

Chapter 50

I turned around and spotted Delta Edger. He waved at me, and he then moved to stand next to me.

"Hey! What's up?" he asked me.

I smiled at him in a very slight way. It had been a very long time since I had last seen him.

The other women who were standing close to me appeared stunned as they looked at him.

Meanwhile, Luisa frowned at Edger.

"What nonsense! She and the personal secretary? Alpha Bryan will not even allow her to be his maid; making her personal secretary is something impossible." Luisa stated it arrogantly and folded her arms.

She looked at me and asked, "Who is he? You lied to him by stating that, didn't you?"

"Why do you care? Just leave me alone," I replied, trying to walk past her.

But she took hold of my hand and refused to let me move from my position in front of her.

"What you did that day on campus, I haven't forgotten it yet."

She looked at the women from head to toe who were beside me.

"What are you doing with this girl? You don't know anything about her. She was Alpha Bryan's brother's e-"

"I think you are talking too much right now. What is your level?" She was interrupted by Edger, who then grabbed my hand and pulled it away from her grasp.

The actions that he took infuriated Luisa. "Who the hell are you?"

"The Delta of your pack," Edger replied, glaring at her.

Within a split second, Luisa's pupils drew together. She gave the woman, who was standing close to me, a quick glance. They had already lowered their heads.

At that time, a few women rushed to Luisa.

"Luisa, what are you doing here?"

They turned their attention to Edger and greeted him.

"Delta Edger."

Edger did not move his eyes away from Luisa. Luisa experienced trembling as a result of his dark gaze.

The moment she realized what she had done, she immediately dropped her head in embarrassment and stammered.

"I-I am really sorry. I had no idea who you were until right now."

"So that reason can give you approval to do whatever you want to anyone? Who do you think you are? Some princess of another pack?"

This made Luisa feel humiliated. She gave me a look. My gaze was fixed on her, and I did not show any sign of emotion.

I guessed she was having a bad time running. She had only received humiliation from others in the last few days.

I would say it was her karma. She never failed to make an effort to target me, but she ended up insulting herself instead.

"She is a new intern here," I said to Edger.

"Do you need me to complain to Alpha about how she behaved with his secretary?" Edger asked me.

"No. Let it go."

"As you wish."

Edger disregarded Luisa fully and began to talk to me.

I walked past Luisa, not creating any scenes there. But I was concerned about one thing. My job was brought to her attention. It was impossible to predict how she would stretch out this incident at my university.

"Who knows what she will spread on campus?" I thought.

I found myself alone with Edger as the women who were accompanying me went to fetch their lunch. I watched them leave me alone.

"Why didn't you teach her a lesson?" Edger asked me.

"She used to be my best friend, and then she cheated on me with..."

Upon realizing that I was about to bring up Bruce, I stopped talking.

"What?"

"Nothing."

Edger did not force me. We walked to a table. I saw Troy. With an earnest grin written all over his face, he was on the verge of approaching my table. However, he was taken aback when he laid eyes on Edger. He greeted him.

"Delta Edger?"

"How are you, Troy?"

"All good. You are here. It comes as a surprise. What is the current state of affairs in the pack house? Is everything okay there?"

With great attention, I looked at Edger. Was there truly something that took place?

"I came here for some business."

"Oh. See you later, then." Troy then turned his attention to me after he had finished speaking to him.

I signaled for him to sit. In response to my request for him to have a seat, he shook his head and said, "I have some work to do. See you soon."

I assumed that he might have felt uncomfortable in the presence of Delta of his pack, which is why he did not sit at the same table with him. Even though I wanted to express my gratitude to Troy for keeping what had happened from my mother, I let him leave.

"So, how is your first day going?" Edger asked.

"Just fine. Same as before."

He raised his brows. "Really? Same? But I thought you needed to do some personal things too."

I looked at him in confusion. "Personal things?"

"Yeah. Nowadays, Bryan can't sleep properly. So I think in order for him to get a good night's sleep, you will need to give him a call and sing him a lullaby."

I was silently staring at him for a few seconds before I suddenly burst out laughing.

He was so funny! I grasped my stomach while laughing. He also joined me in laughing.

"Don't mind. I was just kidding."

"Yeah, I know."

We tried to become serious but then laughed once more.

At that moment, we heard a deep voice, which caused our laughter to halt.

"Done making fun of me behind my back?"

After slowly raising my head, I took a look behind Edger's chair and spotted Bryan standing there. His eyes were on Edger.

I gulped and got to my feet. "Alpha."

While Edger was looking at him, he moved a chair to make room for him. "Alpha, come sit."

Bryan ignored his words and looked at me.

"I thought you were my secretary, but you are having lunch with my delta."

I was dumbfounded by his words. I could not help but think,

'Do I have to eat with him now?'
