

Chapter 326

"You are going with me."

I could not understand. What was wrong with him? Why was he after me?

"Where will you take me?"

"Going to sell you to others."

"WHAT?"

"Pffft!"

He laughed at my reaction. I wanted to punch him.

"You were so scared. Do you really think I would sell you? Your father would kill me."

My father was a strict man. Everyone knew him. He was the second command in our pack. But others did not know that I was his daughter so they could behave with me whatever they wanted.

I felt upset when I heard about my father.

'Still, your brother was not scared when he rejected me. He rejected his mate without any explanation and left me to die in the forest.' I thought.

I felt pushed on my arm. Ryan pushed me inside the front passenger seat when I was lost in thoughts.

He came to the driver's seat and started the car. I was somehow calm.

"Where are we going?"

"Your home. Where else?"

"What?" I turned to him.

"Yeah. What did you think? I would take you on a date? Well that is not a bad idea though." He smirked.

"Shut up. I never said that. Start the car and drop me home." I leaned on my seat and closed my eyes.

I did not know how I could talk to him so angrily when I should put all of my anger on Ethan.

"What are you thinking?" I heard him.

"Nothing."

"You see how he behaved with you. I can't believe how you can digest his insult. You should have given him a slap."

I frowned and opened my eyes. "Are you provoking me?"

"No, just trying to console you."

"No need."

"Just agree with what I told you."

"No," I replied blankly.

"Yes."

"No."

"No?"

"Yes."

"Yes!!" He pulled the brake and the car stopped.

I almost got hurt on my head by the sudden stop.

"What's wrong with you, Ryan??"

"You said yes."

I frowned then I realized he tricked me with words.

"I didn't. You asked no and I replied that yes-"

"Exactly, yes. Now you can't step back."

I stared at his amazed look. Then put my hands over my face.

"Why is everyone doing this with me? I am just tired." I mumbled. I did not want to cry in front of anyone. But tears slipped from my eyes which I tried to hold on all this time.

I leaned my head on my seat again. I sobbed and did not want to face the boy beside me. He would make fun of me for sure. He would think I was a weak girl.

"Cry."

I heard him. I immediately wiped my tears and turned to him. But again tears fell down on my cheeks.

I looked at him. He did not have any smug look on his face. In fact, his eyes became soft.

"It's okay. You can cry. Crying never makes people weak."

After the rejection, for the first time, I felt relaxed after hearing something.

"You also think like your brother, right? I am a low ranked weak omega." I let out.

He looked away from my eyes and started the car again without replying to me.

He was quiet in the whole ride. He did not look like the Ryan everyone saw in school or club. He looked like a very calm and cold guy. I did not let out a single thing, somehow felt nervous by his behavior.

I tried to become silent but the ride was full of the sound of my sobbing.

His car stopped in front of my house. I was quietly sitting without moving.

I tried to break the silence. "Thank you for dropping me home."

He did not reply. 'Did I say something wrong to him?' I thought.

"Ryan?"

"Hmm."

"Mom is inside. If you want-"

"Another day." He replied. He guessed my question without listening to it.

I nodded at him and was about to open the door when I heard him again.

"What he did was really wrong. He should not have rejected you. At least he should talk with some elder about this matter if he really had someone in his life. They would manage something out."

I moved my hand from the door and placed them on my lap. I lowered my head while listening to him.

"Who knows about this rejection? Did you tell your parents?"

I shook my head. "No, I don't want my parents to get worried about me. He has already rejected me so there is nothing to make others worry about more."

"Who else?"

"My best friend Teresa and Doctor Linus."

"I see." He nodded his head. His eyes were on the road.

"Don't tell your family about it." I mumbled.

He frowned and turned his head to me. I could see his confused eyes.

"Why?"

"T-They really I-love Ethan. I don't want Alpha to get enraged at him. He is the soon to be Alpha after all."

In a blink of an eye, Ryan's eyes turned dark. I almost felt like I had stopped breathing. He looked fierce.

"You are still thinking about his reputation after what he did to you?"

"N-No, it's just-"

"Is he very special?" He asked and averted his eyes. "Everyone cares about him a lot." He muttered. If we were not in a silent car, I could not hear him.

I tried to ease the atmosphere. "A-About what you said. I am not that girl. I can't take revenge on anyone."

He turned to me. "Then stop behaving like a heart broken girl and start to enjoy your life."

"W-What?"

"Just forget him and move on. Just let your old self go. Be a new Allison and let others see what they have missed. Appreciate your life like others."

He looked very confident as if he saw something potential in me. I sighed, "I will think about it."

Before I could think of anything, he came close to me. I held my breath when I smelled his manly cologne.

I heard a crack. He just opened the door.

His face turned to my face, almost touching my nose. His eyes were cold and sharp.

"And always remember one thing,

Don't dare to compare me with him again."