

Chapter 151

Bryan rolled his eyes when he heard his mother's loud voice. Sophi gulped and went to take a quick shower.

When the water dripped on her, she remembered the day she went to the pack house. That day, she noticed Juliana's strange behavior toward her.

It was as if she did not like Sophia at all; even after Bruce admitted his fault, her eyes remained cold on her.

Sophia closed her eyes when she felt the pressure of the water on her face. She had no idea why Juliana had come here.

Did she come here to meet her son?

It was possible.

After taking a shower, Sophia wrapped the towel around her body and stepped out of the bathroom.

When she entered the bedroom, she found a new dress on the bed.

She realized that Bryan might have told Evana to bring a dress for her here. He was the owner of the brand. He has a bunch of collections of dresses. So he may have told his men to send some to his house.

Sophia put on the dress and dried her hair. She waited for Bryan in the room.

After a while, Bryan came to the bedroom. He closed the door behind him and shook his head with a sigh.

Sophia turned around to look at him.

"What happened?" she asked, getting up from the bed.

Bryan looked at her. "Nothing. She is just angry with me for her maid."

Sophia's brows lifted in surprise. "Which maid? The one you fired last night?"

He walked to her and replied,

"Yeah."

She began to wonder if Juliana was mad at her, too. Did the maid say that it was because of her that Bryan fired her from the job?

Bryan noticed how her mind was wandering with different thoughts. He reached out his hand to touch her head, then stroked her hair.

"Why do you look worried?"

She looked into his eyes and bit her bottom lip in nervousness. He shifted his gaze to her lips.

She was stunned when he leaned down and kissed her lips. It was just a simple smooch that spread fire on her body.

She stared at him with eyes full of love. However, she found his eyes clear. She could not see any emotions there. Or was he hiding them from everyone?

Her thoughts were interrupted when he touched her chin and said,

"No one can dare to hurt you because they know who is behind you. You are my woman."

She blushed and lowered her head. He chuckled and let go of her chin.

He walked in the direction of the closet and said,

"If you want, you can go downstairs now. I told mom to have breakfast together."

Her eyes widened, and she raised her head. "She knows I am here?"

Bryan glanced at her. "What did I tell you a few seconds ago? Remember that and calm down."

She saw Bryan take his clothes out of the closet.

Bryan went to the bathroom to take a shower, while Sophia was worried as hell.

She glanced at the door and wondered if she would go first or with Bryan.

Then she decided to go first. It would look awful if she did not go first. She left the bedroom and went downstairs.

The moment she entered the living room, her steps halted.

Juliana Morrison was seated on the couch. Beside her was Evana Stones. She was updating Juliana on everything about the house.

Juliana lifted her hand to stop Evana when she noticed Sophia.

"I see, my son is up to something."

Sophia moved her gaze away from her and lowered her head.

"Hello, Aunt. Good morning."

Juliana did not let out a word for a few seconds, which caused Sophia to feel more nervous.

It was as though Juliana's eyes were scanning her from head to toe.

Then suddenly, Juliana broke the silence and said,

"Sit here."

Sophia glanced at the couch, where Juliana was pointing her finger. She stepped forward to sit on the couch.

"Leave us alone," Juliana said to Evana.

Evana bowed her head and left the living room.

Juliana's eyes shifted to Sophia once again.

"I won't ask you what you are doing in this house. Because it's obvious."

Sophia fixed her eyes on the floor. She knew this woman disliked her.

"I am surprised how a young girl has the ability to wrap both of my sons around her fingers."

Sophia lifted her head and looked at Juliana with a frown. "Aunt, I—"

Juliana interrupted her by saying, "My younger son used to like you, and that was fine with me because he is not the leader of this pack. But as the former Luna of this pack, how can I expect my elder son, who is the head Alpha to have you as his mate?"

Sophia's lips trembled after hearing her.

"Listen, girl. I know everything about you. You belong to a poor family, which I don't have a problem with. What I have a problem with is your rank. You are an omega. How can you be with my son, Bryan?"

Sophia took a deep breath and parted her lips. "Aunt, it's not about the matebond only. We have feelings for each other."

She had no idea where she got the courage to say that, but she could not just let Bryan's mother insult her.

Juliana fell silent for a few seconds after hearing her. However, after the brief pause, she burst into laughter.

"What did you just say? Feelings?"

Juliana shook her head as if trying to control her laughter. Sophia felt humiliated by her behavior.

"I don't know what you think of me, but he wants me in his life, so I will do what he says."

Juliana stared at her before unzipping her bag. She took a check out of her bag and placed it next to her on the couch.

"I have a fantastic offer for you."

Sophia was perplexed about what she was saying or doing. "What offer are you talking about?"

Julian stroked her fingers on the check while looking directly at Sophia and replied,

"Your brother's training period will come to an end this week. Once he has completed the period, Bryan will no longer be able to dismiss him from his position. As for your mother, I have heard that she is ill. I am willing to send her money if she needs it. There is no longer a need for you to be here."

Sophia's heart beat fastened. She tightened her fists and asked,

"What do you mean? What do you want?"

Juliana leaned her back against the couch gracefully and replied,

"Here is a check for one million dollars. Take it and leave my pack forever."
