

Chapter 204

Mila's eyes widened as she heard Sophia's question. She glanced around the table and saw people start to glance at them with a curious look. They also wanted to know why Bryan did not get engaged two years ago.

Mila balled her fists in anger. She came here to show Sophia her place. However, she did not expect that the girl, who had always roamed around Bryan with an innocent face, would speak against him and respond to her.

She turned her head toward Bryan, who was staring at Sophia. He behaved as if he did not care what Sophia had just asked.

'Does he have any idea what will happen if this woman tells others the reason behind that? Why is he so calm?' Mila thought in her head.

She cleared her throat as she tried to think of an excuse to shut others' mouths about this matter.

She returned her gaze to Sophia, who was mockingly smiling back at her. Mila wished she could snatch that smile off that face.

'I'm curious as to how this woman managed to smile so boldly in front of Bryan. Does she ever get a glimpse of the Alpha Bryan that everyone raves about? Or did Bryan always speak calmly to her and never show his true self?'

Mila calmed herself and replied to Sophia with a smile.

"It was because of my brother. He was not present at that time. So your Alpha had to postpone the engagement."

Hearing her reply, Sophia was stunned.

Her brows lifted as she realized how clever Mila was. She did not wonder why Bryan chose her as his Luna. She knew how to play with others' minds.

Sophia glanced at Bryan. Even though he was calm, his eyes continued to be fixed on her. She blinked her eyes in an attempt to divert her attention.

She did not want to stare at those mysterious eyes. She believed they would take her back to the old days, where she would only lose before him.

Sophia could not believe how shameless Bryan was. He did not have any fear of revealing the truth. It was as if he did not care what others thought about the matebond.

"I see, your brother must be a very important person then," Sophia muttered, lowering her head.

A young woman at the table spoke out when she heard Sophia,

"What are you saying, girl? Her brother is Alpha Victor. He is the Lord of the Moon Valley Pack."

After the woman had finished speaking, she did a quick glance over at Bryan and then took a deep breath.

It almost escaped her mind that she was speaking of his rival in front of him.

Mila saw Bryan's changing expressions. So she tried to ease him by rubbing his arm.

With a quick look at her hand, Sophia exhaled deeply.

Why was seeing all these things becoming more difficult for her?

She lifted her gaze and saw Bryan glaring at the woman. A grin formed on her lips as she saw his reaction after a long time.

It was very difficult to see any reaction on his face, as he preferred to remain indifferent so that no one could read him.

Sophia placed her elbow on the table and rested her chin against her palm.

"You are right. I don't know much about him, but..."

Sophia turned to look at Mila from the young woman, and continued, "I would love to hear about him if Miss Mila told something about her brother. I once read in the pack gallery that he—"

"Sophia."

Bruce's voice interrupted her. She turned her head at Bruce, realizing that he was also here.

"What?" she asked.

Everyone looked at him, but his eyes were on Sophia. He shook his head, seemingly signaling that it was best not to discuss it.

Sophia frowned, not knowing why he was stopping her. But as she turned her head, she realized why Bruce had stopped her.

Bryan was staring at her with a pair of dark eyes. The look in his eyes was a warning to her to keep her mouth shut.

Sophia could not disguise how good she felt on the inside. She liked how she was bothering this man.

'If matebond does not bother you, then why not talk about the man you dislike the most?' She thought and chuckled.

"I think my ex didn't like me talking about another man."

Everyone laughed at her words. Sophia turned to Bruce and said,

"Babe, we are no longer together. Why are you jealous? It's not like your favorite sister-in-law's brother will come here to meet me."

Bruce turned his gaze away from Sophia. He glanced at Bryan. It was true that he did not like how Bryan was staring at her. But when he saw that his brother was getting angry, he felt worried for Sophia.

He tried his best to stop her, but she was naive, as she kept talking about someone she should not be talking about.

As waiters entered the cabin with food, they served everyone, then left.

The atmosphere began to calm down, and everyone started eating.

On the other hand, Mila noticed how angry Bryan was. So she thought about something and spoke up to continue fueling the fire.

"Sophia, I think you have a quiet interest in my brother. You don't know him. Young women are terrified of him. He is a red flag."

Sophia paused her meal, frowning in response to her words. She looked at her and asked,

"Why did you say that? Isn't he your brother? He told everyone he loved you, and here you are talking badly against his back? Did he know about it?"

Her serious look and cold tone shocked everyone. Everyone parted their lips in fear when they realized Sophia talked disrespectfully to Mila, who was their future Luna. Not only that, but she did so in front of Alpha Bryan!

Mila glared at Sophia and replied,

"I didn't say anything against him. By the way, you don't know anything about him. Why do you seem so protective of him? Don't you know he is your Alpha's rival?"

Sophia clenched her fingers around the fork she was holding and asked,

"So what? That doesn't mean he is a bad guy. Now I start to believe all of those stories that spread around our pack about him are just fake rumors. He is not that bad gu—"

Sophia could not finish her sentence as Bryan spoke out in a deep voice.

"Enough!"
