

Chapter 24

Third POV

As Sophia left the office, her presence continued to linger in Bryan's mind.

The black eyes of his eyes were fixed on the wooden door that was closed.

The entire room was permeated with her scent, which caused him to have a sense of unease.

In a fit of anger, Bryan couldn't help but seethe at the audacity displayed by Sophia's sudden leaving of his office.

"How dare she!" he muttered under his breath.

His mind raced with a mix of dissatisfaction and outrage, struggling to comprehend the sheer impertinence of her actions.

He glanced at the folder that contained her curriculum vitae that had been attached.

His anger was building up to the point that it was about to boil over as the minutes passed.

It was Sophia who ignited this fire with her stupid words and careless actions.

He remembered the day when he saw her pictures with Bruce at the event at the Night Shade University. He had no idea why, but he did not like that. He believed it was his wolf who reacted like that, not him.

The principal of Night Shade University bowed down to him when he went to his office after the event. When he was on his knees in front of Bryan, the principal pleaded for forgiveness. He even said that he would restrict Sophia from that institution.

During that time, Bryan was the one who strongly opposed him, taking that kind of action against Sophia.

Bryan thought he would let her go. Though she tried to come and tell him fake stories, he chose to ignore her and ended up leaving the university.

However, when he ran into her again at the club on a different day, she pretended to be drunk and tried to make a fool of him by calling him Bruce. She thought he was stupid and would believe in her acting.

Today, what she did was something that had never been done before by anyone else.

It was Bryan's company; in fact, the whole pack was his. The entire pack was under his control.

Without his permission, no one could enter or leave anywhere. Then how did she leave his office even after he reminded her about it?

Bryan's train of thought was disrupted when he heard a knock.

"Come in," he said in a chilly tone for a response.

The man who escorted Sophia to the office room a while ago entered the cabin.

He bowed to Bryan. "Alpha, you have a meeting toda-"

"Cancel it."

Even though he was taken aback, the man needed to keep his cool. "Okay, Alpha."

"Why are you here? Where is Lily? Does she have any intention of resigning because she is more engaged with other things than she is with her job?"

The man gulped in fear and replied with a shaken tone,

"I'm sending her inside, Alpha."

The man bowed to him again and left the office room.

After a few seconds, a stunning young lady entered the office. She was Lily Jain, the personal secretary of the CEO. She handled all the schedules for Bryan Morrison. She joined the company six months ago.

"Alpha, you called me."

Bryan gave her a stern look. "Where were you?"

"My apologies, Alpha. Earlier, I was preparing coffee for you."

After responding, Lily walked to the desk.

Bryan's eyes shifted in her hand; she indeed went to make coffee for him.

She placed the cup of coffee in front of him on the desk and then stood straight.

"Alpha, I heard you interviewed a student. I couldn't meet her. Should I mention her to the Human Resources and Management department?"

Bryan held the handle of the cup and sipped on his perfect espresso. The caffeine made his mind calm. His mind was immediately brought back to Sophia's scent as he smelled the dark chocolate flavor in the espresso.

Because the thought made him feel irritated, he put the cup in its place on the desk.

"What happened, Alpha? You didn't like it?" Lily asked with a curious tone. She believed only she could make the perfect coffee for him.

Bryan paid no attention to her question and instead looked at her.

"Lily, you have a lot of work to do in your role as my secretary. I think it's time to relieve some of the pressure on your shoulder."

Sophia was feeling really upset. As soon as she walked out of Bryan's office, she instantly began to have a bitter feeling in her heart.

Everyone's attention was focused on her. Some of the females were making fun of her because they had come to the conclusion that she would not be able to find a position in their company as an employee.

She left the company as soon as she could. From outside the company, she was able to observe the lives of those who worked there.

How she wished to be someone like them. But Bryan Morrison broke her confidence level today.

She walked for a while until she arrived at the bus stop. Taking a bus, she made her way to her university.

'It's okay. I will apply to another company,' she tried to soothe herself.

She thought about her mother. In what way would she respond to her? It was her mother's belief that she would be safe working at Morrison Group, which led her to agree to her daughter's employment there. Now, if Sophia told her that she had not been selected for the position, would she now be okay with her working for a different company?

The bus came to a stop in the vicinity of her university.

She walked with a gloomy expression on her face after entering the campus.

Some of the other students on her campus were gazing at her as she entered a building.

It dawned on her that she had completely forgotten to change her clothes before arriving here.

She was considering going to the washroom, but before she could move ahead, her phone began to ring.

A call from an unknown number was displayed on her phone when she pulled it out of her bag and looked at it.

answered it by asking, "Hello?"

She heard a young woman's soft voice. "Am I speaking to Sophia Berge?"

"Yes, I am Sophia."

Sophia gave her response while looking around at the other people. She could not identify the woman's voice she was speaking with.

But she was shocked when she heard the woman's next sentence.

"Hi, I'm Lily Jain, Alpha Bryan's Personal Secretary. The reason I am calling you is to let you know that you have been selected for the role of Assistant Secretary to the CEO."
