

Chapter 415

"Ry-Ryan?"

Allison mumbled as her eyes fixed on him. His eyes were dark as he was looking at Ethan's hands, which were wrapped around her body.

Allison pushed Ethan hard without wasting any seconds and turned in the direction of Ryan.

At that time, Joey entered the garden, passing Ryan.

"Ryan, when did you come, my son?"

"Just now, Aunt. Your main door was opened and the lighting was visible from here, so I came this way directly." He said without looking at Joey.

He was staring at Allison.

Allison gulped when she understood that Ryan was furious.

Her eyes moved from his face to his hand. He was holding a beautiful bouquet of red roses.

"You did the right thing. The party will be here. I am happy that you have come." Joey said and rubbed his shoulder.

After removing his gaze from Allison, Ryan switched his attention to Joey. He handed the bouquet to her without a word.

"How sweet of you! such a beautiful bouquet." As Joey said, she took a whiff of the roses. Ryan was greeted with a grin, and she indicated to him with a nod that the roses had an appealing fragrance.

She turned to glance at Allison before saying, "Allison, take him on a tour of the garden. I am coming back."

Allison nodded her head. When Joey left the garden, Allison slowly approached Ryan.

Ethan was watching everything silently while leaning against a tree.

"Ryan"

Allison tried to hold his hand, but he snatched his hand. He shifted his focus to the opposite side and began to make his way through the garden.

It was a big garden. Allison believed that their garden was bigger than the one the pack house had. It was because her father loved gardening, he even liked to walk in the garden at night before sleeping.

But Allison did not have any attachments to this garden. It was always a safe place for her parents.

Allison followed close behind Ryan as he walked. He tucked his hands into his pockets and proceeded to walk forward without stopping.

She quickened her pace to catch him. She grabbed his arm.

"Ryan, listen to me."

He stopped and turned his head to face her.

"What?"

"There was nothing that you were thinking."

"What did I think?" He asked. His tone was mocking and ironic. She knew he was angry. He had the right to get angry at her.

"Ryan, I was not with him. He was the one who pulled me."

He looked indifferent. She lowered her head.

"I am sorry that I took time to push him. I was telling him to leave me. But his grip was very tight."

She slowly looked at him. He broke free of her hand from his arm and sprinted over to Ethan

"What? Ryan, No."

Allison quickly made her way to Ryan in an attempt to stop him, but it was already too late. Ryan had already gone to Ethan and grabbed his collar.

"Ryan, please leave him." Allison came to them and immediately took hold of Ryan's hand.

She was taken aback by Ryan's abrupt outburst of anger. Her eyes widened. She was afraid that they would fight like last time in the classroom.

"How dare you touch her?" Ryan muttered under his breath as he glared at Ethan.

Ethan reached out and grabbed Ryan's hands as they were holding onto his collar.

"First tell me, How dare you brainwash her? You turned her into a different person."

"Please, both of you, leave each other." Allison said while trying to push them away from each other. But she failed to do anything.

"I don't fucking care. Keep your distance from my girlfriend." Ryan gave Ethan a warning.

"In the beginning, she was my girlfriend. But because of you, she broke up with me." Ethan responded while maintaining an equally intense glare at Ryan.

"You-"

The conversation between both of the brothers was cut off by a loud voice.

"WHAT IS HAPPENING HERE?"

Allison turned her head and saw her father standing behind them. Next to him was her mother, with Alpha Neil and Luna Ella.

The person who had just spoken out was her father.

Both Ryan and Ethan turned their heads to gaze at Beta Glen. Ethan was the first person to leave Ryan's hands. It was looking like Ethan was only defending himself and Ryan was the one who was attacking him.

Beta Glen frowned at Ryan. "Why are you not leaving him?"

Ryan released Ethan's collar and stepped back.

"What in the world is going on?" Alpha Neil asked Ethan.

"Nothing, Dad. We just had an argument." Ethan replied.

"I can't believe that you came here to fight with your family. Why are you doing this?" Beta Glen asked Ryan in anger.

Ryan gazed at him without any fear. In fact, he looked annoyed. He gave him an eye roll in response.

It took Beta Glen aback. He got angrier.

"Why were you fighting with Ethan? Not only is he your brother, but he is also going to be your Alpha in the future."

"Beta Glen, first of all, I did not come here to argue with anyone. I came here to wish you. Why are you talking about nonsense?" Ryan asked.

Alpha Neil let out a growl. "How dare you talk to my friend in that manner? I will teach you a lesson tonight." He roared and rushed to Ryan. His eyes turned red in anger.

Ryan became enraged after hearing his statement. His eyes turned darker as he got more infuriated.

"Let's see what you can do to me." Ryan said and stepped towards Alpha Neil.

"Ryan, don't." Allison said and came between the father and son.

Everyone's eyes shifted to Allison, who was hugging Ryan in front of them.

"Allison, what are you doing in that place? Getting away from Alpha's side." The command came from Beta Glen.

"No." She shook her head.

"Why?"

"Because I don't want any fights here. I was the one who invited him to your birthday, Dad. Please stop all of this."

Beta Glen glared at her. For the first time, she saw anger in her father's eyes for her.

She was too scared to say anything. But she still tried and mumbled,

"He is my friend, Dad. So I invited him. Please tell Alpha Neil not to do anything to him. I am begging you, please."

She was frightened that Alpha Neil would shift and hurt Ryan in anger. She did not want him to get hurt in any way.

Ryan's gloomy eyes, which had been scowling at his father, slowly moved on her.

He unwrapped her hands from his body and moved back.

He looked at Beta Glen and said,

"I came to wish you well, but it seems like I ruined your party."

He turned around and headed to the gate.

"Ryan"

His mother called him from behind but he did not stop. Allison's eyes turned glossy as she stared at his back.

He left the garden, but before that, he said,

"Happy Birthday in advance, Beta Glen."
