, what happened?" Clarice's eyes fluttered and smiled. "I-It's nothing." Decker had a hint of doubt but he did not linger on the topic. He quickly returned to his work. Clarice breathed a sigh of relief when she noticed Decker was not overly bothered. She sat back down and replied to Isabella, "Are you sure about this?" "I heard from my friend that Isabel got drunk alone last Friday night and her manager and assistant came to pick her up. She cried on the way back and took two days off from work. She only came back to the shoot today. I heard from a crew member that Isabel took days off because she broke up with her boyfriend." Isabella then sent Clarice two video clips. One was Isabel drinking at the restaurant and the other was Isabel being dragged away by Amanda and Carla. Roland ditched her? However, Roland used his influence at the company just to help her a while back and the two of them looked stable together. Why the sudden break-up? After dinner, some of them returned to the hotel, and some of them took a ride home.
Isabel, the director, and some of the crew members returned to the hotel.
The director asked, "It's the weekend. Do you guys want to shoot over the weekend, or take two days off, and we can continue on Monday?"
The remaining actors looked at each other.
The male lead said, "I'm okay with anything. It's your call, director."
The others echoed in agreement.
The director then looked at Isabel. "Isabel, what about you?"
Isabel said without a second thought, "I don't want to take days off either."
Only when working, she would not think of Roland, therefore she could not stop.
The director smiled. "Alright. We'll continue shooting then."

Isabel's light tone was proof that she was not affected by the comments online.

Caprice felt relieved. She no longer insisted on visiting anymore and simply said, "Okay."

Sylvia told her to rest properly other than working hard.

After the brief family chat, Isabel put her phone down and went to sleep.

The night was quiet. When she closed her eyes, her head uncontrollably thought of Roland.

It annoyed her. She tossed and turned on the bed and still could not fall asleep.

She got up, switched on the lamp next to her bed, and went on her phone to check the comments online.

Someone took a video of her that night when she broke up with Roland. She went drinking at the restaurant, got drunk, and was dragged away by Amanda and Carla.

As soon as she tapped on the video, she could already hear herself crying.

Even through the screen, she felt embarrassed.

The netizens gloated at her.

Chapter 2117

Decker's deep eyes contained different feelings.

He stood outside the door for a while before he returned to the study room. His assistant followed him to the study room as well.

Decker sat down on the chair and went online to see the video of Isabel crying.

When he broke up with her a few years back, she did not even cry this terribly.

He frowned. His gaze turned frosty.

His assistant noticed the change in his expression and asked, "Mr. Rockwell, should I stop Ms. Houston?"

Decker returned to his usual elegance and said, "Just let her be."

Now that Isabel had broken up with Roland and entered a slump in her career, she must be feeling terrible.

If Decker could appear by her side in a timely manner, she might return to his side once more.

Chapter 2118

With Sylvia's company, Isabel had a good night's sleep.

Since Isabel had a commercial shoot later in the day, she only had breakfast with her mother before she parted ways with her and left with Carla and the bodyguards to the next destination.

As soon as the car hit the road, Carla moved closer to Isabel with a mischievous grin. "Isabel, your mother looks so young and so beautiful! I bet you got your looks from her."

Isabel smiled.

If her mother was not beautiful enough, she would not be that beautiful either.

Carla continued, "But I somehow find your mother familiar, it's like I've seen her before."

Isabel's eyes fluttered.

Other than being Isabel's assistant, Carla had many hobbies, and enjoying paintings was one of them. She had seen many famous painters and read many art magazines.

Since Sylvia was a famous painter, she was a regular in art magazines, so Carla must have seen her on the cover or whatnot.

A quick thought later, Isabel said, "Maybe I look like my mother and you've seen me a lot, that's why you find her familiar."

Noticing Isabel's silence, Amanda asked, "Isabel, are you okay?"

Isabel exhaled and said, "Amanda, I'm fine. You don't need to worry about me."

She was not a weak and fragile girl anymore.

"I'm glad you're holding up," Amanda said with relief. She added, "Isabel, the brands and clients that we worked with before are still with us, and the movies and dramas that we've gotten are still progressing as planned. That person just messed up our recent plans, so why don't you take some time off? I'll think of a way."

Isabel pondered and said, "Alright. Amanda, take it easy. If we lose the recent ones, just let it be."

She suddenly wanted to have a good rest.

She wanted to go back home, eat the food that Aunt Tonya cooked, watch her mother paint, and play with Liam and Caprice's baby.

Amanda noticed Isabel's sudden tonal shift. She sighed and said, "Alright. I'll do whatever I can. You take care."

"Alright."

The call ended.

Decker stared at her. "Isabel, I'm just here to see you, nothing else."

Isabel was not in the mood to talk to him, so she ignored him.

Decker noticed the frosty reaction. He sighed and said, "I know you just broke up with Roland and seem to have lost all your commercial work."

With both love life and career in a slump, she should be devastated.

Just when she thought Isabel would look devastated or break down in tears, Isabel stared at the elevator door coldly and did not respond to his words.

She did not look sad or devastated at all, which surprised Decker.

He refused to believe Isabel did not feel anything.

With Roland gone and her commercials lost, no one was there for her. The confidence of a woman with no background would surely be dented no matter how strong she was.

How could she feel nothing?

His eyes fluttered. He sighed and added, "Isabel, I know you're feeling terrible. There are the two of us here. I won't laugh at you and you don't need to hide your emotions."
